WEDDING BELLS.

LEBAR—KENT.

Carlton Street Methodist Church, Toronto, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon, 10th July, when Emma, the second youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kent, of Cambridge, England, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Lebar, of Peterborough, Ontario.

The bride who was given away by Mr. James Wright, was exquisitely dressed in a gown of white canton crepe daintily draped with rosebuds and streamers and picture hat to match. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and baby's breath. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Betty Kent, who was very prettily dressed in a gown of sand-coloured canton crepe, with picture hat to match and carried a delightful bouquet of sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. Mr. Eric Bond supported the groom. Little Isobel Ripley made a dainty flower girl in pink taffeta with rosebud trimmings, carrying a basket of rosebuds and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony the happy couple were guests of honour at a reception given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Farquhar, Dundas Crescent, after which they left on a honeymoon trip to Peterborough and points East, the bride travelling in a navy blue suit with shoes and hat to match. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

MASON—KENT

The wedding took place yesterday at three o'clock, at St. Paul's Manse, of Hobart Mason of Windsor and Perle Kent of Peterboro, Rev. R. Pogue performing the ceremony. Witnesses were Miss Goldie Mellen and Martin Chenhall, Junior Mr. and Mrs. Mason will reside in Windsor.

OBITUARY.

HARRISON RIGHTMEYER

Word has been received of the death in the Toronto General hospital of Mr. Harrison Rightmeyer, 122 Dublin street. Funeral announcements later.

MISS MILDRED L. WARD.

The deceased, who was 37 years of age, had been an invalid practically all her life. She bore up with a cheerful spirit until quite recently, when the long strain caused a complete nervous breakdown, under which she finally collapsed. Her many trials were borne with a degree of Christian fortitude and patience that were a constant edification to those around her.

The funeral services will be conducted at her late home at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Rose, of whose church the deceased lady was a faithful member. The remains will be taken to Foxboro for interment on Monday morning.

CLASH BETWEEN TWO HOUSES ON PENSIONS BONUS

Amendment to Make Permanent the Bonus to Veterans Cut to Two Years.

PARLIAMENT CLOSES

Commons Wound Up Its Affairs With Long Sitting.

OTTAWA, July 21.—(Canadian Press).—Parliament prorogued on Saturday afternoon after nearly five months' deliberations, under the shadow of dissension between the Senate and the Commons. The main business of the Commons had been wound up in a sitting which lasted from eleven a.m. Friday to six-thirty a.m. Saturday. When the Senate met at eleven a.m. Saturday a message from the Commons awaited it asking that it reconsider certain amendments it had made to the Government's bill to amend the Pensions Act, which amendment amongst other things made permanent the pensions bonus to war veterans. The Senate made the bill read that the extention would be for two years only.

Too Late To Confer.

A conference between committees of the two Houses was suggested. The Senate replied to the Commons that it did not see the wisdom of participating in such a conference, especially at such a late hour in the session. Hon. H. S. Beland, Minister of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, had informed the House that the Senate amendments to the Pensions Bill would practically neutralize the principal provisions of the bill. No less than twelve amendments had been made. He thought the Commons could not accept the Senate amendments.

To Curb Senate.

When the Senate's last message was received, within half an hour of prorogation, Premier King announced that he proposed to invoke the Parliament Act next session to give the Commons of Canada the same rights, as regards legislation initiated in the Commons as the British House of Commons held over the House of Lords. He had tentatively prepared such legislation for this session, but he had waited until it was made quite clear that the interests of the people of Canada demanded such as necessity.

Within a few minutes the cannons of Parliament Hill were booming a Royal salute, announcing the arrival of the Governor-General, and the ceremony of prorogation began.

The Point at Issue.

The pensions bonus expires automatically on September 1, unless extended. The Ralston Commission recommended that the bonus be continued for five years; the House Committee on Pensions recommended that the bonus be incorporated in the pension, thus making it permanent, and as the Bill left the House it contained this provision. The Senate, however, amended the Bill to extend the bonus for two years.

This amendment the Commons at first declined to accept, but as the Senate insisted on its amendment, the Commons accepted it. Had the Senate amendment not been accepted, the Bill would have been killed and the bonus would have expired on September 1.

Session Reviewed.

In proroging Parliament, His Excellency the Governor-General said in part

It is deeply gratifying to be able to record that, for the first time since the outbreak of war, the national budget has been balanced, and the relation between revenue and expenditure such as to justify an immediate reduction of taxation.

"The lowering of the sales tax and the increase in the number of commodities exempted therefrom should serve to reduce in appreciable measure the cost of living and prove beneficial to trade.

The substantial lessening of the burdens of customs taxation affected by a downward revision of the tariff upon the instruments of production in the industries based on the natural resources of the Dominion

PAGEANT POSTPONED.

LONDON, July 21.—(Canadian Press Cable).The pageant of Empire which was due to open at Wembley today has been postponed until Friday next when Prince Arthus of Connaught, members of the cabinet and representatives from the Dominions and India will attend. The postponement is due to the council failing to obtain possession of the stadium in time to permit a full rehearsal which is desired by the directors and also to the enormous scale on which the pageant is being produced at a cost of £100,000. Fifteen thousand performers will take part and three nights will be required to produce the pageant in its entirety.

FRANCE MOVING TOWARD RUSSIA

MAY ENTER RUSSIA.

PARIS, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—Steps toward more normal relations between France and Russia are foreshadowed in letters exchanged between Premier Herriot and George Tchitcherin, the Bolsheviks Foreign Minister, published Sunday.

In a letter M. Herriot says that as a preliminary to the re-establishment of full normal conditions, he has instructed that Russian citizens be given the greatest liberty possible for visiting France and that he hopes the Soviet Government will instruct its representatives abroad not to be systematically refuse visas for passoprts of Frenchmen desiring to visit Russia.

M. Tchitcherin in his letter, after expressing profound satisfaction over France's friendly declarations, promises to provide the utmost facilities for the admission of France citizens into Russia. He adds that other delays and difficulties are solely due to the absence of relations between the two governments, for which he declares the Soviet Government is in no way responsible.

PIRATE BLACKS MURDERED CREW

Australia Aroused By Massacre on Wild North Coast —Women Kidnapped.

HAPPENED YEAR AGO.

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 21—A native boatman, tacking his coasting skiff into the harbour at Port Darwin ,chattered a tale of the kidnapping of white women by blacks which blanched the faces of his hearers and drove Australians to arms and a rescue expedition, although the tragedy took place more than a year ago.

The Government has authorised the administrator of the northern territory to enlist volunteers and arm a strong relief force to go into the fearsome, unexplored islands adjoining the rugged north coast in search of Mrs. James Willetts and her daughter, who were carried off by aborigines, after the entire crew and the male passengers of the steamer Douglas Mawson had been speared to death on the sands of the Gulf of Carpentaria.

The last seen of the unfortunate mother and daughter, who, it is believed, may long since have died, was as they disappeared into the bush surrounded by their black captors who shook spears and threatened to kill the women if black native witnesses to the tragedy attempted their rescue.

The steamer Douglas Mawson disappeared in March, 1923, and six months later was listed as lost by Lloyd's. The fate of the vessel's crew was unknown until the native crew of a small boat recently visited some islands adiacent to the wild, almost uninhabited coast of the north.

"Big feller boat been sink. Little feller boat been come up. Plenty white men, two white missy, one big feller missy, one little feller missy."

PRIVATE BURKE WON THE KING'S PRIZE AT BISLEY

Ottawa Youth Scored 230 Out of Possible 250 in British Shooting Classic.

GREETED BY PRINCE

Purse of $1,500 Aids Winner's Ambition to Attend University.

BISLEY CAMP, July 21.— (Canadian Press Cable).—Private Burke, Ottawa, won the King's Prize Saturday. Burke's score was 230 out of a possible 250.

By a remarkable coincidence Burke fired on the same target where Sergt Major W. A. Hawkins, Toronto, won the King's Prize in 1913.

Burke finished his shooting Saturday for the King's Prize early in the competition, and although those around him assured him that no aggregate made by the other competitors could beat him, he laughingly declined to accept their assurance. "Wait till I have won," Burke modestly replied to photographers eager to get busy taking his picture as the King's Prize winner of 1924.

Congratulated by Prince

At length, when the last shot in the match had been fired, Burke, the victor in the great competition, with a mighty crowd pressing around him, was conducted by the Prince of Wales, who heartily congratulated the young Canadian on his prowess with the rifle.

"I am very glad to have seen the shooting." His Royal Highness declared. The Prince, who presented the prizes to the Bisley winners in the evening, made it a point to be present when the final was being shot.

Lord Cheylesmore, president of the National Rifle Association, and Hon. P. C. Larkin Canadian High Commissioner in London, also congratulated Burke.

Thereupon the press photographers who had been held in leash thus far got busy at once. There were at least 30 of them ready to "shoot" the Ottawa victor.

The Prince at once graciously complied and again a fusilade from the cameras opened upon Burke, with the Heir-Apparent to the Throne being in the picture.

Burke, with a sprig of maple in his tunic, was hoisted aloft in the famous chair which had borne previous King's prize winners and was carried by his fellow teamsmen on the customary tour of Bisley Camp.

Is Only Mere Boy

OTTAWA, July 21.—Private Desmond Burke, winner of the King's Prize, is only nineteen years of age, and though considered a remarkable shot here as judged by local competitive standards, was not considered to have any real chance for the prize trophy at Bisley. He is a mere boy, and though tall an rangy, has never enjoyed robust health, and at the Dominion Rifle Association meet last year was forced to withdraw as he had a fainting spell.

He is the son of William Burke well known as an educationalist, who has for some years, been principal of St. Patricks' Separate School in Ottawa and who has just had the honor of having a number of entrance scholarships won by his pupils The winning of the King's Prize and the attendant $1,500 will gratify an ambition of Desmond, who entered in the hope that some money prizes would fall his way so that he could go to college. He is one of a big family and his father, a man of only moderate means, could not afford to send his son to university.

Private Burke is a member of the Governor-General's Foot Guards and his commanding officer, Col. R. F. Parkinson, D.S.O. stated that he was in many respects a model soldier, and predicted when he left that he would be one of Canadas' best shots at Bisley.

The happiest people in Ottawa were his father, mother and sister, Miss Stella Burke, his sister, is a well known newspaper writer here. She told the press that Desmond, in a letter just received, had stated that he considered he had a good chance, as he was shooting better than ever, and believed he would be benefitted if he did not have a gallery As he was practically unknown and unconsidered this happened to be the case anr he took down the highest honors. Mr. William Burke had nothing to say except that he knew Desmond would give a good account of himself, but he feared perhaps he was not strong enough. Burke wears heavy glasses at all times, and is a modest little fellow whose life for past few years in the summer time has been spent on the ranges. He is a graduate of the Ottawa Collegiate Institute and while at school was one of the best shots in the Collegiate corps.

Already arrangements are tentatively under way to give Burke some tangible recognition of his victory. In view of the fact that he is desir-

HOP OFF WEDNESDAY.

BROUGH, England, July 21.—It is almost certain now that the American world flyers will start on the last dangerous lap of their world tour Wednesday.

Work of refitting the ships for the ocean hop is progressing rapidly. It is expected the pontoons will be fitted to the three airplanes by tonight.

While the mechanicians were rushing the work along on the planes, the pilots were attending a dinner given by the Royal Aero Club in London Friday night. At the dinner, Ambassado Kellogg and Lieutenant Lowell Smith, commander of the American flyers, paid a tribute to Major MacLaren, the English world flyer who is no win the Kurile Islands. They expressed the belief and the hope that his trip would be successful.

SUNDAY FIRE IN BRIGHTON BLOCK

George Robbin's Hardware Store Centre of Blaze — Water Flooded Shoe Shop.

LODGE ROOM DAMAGED

BRIGHTON, July 21 (Special to The Examiner). — Extensive damage was done by a fire of unknown origin which broke out in the David-Street at six o'clock yesterday morning.

The blaze originated in George Roblin's hardware store, which was badly gutted, as was the office of S. D. Ross, situated over the Roblin store.

The boot and shoe store of Bird & Son, next door, was flooded by water, considerable damage being done and the Union Lodge Rooms upstairs were also damaged by the water.

L.O.L. No. 186 succeeded in saving their papers and books.

It is understood the general loss is covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire remains a mystery to-night. It apparently started under the stairway between the two stores, or in the upper hall. It spread east and west between the floor of the second storey and the ceiling of the first, thus proving very tricky and dangerous. Vast volumes of smoke rendered the firemen's task difficult, but they stuck to their task gamely and deserve great credit for their work.

For perhaps 30 minutes they could not locate the blaze, and for a time things looked so serious that the Trenton fire brigade was called upon for assistance. This was forthcoming in the shape of a hose truck and six men, who rendered valuable aid.

When the source of the fire was at last found pike poles were used and the tin ceiling ot the Roblin store ripped off. The fire was then exposed, and in a few minutes was under control.

The stock of Bird's store is almost ruined by smoke and water and the interior of both stores badly damaged. The hardware stock is of course not so much damaged, but lines such as seed grain, fine tools, fine machine parts, stoves, wire, saws, etc., will not be of much further use. Some goods were carried out of the Roblin store before the smoke made it impossible to continue doing so. As far as could be ascertained both stocks were well covered with insurance. Mr. W. N. Davidson, owner of the west half of the building was not so fortunate in the amount of his insurance.

The books, furniture and regalia of the Orange Lodge were badly damaged and were partially insured.

Ross Bros. lost some office equipment but rescued all their books, and the papers that were not in the safe.

VANCOUVER STAR SOLD.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 20. — The Vancouver Star, Vancouver's junior newspaper, has been sold by Charles E. Campbell, its proprietor, to General Victor W. Odlum, Liberal member-elect for Vancouver, and his father, Professor E. Odlum, according to announcement made here on Saturday. It will be continued as an independent paper.

The Star was established about two months ago as an afternoon one cent daily after he had disposed of the world to R. J. Cromie, owner of the Vancouver Sun.

5,000 PEOPLE IN TORONTO HIT BY U. S. QUOTA LAW

Immigration Barrier Raised for Twelve Months Unless New Allotment Made.

CONSUL BESIEGED

Even Families Divided by Regulation Now Being Enforced.

TORONTO, July 21.— The American quota law has struck Canada—and particularly Toronto! Since the first of July it has descended locally with a reverberating thud that spells consternation, embarrassment, inconvenience and sometimes domestic separation for at least five thousand permanent or temporary Torontonians.

A waiting list of 5,000 persons, men, women and children, that grows larger every day faces the American consul here, while the quota list for "British" which now includes Canadians by birth or naturaliation is filled for the balance of the present year.

"You will have to wait 12 months at least before entering the United Sttaes unless we get another quota allotment and that seems most unlikely," is the declaration that daily sends a sorrowing multitude from the consulate office in the Bank of Hamilton building.

For an hour a reporter joined the patient throng of people of all classes who sought the necessary vise papers permitting them to enter the republic to the south.

He heard tales of personal inconvenience, financial loss, and family separation caused by the new policy of Uncle Sam.

Separated From Children.

One story was of a young mother of three children whom national boundaries had sentenced to a year of separation. She was born in the city of Halifax, but lived in Toronto most of her life. A short time ago her husband died and the three children were sent to Chicago. After the estate was settled the mother was to join them there. The estate is now closed and disposed of. The furniture of their Toronto home has all been sold and the mother planned to leave at the end of the present month for Chicago, but the new July quota laws have now interfered and she must remain in Canada at least another year.

Another unfortunate case encountered was of a Canadian returned soldier. He took a position in Chicago as a first class bricklayer during a building boom. He has lived in that city four years now, but did not renounce his Canadian birthright. His trade becoming slack the latter part of June the temporary American decided to take a vacation and visit the old folks in Toronto. He purchased a return railway ticket and now he can neither use that ticket nor get back to the city of his adoption by the payment of head tax or any other method.

"What am I going to do about it —my family and my job are in Chicago My home and all my property are there, and there is no one to look after it," he explained to the patient clerk behind the counter. To all these pathetic instances there was but one answer. The young men in the consul's office were sorry but it was a government regulation from Washington. They would take the applicant's name and address and he might be able to return to Chicago in a year.

Romance Shattered.

A little Scotch lassie whose original passport bore the name of Perth as her birthplace, and the proud title "first class cook" as her occupation, sobbed that she had been turned back twice already, once at Black Rock and one at Niagara Falls. She simply had to get over and meet Ronald somehow, because they were planning to get married. "Why don't you get married in Toronto and live here, this is a good city," explained the reportr." "Aye, 'tis a good city, but my Ronald has a splendid job in America and if he left to come over here he might not be able to find another one." To be sure the Scotch are careful.

Another visitor from the same rugged country confided to the reporter that upon going to Lewiston by boat last week for just a one-day visit he had been refused admission to the United States. Upon going up the Canadian side, however, and attempting to cross the suspension bridge he could have done so upon payment of an eight dollar head tax. Being a Scotchman he, of course, did not pay it.

"Suppose a Canadian by birth wished to visit the American side for a day or a week how could he arrange this," the acting consul was asked. "By proving himself to be a Canadian by the production of a birth certificate and by assuring the immigration officials that he intended to visit only and not establish his home on the other side."

The registrar's office now handles over 125 certificates a day for those intending travelers to the States, and as this number is quite exclusive of certificates issued to war widows, for pensions and for other reasons, it may be readily understood what a wave of work has fallen on them since the first of the month.

Another embarrassing situation caused by the necessity of birth certificates arises when persons many years resident in Canada but born in, say, France or Germany, wish to cross the border. Even those born in England must wait many, many days before obtaining an official declarlation as to the time and place of their birth.

GUESS WHO THEY ARE!

Bet you couldn't guess in a year who these folks are? Yet you surely know them—minus their make-up. It is Henry Ford, with the high hat, flowing tie tnd trick whiskers, up in the driver's seat! And the lady at his left is Mrs. Ford!! You will notice, too, they are not riding in a flivver. They are all dolled up this way for a parade in Dearborn, the Detroit suburb, where they live.

MONTREAL WEEK END FATALITIES

Lineman Touched High Voltage Wire and Fell to Death.

ONE CAMPER DROWNED

MONTREAL, July 21.—Fatalities in this city and district over the week end include the following:

Arthur Perron, 36, lineman foreman employed by the Harbor Commission suffered shocks when he touched a high voltage wire on a pole near Grand Trunk Elevator "B" on the harbor front Saturday afternoon. He fell thirty feet to the ground and fractured his skull, dying in the General Hospital shortly afterwards.

William Dube, 30, died suddenly Sunday morning in the room he occupied at 374 Lagauchitierre street west, in the downtown section of the city. He had been ill for some days.

Six-year-old Armand Gregoire, of Cap St. Martin died a few minutes after he had been knocked down and run over by a heavy touring car Saturday afternoon. An occupant of the car jumped from it and dragged the child's body from under the wheels, the car then driving off in a direction away from Montreal. The police are making enquiries.

Thomas Dalton, 42, died at the Royal Victoria Hospital Saturday night from injuries sustained when he was run over by a street sprinkler in May last. He slipped in front of the sprinkler and was run over before the driver could stop his machine.

Joseph Rivest, 28, of this city is believed to have been drowned in the river near Repentigny Sunday morning. A row boat in which he went out was found empty in the river by fellow campers some hours afterwards.

WOMAN'S BACK BROKEN.

Bride of a Week Victim of Motor Accident Near Tilbury.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 21.—(Canadian Press)—Mrs. A. E. Fitton of New York, a bride of a few weeks is in the Public General hospital here, suffering from a broken back, broken collarbone and other internal injuries sustained when the car in which she and her husband were riding turned turtle on the Middle Road, near Tilbury. The young couple accompanied by Mr. Fitton's employer, E. M. Solomon, were on a motor trip from New York to Detroit.

SEVEN MISSING; CANOE IS FOUND

Boy and Girl Vacationists Thought Drowned in Gale.

PLANE SEARCH VAIN

FAIRFIELD, Conn., July 21.—Although hope of finding alive the seven children who set out in a canoe from St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Thursday afternoon has been practically abandoned by their parents and upward of 200 searchers, the hunt was not abated yesterday.

The search of Long Island Sound and its shores was in progress throughout the night. The canoe in which the children set out on the rough sea was recovered near Middle Ground Light.

All were staying at the Summer cottage of John Nordquist, father of Alva and Clinton. They were in bathing suits. According to the story of the canoe renting concessionnaire, he had refused to rent the children a canoe, but on being called to attend to other matters, returned to find fifty cents on the counter and one canoe gone.

Plane Sent For.

Two hours later their disappearnce was discovered and search was begun. Parents of the children were on the ground all night and were joined by police. The request for the plane was sent to Mitchell Field at daybreak.

John Philip Sousa, Jr., telephoned to a radio station in New York and a general alarm was broadcast, with the result that by daybreak craft of every description was searching the Sound.

GRAIN HAULING SLUMPS.

No Movement From Port McNicholl and Midland.

LINDSAY, July 21 (Special to The Examiner).—The present slump in grain hauling activities from Midland and Port McNicoll through Lindsay and Peterborough has created a situation the like of which has not existed for a long time.

There is no grain being shipped at present from the northern terminals, and there are no prospects that any will be for some time.

According to reports from the upper lakes, considerable grain is being hauled via Port Colborne to Buffalo, but very little finds its way to Port McNicoll or Midland.

Railway officials state that there is no demand for wheat at present, and gave it as their opinion that there will be no extensive grain hauling activities until this year's Western crop starts to move.

This annoucement naturally gives very little encouragement to railwaymen who looked for considerable activity this spring between Midland and Belleville.

FORECAST POLITICAL FIGHT

LONDON, July 21.—(Canadian Press Cable).—An interesting fight is promised in the next election for the parliamentary representation of the Ladywood division of Birmingham. Oswald Mosley, present labor member for Harrow, Middlesex has intimated his acceptance of the labor nomination in Ladywood where the sitting unionist member is Neville Chamberlain.

MATTHEWS, WHO INVENTED DEATH RAY, NEAR BLIND

Experiments Have Robbed Him of Sight of One Eye —Other Is Going.

WILL SELL TO BRITAIN.

Could Fire Cities and Stun Armies, Matthews Claims.

NEW YORK, July 21.—H. Grindell Matthews, British wireless telephone expert and the inventor of what he says had been miscalled the "death ray," arrived here Saturday on the French liner Paris. In the experiments which led up to the invention he lost the sight of his left eye and says he is gradually losing the sight of the other one.

He wears spectacles with heavy tinted lenses to keep out the injurious rays.

Mr. Matthews said that the purpose of his visit was not to make money but to look up certain electrical records and to try to rest himself back to health. He said that he wished it to be clearly understood that he had not come to sell his invention to the United States Government as he would dispose of it only to Great Britain. Overtures had been made to him by France and the Governments of four other countries to purchase the secret of his invention, he said, but he had declined them all.

Has Been Using one Kilowatt.

"My invention," he said, "has been incorrectly called a death ray. It is an electrical beam which I have demonstrated to be of hitherto unknown character. I use a one-kilowatt power, but there is nothing to prevent the increase to fifty kilowatt or more. With a maximum range of sixty-five feet I have stopped motor engines and killed a rat and a mouse and lighted an incandescent lamp. In these experiments I used a six-inch beam, the apparatus for which could be carried easily on a motor lorry.

"After the first demonstration of my invention I was offered £1,000 by the British officials for another test, which I have not yet given. When I have rested I intend to return to England and give another and more powerful demonstration of electrical beam on Flatholm Island in the British Channel, where I have already placed the parts of a bigger machine ready to be assembled when I arrive there.

"They are carefully guarded by two of my assistants who know the secret of the beam and in case anything happens to me they will carry out the experiments. There has been a good deal of ridicule cast upon my invention and silly stories fathered upon the 'wonderful beam' as they called it, but I am confident that some day I shall be able to give out certain technical information about it that will convince electrical experts that I have discovered a new force."

Could Fire or Stun a City

Mr. Matthews was asked if his electrical beam' had sufficient force to destroy New York in time of war.

"The beam is more of a defensive than an offensive device," he replied, "and the country possessing it would be immune from attack by another power. I firmly believe that it could be used to destroy an army or to stun it, as I have demonstrated by first stunning and then killing the mouse in my experiments in England Stunned by the electric beam, an enemy army could easily be captured and its use would speedily put an end to wars. An airplane could carry the beam easily, fly over a city and set it on fire or stun the population so that the place could easily be captured.

"Within the next three or four months the device will be developed to project the beam four of five miles. It travels as fast as light $186,000 miles per second .The beam consists of ether vibrations similar in a way to the wireless wave, though it employs a wave length which is radically different. Its form is complex and is a combination of five characters."

When asked if he had patented his

LITTLE GAIN FOR AMERICA IN THE PACIFIC BATTLE

America's Navy Unquestionably Outclasses That of France or Italy.

AMERICA'S HANDICAP.

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, July 21. —In comparing navies, most experts measure America's against Japan's. Not, exactly, that they expect a Japanese-American war. But they think that the likeliest one, should there be any at all.

America's navy unquestionably outclasses France's and Italy's. It doesn't equal Britain's, but nobody sees a chance of an Anglo-American clash.

W. B. Shearer, torpedo boat inventor and naval critic, declares Japan's navy three times as strong as America's. Most navy men laugh at this. The commonest estimate is that the ration is 6 to 7 in America's favor.

The western Pacific is where, to a certainty, the fighting, if any, will be.

Japan, when she fights, doesn't declare war. She just begins.

Presumably her first act would be to seize Guam; then the Philippines.

A Long Wait.

How long would this take?

The Pacific force would get there in a week—and wait.

The Atlantic force would gather, probably, at Hampton Roads. It couldn't sail right away. Much fitting and overhauling would be necessary. Auxiliaries would have to be improvised. For the whole navy, personnel would have to be increased from about 80,000 to about 170,000.

The best authorities say it would take a year to put America's whole sea establishment in the western Pacific on a basis of reasonable efficiency.

But, after a fashion, the Atlantic ships would be ready to leave Hampton Roads in from six to eight weeks. To get to Pearl Harbor would take four more.

Ten to 12 weeks gone!

Britisher's View.

Hector C. Bywater, one of Britain's foremost naval critics, tells the snappiest story of the probable course of events. Bywater is pro-American. If Japan got the Philippines, he thinks, she's want Australia next. Then Borneo, Sumatra, Java and the Straits. Maybe India.

"In view," says Bywater "of the overwhelming stragetic importance of Guam (America's only possible base between Pearl Harbor and the Philippines) this island doubtless would be the first Japanese objective. The reduction of its feeble defences (the naval limitation treaty prevents America from strengthening them) would be simple for the heavy Japanese ships. If the expeditionary forces reached Guam at dawn, the Japanese might count on having firmly established themselves before nightfall.

"A simultaneous attack on the Philipines would place no abnormal strain on Japanese naval, military or shipping resources. The landing would doubtless be made where there were no seaward defences. Complete subjugation of the islands would not be attempted at once. It would suffice if the principal harbors were seized; two weeks would be a liberal time allowance.

"The American cruiser squadron (in eastern waters) could offer no serious resistance; unless the ships sought safety in flight, which would be impossible if Japanese battle cruisers were near, their destruction would be inevitable."

Quick Work.

All this would happen inside two weeks, as against the 10 or 12 it would take the American fleet to assemble at Pearl Harbor, 3330 miles from Guam; 4840 from the Philippines.

"With Guam and the Philippines in enemy hands," Bywater adds, "the problem confronting the United States would be well-nigh unsolvble."

He assumes the American fleet would seek a battle.

Suppose Japan acquiesced.

Close to her own shores, she would be able to throw every available craft into the fight, in a state of maximum efficiency. "It is extremely doubtful," says Bywater, "if the American fleet would be accompanied by more than a portion of its destroyers. Injured Japanese vessels would be sure of a short, safe line of retreat. The Americans, without a base, could reckon certainly on losing every disabled ship."

Japancses Victory.

Even so, Bywater thinks the result would be a draw—but he argues this would be equivalent to a Jananese victory.

However, he believes the Japanese would refuse to risk an engagement and he points out that a long stay in their waters "would expose the American fleet to intensive submarine attacks, their perils aggravated by the necessity of moderate speed, to save fuel"—which could be replenished only by a 6700-mile round trip to Pearl Harbor.

A stalemate in either case? So Bywater sees it. But Japan would hold Guam and the Philippines.

With her resources, if she fought on, as the Japanese hope she wouldn't but as every American must be sure she would, naturally the United States would win in the end. But the best-posted naval critics, Americans among them, are of the opinion that it might be a matter of years.

TWO KILLED IN A GUN BATTLE

John Josky Last Night Sho and Killed His Wife and Former Partner.

HOME BREAKING.

HAMILTON, July 21.—(Canadian Press).—Two persons were shot about 10.45 o'clock last night when John Josky, who came from Detroit yesterday, went to the home of Mike Upinsky, 47 Princess Street, and there, the police state, shot Upinsky and Josky's wife, who, it is alleged, was living with the former. Josky escaped. Upinsky was shot in the head and lungs. Mrs. Josky was shot in the head. Both were romeved to the General Hospital, where at midnight the man died. The woman's chances of recovery are slim. Josky, it is alleged, went to the Princess Street house last night and a violent quarrel ensued. He charged Upinsky with breaking up his home. Without warning, he is said to have drawn an automatic pistol of heavy calibre and fired point blank at both his wife and Upinsky.

The police officials stated that they were not sure whether the man or Droski. He and Upinsky are said to have been former partners in a jitney business. Josky and his wife formerly lived at 257 Gibson Avenue. According to versions of eye-witnesses to the shooting, Josky went to 47 Princess Street last night, where a christening was being held. He said he received a telegram in Detroit Saturday, inviting him to attend. He was refused admittance, and the door was slammed in his face. Meanwhile, however, he had caught a glimpse of his wife and Upinsky, drawing a pistol, the police say. Josky demanded that he be allowed to enter. On getting into the house Josky backed a score or more of the guests to the walls and ordered them to throw up their hands. He is then said to have shot Upinsky and to have dealt his wife a crashing blow over the head with the butt of the weapon. It was not determined last night whether or not his wife was shot.

MASQUERADE AT KAWARTHA PARK

THE PRIZE WINNERS.

KAWARTHA PARK, July 21. — The dance held at Kawartha Park was in gala attire for the annual masquerade which was held on Saturday night. The hall, which was brightly lighted, had festoons of cedar suspended from the centre and carried to the corners, making a real bower. Flags were draped artistically at intervals and the effect was extremely pretty. Follis' orchestra supplied the music. Although the attendance was not as large as last year, it was exceedingly good, because this season is a very late one and also the weekly dance at Juniper was a counter attraction. The proportion of those in costume was not very large, but the costumes were good and the judges had great difficulty in picking out four to receive prizes. After some difficulty those were chosen:

Best ladies' fancy costume—Mrs. T. H. Glover, "Queen Elizabeth."

Best gentleman's fancy costume—Mr. H. W. Morphet, "Irish Lad."

Best gentleman's comic costume—Mr. Coutts, "Chef."

Others which were remarkably good were Misses Florence Adams and Helen Edimson as Italian girls, Miss Young of Chatham, who optimistically represented the popular song, "It Aint Goin' to Rain Uo Mo'," and Heber Rogers as a riding girl of the Victorian era, wearing the long riding habit which one thought had passed forever except on the pages of the old journals.

Miss Rayson as a Pirrott, was very good and Mrs. Morphet in a quaint old world court costume.

A few of the others in costume were:

Bryan Middleton—"Little Nell."
Miss Lilian Rogers— "Queen of Hearts."
Mr. Jack Bertram—"Coca Cola."
Miss Isabel Nelson—Clown.
Miss Brown—"Spanish Girl."

The committee were to be congratulated on the success of this, their first undertaking of the season.

The next event on the Kawartha Club programme will be the field sports which will be held at Sandy Point on the afternoon of August 2nd.

A DROWNING AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, July 21—The first drowning accident near here this year, occurred Saturday night at Dam No. 9, when John Burns, a young lad of about 16 years lost his life. He was employed as water boy on the construction of the new power house and was starting to wheel to town in attempting to mount his bicycle on the dam, he fell into the water and being unable to swim sank in a few minutes. Fishermen seeing the accident came to the young lads' rescue and succeeded in getting him out of the water, but too late to save his life. He had been in the water about fifteen minutes. The unfortunate lad was employed with Mr. Ed. Quinn, Seymour West, until last fall when he went to work for the construction company.

Fell From Scaffold.

Charles Mott, of Belleville, a carpenter on the new power house being erected below the town, met with a serious accident on Saturday when he fell from a scaffold. The unfortunate man was pulling a nail out of the scaffold, when he lost his balance and fell to the ground, twenty-five feet below, striking the intervening scaffolding in his fall probably saved him from instant death on the ragged rocks at the bottom. He suffered four broken ribs, a dislocated shoulder, and serious head injuries. Mr. Mott was formerly a resident of town, but lately has been residing in Belleville.

Firemen Had Call.

The firemen had a call Saturday night about 8.30. The scene of the blaze was the barns of James Robertson and Harry Tinney, opposite the Agricultural Grounds. The fire, of unknown origin, started in Mr. Robertson's barn and quickly spread to Mr. Tinney's, the two barns being very close together. It had gained such headway that it was impossible to save either. The sparks, fanned by a strong breeze from the west, caught in the back part of Mr. Tinney's house several times, and only the use of the chemical, and hard work by the bucket brigade, saved further disaster. Mr. Tinney's residence is outside the fire protection zone, and the bucket was the only means of supplying water. Mr. Tinney's loss is only partially covered by insurance. Fire Chief Davidson and Firemen Bell and McDonald were severely burned on their arms and hands getting the fire truck out of the flames after the roof had fallen in.

Mr. John Begg, an employee at the local paper mills, had his leg broken while moving the carriers.

James Watters, who was injured in a baseball game last Tuesday night, is not improving very much, and is still in a serious condition.

Hand Badly Burned.

Mrs. Dalglish burned her left hand very badly on Saturday noon. As she was draining the potatoes for dinner, the towel she had in her hands caught fire, and instead of dropping the things she carried them to the table and then threw the burning towl on the floor. Four fingers were severely burned.

Mr. Dalglish, who was in another room, heard her cry, and rushed in just in time to stamp out the fire and save what might have been a conflagration.

Brother Dead.

Mr. Alex. McGregor, Front street, received word on Saturday that his brother, Mr. James Nesbitt McGregor, had died at noon, Saturday, July 19th, at the age of 55 years. He was born in Oakville and at the time of his death was in the hardware business with his son in Oakville. He taught school for three years, and for 20 years was business manager of Collier's Weekly. His sight failed him and he retired and went into the hardware business. He was president of the Ontario Hardware Association in 1918. He was also a thirty-second degree Mason.

He was manager of Knox Presbyterian church in Oakville and a very prominent citizen. His health has been failing for the last three years and just recently he was taken to the hospital in Toronto and died there.

He leaves a widow and one son The funeral will be held at Oakville on Tuesday.

Mr. Alex. McGregor left Saturday night via Havelock for the old home stead at Streestville and then on to Oakville.

MARGARET EASTWOOD.

The death occurred very suddenly at half-past ten o'clock last night, from heart failure, of Margaret Eastwood, of Buckhorn. The late Miss Eastwood, who was in her 43rd year, had managed the Buckhorn Hotel for the past ten years. She was a daughter of the late Thomas Eastwood, and is survived by her mother, one sister, Cora, of Toronto, and one brother, John, of Buckhorn.

A MAIL BANDIT LED HARD LIFE

He Plied His Trade Under the Most Perilous Conditions.

By MILTON McKAYE

WASHINGTON, July 17.—(United Press).—The mail bandit leads the most precarious existence of the criminal world.

He plies his trade under the most perilous conditions; he has only the slightest chance of getting away with his loot and his hide intact. His profession is essentially a sporting one—he must play a long shot for big stakes.

Besides mail robbery, forgery is a sure thing; kidnapping is a sinecure, and gang murder is child's play.

And the reason is that Uncle Sam never admits defeat. The hounds on the postal inspector's office will maintain their chase indefinitely. It may take them 10 years—20 years—50 years, but a robbery case is never closed until they get their man.

The Chicago mail robbery during June and the disappearance of between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 is the most recent illustration of the difficulty of beating the game. Within a week, inspectors had rounded up a part of the gang and recovered the greater portion of the money.

According to the figures there were 16 big holdups in 1921, 18 in 1922, and six in 1923. In the 1921 cases, 73 arrests were made and $3,500,000 of $6,000,000 stolen recovered. In only two of the crimes were there neither arrests nor recovery.

In only one of eight major robberies in the same year did the bandit escape with his loot. In 1922, there were only two of the 18 hold-ups in which there were neither arrests or recoveries. This approximates a percestage of 11 for the bandit and 89 for the inspectors.

In 1923, with six hold-ups, there were 23 arrests and but one case in which neither arrests nor recoveries were made—about a 17 per cent average for the criminal.

The Net Losses

The total losses resulting from the hold-up of mail trains and other postal agencies from 1921 to 1923 inclusive, totalled $11,217,209. The recoveries were $7,200,192, leaving an actual loss of $4,017,017.

This amount, however, is infinitesimal in comparison to the billions of dollars in securities entrusted to the care of the government and which are delivered safely.

During the war $50,000,000,000 in Liberty Bonds found their way to the mail cars belonging to Uncle Sam. This enormous amount was transported without the loss of a dollar.

Millions are carried to the various federal reserve banks yearly—to say nothing of the money and valuables representing the property of thousands of national and state banks, and the annual transmission of 500,000,000 postage stamps.

The Post Office department fully expects to apprehend all criminals who escaped following depredations during the 1921-1923 period and recover much of the property.

These fugitives may meet the same fate as James Johnson, "Portland Ned," famous safe-cracker. Johnson burglarized a postoffice in Danbury, N.C., June 13, 1898. He was captured 16 years later and began serving his sentence, January 22, 1915.

But while persistence is the strong point of the inspectors, their best investigators are by no means deficient in ingenuity and craft.

During the past year, inspectors were puzzled by the continued rifling of letters and packages in the southwest section of the country. After some work on the case, the thefts were narrowed to one of six postoffices. Then the force was baffled. They seemed unable to ascertain which office the burglary had been practiced.

One feature of all the thefts was that after the letters had been opened, they were resealed. This gave one of the inspectors an idea—which he secretly followed out.

Traced By Odor.

A few weeks later, he was handed another letter which had been opened and re-sealed. He moistened the mucilage on the flap and lifted the envelope to his nose. After a good, long sniff, he announced that he had apprehended the thief.

Here was the idea which worked out. He prepared six lots of mucilage and sent one to each postoffice. The first was scented with lilac, the second with violet, and the other four rose, heliotrope, mignonette and lily of the valley.

The criminal had been given away by the odor of the mucilage with which he re-sealed the rifled package.

The perils of the mail bandit are not limited to apprehensions, however. He knows that his "long shot" includes takin his life in his hands. For every postal clerk on mail trains is armed with a rifle, and he has orders to "shoot to kill."

Premier Congratulates

OTTAWA, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—"Hearty congratulations on the honor you have won for yourself and Canada," were cabled to-night by Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie-King, Prime Minister, to Private Desmond Burke, of Ottawa, winner of the King's Prize at Bisley this year. "Canadians everywhere are proud of your achievement in winning the King's Prize," the Premier's message says.

Cable From Byng

OTTAWA, July 20.—One of the first persons in Ottawa to extend congratulations to Private Desmond Burke, winner of the King's Prize at Bisley Camp on Saturday, was Governor-General Lord Byng.

When word was conveyed to His Excellency that the nineteen-year-old marksman had gained the highest honors obtainable on the ranges of the British Empire, Lord Byng, immediately sent the following cablegram to Private Burke:

"Congratulations on your achievement."

Don't Let Hot Weather Slow You Up

KEEP up your vitality—your "pep" and "go"—right through these hot summer days, Eat foods which create energy. Eat foods which do not tax your digestion—which are easily assimilated. Eat Grape-Nuts.

Grape-Nuts is the ideal body-builder. It contains only the elements of wheat and malted barley which are your greatest source of strength and vitality. A long process of slow baking concentrates the food value in highly energizing form, easily assimilated by the body.

Wonderfully delicious, crisp and crunchy, Grape-Nuts can be served with milk or cream with a little sugar added if you wish. Grape-Nuts is inexpensive too, for four teaspoonfuls are sufficient for one serving and there are many such servings in each package. Costs 1 cent per serving. Order Grape-Nuts from your grocer.

GRAPE-NUTS FRITTERS

½ cup Grape-Nuts, 1 cup milk, 2 eggs, separated, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ cup lard (for frying).

Soak the Grape-Nuts in the milk until soft. Beat the yolks of the eggs until light, add salt and stir lightly into Grape-Nuts and milk. Sift flour and baking powder together and mix with other ingredients. Add stiffly-beaten whites of eggs last. Drop by the spoonful into smoking hot lard and fry until a delicate brown.

Serve with powdered sugar or syrup while hot.

This recipe will serve five people.

THE KING'S PRIZE.

The winning of the most coveted of all awards for riflemen in the British Empire—the King's Prize in competition at Bisley—by Pte. Desmond Burke of Ottawa will be gratifying to Canadians generally.

Only five Canadian marksmen have succeeded in carrying off this great event since its inception in 1860, and the fact that Burke is only nineteen years of age makes his triumph all the more remarkable.

He is one of the youngest riflemen to get into the final stage for the King's Prize, a great achievement in itself, and that he was able to win out in competition against the crack shots of the Empire, many of them veterans of such contests, speaks volumes not only for the shooting ability but for the cool nerve and steadiness of this nineteen-year-old Canadian.

It should be understood that the King's Prize is contested for in three stages, being narrowed down by elimination until only the best one hundred scorers reach the last stage.

No fewer than eleven Canadians succeeded in reaching the last round, the largest number from the Dominion ever to shoot off in the final stage of the great contest.

The Ottawa youngster by very consistent shooting, his record including the bronze medal for the best aggregate in the first round, succeeded in bringing to Canada the highest honours and winning for himself £250 and the National Rifle Association's gold medal and badge.

All Canada congratulates the Ottawa youngster.

THROUGH AT LAST.

Parliament has finally prorogued after a session that must have been nearly a record-breaker so far as length and the amount of oratory are concerned.

The usual features distinguished the last moments of the session as the legislators, anxious to get home, galloped through the remaining business with their eyes on the clock.

Whereas in the early stages days could be devoted to rambling discussion on almost every subject under the sun, there were not minutes to spare during the last few hours for business of opportance.

Thus we have the spectacle of the House sitting all night to sprint through the matters left to be dealt with, sending important measures to the Senate, and indignant with the Upper Chamber because the venerable Senators declined to endorse legislation thrown at them at the eleventh hour.

There would be no need for this mad rush if some means could be devised of boiling down the debate on the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and to a considerable degree the Budget debate—two time-wasting talk-fests that continue unnecessarily for weeks and serve no purpose that is of public benefit.

The Government is not to blame for the length of the session or for the frittering away of days that could be devoted to useful business.

Nobody in particular is the culprit.

The fault lies in our parliamentary system, which, based as it is upon the British system, yet fails to copy the Mother of Parliaments in the snap and celerity with which the nation's business is transacted.

OSHAWA'S BREAD-LINE.

Not long ago Oshawa, the baby city, was boasting of its record customs returns, building operations were being carried on a huge scale and optimistic enthusiasts confidently predicted that a population mark of 30,000 was just around the corner.

And now newspaper despatches convey the tidings that conditions in Oshawa are so bad that a bread-line has been established.

Oshawa's industrial eggs are all in one basket.

There is a slack period in the automobile industry, with the result that hundreds of workers have been laid off and others are working short hours—hence the bread-line.

The question that should suggest itself just at this stage is why there should be any need of soup kitchens in a community in which up to a short time ago everybody was working at comparatively high rates of pay.

There is a warning in the news of the Oshawa bread-line that should not be overlooked.

Good times cannot be guaranteed as permanent.

Periods of depression follow periods of expansion.

The wise worker remembers that fact and makes provision for the future.

He tries to have a nest-egg to tide him over the lull that follows the boom.

It is to be feared, however, that the wise workers are in the minority.

There are too many cars on the roads, too many gas-filling tanks on the streets, too many garages and too many radio aerials in sight to inspire much confidence in the idea that many people are storing away an emergency fund for the days of unemployment.

Doubtless there are men in the bread-line at Oshawa who not long ago were steadly employed at good wages.

Their fate should give everybody a jolt—and cause some thought about the advisability of unemployment insurance in the form of a savings account.

THE BIG ONES GET AWAY.

A 20-pound maskinonge was hooked by a fisherman in Sparrow Lake, Ontario. He landed it in his rowboat. Now, a 20-pound 'lunge in a rowboat is about as genial and active as a wildcat.

This fisherman, Bill Sparling, was alone in his boat—no one to advise. Also, he was a "city feller," had never before caught anything a fourth as big. Nothing in his rowboat to kill the 'lunge by a whack behind the eyes. But he happened to have a loaded shotgun.

He blew off its head—also blew a big hole in the bottom of his boat. An Ojibway Indian rescued him before he drowned among the weeds.

Fishing and hunting are the most ancient industries of man. They existed long before agriculture. When a man fishes, he answers the call of the wild inherited from barbaric ancestors.

No real sportsman ever catches and kills more fish than will be eaten. To do so is vandalism.

All anglers know that the streams and lakes of our continent are gradually being "fished out." Restocking is unable to keep up with catches. Accordingly, good sports will make use of this fact:

When you catch a fish too small to keep, always handle him with wet hands. A dry hand is almost certain to kill the fish, for it ruins the oily protective film over the scales.

Another thing: An angler, enraged because the fish isn't large, often hurls it viciously far from the boat. This is apt to kill the fish within a few days. A fish isn't made of iron. And water is hard, as you know if you ever hit it flat with your stomach in diving.

WHAT ABOUT CAPITAL?

Canada can gain by new capital.

Canada can get new capital from abroad if she asks for it.

Capital so got is certain to more than pay its way.

In other words, the use of it in this country will not only produce profit sufficient to pay the interest on the money, but in the long run, directly or indirectly, furnish enough prosperity and profit to pay off the debt. Unless we have a large proportion of fools inthis country, when we have not.

Meanwhile such capital will be furnishing employment to large numbers of our people in new or expanding industries and business and stimulating all other industry and business in this country.

The Dominion Government is about to borrow three hundred million dollars for Government purposes, chiefly to pay off former borrowings.

If the Dominion Government gets this $300,000,000 abroad, as it can, there will be $300,000,000 more than at present in Canada to promote Canadian industry and business.

Do we in Canada want new industry and increased business?

Is employment in Canada good at present?

Why have our people been leaving in tens of thousands recently for the United States?

Does confidence or content exist in our business circles?

Have we in Canada any undeveloped natural resources? Unoccupied land? Forests? Mines? Water-powers? Do we need mills? Factories? Elevators? Improved transportation? Better roads?

We are ten million people scattered over a country of great potential wealth, larger than Europe, yet with vast railway systems that need business. Had we better get more capital to help develop this wealth and this business, or not?

Or for government purposes ought we to ask for $300,000,000 out of the savings or reserves of our own people, and leave our country and our industries and our business and our railways as comparatively cramped as they are at present?

Canadian business and industry, as they stand today, are largely the product first of British, and latterly of United States capital. The amount of capital invested in Canada by Great Britain and the United States has not been less than five or six thousand million dollars. Practically that is what we have from time to time borrowed abroad—or the equivalent of borrowed. Whether this country pays interest or dividends to these outer creditors, the effect is the same. What is the effect? Has it hurt Canada? Are we "slaves" to anybody? What has this $5,000,000,000 or more of outside money done? It has enabled Canada to become one of the most strong and vital countries in the world. The effect is today that statisticians tell us that Canada is the richest country in the world, per head of population. The borrowing has made us. And yet there are wiseacres among us who beseech us not to become "slaves" to alien bond-holders!"

* * * *

There is hardly a successful business man in Canada in every ten thousand successful Canadian business men who does not know that his progress has been promoted by borrowing money when he could use it to advantage in his business. Where he gets the capital makes no difference to him, does not put him in anybody's power so long as he is going to be able to pay the interest. If in addition it makes a profit for himself, it only makes him more a master of others. But it would make a deal of a difference to him if he were told that he must not borrow money outside his own country, and then, when he went to a friend or a bank in his own country to borrow money, to be told that he couldn't get it because it had been lent to the Government.

* * * *

The long and the short of it is that by borrowing $300,000,000 abroad the Dominion Government will hurt nobody, though some of our bond brokers may not gain commissions—but that by borrowing at home, the Dominion Government can hurt most everybody in the country—or at least block off from most everybody some of the prosperity that is possible.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Some of Canada's members of Parliament have been in Ottawa so long they'll need to go home armed with a letter of introduction to their families.

Mr. Ferguson says the questions to be submitted to the electors on October 23 will be so framed that there will be no possibility of perplexity. Why not announce them now and give plenty of time for consideration?

The British Government gets as many defeats as a second division ball club, but still stays in the running.

A THOUGHT

A SEARCH FOR MEN

WANTED—A man for hard work and rapid promotion; a man who can find things to be done without the help of a manager and three assistants.

A man who gets to work on time in the morning and does not imperil the lives of others in an effort to be first out of the office at night.

A man who is neat in appearance.

A man who listens carefully when he is spoken to and asks only enough questions to insure the accurate carrying out of instructions.

A man who moves quickly and makes as little noise as possible about it.

Apply anywhere—the world is searching for such men.

Outside of the American Federation of Labor there are organizations of workers with an estimated total membership of 600,000, of which 400,000 are accredited to the "Big Four" railroad brotherhoods.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 20. — Trading in cash grain was again very quiet Saturday. There was no change in the flour situation. Prices in millfeed are steady. Standard grades of rolled oats were firm. There was nothing new in eggs. Total receipts since May 1 were 193,747 cases against 253,420 cases for the same period in 1923. Market for butter is firmer. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 5303 packages less than in the same period of 1923. Business in cheese is quiet. Total receipts from May 1 to date have been 59,031 boxes larger than in the same period of 1923. The bean market is strong with one pound pickers quoted at $3 a bushel.

STERLING RATE

MONTREAL, July 20.— Sterling exchange rates were quoted here Saturday: Demand 4.4038; Cables 4.4063.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 19.—Wheat took a new upward swing in price to-day owing to persistent buying on the part of commission houses and to reports of a wet harvest in Nebraska as well as bulish advices from India and Australia. Closing quotations here on wheat were firm, 1 3-4c to 2 1-8c net higher, September $1.26 5-8 to $1.26 3-4 and December $1.29 3-8 to $1.29 1-2, with corn varying from 1-4c, decline to a rise of 2c; oats at 1 1-8c lower to 1-2c gain, and provisions ranging from 7c off to 15c advance.

At first the Chicago wheat market had a downward tendency as a result of the rains in the Spring wheat belt, both north and south of the Canadian international boundary. On the other hand Winnipeg prices failed to show any such weakness as had been expected by many traders here. The circumstance acted as a check on sellers in Chicago, and so, too, did relative firmness of quotations at Liverpool.

Rallies which soon developed in the Chicago market were decidedly stimulated by news that heavy rains were causing delay to the cutting of the Nebraska winter crop and to threshing and shipping operations in Kansas.

CLASH BETWEEN

cannot fail to aid materially in agricultural and industrial development, and through cheapened production, also to effect a dimunition in the cost of living.

The task of readjusting the representation of the people in the House of Commons, under the provisions of the British North America Act, has been accomplished with comparatively little disturbance of existing electoral divisions in most of the Provinces. The readjustment will considerably increase the representation of the middle west. The desire to effect an equitable redistribution has, I believe, been realized and the manner in which this difficult task has been accomplished will, I feel sure, meet with the approval of the electorate.

Railway C-ordination.

It is satisfactory to observe that, as the co-ordination of the Canadian National Railway lines and facilities becomes increasingly effective, the prospects grow brighter for the success of this great National undertaking. To facilitate the construction of the much-needed branch lines, legislation has been enacted to authorize the construction of certain mileage over a term of years. This statutory provision should enable the management to plan its construction program definitely and economically. While the program of railroad construction contemplated by the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways has been curtailed, the construction of the branch lines, for which provision has been made, should assist in relieving part of the difficulties experienced by settlers in sections of the country which these lines will serve, and in accelerating the movement of new settlers in the land.

Among many other important measures, provision has been made for the investigation and study of tariff problems and other forms of taxation of expert advisors of the Government, and for the consolidation of the revenue-collecting services under the administrative head. These enactments should materially aid in simplifying and improving the present methods of taxation, and effect a substantial saving.

To existing safeguards for the public in banking operations has been added provision for Government inspection of the chartered banks.

Important trade agreements, mutually beneficial, have been made with Belgium and the Netherlands. Other treaties, aiming at the suppression of smuggling operations, have been negotiated between Canada and the United States. To safeguard the interest of children and young persons in maritime transport, adherence has been given by Canada to certain draft conventions of the International Labor Conference of the League of Nations. At the moment our country is being represented at the Inter-Allied conference in London by an honorable member of this Parliament. We fervently share the hope of all the countries there represented that the deliberations of this important body may aid in the speedy improvement of European conditions and relations.

PUBLISHERS WIN MOVIE MUSIC SUIT.

Court Decides Theatres Must Pay License Fee on Copyrighted Compositions.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Proprietors of motion picture theatres are required to pay publishers a license fee for using copyrighted music according to a decision of Judge J. Whittaker Thompson, in Federal court.

The movie men were taken into court two years ago when they refused to pay a "performing right fee" of 10c a seat a year to the music publishers, members of the Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

The songs alleged to have been played for profit, thus infringing the copyright, have long since passed from current fancy, but the issue survived. Judge Thompson decided in favor of Irving Berlin and nine other New York Music publishers, who were awarded $250 damages and $150 counsel fee from each of the 31 Philadelphia motion picture proprietors.

Eleven other suits were begun but in some of them the music dealers sued the wrong persons and there was no hearing in the remaining cases.

HEIGHT OF SEASON.

Regatta at Juniper on August 11th, Peterborough's Civic Holiday.

In order to continue the gala gala week programmme begun last year, the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association has issued an attractive programme and with their programme for Juniper Island they have included those of the sister associations of Crowe's Landing, McCracken's Landing and Kawartha Park.

The programme gives a fortnight's doings in the strenuous fashion so much in vogue at present.

The programme is as follows:

Juniper programme—

Saturday, August 2—Special dance

Wednesday, August 6—Children's regatta.

Thursday, August 7th—Trip to Chemong Regatta.

Friday, August 8th — Illuminated Flotilla.

Masquerade dance in the evening

Monday, August 11th—Regatta at Juniper.

Presentation of prizes and dance in the evening.

In case of bad weather the Juniper regatta will be held on August 14th.

The chairman of the committee is J. R. Dodworth and the secretary is J. M. Gruinlock.

Dances Numerous.

The dances at the lake this season are surely numerous enoubh to satisfy the greatest jazz fiend, as apparently every night has a dance and orchestra at one of the various centres on the lake. Juniper has a dance on Wednesday and Saturday night, and Viamede on Tuesday and Friday nights; and there are also regular dances at Kawartha Park and at Crowe's Landing.

On Saturday night last the dance at Juniper was well attended, the very large crowd of young people giving a very convincing denial to the statement so often heard that there are no young folks at the lake this year.

Season Is Backward.

This is a decidedly backward season as there are still about half the cottages remaining shuttered, but one feels sure that another week will see many of these opened. There are quite a number of cottages for sale, as in many cases families have scattered, and the "old folks" prefer a less strenuous vacation than that afforded by a houseful of gay company. There have been several cottages sold during the year, and new owners are getting settled in their quarters and finding the lake a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

Listen-In On World.

One can note the aerials of the radio in various high points at Stoney Lake, showing that one can live in the wilds with one mail a day and still keep abreast of the times with this latest one of the world's wonders.

Many Campers.

The number of cosy little camps in inviting nooks on the lakes is growing steadily. There is a great deal of attraction to young men, apparently in the combination of a pal, a tent and canoe and camp stove, and the joy of cooking one's own food, and oh, the appetite that invariably accompanies the outfit.

Each year this mode of spending a vacation grows in popularity.

Attractive Garden.

The picturesque flower gardens at "Monplaisir," the picturesque summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Walter, of Montreal, are a constant source of delight to the passersby on the steamers as well as those in smaller craft. At present the delphiniums are the flower most noticed, and the varying shades of blue make a beautiful picture with the background of pines and rocks.

Acquatic Flowers Opening

The secluded bays are showing the yellow glint of the common type of water flower known to some as the "Splatterdock", the white lily, that aristocrat of water flowers has not yet opened its petals, the lovers of flowers in canoes for this flower is as elusive as a pretty girl and grows at her best in the most sheltered, difficult to get at, bays on the lake. Power boats can't reach them as they are likely to get caught on snags entangled with weeds in the popular but the little "Canuck canoe" is the craft which for this delightful guest is literally built to the queen's taste.

Less Pot-washing

SMP Enameled Ware has the smooth surface and polish of fine crockery—without the breakage. And it is so very easy to clean—just like china, and therefore makes light work of pot washing.

Try this test. Take an SMP Enameled Ware sauce pan and an all-metal sauce pan of equal size. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Put on the fire at the same time. The SMP sauce pan will be boiling merrily when the water in the other is just beginning to simmer.

KAWARTHA PARK REGATTA AUG. 4

Field Sports at Sandy Point August 2 and Barn Dance on 16.

A MASQUERADE.

KAWARTHA PARK, July 18. — The Kawartha Park Cottagers' Association are, as usual, presenting an attractive quartette of special events this season. The first will be the annual masquerade held on Saturday night, July 19th and it promises to live up to the success of former years The field sports will be held on August 2nd at Sandy Point and those who were present last year will certainly wish to return again this season. The Gospel Tent has been erected at Kawartha Park again and is enjoying its usual popularity. STONEY LAKE NEWS.

The "Nomad," of Hamilton, a trim yawl with a party of jolly boys aboard, is making a trip through the Kawartha Lakes and having a very good time en route. The shipshape appearance of their equipment suggests that they are experienced campers.

The unfailing courtesy shown to elderly people and those in fair health is one of the outstanding features of travel to the lakes. This is seen every day on train, steamer and bus. It is one of the things that count and something which should be appreciated, as it nearly always is.

Three Thousand Victimized in Bogue Oil Shares.

LONDON, July 19. — Edward A. Schwab has a list of 3000 pesons here who, he claims, parted with nearly half a million pounds sterling. The Daily Mail quotes him as saying that the master-brain of the organization is now in London, and he expects speedily to lay hands on him.

Scotland Yard, however, has suggested to Schwab that his alleged fraud is not an extraditable offense. Schwab believes to the contrary

TWIST IN THE LAW MAY FREE SLAYERS

Impossible To Tell in What State Franks Boy Was Killed.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Where was Robert Franks killed—Illinois or Indiana? Nobody knows, not even Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, youthful millionaires, who confessed to the killing, the defence holds.

And the foregoing is the reason why the defense believes the boys will never hang for the crime, it was exclusively revealed to the United Press Saturday.

To convict the youthful university graduates and to send them to the gallows, the State must prove that they killed the Franks boy within the limits of Cook county, the defense points out. This, the defense claim, can never be proved.

If the State fails to prove that Franks was killed in Cook county, the case is no longer under the jurisdiction of Chicago courts.

Illinois or Indiana?

And if the case goes to another Illinois county or to an Indiana court, it will be impossible for the prosecution to prove where Robert Franks met death, the defence claims.

Leopold and Loeb, although making full confessions of their crime, at no time have told just where their victim died, Clarence Darrow, chief defence counsel, told the United Press. As a matter of fact, Darrow said, the defendants do not know just when and where the Franks boy died.

There were no witnesses to the murder. The State has only the signed confessions of the slayers as testimony of how and where they killed their victim.

MATTHEWS, WHO

device Mr. Matthews said that it was impossible for him to do so because it would disclose his secret. Any technical discussion of the invention would do the same thing, so that he could only speak of the electrical beam, as he preferred to term his discovery, in a general way. Although the beam could damage cities and stun armies, he said that it could not explode magazines on war ships at sea becaues they were what he called in radio language "earthbound," or grounded and surrounded by metal.

R. K. Bartlett, who came over with Mr. Matthews, explained that the inventor had been experimenting with electricity since he was 10 years old and that fifteen years ago he made the original experiment with wireless telephony. Mr. Bartlett said that during the voyage Mr. Matthews had a nervous breakdown, which, in his opinion was due to the fact that since 1915 when the experiments with the electrical ray or beam were begun, he had worked until 3 or 4 o'clock every morning.

When asked if his electrical ray was of the same nature as that used by a German inventor for stopping airplane motors, Mr. Matthews said that the German ray caused a partial short circuit of the mageto. "Mine kills the engine," he added.

Impersonator of Noted Authors at Chautauqua

By presenting speaking likenesses of a number of the greatest literary men of a century Sidney Landon, who will be a notable attraction at the coming Dominion Chautauqua here, has contributed new dignity to the art of impersonation. With wigs, grease paints and a precisely vivid imagination, he gives faithful reproductions of noted authors. He completely loses his own identity in portraying the role of a famous writer, and quotes from the works of the author impersonated.

One of Mr. Landon's most popular presentations is of Mark Twain making his historic birthday speech. Edgar Allan Poe is pictured in his story of "Annabel Lee." A humorous reading from James Whitcomb Riley, Bill Nye's "American Boy" and a group of Longfellow's poems are favorites in his repertoire.

Many of the later-day writers Mr. Landon knew personally. Other writers in both England and America he learned to know through visits to their former homes and libraries, and through interviews with relatives and close friends.

POPULATION OF U. S.

Has Passed 112,000,000 Mark, Census Bureau Reports.

WASHINGTON, July 21. —The population of the United States had passed the 112,000,000 mark, according to estimates of population of the principal cities just completed by the United States Census Bureau.,

New York City of course, leads the country with 6,015,504, but the figures show some interesting shifts in the ranking of cities. New Orleans, for example, having passed Jersey City, Oakland, Calif., having outranked St. Paul, which in turn passed Providence.

There are now seventy-nine cities with more than 100,000 population as compared with sixty-eight last year. Chicago is found to be approaching the 3,000,000 mark, while Philadelphia with nearly 2,000,000, and Cleveland just short of one million, show continued growth. The population of Detroit is not given.

Among the cities listed are: Albany, 118,527; Buffalo, N.Y., 545,273; New York, 6,015,504; Rochester, N.Y. 328,211; Schenectady, N.Y.; 100,467; Syracuse, N.Y.; 188,060; Utica N.Y. 105,315.

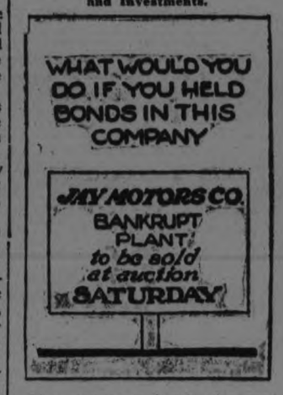
MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



If a man owns bonds of a company which goes into receivership, it is usually wise to join the bondholders 'protective committee.

If a bondholders' protective committee representing 90 per cent. of the bonds outstanding buys in the property, it may turn over its bonds for 90 per cent. of the payment. The other 10 per cent. must be paid in cash, which goes to the bondholders outside of the committee.

It is probable that the property was sold for 1-3 to 1-2 of the face value of the bonds, since it was a forced sale. Consequently, the bondholder outside the committee would receive from 1-3 to 1-2 of the face value of his bond, and he would be through.

The bondholder within the committee would turn over his bond at from 1-3 to 1-2 its face value, but he would own the property, and by successful operation, might eventually be able to receive his full investment and more, too.

Consequently, the man who stays out of such a committee, hoping to save a relatively small assessment, usually gets the worst of it.

He expects to remain at Brighton Beach until the end of the month, when he will go to Atlantic City for the annual meeting of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, which convenes August 1.

RECORD MAINTAINED.

LAKEFIELD, July 21. — The Lakefield entrance class which has been for many years under the direction of Miss Duff, has once more made a record, as twenty-one pupils passed out of a class of twenty-two, six of them with honours. Seven pupils took honours at the Lakefield centre, six being from Miss Duff's class. Four of the pupils who passed, namely Alice and Barbara Dench, Mary Riel, and Edward Leonard, did the work of the Fourth Book in one year, having passed into the Junior Fourth last September. Of these Barbara Dench took honours. Miss Duff and her pupils are receiving well merited congratulations on the success of the examinations.

Annual Picnic.

The W.A. of St. John's Church held their annual picnic on Thursday afternoon to Strickland's Point, and while the attendance was not large those who were present had a very pleasant time.

A short programme of races was run off by Rev. Walter Cox, who enjoyed the position of being the only member of the male sex present. The races were closely contested and the numbers of entries especially good.

Egg and spoon race, No. 1—1, Mrs. White, 2 Miss L. Hampton.

A bountiful supper was served, to which all the party did ample justice, and the early evening was spent in a story-telling contest, interspersed with music ,Rev. Walter Cox being one of the soloists of the evening.

The trip home was made about 8.30, and the unanimous verdict was that the picnic was a great success.

Junior Band Concert.

The Junior Band of the Salvation Army made a visit to the village on Wednesday night and gave a very enjoyable band concert, which drew a considerable crowd. The idea of a junior band is good, and one hopes to see the day when the village can have one training the young chaps so that they can take hold and carry on the Citizens' Band when the present leaders retire. A recruiting ground for players is a valuable adjunct to the adult organisation. The efficient manner in which the little chaps conducted themselves was very much remarked on.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church met on Tuesday afternoon at Mrs. G. A. Welbourne's home on Concession Street. There was a good attendance and a very pleasant afternoon was spent. Afternoon tea was served.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"That suits me exactly," said a solemn voice.

"We'll be there in a minute," said Nancy. "Where are we going tonight, Johnny?"

"I don't think we'll go any place unless we can find the titmouse," said Johnny. "He seems to have disappeared altogether. That's why I want you Twins to hurry—so we can hunt him."

The Twins put on the little shoes that Johnny Jump Up gave them and instantly they became as small as pepper corns, if you know how small that is.

Then down they slid to the magic garden.

"Tommy, oh Tommy Titmouse, where are you?" they called.

All the little violet fairies hunted, and the little Dutchman in the tulip hunted, and the little Scotchman in the blue bells hunted, and the little French fairy in the pansies hunted, and the cowboy fairy and the tiny Turk hunted and everybody hunted. But no one had seen Tommy. Not even the big back beetle knew where he was.

"We can't go on a journey tonight," said Johnny Jump Up. "We'll have to give it up."

"That suits me exactly," said a solemn voice. "Now I'll have a chance to give my lecture."

And looking where the voice came from, everybody was surprised to see Jack-in-the-Pulpit standing under his canopy and looking as solemn as a preacher.

"Sit down, everybody," said Jack.

So Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up and all the other garden fairies sat down on the ground to listen.

"My lecture is on the moon," said Jack.

"The moon is round except when it isn't. Sometimes it's just a slice. Sometimes it's rightside up and sometimes it's wrong down up, and sometimes it's standing on end."

"No, it doesn't always," said Nick. "I've often seen it in the day time. If you look hard you can see it right in the blue sky."

"But it doesn't shine. It just shows," said Jack-in-the-Pulpit. "There is a big difference. As I said before—the moon shines only at night. The man in the moon is bald-headed and fat and jolly and—"

"Oh, say," said Johnny Jump Up. "Did you hear the verse I made up about him?"

"No," said Jack-in-the-Pulpit, stiffly.

"This was it," said Johnny. And he recited:

"The man in the moon is so short and so fat,
He can't bend over this way or stoop over that,
He has not seen his feet since the Fourth of July,
But he says that's his shape so there's no use to try."

"The lecture is over for to-night," said Jack-in-the-Pulpit.

Just then there was a loud snore and there was Tommy Titmouse on the pussy willow fast asleep.

"Better wake up, Tommy, a cat will get you," said Nick.

EMPTIED CHICAGO BEER INTO SEWERS

Dry Agents Ran Off 75,000 Gallons—Big Seizure of Scotch.

CHICAGO, July 21—Carrying out the commands of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, United States Deputy Marshals and prohibition agents emptied into the sewers on Saturday 75,000 gallons of beer that had become illegal in the vats of the Standard Brewery.

The destruction of 10,000 barrels of beer in City Treasurer John A. Cervenka's brewery, the Pilsen, and the Peter Hand Brewery will be ordered at once as a consequence of a double decision by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which affirmed injunctions imposed on the two plants by Judge Wilkerson.

Jacob I. Grossman, Assistant District Attorney, said the decision was an important victory for the Government. It denies all breweries the right to operate after the imposition of an injunction, he said, and makes it possible for the courts to order beer destroyed without the process of trial by jury.

Judges Evans, Page and Fitzhenry signed the opinions. They heard arguments in both cases at a recent session of the Court of Appeals.

Chief Enforcement Officer Charles W. Vursells' detectives continued on Saturday their drive on Chicago's weary and wary bootleggers. In the Robey Inn the agents ripped open bags of potatoes and beans and upset barrels of innocent looking flour. They found both good and bad liquor and took eight barrels of real beer hidden in the furnace and under a pile of coal.

At the Wooded Inn, where the management apparently was less cautious, all the agents had to do was to go back of the service bar and collect the stuff. They arrested the proprietor and some of the attaches.

One of the richest hauls of the day was the seizure in transit of $10,000 worth of Scotch whisky.

INCREASE IN FARES.

Street Railway Rates in Ontario Show Least Advance.

OTTAWA, July 21.—(Canadian Press.)—Ordinary street car fares in 35 centres throughout Canada have increased 43.9 per cent. since 1913, according to an investigation conducted by the dominion bureau of statistics. For the last three years fares have remained stationary. The percentage of increase by sections of the dominion since 1913 has been: Ontario, 38.7; British Columbia, 39.5; prairie provinces, 45.2; maritime provinces, 46.6, and Quebec, 50.2. Fares in nine centres have remained unchanged during the whole period and in the other 28 increases have ranged from 20 to 100 per cent.

Two French professors have inventoed a radiographic instrument which permits a "movie" to be made of the beating of the heart.

Wrinkles Removed "While You Wait"

It has been discovered that the mere application of a spoonful of powdered tarkroot mixed with a spoonful of lemon juice, actually removes wrinkles and creases in fifteen minutes or less. There's no rubbing, no work, and the expense is trifling—less than three cents; It is only necessary to spread the mixture over the face, sit down before the mirror, and watch those unwelcome marks of age, illness or worry disappear like magic. The effect is incomparably better than that produced by the most skillful massaging.

The mixture of course is perfectly harmless. While on the face a pleas ant soothing sensation is experienced It is easily washed off. Aside from its remarkable effect on wrinkles, there's nothing better for baggy cheeks or chin. No women who purchases a packages of powdered tarkroot from her druggist will regret having done so.

MENNONITES ARRIVE.

KITCHENER, Ont., July 21. — (Canadian Press).—One of the oddest scenes ever witnessed in this part of the country occurred Saturday afternoon and evening when a party of Russian Mennonites, numbering well over eight hundred, arrived in Waterloo and were taken in charge by the Mennonites of Waterloo County.

Newcomers, whose forbears were German, came from south of Moscow, where a colony has resided for 150 years. A few years ago they were comparatively wealthy but the war ruined them. Since then the Soviet persecution has robbed them of everything they possessed. They came to this country practically penniless, and the Mennonites of Canada have pledged themselves for the cost of their passage, and will look after their brethren until they are on their feet.

Two special trains from Quebec pulled into Waterloo with contingents aboard, and practically every Mennonite in Waterloo County was at the station to greet them.

OTTAWA, July 21. — Senator Dandurand, the government leader in the Senate, will be Canada's senior representative at the forthcoming conference of the League of Nations. His appointment was announced last night. Another member of the Cabinet may accompany him but it has not been decided who will go.

Senator Dandurand has been president of the Canadian branch of the Inter-Parliamentary Peace Union since its inception in 1907. He is also president of the Canadian section of the Committee Franco-Amerique. He has attended a number of international functions as Canada's representative during the last twenty years, and has always been prominently identified with the promotion of education during his thirty odd years of public life.

DRURY REFUSED TO 'WINK AT' THE WETS

Would Still Be Premier Had He Done So, He Told Farmer Gathering.

LINDSAY, July 21.—A Progressive picnic was held at Little Britain on Friday afternoon, which attracted a gathering of about 1,300 people. The chief speaker of the afternoon was ex-Premier Drury, who, in the course of his address, dealt with the coming Provincial plebiscite on the liquor question. He claimed that the vote was unnecessary, as there was no popular demand for it. The people had expressed themselves on the temperance question in no uncertain manner on five different occasions, and there should be some finality in connection with all forms of legislature. The plebiscite would cost the province about half a million dollars, and Premier Ferguson, he said, was simply carrying out certain promises or pledges which he had made in his election speeches. Mr. Drury told the gathering that had he (Mr. Drury) "winked to the wets" he would still be Premier. Mr. Drury characterized the liquor control system of Quebec and British Columbia as most unsatisfactory as well as demoralizing. The action of the Ontario Legislature at its last session in regard to the coming plebiscite was unconstitutional, he declared.

Mr. Drury also dealt with emonomic conditions in the country at the present time. He referred to the slow increase in population and also the exodus of Canadians to the United States. All this was due to tariff conditions which were obstructions to the growth and development of the country. Taxation burdens, such as Canadians were called upon to bear, had turned great nations into deserts. He prophesied that in fifty years the tariff system would be abolished.

Messrs. J. J. Thurston, M.P., Victoria and Haliburton, and Mr. J. W. Kennedy, M.P., Glengarry, also delivered addresses.

DEPOSITORS MEET.

Relief of Depositors Will be Discussed This Afternoon.

TORONTO, July 21. — W. T. Lee, chairman of the Home Bank depositors national committee, has called a meeting of the committee for this afternoon at the Home Bank premises, King street, to discuss the situation which has arisen as a result of the fact that no legislation for the relief of the depositors was introduced at the session of the House of Commons just concluded. A number of other matters in connection with the financing of the campaign, and Premier King's statement in the House, will likely come up and plans for further action will be considered.

The members of the Committee feel that six-sevenths of the fight for compensation has been won, and that but one-seventh remains to be done at the next session of Parliament.

CANADA RECOGNIZED.

Universal Postal Union Grants Equality to British Nations.

OTTAWA, July 20. — Recognition of Canada on the same footing as any other country by the Universal Postal Union is announced in a message from P. T. Coolican, who is representing the Postmaster-General of Canada at the conference of the union now in progress at Stockholm, Sweden. At the previous conference in Madrid, in 1920, only "politically independent" countries were allowed to vote in the conference and Canada's delegate attended only as representing an overseas dominion of the British Empire.

On that occasion the Dominions urged that they be recognized independently, and this recognition has not been granted to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, South Africa and the Irish Free State.

CRICKET GAME HERE SATURDAY

A splendid game was witnessed at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday afternoon between the cricketing members of St. John's Church, captained by Mr. F. Dyer, and an eleven captained by Mr. Chas. Thorpe. Cricket is evidently regaining some of its old-time popularity in the city, there being quite a large turnout of spectators, among whom a goodly sprinkling of the fair sex graced the proceedings with their presence. King Sol, too, was gracious, at atmospheric conditions being more congenial to what was being experienced towards the latter part of the week.

Winning the toss, Mr. Thorpe elected to take first lease of the wicket, and sent in Coutts and Manning, but the latter was unfortunately run out before a run had been scored. Mr. Stocker followed, and the worthy Alderman soon made it evident he meant business, and was getting nicely set when he was bowled by a ball that would have beaten the best; 2 to 13. Thorpe was next batsman, but lost Coutts three runs later. Mann then joined his captain, and these batsmen, after playing themselves in, got settled down to nice, steady cricket. Runs were being freely scored all round the wicket, and the fielders had a busy time "chasing the leather" before a separation of the partnership was effected, Mann ultimately succumbing to the same bowler as the previous batsmen. The score at this stage had been raised to 61 for four wickets. Thorpe, however, soon followed—also a victim of Frank Dyer's—having played a splendid innings for his 27 runs. After Thorpe's dismissal the remaining batsmen collapsed completely, and the whole side were out for 77. Frank Dyer bowled throughout the entire innings, securing six wickets for 29; R. Dyer had four for 29; while G. R. Langley had 14 runs hit from his bowling without meeting with any success.

St. John's opened disastrously, Thorpe capturing the wickets of Evans and Dyer (R.) in his first over with successive balls before a run had been scored, while at the other end Langley fell to Dunkley's bowling—3 for 1 run. Frank Dyer followed on, but he, too, fell a victim to Thorpe, who was putting up a fine length ball. Elliott was the only batsman of the St. John's team to reach double figures. Stocker was put on in place of Dunkley, who was meeting with no further success. That the veteran can still bowl a good ball was evidenced in his taking three wickets for 9 runs. St. John's were ultimately all out for 39 runs. Charlie Thorpe had seven wickets for 16 runs. The following are the detailed scores:

JUVENILES MEET ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Important Game Will Be Fought Out at the Exhibition Grounds.

The Curlers, champions of the first half of the Juvenile series, and the Mape Leafs, runners-up in the first half, clash in the first game of the second half at the Exhibition Grounds on Tuesday night at six o'clock. The game is sure to be a good one, and a large crowd will likely be present to see the boys perform. In the three former appearances of these teams they have supplied the fans with some snappy ball. The first game was won by the Leafs by the score of 1 to 0, while the next two were won by the Curlers by the scores of 2 to 1 and 3 to 1. Carl Wood will be on the mound for Alex. Kay's team, and Chuck Bradley will do the gunning for the Mape Leafs. Bradley has been resting up for this battle, and will be in the best of shape and should come through with a win, while Carl Woods is also in the pink of condition, and will be out there burning them in as hard as ever. From now on every game counts, and the Leafs will have to cop the second half to stay in the running, while the Curlers will do all in their power to try and avoid a final playoff.

GRACE CHURCH HELD A PICNIC

Much Sympathy Felt For Rev. William Buchanan, Who Lost His Son.

MILLBROOK, July 21.—The annual picnic; under the auspices of Grace Presbyterian Sunday School, was held at Wallace's Point on Thursday afternoon, about one hundred and fifty going by motor to this attractive gathering place.

A good sports programme, consisting of races for all ages from the children of the primary department to the members of the adult Bible classes, with games of various kinds made the time pass pleasantly until the bountiful tea was served.

The main attraction of the afternoon was a game of soft ball between the girls and the married men, resulting in a tie. This was continued after supper when the sides chosen included the "married men and those who would like to be married," playing against the girls who reinforced their ranks with some of the younger married women. J. N. McGill filled the difficult role of umpire, handing out some extraordinary decisions against which no protest was made by the players, however. The score remained stationary at 12-11 regardless of runs made by either side.

Among the items from the C.S.E.T. programme which gave the boys of the Trail Rangers and Tuxis Square a chance to show their athletic ability were jumping contests, and the floor push, David Gervan winning in the latter with a score of 42 against Lawrence Ingram's 39.

The general conclusion was that no more enjoyable or successful outing had ever been held in the history of the Sunday school.

Much Sympathy

Much sympathy will be felt for Rev. William Buchanan of Lethbridge, Alta., whose second son, Robert Percy, passed away very suddenly at Saskatoon, Sask., at the early age of forty-six years. Interment took place at Lethbridge on Monday, July 14th. Rev. Mr. Buchanan, who is in his 80th year was preparing for a visit to his relatives and many friends in Millbrook and vicinity when the sad news of his son's death was received. Deceased had never married. He was a nephew of Mrs. W. Archer, Mrs. A. Payne, Messrs. William and F. W. Pendrie of this place.

Another brother, Mr. Stanley Buchanan, of Edmonton, Alta., who is connected with the Allen Theatre Company, was on a business trip to Ontario, and had recently paid a brief visit to his relatives in Millbrook, when he received the telegram announcing his brother's death.

The red brick church at Fraserville is a memorial of the labors of Rev. Mr. Buchanan when, in the early years of his ministry, he was pastor of that circuit.

PREHISTORIC SKULLS FOUND

Dr. Robert Gilder Has Been Successful in His Long Search.

OTTAWA, July 21. — (Canadian Press) — Word has been received here that last week, after fifteen years search, Dr. Robert F. Gilder, Field Archaeologist of the University of Nebraska, has found the remaining parts of the skeletons of five prehistoric human remains, skulls of which were discovered fifteen years ago by Dr. Harlan I. Smith, now of Victoria Museum Ottawa, at Council Bluffs, Iowa, in ancient burial grounds. Dr. Gilder was with Dr. Smith at the time of the original discovery and has kept up his search each year for the remaining parts. It is claimed that the skulls and skeletons represent an entirely different type of man from any other archaeological remains previously discovered in that part of the North American continent. It is suggested that five men were either visitors or that other traces of their life have disappeared.

Heads were extraordinarily large and skeletons those of very big men Skull bones were half inch thick—nearly twice as thick as human skull to-day. Bones are more triangular in shape than those of people of to-day.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—I notice in an account in your valuable paper re the Orange parade of last Saturday, that one of their speakers tried to attack the Separate Schools, and the Roman Catholics generally. I never have noticed that Roman Catholics ever bother to attack the Orangemen. They can walk all they like, if they like it. And when the speaker mentions that the Roman Catholics will have their Separate Schools, I would say most emphatically yes, of course they'll have their Separate Schools, and they will continue to have their Separate Schools in all the days to come, the schools where clean, clear, true, beautiful religion is taught daily to their children; yes, not only daily, but hourly. Thank God, the Catholic children, thanks to the Catholic schools ,and the sweet, self-sacrificing sisters, know their religion thorough from beginning to end, and they know how to pray.—Yours truly. Reader.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

AGNES AYRES IN A GREAT STORY IN "THE GUILTY ONE."

Donald Short would work nights and friend wife just would have her entertainment, so she was thrown into the more or less interesting company of the ultta-smart set, and met a highly interesting gentleman.

Naturally the papers let everyone know about the thing—in itself absolutely harmless. But you know how people will talk and what happens to reputations when they do talk. So who can blame Donald Short and his brother-in-law for threatening the editor of Gotham Gossip.

But what has all this to do with the death of Seaton Davies, the interesting gentleman Mrs. Short was seen with so frequently? That's just it—what?

"The Guilty One," featuring Agnes Ayres, brings it all out at the Capitol Theatre to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. It's a story of a wife's devotion to her husband, a real mystery drama that will keep you guessing. You have never seen anything quite like it on the screen before in your life. It's a Joseph Henabery production. Henabery made "The Stranger," and you know what a picture it was. "The Guilty One" is said to be infinitely more interesting and appealing.

There is a great cast playing in support of Miss Agnes in this production. Edward Burns is the leading man. To mention Clarence Burton, Cyril Ring, Stanley Taylor, Crauford Kent and George Seigman would be to name but a few of the prominent players in the cast. It's a knock out as is the story.

If you miss "The Guilty One," you have no one to blame but yourself

AT THE ROYAL.

REAL THRILLER AT ROYAL WITH SPLENDID CAST

New Mark Set ... Dramas of the Orient.

While the principal action in this pulse-quickening play is laid in China amid the colorful and pretentiousness of the Orient, the story chiefly concerns Americans who become involved in exciting adventures in that country of mysticism, mystery and romance. The colorful and some what unusual background enhances the highly dramatic story which the picture unfolds and one fairly feels himself transformed to the Orient as he sits in the audiences and follows the exciting adventures of the characters of the play.

The story centres about an American civil engineer (a part played by Owen Moore) who goes to China to assist in the building of bridges for an American concern. His downfall is plotted by another engineer, in love with the girl to whom the other is engaged.

The first American, as a result of strange circumstances, is compelled to masquerade as the son of the Chinese overlord, the head of reactionaries who plot against the introduction of Western civilization, and meets romance but also unearths the duplicity of his former associate and defeats the enemies of progress.

The plot is replete with thrills and intense dramatic situations. Unlike many plays written around the Orient, it is convincingly plausible, and enhanced with beautiful photographic effects, and portrayed by an unusually brilliant cast of players, it is a photoplay which will stand for a long time as criterion for pictures laid in the Far East.

"Thundergate" gives a wonderful oportunity for Owen Moore to demonstrate his versatility for this popular film star, more recently associated with comedy roles, plays a part essentially dramatic—a double role in fact, in which he appears both as an American and as a Chinese.

Mr. Moore handles a difficult role admirably. Virginia Brown Faire is excellently cast and gives a remarkable interpretation of the white girl, brought up as a Chinese who is forced upon the disguised American.

The cast is in fact made up of a score or more players who have become famous in screen parts, including Sylvia Breamer, Tully Marshall, Robert McKim, Richard Cummings, Ynez Seabury and Edwin Booth Tilton.

Heckman Hurled the Petes to a Twelve Inning Victory at Oshawa

BRILLIANT GAME SPICED WITH ERRORS ENDED 3 TO 2; HECKMAN STEADIEST IN NERVE-WRACKING PINCHES; OSHAWA LOADED THE BASES IN OVERTIME INNINGS

Home Run by Collins in the Seventh Tied It Until the Twelfth.

EVEN WITH BELLEVILLE

Dainty in Fine Form—Hits By Johnston and Harrison Helped.

Thanks to a grand exhibition of pitching by Heckman, a timely home run by Frankie Collins, an equally opportune double by "Shiner" Johnston and good hitting and base running by "Hap" Harrison, the Petes kept pace with Belleville by beating Oshawa in the Motor Town on Saturday by 3 runs to 2 after twelve innings of wildly exciting baseball.

It was not only the longest, but one of the most thrilling games in which the Petes have been engaged this year.

Oshawa earned a run in the first inning and got another that was not earned in the third, giving them a two-run lead. The Petes got one back, assisted by an error, in the fourth, and Collins sewed up the game in the seventh with a beautiful drive to deep left field for a home run. He easily made the circuit before the ball got back to the plate.

From then on until the twelfth the teams battled, both losing good opportunities to score. Oshawa had two on and only one out in the ninth and the bases full with nobody gone in the tenth and failed to score on either occasion, and finally in the twelfth "Shiner" Johnston's double and two errors by Murray gave the Petes the run that broke the deadlock and put the game into the Petes' bat bag.

Great Pitching.

The bulk of the credit for the win goes to Al. Heckman, who gave a superb exhibition of high-class, courageous twirling in the face of unusually shaky support by his teammates. Heck allowed but seven scattered hits in the twelve frames, struck out twelve men and was at his best in the pinches. His work in the ninth and tenth innings when Oshawa were in a great position to score was an exhibition of steady effectiveness that earned the admiration of the most hostile Oshawa rooter.

Dainty was outpitched, but only by a shade at that, for the "Duke" allowed but nine hits, and like Heckman, had only one earned run against him. He struck out ten men and did not give a base on balls.

Both teams erred in the field more than usual, each having six misplays. The great work of the pitchers negatived these defensive slips, however, and there was plenty of fast fielding.

Johnston started a fast double play in the eighth by coming up with Fair's torrid roller, stepping on second and doubling the hitter at first, Turner had a pretty running catch with the bases full in the tenth and Harrison's wide reach for Heckman's throw in the first was a feature.

"Micky" Murray had the only two hits off Heckman up to the eighth inning, and both figured in Oshawa's two counters. And then "Micky" tossed the game away with two errors in succession in the twelfth.

Three Hits Wasted.

The Petes threw away three hits in the first. Holyman singled to right, but died stealing. Legon fanned. Swanston singled to left. Harrison singled on a roller past Dainty, but Swanston over-ran second and was nipped before he could get back.

Oshawa took the lead in their half. Rowden bounded to Heckman, Harrison making a great catch of a wide throw. R. Fair walked and went to third on Murray's single through short. Dainty was thrown out by Holyman, Fair scoring. Tyson flied to Legon.

In the second Heckman flied to R. Fair. Johnston was safe when Rowden lost his roller, but died stealing. Collins flied to Ward in left.

Hall, first up in the third for the Petes, was safe on Morrison's fumble. Turner bunted a foul to Broad. Holyman fanned, Hall stealing second on the third one. Legon rolled to Murray.

Oshawa increased their lead. Broad grounded out to Harrison. Rowden was safe on Collins' fumble and reached second when Holyman recovered the ball and threw high to first. R. Fair popped to Johnston, but Murray doubled to right, scoring Rowden. Dainty bounded to Heckman.

The Petes Got One.

The Petes got one back in the fourth. After Swanston had rolled to Murray, Harrison singled to centre and stole second. Heckman hit to Morrison, who threw low to third, Harrison scoring and Heckman reaching second. Murray hurt his knee in the play and there was a delay until he recovered. Johnston rolled to Wilson and Collins fanned.

For Oshawa Tyson fouled to Collins and Wilson and Ward fanned.

Dainty struck out Hall, Turner and Holyman in the Petes' fifth, and Heckman retaliated in Oshawa's half by whiffing Morrison and Broad and getting Rowden on an easy fly to Holyman.

Collins "Ruthed" It.

Collins' homer tied the count in the seventh. After Heckman and Johnston had flied to Tyson, Collins drove a long one down the left field foul line for the circuit. Hall flied to Rowden.

Oshawa threatened to tie it up in their half when Collins mad ea high throw to first on Tyson's roller, putting the hitter on second, and followed with another on Wilson's grounder, Tyson reaching third and Wilson second, with nobody out. Heckman saved the day by striking out Ward, fanning Kelso, batting for Morrison, and forcing Broad to pop an easy foul to Collins.

Turner started the eighth for the Petes by beating out a high bounder to Dainty. He stole second, aided by a passed ball. Holyman struck out, after which Turner went to third on another passed ball. Legon fouled to Murray, and Swanston was thrown out by Rowden.

Rowden opened the Oshawa half with a single to left, but Fair hit into a fast double, Johnston gathering in his roller, touching second and then throwing the batter out at first. Murray fanned.

Harrison began the ninth for the Petes with his third hit, a single to centre, and stole second, but Heckman popped to Wilson, Johnston grounded to the same player and Collins struck out.

Out of a Hole.

In Oshawa's half Dainty's hard hit roller got away from Johnston and Tyson sacrificed the pitcher to second. Wilson singled between short and third, Dainty going to third. Wilson tried to steal second and Swanston's peg to Holyman nailed him, Dainty holding third. Ward rolled to Harrison for the third out.

The Petes died in order in the tenth. Hall flied to Rowden, Turner struck out and Holyman lifted to Ward.

Oshawa lost a great chance. Kelso dropped a single into left, and when Broad bunted for a sacrifice Holyman dropped Heckman's throw to second, leaving two on. Rowden singled on the ground into right, filling the bases, with none out. Fair struck out, Murray flied to Turner, Kelso being held at third, and then Turner sprinted across the foul line and made a pretty running catch of Dainty's long foul fly.

Legon started the eleventh with a single to left, but was forced at second on Swanston's tap to Murray. Harrison sacrificed Swanston to second, but Ward made a nice stop of Heckman's hard hit roller to retire the side.

For Oshawa Tyson hit to Collins and was out at first. Wilson beat out a hit to Collins. Ward struck out, and Kelso forced Wilson at second, Collins to Johnston.

The Winning Counter.

The Petes won out in the twelfth. Johnston started the winning run on its way by doubling to centre. Collins tried to sacrifice, but bunted a fly to Dainty. In trying to double Johnston off second Dainty threw into centre field and Johnston reached third when Murray dropped Fair's toss. Shaughnessy batted for Hall and popped to Wilson, but Turner cracked one down the third base line which Murray fumbled long enough to let Johnston score and Turner reach first. Turner was called out stealing.

Oshawa were easy. Palmer, batting for Broad, fanned, Rowden grounded to Holyman and Fair made Heckman's twelfth strike-out victim.

Ruth Hits His 28th — Al. Marnaux Made First Start With New York.

SENATORS RALLY

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Canadian Press).—The New York Americans defeated Cleveland here yesterday in both games of a double-header by scores of 4 to 1 and 10 to 4. This gives New York a lead of one and one-half games over Detroit, which did not play yesterday. Sam Jones' great pitching in the first game held Cleveland helpless.

Wally Pipp was responsible for three of the four New York runs in the first game, driving in two runs and scoring one, Scott knocking in the other run.

In the second game New York hammered two Cleveland rookie pitchers for 14 hits and ten runs. Al. Mamaux, formerly of Reading, made his first start for New York, although he has been in as a relief pitcher before.

Babe Ruth hit his twenty-eighth home run of the season in the second inning off Metevier with Witt and Dugan on base. It was a terrific line clout over second base, the ball going clear to the centre field fence. Scores:

1st game—

New York	00020002x	4	7 0

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(Canadian Press).—Rallying in the late innings, Washington defeated St. Louis, 5 to 4, yesterday. In the ninth, with one out, Goslin singled, sending Rice home from second with the winning run. Triples by Tobin and Bennett drove Johnson from the box in the eighth. Score:

POLICE LOOKED ON.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., July 19. — (Canadian Press.) — While the police looked on, the mother administered a good, sound spanking to her wayward son at the local jail yesterday. The drubbing was given with a heavy rubber strap, and to see that real old-fashioned "back woodshed punishment" was given, the Chief of Police acted as judge and several constables as witnesses.

The boy, William Lechison, was ordered "spanked" yesterday when he was convicted on a series of robbery charges.

KELLY MET COMMITTEE.

No Evidence Against Kingston's Pitcher at Saturday Session.

At a meeting of the Central Ontario League sub-committee held in Oshawa on Saturday night, rumors as to the eligibility from a residential and other viewpoints of Pitcher Don Kelly of the Kingston club were investigated.

The members of the sub-committee A. C. Kimmel of Cobourg, Ernie Parsons of Oshawa and F. D. Craig of Peterboro were all present and President Duff of Belleville and Secretary J. G. Nott of Oshawa were also in attendance.

President Duff stated that the meeting had been called in order that stories in regard to Kelly's status might be substantiated or disproven. It was stated that he did not qualify under the residence rule and that he was playing under an assumed name.

Player Kelly appeared before the committee and stated that he had always been a resident of Kingston and that he had never played ball in New York state. The Kingston club furnished documentary evidence to the same effect and as there was no evidence to the contrary the committee had no other course than to give the player a clean bill of health on the testimony offered.

BELLEVILLE BACK HERE SATURDAY

Fixture Promises to Be Crucial Game for Second Half Title.

BATTLE FOR THE TOP

By beating Oshawa on Saturday the Petes secured possession of second place in the race and maintained their position at Belleville's heels, the Trunks having won in Kingston on Friday night. Saturday's game with Belleville at Riverside Park looms up as the crucial game of the season. On Wednesday Oshawa will invade Belleville and the Petes will play their postponed game with Kingston. Whatever the result of these two fixtures, Saturday's game will be all important inasmuch as a win for the Trunks would give them a commanding lead while a Peterboro victory might tie up the parade. A record crowd should see the argument in view of the importance of the result.

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Belleville	4	1	.800
Peterboro	3	2	.600
Oshawa	2	3	.400
Kingston	1	4	.200

Games this week:

Wednesday—Oshawa at Belleville; Peterboro at Kingston.

Saturday—Kingston at Oshawa; Belleville at Peterboro.

Heckman's performance in Oshawa Saturday was one of his most effective of the year. In the first nine innings Oshawa collected only four hits, a single by Murray in the first, a double by the same player in the third, a single by Rowden in the eighth and one by Wilson in the ninth.

The old classic saying of the diamond "a hero one minute and a tramp the next" was illustrated on Saturday. Frank Collins tied up the game with a home run in the seventh and in the second half of the same inning made two wild throws in succession putting runners on second and third. Heckman's effectiveness in striking out the next two batters and getting the third man on an easy foul saved the day. Micky Murray's case was similar. His two hits were the big factor in manufacturing Oshawa's two runs and then he kicked in with two errors in the twelfth, giving the Petes the winning counter.

A play that materially helped to put over the win was Swanston's throwing out of Wilson on an attempted steal of second with Dainty on third in the ninth inning. There was only one out and Oshawa did not expect a toss to second. The result was Wilson was nipped for the second out and Ward's slow grounder down the first line which might have scored Dainty had Wilson been allowed to steal, retired the side.

Broad the young Oshawa recruit catcher who subbed for Tyson Saturday, the latter playing right field, is a likely looking youngster. The Petes took more chances than usual on the bases and the kid threw out three in seven attempts, a much better showing than Hagerman made a week ago.

A big bunch of Peterboro motored to Oshawa for the game and the Petes did not lack vocal support during the long fixture.

MONTREAL EXPLOSIVES WON

FORT WILLIAM, July 20.—(Canadian Press).—Montreal Explosives won a one-goal advantage over the C.P.P. Fort William soccer team here Saturday night in the semi-final of the Connaught Cup game after a desperate battle in which the result was in doubt until the whistle blew. The final score was one to nothing for the visitors.

C. G. E. SCORED 7 IN 5TH INNING

Three Doubles, Three Singles and Three Errors Decided It.

DYEWORKS LOSE 9 TO 1

In the second game of Saturday's double-header Canadian Generals came out on top after a snappy game when they beat the Cobourg Dyeworks 9 to 1. The encounter was full of snappy plays and good hitting and was anybody's game until the locals gathered in 7 runs in the fifth inning.

Scotty Galbraith started on the mound for the Electrics. He had lots of stuff and allowed but one scratch hit in four innings. In the fifth Bun Frost relieved him and allowed two hits and one run in three innigs. Both pitchers received good support and several likely looking hits were cut off by good fielding. MacPherson made a fine catch of a high foul from Drope's bat, and Wolfe pulled in a hard drive from W. Campbell. Rose, Barrie, and Ranger started the game off right with a smart double play. Piper was on the mound for the Dyeworks and turned in a good game except in the fifth inning. He received good support, but his team mates did not hit behind him.

The visitors had men on the paths in all but two innings, but all but one were left stranded. In the sixth Butler, running for Ed. Campbell, reached second when Rose threw over Ranger's head. Jones grounded to MacPherson and Ranger threw high to third in the attempt to complete a double play, and let Butler score the visitors' lone counter.

Piper started well by fanning Barrie but could not get the ball over for McCarney, who walked. Wolfe laid down a neat bunt, and both runners beat Schafer's throw. Ross came through with a single to left, sending McCarney in and taking second on the throw-in. Rose lifted a long fly to G. Campbell and Wolfe came home after the catch. Rose was the only man to get on the runways in in the next three innings and he was left at third.

The fifth was the big inning. Three doubles and three singles with a sacrifice fly and three errors brought in seven runs and put the game on ice.

Wolfe got an easy double when Piper and W. Campbell let his high fly drop between them. The ball rolled back toward the plate, and Campbell took his time going after it till he saw Barrie and Wolfe taking the extra base. His throw then was too late to head off either runner.

QUAKER ELEVEN BEAT WEAKENED THISTLES BY 5-3

Thistles Started With Nine Men and Dawson Retired With Serious Injury.

LEADING AT HALF-TIME

Wyllie Scored Two of the Winners' Five Goals.

The Quakers won 5 goals to 3 in a league game against the Thistle who were only able to trot out nine players, owing to unforseen circumstances, and to make matters worse Dawson met with a serious injury before the game was ten minutes old which compelled him to retire and leave a gallant eight that put up a creditable show at Nicholls Oval before a good attendance.

Game Described.

Geo. Logan won the toss and elected to play with the sun at his back. Richmond kicked off with only nine players. From the centre he made a desperate attack on Pellow's goal but he was sandwiched between the full backs to prevent a score. Dawson came back again into Quakers area, slipped the ball forward to the Thistle's centre forward. He dribbled close into the desired spot to open the scoring with a low ground shot all within five minutes.

Only Eight Players.

At this period Dawson received a nasty knock on the left knee that put him hors de combat for the rest of the game. After being given attention, the Thistle man tried to make the grade but he found himself useless as he could only walk now. This left the Thistle with only eight players against Quakers eleven. Clever combination between Mayette and Logan was nullified by Anderson when he slipped in between them to get the ball.

Kicked Through His Own Goal

Burgess accepted the pass, trapped nicely, beat his man to centre suickly for Richmond to test Pellow who saved. The outside left squared into goal when Willshaw lifted the sphere through his own goal. Encouraged by their success the Thistle kept humming around the Quaker's nets until William and Wilson transferred the play up against Rae who kicked clear. Craig returned across to the right wing, Mayette shot along the ground fast where Wilson tapped the ball out of Curtiss' hands into the goal when in the act of picking up.

Richmond's Clever Tactics

There was no harder worker than Richmond in the Thistle attack. Along with McPhail, Burgess and himself they were masters of the situation for a long while which was ..... with an occasional raid on Thistle goal that found Curtiss in one of his faultless moods. It was nice to view the spectacular runs of Richmond with three players upon him running at a fast pace with the ball at his foot. He went right through time and again, with McPhail and Burgess backing him up in his strenuous efforts to increase the score. Play was in midfield when half time arrived, much to the relief of the over-worked Thistle players. Half-time—Thistle 2, Quakers 1.

Rae Headed Past His Goal-Keeper.

After the interval the pace was fast and furious. The Thistle filled up their defensive positions to hold their advantage and kept two forwards on the attacks.

W. Logan sent Mayette along the wing, Ross tackled to give away a corner-kick that proved costly when Rae unfortunately headed a twirling ball out of Curtiss' reach for the equalizer. Fate was against the Jags for no sooner had they been away testing Pellow from every angle until Honor bleared up-field. Logan trapped cleverly parted across to Wilson who beat in the tackle by McPhail but Craig stepped in on time to get the ball. He made straight for his opponents goal which he registered at Curtiss' expense. This parting shot struck in below the bar to come back and hit the goaler's cranium to put the Quakers ahead. An individual run by Richmond left the Quaker's defense behind who went ahead to equal within the next minute.

Wyllie Got Two.

As the play progressed it was very evident that the heavy strain was telling upon the Thistle players who put up a gallant fight to the finish, in spite of the fact, that Wyllie put the game on ice when he scored twice from far out. The two goals he did get him the inside of the upright to go through. Quakers 5, Thistle 3.

WINNIPEG, July 20.—(Canadian Press).— Playing typical cup-tie football United States, Manitoba representatives held the strong Cumberland team, champions of British Columbia to a scoreless draw in the first game of a two-game series for the right to enter the Connaught cup finals here Saturdays. The second game will be played Monday evening.

PLAYING FOR DAVIS CUP.

World Tennis Competition Remains An Annual Event.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Play for Davis Cup, emblematic of the world's tennis championship, will continue to be an annual event, according to a decision reached at a meeting of the contending nations in London, early this month it was learned yesterday by officials of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

It was the sense of the meeting that the result of the deliberations should be referred for consideration to the various associations interested and that any changes adopted should have the approval of two thirds of the nations concerned. A committee composed of H. H. Monckton, C. Rances and Watson M. Washburn, was appointed to draft the exact wording of all regulations which might be adopted.

Continuity of the Davis Cup contests was regarded by the meeting as the most important subject under discussion. Among changes in regulations approved were those reinstating Austria as a Cup-contesting nation, adding Ireland to the list under the title of United Ireland and authorizing Great Britain to make formal application for the inclusion of Jamaica as a separate contestant.

ROGERS' HOMER SCORED THREE

Raybestos Won Five-Frame Game From Cobourg C.N.R. by 3-0.

MISHAP CAUSED DELAY

Raybestos won an abbreviated struggle from the C.N.R. at Exhibition Park on Saturday by the score of 3 to 0. One of the cars bringing the C.N.R. players from Cobourg had engine trouble, and they were unable to field a team till nearly four o'clock. Their bad luck was still following them, and Rollings twisted his ankle sliding to the plate in the first inning. He was carried off the field and replaced at short by Butler, and Brenning went to the outfield.

Duggan and Maher were the opposing moundsmen, and both turned in good games, though Duggan had the edge. Both teams gave their hurlers airtight support, and only one error was registered against each.

The C.N.R. wasted a hit in the fourth. Rollings singled and went to second on Bowen's grounder to the box. Rogers booted Boundy's roller, and Rollings went to third. He tried to score on a short passed ball, but was thrown out, Cupoli to Duggan.

Raybestos had three hits in the second, but couldn't manufacture a run. Rogers singled, but was out stealing. Duggan singled and went to third on Cupoli's single to right. Butler intercepted Brenning's throw to third and caught Cupoli at second.

Murphy started the third with a single. He also went out stealing. Boundy's double in the fourth was another wasted effort as O'Grady and Markey lacked the necessary punch.

Coursey started the local fourth with a single. Nichols forced him, but Butler dropped the ball. Rogers then crashed a long drive over Payne's head for a round trip, scoring two ahead of him. The Railroaders got Cupoli and Delahaye with a fast double play, but the damage was done, and they went out in order in the fifth.

ERRORS SPOIL FINE PITCHING

Frank Whitehouse Fanned Fifteen, But Lakeviews Lost to Crescents.

TOTAL OF 14 ERRORS

The Junior League fixture at the Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon that meant the championship of the league for the Lakeviews, if they came through with a win, was won by the Crescents under the supervision of Fonse Brioux, by a score of 11 to 10, after nine innings of both good and bad baseball.

Both Whitehouse and Sheehy, who did the gunning, were in the best of shape and turned in a fine pitcing exhibition, while both teams hit hard and often, and each twirler was touched for a total of nine hits, including three doubles, while his team mates gave him ragged support in the infield and had six errors. Ferg. Sheehy for the Crescents, turned in one of his best performances, fanning 10, passing two, and hitting one man, while the rest of his team had a total of eight errors that accounted for a number of the Lakeview runs.

Tied in the Fifth.

Lou LeBarr's aggragation took the lead in the first innings when they collected two runs and two hits. They added two more counters in the fourth, but the Crescents made it even when four of their men hung up runs in their half of the fifth. Neither team scored in the sixth but in the seventh the Lakeviews advanced one when they made the score 5 to 4. The Lakeviews were at a standstill in the next two innings, while the Crescents rallied once more in the eighth and gathered in four more runs. The Crescents made the score 11 to 5 in their half of the ninth, but the Lakeviews although six runs down went into the last innings full of confidence and fighting spirit and corralled 5 runs before the side was retired.

Although the Crescents won they had one of the stiffest battles they have had this year. The game was won in the last innings by Pete Milloy who saved the game from being tied up when he tore across the field and scoped up a burning hot possible and tossed the man out at first.

Milloy was the outstanding fielder on the Crescent rost, accepting five hard chances without a boot. Ferg Sheehy was also a shining light on the Crescents' line-up. Whitehouse pitched nice ball during the entire game, but six costly errors robbed him of the game. Lou LeBarr and Lambert Collins were the best for the Lakeviews, the former getting three of his team's nine hits.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. With no one on the bases, batsman hits to shortstop who fumbles ball badly, second baseman recovering it. Second baseman foolishly tries to get runner at first, although he didn't have a chance. He makes a bad throw, the batsman going to third on the play. Is it possible to charge both men with an error.—F. S.

2. What is the rule relative to the umpire being hit by a thrown or batted ball.—F. S.

3. First baseman drops an easy foul fly. The same batter again sends up a foul fly which the first basemn catches, retiring him. A says if the batsman is retired after a player fails to catch a foul fly said player is not charged with an error. B contends player is charged with error, even though batsman is retired. Who is right?—G. D. C.

ANSWERS

1. Scorers would charge both men with an error on the play. Shortstop would get an error for failing to retire batsman at first. Wild throw of second baseman, which permitted runner to advance two bases, would draw error for that player.

2. If umpire is hit by a thrown ball it is in play. If umpire is hit by batted ball, after a play has been made on it, ball is in play. If umpire is hit by a batted ball before a play is made on it ball becomes dead, batsman is credited with a hit and entitled to first base. No runners advance unless forced.

3. B is correct. A player who fails to retire batsman on a foul fly ball, that scorer believes should be handled, is charged with an error, even though batsman is later retired on some other play.

BOXING HONORS WON BY YANKEES

Two Championships Increased by Points for Second and Third Places.

NEAR RIOT AT CLOSE.

PARIS, July 21 (Canadian Press). — The United States last night won the boxing championship of the Olympic Games.

During the final battles the big crowd in the Velodrome D'Hiver rose to a high pitch of excitement, which at one time assumed the proportions of a riot.

The boxers from the United States won only two of the eight championships—Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles, taking the flyweight event, and Jack Fields, Los Angeles, winning the featherweight class.

But the United States boxers piled up points for second and third place events which gave them in the aggregate a total of 38 points and the championship.

Great Britain, which also won two championship bouts, finished in second place, with 30 points.

Denmark lost her chance for the championship when the Petersen brothers in the light heavyweight and heavyweight classes met with defeat in the finals and had to be satisfied with 20 points and third place.

Argentina, both of whose finalists Copello in the lightweight class and Mendez in the featherweight division, finished fourth with 18 points.

The other score points in the contests were as follows.

Belgium 17, Norway 14, France and Canada each 7, Italy 6, and Sweden and Holland, 3 each.

The United States and Great Britain were the only nations to take as many as two of the final contests, the others being distributed between South Africa, Belgium, Denmark and Norway.

The bout that threatened the most trouble was the welterweight final, when the decison of the judges favoured Delarge of Belgum over Mendez of Argentina.

A demonstration which lasted several minutes followed the decision of the judges. Following the bout the majority of the spectators favoured the South American for the winner, and it was necessary for the police to surround the judges to protect them from possible attack.

Summary of Results.

Fidel La Baraba, United States, won the final in the flyweight class of the Olympic boxing competition on points from McKenzie of Great Britain.

The welterweight championship was won by Delarge of Belgium, who defeated Mendez of Argentina on points in the final.

Several bouts were fought in order to determine the winner of third places.

In the lightweight division Fred Boylestein, United States, won over Tholley of France, on points.

Ray Fee, United States, was given third place in the flyweight class over Castellenghi of Italy, the latter defaulting.

Third place in the middleweight class went to Beecken of Belgum, who defeated Black of Canada by default.

Saraudi of Italy also nefaulted for third place in the light heavyweight class, which was awarded to Sorsdal of Norway.

For third place in the heavyweigh class, Porzio of Argentina defeated Debest of Holland on points.

AMERICAN PAIR WON NET FINALS

HEAT WAS INTENSE.

COLOMBES, France, July 21.—(Canadian Press).—The two young tennis stars from the United States, Miss Helen Wills and Vincent Richards, captured the Olympic singles crowns Sunday and clinched another brilliant international team triumph for the United States.

Miss Wills, playing with the calm and steadiness which marked her progress all week, decisively vanquished Mlle. Vlasto, a French girl, of Greek parentage, in the women's final, 6-2, 6-2, but Richards was forced to battle through a hard five-set match under a broiling sun to take the measure of his young French rival, Henri Cochet, 6-4, 6-4, 5-7, 4-6, 6-2, for the men's title.

A crowd of more than 8,000 sweltering under the torrid heat was stirred to a high pitch of enthusiasm by the contests.

The double victory gave the United States the third straight Olympic net championship and the points which made victory for the United States team certain. It was the second crown for Miss Wills, who won with Mrs. Wightman in the final of the women's doubles Saturday, while the United States is assured of a fourth title.

The two mixed United States doubles teams, Mrs. Jessup and Richards, and Mrs. Wightman and R. Norris Williams, emerged victorious from the semi-finals yesterday afternoon and will stage a battle for the title to-day. Richards and Francis T. Hunter, United States, will seek the men's doubles honors against the French stars, Cochet and Brugnon.

Spectacular Tennis.

Vincent Richards and Henri Cochet staged a battle bristling with thrills and spectacular play from the first to the last point. Richards, although forced to call on all his resources, gained the first two sets and seemed likely to make it a straight set victory. But the Frenchman rallied, growing stronger as the game progressed, while Richards seemed to wilt under the blistering heat, and squared the match at two-all. Then, just as the tide had turned in Cochet's favor, he faltered and Richards tapped some new source of energy and romped off with the deciding set.

Through the two-hour struggle the young rivals appeared closely matched, each alternately erratic and brilliant, thrilling the gallery with spectacular rallies, but in the end Richards, with a more varied assortment of strokes and ability to steady himself at critical junctures, proved the decisive factor.

The score revealed that Cochet had made 22 more placements than Richards. It also revealed that he was guilty of 35 more errors, and therein lay the story of his defeat. When apparently at the highest pitch of brilliancy, Cochet usually disappointed his admirers by hitting into the net, or sending the ball out on easy chances.

Mrs. Wightman and R. Norris Williams defeated Miss Kathleen McKane and J. B. Gilbert, Great Britain, in the semi-final of the mixed doubled, 2-6, 8-6, 6-1.

In the same event Vincent Richards and Mrs. Jessup defeated Mme. Bouman and M. Timmer, Holland, 6-3, 6-0.

CAMPBELLFORD DROPPED A GAME

School Board Held a Meeting—Examination Results.

ORLAND, July 21.— Campbellford and Orland played the last game of the first half of the schedule in the Northumberland league here to-day and the homesters handed Charlie Davidson's crew their first defeat in last six starts, the score being 11 to 5. Campbellford were without Eagleson and Armour and had to re-arrange their team, Poyser going to short, Shillinglaw to first and Jack Nesbitt behind the bat, and it was the veteran's inability to hold the speedy shoots of Scott, the pitching ace of the visitors, that had much to do with their defeat. Both teams were guilty of misplays in the field, the Campbellford errors figuring largelyin the runs scored by the Bantams, while Orland's slip-ups were not costly. Arch. Zufelt was on the mound for the Bantams, and while Charlie Davidson's crew slammed him for fourteen safe hits, he kept them pretty well scattered.

The Bantams collected eleven safe wallops off the big Campbellford portsider, and sandwiched in with some juicy errors by his team mates, enabled the homesters to win the game, and incidentally land in second place, Roseneath making sure of first half honors by defeating Brighton. Downs was the only Bantam to register more than one hit, connecting safely three times. Scott and Weston each poled out three safeties, while Nesbitt, Shillinglaw and Ibey, the High school kid, had two hits each. Scott fanned eight of the Bantams, getting K. Zufelt and Dawson twice, while the former Warkworth southpaw whiffed three Campbellford batters.

AVERTS DEATH OF MOOSE

Canadian Train Conductor Sends Rescuer to Wire Fence Trap

FRENCH RIVER, Ontario, July 21.—Tragedy of the woods was averted here Saturday when Tom Reynold son conductor of the Canadian Pacific flyer. The Trans-Canada noticed a badly exhausted cow moose caught in a right-of-way wire fence just west of Mackay station.

When the train stopped at Mattawa for water Reynolds notified the train dispatcher there and the telegrapher wires were set to work with the result that an on-coming freight was stopped to pick up the agent at Mackay who was carried to the scene and by means of a pair of wire cutters liberated the moose. She strolled into bushes apparently not much the worse for the misadventure which might easily have proved fatal.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise, she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavious, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. At last matters reach a crisis, and Paul orders Wanda out of the house. She goes up to London with Mrs. Garnet, her one friend, with whom she is to live. The day after she arrives, Clare's brother Harry, the "black sheep" of the family, comes home unexpectedly, and falls in love with Wanda. Paul comes to see Wanda, and she realizes, all too late, that it is Paul she really loves. He objects to her friendship with Harry Courtney, whom he distrusts. Wanda discovers that Paul is paying for her to live with Mrs. Garnet, and immediately leaves, having written to Harry to say that she will marry him. She asks him to meet her at Victoria Station the next day. But he fails her, and while she is waiting Paul finds her.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XXXII.—COURTNEY EXPOSED.

She sat silent, her cheeks burning, and Paul went on.

"I told you I thought I had seen Courtney before—well, I was right. He is one of two men whom I knew very well a good many years ago in California. He was a friend of mine in a way, at one time—till I found out that he'd robbed me very cleverly. I'd have shot him then without a scruple, only he got away. He didn't call himself Courtney then, and he was rougher looking—had a beard and moustache. But he's the man all right, and he evidently took alarm when I turned up, because this morning he'd gone, and I don't think we are likely to see him again in a hurry."

"I don't believe you," she said.

"Very well. Ask his sister."

"I never wish to see her again."

He frowned.

Wanda pushed away her untasted tea.

"I believe you are making all this up. You disliked Mr. Courtney from the first."

"You are quite right. I did; and I disliked him more than ever this morning when I found your letter opened and left in his room for anyone to read."

"I don't believe you," she said again furiously.

"Here is the letter," he said calmly. "I have not read it, but I can guess you made arrangements to run away with him; is that so?"

"You may suppose what you like." She tore the letter into little pieces with trembling hands; her cheeks were scarlet.

"Anyway, it's no concern of yours! I don't know why you need interfere."

"I only thought it would be polite to save you from waiting here indefinitely for a man who had no intention of keeping an appointment," Paul said quietly. Wanda's eyes were filled with angry tears, and she raised one hand to wipe them furtively away.

"You needn't think I'm crying," she said angrily, meeting his gaze.

To-morrow—Mastery.

ROSENEATH WON IN FIRST ROUND

Defeated Brighton on Saturday and Qualified For Second Round.

BRIGHTON, July 21.—Roseneath defeated the local team here Saturday, 8-4 and won the first series of the Northumberland League schedule. They will represent the League in the O.B.A.A. second round against the Oshawa Church League winners.

Roseneath earned their victory here although Brighton gave them a real tussle until the eighth innings when after two were out, they scorfour times. Until then the score was 4-2 and the game very close. Brighton tried hard until the end and shoved over two counters in the ninth but the visitors' lead was too big.

Two bad misplays contributed to Brightons' defeat but an alibi could not be established thereby for on the day's play Roseneath was the better team. The general opinion here, is that the best team in the league won the first half.

Cliff Leach pitched his usual good game, not brilliant but very consistent, and struck out six. Roblin was very steady also striking out six and yielding the same number of hits as his pitching rival, eight. Roblin deserves a lot of credit for the work he has done in the box for Brighton. His efforts have been largely instrumental in keeping Brighton up in the race.

Leach and Davey had two hits each one of the latter's being a double. Moore hit for three bases. For Brighton, Doc McKee and Fred Thorne each had a double and a single. A fast double play, Bates to Bant Thackeray, was a fielding feature. Moore pulled down some hand drives in centre and Solomon played a fine game at short, accepting nine hand chances.

Only one dispute marred the game when in the fourth inning, Montgomery coaching at third, assisted Armstrong to his feet and started him for home. A couple of the visiting players had to look at the rule book.

The box score:

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Few clubs have ever won a pennant without the aid of great pitching. It is most necessary over a long campaign of 154 games.

Several times McGraw has upset the dope of the critics who insisted his pitching would fail him in a pinch.

Go back over the records of the pennant winners and world champions and the fact stands out when the pitching fails the team invariably breaks.

Detroit won a pennant in 1907-08-09 with an all-star pitching staff that was backed by much batting strength and a fair defence.

When the late Bill Donovan, George Mullin, Eddie Summers, Edgar Willetts and Ed Killian began to slip, the club did likewise.

The Chicago Cubs, the big noise of the National League from 1906 to 1911, fell back the moment Overall, Brown, Lundgren, Pfeister and the rest of the staff began to wilt.

Pitching means much to a pennant winner. When the Boston Braves copped in 1914, superb pitching by Rudolph, Tyler and James made possible the club's unexpected success.

For three years the "five-star" pitching staff of the New York Yankees has dominated the American League.

Once upon a time it consisted of Carl Mays, Bob Shawkey, Joe Bush, Sam Jones and Waite Hoyt. When Mays passed out Southpaw Herb Pennock was added to the select circle.

The Yankees, a club with much power, supplied with a great pitching staff, has for three years had the edge on the American League field.

Opposing teams faced good pitching in every game against the Yankees, while the New York club in return was up against the same brand of pitching just about half the time.

Like all great pitching staffs, the 'five-star' combination of the Yanks cannot go on forever. There must finally come a break. When it comes the club will suffer, as have all other pennant-winning aggregations.

The failure of the Yanks to be out in front at this stage by their usual comfortable margin has caused some of the experts to believe the pitching staff of the world champions is cracking.

True, it has lacked the consistency of former years so far this season, but there is still plenty of dynamite left in the pitching arms of the men who carry the hope of the New York Americans.

TOURIST INFLUX KEEPING STEADY

Prominent Visitors Enamored With Beauty of District.

CRUISER HERE.

The Kawartha Lakes are growing in popularity and Americans who are summering here for the first time are impressed with the splendour and beauty of the district.

Dr. N. D. Vedder and party, of Carrolton, Illinois, arrived in the city this morning. Dr Vedder has camped for six years, and this is the first season in which he has spent his vacation in the vicinity of the Trent Valley system.

He remarked that the central part of the Province afforded a delightful touring district.

Mr. Leon Frazer directed him to Jack's Lake, and the party left for that point, where they will camp and fish for a few weeks.

Dr. Vedder is a councillor of the City of Carrolton, and declared this morning that a city possessed with such splendid natural facilities for camping sights as Peterboro should be widely advertised, as a source of revenue can be created in this manner, bringing money into the city that can be gained in no other way.

From observations, Dr. Vedder claimed that it has been his experience that the best class of people come to the far north for camping purposes, and not rowdies as might be thought.

Great Lakes Cruiser.

"Evelyn II.," a 46-foot bridge deck cruiser, with its owner, Mr. Willis K. Jackson, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, passed through the locks Saturday on its way to Georgian Bay.

Mr. Willis appreciated the courtesy shown him all along the route, making particular mention of Mr. D. E. Eason, superintending engineer of the Treat Valley Waterways, who, through authority from Ottawa, supplied him with the first copy of plans of the Trent Valley Waterways from Balsam Lake to Georgian Bay, that has been issued.

Advertising Results.

Mr. Frazer received an application to-day requesting information in regard to the Kawartha system from Johnstown, Pennsylvania. The applicant stated that he was bringing a party of six to this district, having learned of the Trent Valley system through the advertising of the Trent Waterways Development Association.

The applications at the Chamber of Commerce show a slight increase over last year. Mr. Frazer is of opinion that the tourist traffic is about the same as at this date last year, but predicts that it will become more active towards the beginning of next month.

The annual influx of tourists reaches its peak about the end of July, or in the early part of August, but general observations show that the Americans are somewhat late in coming this year, due to the prolonged and uncertain Democratic convention.

General Advance Scheduled For Saturday Never Took Place.

(By Bryant Powers, United Press Staff Corespondent.)

BUENOS AIRES, July 21. — Developments in the Brazilian revolutionary situation over the week-end, were not reassuring, according to the reports reaching the Uruguayan border to-day, and the rebels are still in control of the major portion of the State of Sao Paulo.

The general advance of the Federal forces scheduled to take place on Saturday, aparently was not attempted. Three fires occurred in Sao Paulo City, the night of July 8th, according to travellers reaching Montevideo from Santos.

The building of the Standard Oil Company was damaged and two others partly destroyed.

Federal forces claim to have shot down one of the rebel airplanes that was skirmishing on Saturday, according to a comminque given out by the Brazilian embassy here.

"Weather conditions in Sao Paulo have improved," the communique said, "allowing reconnoitering movements prevented previously by the heavy clouds. The government troops continue their movement preparatory to the Aanoeuvre which they are about to undertake."

ROTARY THANKS EVERY ONE WHO LENT THEIR AID

Organizations and Individuals Who Assisted Are Applauded.

WEEKLY LUNCHEON.

Naturally the Rotary Carnival occupied a prominent place among the topics discussed at to-day's luncheon of the Peterboro Rotary Club and Rotarian John Seels, chairman of the committee was given an enthusiastic vote of thanks for the success scored Mrs. Seels being included in the vote.

Rotarian Seels expressed the obligations of the committee to those who had assisted in the event and announced that the total receipts were in the neighborhood of $2,500 and that it was expected that the surplus would be $1,500.

The thanks of the club will be formally extended to all those outside of Rotary who helped in making the carnival a success. Special references being made to the two Salvation Army bands, the Juvenile Fife and Drum Band, the Rangers' band, members of the Kiwanis Club and Doug. Loomis of the Y.M.C.A.

Rotarian Dr. McPherson in reporting for the crippled childrens' committee said that by the end of the week it was expected that eighteen children would be under treatment. This money realized from the carnival would all be needed and next year it was probable that double the amount would be required.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mayor Turner for his kindness in donating his car for the purpose of conveying these children to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto for treatment. Rotarian Reg. Turner who drove the party to Toronto made a report of the trip.

A letter was read from Reid Wren, former president, expressing regret that his departure from Peterboro made it necessary for him to resign.

Secretary J. M. McHardy and Rotarian J. W. McDermid, who succeeds Rotarian Wren in the presidency, both paid a tribute to the splendid work of Mr. Wren in Rotary, and their remarks were heartily applauded.

At the suggestion of Rotarian C. H. Rogers, a meeting will be held to-morrow night of all the committees connected with the Boys' Camp to make the final arrangements.

Rotarian Jim Adams was the speaker to-day, giving an address upon "Sugar," which he promised to make both short and sweet. Rotarian Adams gave a most interesting talk upon the production of sugar, his figures proving new to his hearers. The speaker supplied some data about the early history of the sugar industry, tracing it back to India, and showing the introduction of sugar cane in the American continent to be due to the Spaniards.

He surprised Rotarians by declaring that Canada had the sweetest tooth among all the countries in the world, the per capita consumption of sugar in the country being the largest known.

Rotarian Adams supplied figures which showed the importance of sugar refining as a Canadian industry, explaining that there were seven refineries in the country, paying wages that amounted to between three and four million dollars a year.

Rotarian J. W. McDermid, the new president, occupied the chair at to-day's meeting.

IMBRIE MURDER AROUSES PEOPLE

Diplomatic Body Is Addressing a Serious Note to the Persian Government.

TEHERAN, Persia, July 21 (Canadian Press).— Developments in the investigation into the killing of Robert Imbrie, United States Vice-Consul, held to indicate that parts at least of the Persian Government's protective forces failed in their duty of defending his life when he and Melin Seymour, another United States citizen, were attacked by a fanatical mob last Friday, have caused anxiety here and the diplomatic body is addressing a serious note to the Persian Government, it was stated to-day.

The assault occurred in a crowded thoroughfare, and although it is declared that numbers of armed police and soldiers were present, it does not appear that a shot was fired in defence of the victims.

It is even alleged that the soldiers formed part of the mob.

An autopsy on the body of Mr. Imbrie confirmed the report that there was a sabre cut on his head, and those acquainted with the equipment of the defensive forces, say that only the military police carry sabres.

The Mejlits, the Persian Parliament, in open session, expressed its sorrow and profound horror at the crime, and urged the Government to pursue the investigation relentlessly.

Many arrests have been made among the civilians.

GOVERNMENT MEMBERS

Are Scattering Fast to Have a Rest After Long Session.

OTTAWA, July 21. — (Canadian Press).—Members of the Government are scattering a rest after the long and arduous session. Prime Minister is at his summer cottage up the Gatineau, other members of the government, so far as possible, are taking advantage of respite. It is not likely that cabinet meeting will be called for some days, but important business lies ahead before parliament is summoned again. In some quarters there is a feeling that the general election is likely the end of the present year. When questioned on point during the session, Premier King, replied that he could see no necessity for general election at moment, but declined to give any promise that Parliament would not be dissolved during the recess.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McKenty, who have been spending the past couple of weeks at Orchard Poi . Inn, Lake Simcoe, returned on Saturday.

Edgar Rhodes, president of the company. The big plant at Deschenes, employing nearly 500 men, will close down this evening, Mr. Rhodes announced, together with the Sudbury plant, owing to the failure of the company to secure sufficient working capital necessitated by the unprecedentedly low price of nickel, which has dropped from forty cents a pound, the price in pre-war days, to twenty-three cents a pound.

The United States delegates, he added, came to England rejoicing in the amity which had become a fixed habit of the two peoples intent upon co-operation in the interests of peace.

THOMAS AFFIRMS THAT DOMINONS WERE CONSULTED

Plan For Representation at Conference Only Settled on Friday.

PROMPTLY ANNOUNCED

Communications Had Been Passing For Weeks With Colonial Office.

LONDON, July 2. — (Canadian Press Cable) —The matter of Premier Mackenzie King's complaint in the Canadian parliament that he had been unable to get information from the British government on the question of Canada's representation on the inter-allied conference at London and was dependent upon press reports for his information came up in the British House of Commons again Monday when questions were submitted to the colonial secretary, J. H. Thomas, the inquirers demanding an explanation of why the Canadian premier was unable to get the required information from the imperial government.

Had Been No Delay

Secretary Thomas replied that he had dealt with the point raised in replies made by him to supplementary questions last Friday, when he stated that it was not true that he had failed to communicate with the Canadian Government on the subject and that there had been no delay in the matter on the part of his department. Mr Thomas reminded the questioners that he had made a statement in the House on Friday as to dominion representation at the conference, the plan for such representation having been settled upon only on Friday, a short time before he made his statement.

Mr. Thomas said he would add to the statement of Friday last only that very full communications had been passing for some weeks past between His Majesty's government and the Dominion governments concerning the arangements in connection wtih the conference.

Let Incident Rest

The Marquis of Hartington asked Mr. Thomas if he could say that the delay of which the Canadian prime minister had complained had taken place, and if so why?

Mr. Thomas said the very fact that he had been able within a few hours Premier Mackenzie King's statement in the Canadian House of Commons to assure the British House of Commons that the matter was settled ought in itself to be the best answer to the Marquis of Hartington's question and no useful purpose would be served in merely raking it up again.

Inform Commissioners

Replying to G. W. Ormsby-Gore Mr. Thomas said the high commissioners of the dominions would be kept fully informed. It would be necessary, he said, to consult all the ministers of the dominions concerned before the publication of the complete correspondence on the subject of dominion representation and the commitments by the conference decisions.

Publication Approved

Secretary Thomas said he was unable to say whether the Canadian government consulted the other dominions before publishing the correspondence laid on the table in the parliament at Ottawa, but the British government had given permission for the publication thereof. He added that it would be necessary for the imperial government not only to consult Canada but the whole of the dominions before agreeing to the publication here of the correspondence on the question of dominion representation. So far as he was aware Mr. Thomas said the document laid on the table in the parliament at Ottawa was complete and represented all the telegrams that had passed on the matter, between Canada and Great Britain.

"We laid down no exception," said Mr. Thomas. "The Government had no objection whatever to tabling these documents here but the whole point was whether it was desirable to raise what was a domestic matter in the midst of the conference. We are not ashamed of anything we have done but we are anxious that no domestic difference, now happily settled, should be made the medium of discussion in the conference."

ACTRESS GAVE PARIS A THRILL

Gilda Gray Astonished Track Throng By Changing Gowns Between Races.

DRESSED IN LIMOUSINE.

PARIS, July 22. — "A dress for every race" may be the new slogan for Europe's fashionable women following the remarkable exploit of Gilda Gray, the American shimmy queen, who caused a sensation at the famous Maisons Lafitte track on Sunday afternoon by appearing in three different gowns during the four hours required to run seven races.

Gilda, who has only been here a week and is on her first trip at that, has leaped into immediate fame as the originator of the most daring stunt of the season. She disappeared into the confines of a shaded limousine shortly after the second race, and reappeared in time for the big race, the International Eugene Adam Cup, attired in a totally different creation of red and white, contrasting with her first gown, which was a motoring costume and she repeated the operation after the fourth race, this time wearing a sleeveless chemise gown embroidered with plumes.

Miss Gray was accompanied by her husband, Gil Boag, the Broadway cabaret proprietor, who is recovering from a short illness.

Fall Styles Appear.

Second only to Gilda in interest were a dozen mannequins, carrying the first indication of fall styles, which are usually kept close secrets until the August openings.

Abandoning the heavy embroideries of last season, the keynote for fall and winter will be sheer simplicity.

Instead of heavy fabrics, such as thick crepe velvet, light gossamer, and thin silk will be employed, some of the materials being so transparent that special underwear must be designed.

The only embroidery will be pearls in startling contrast to last season's vogue of steel beads. Classic lines will be followed throughout, while cumbersofe fur trimmings will probably be abandoned except for the tailor-mades, cloaks and capes.

At the some time a new style of coiffure is being launched for bobbed or shingled hair. The hair is parted down the centre and gummed to the scalp as far as the ears, and then fluffed out and held in place by natural flowers.

Rivalling the races on Sunday, the tennis finals saw a smart crowd including Mr. and Mrs. McAdoo, the Kin gand Queen of Spain, Mrs. Oliver Belmont, Princess Helen of Roumania, Princess Marie of Greece, Mr .and Mrs. J. W. Howells, Irene Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Gurnee Munn, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis, and Alice Joyce.

Trestle work beyond that eight-mile point is held up for the present as rails will be needed to get the timber transported.

Vitamines Discovered In Tea Surpass Yeast; Conduce to Longevity

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.— Scientists at the University of California are working on two recently discovered vitamines which may prove the great importance in lengthening life and in preventing animal sterility.

One is a vitamine discovered in tea. It has been named "bios" and is supposed to have 300 times the life giving qualities in other similar vitamines previously found in yeast. "Bios" was discovered, it is reported, as a result of observations that tea drinking peoples, including Chinese, Japanese, Irish and English, are longer lived than some other nationalities.

The second substance discovered, a flake extracted from wheat, is said to have increased animal fertility to a marked degree. However, the substance is present in such small quantities than only a few flakes were secured from a ton of grain.

CHICAGO YOUTHS PLEA OF GUILTY SURPRISE BOMB

State Prosecutor Unprepared and Uunexpectant Was Dumbfounded.

UNFOLD EVIDENCE.

Will Call Every State Witness at Hearing on Wednesday.

CHICAGO, July 22.—In a dramatic gamble in the Criminal Court with the gallows, Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, millionaire youths and super-intellectuals, yesterday pleaded guilty to the murder of Robert Franks, 14-year-old school boy, also the son of a millionaire.

Justice Caverly can direct that they hang if he so desires.

The prosecution immediately demanded the sentence.

The action of the boys came like a clap of thunder to the crowded courtroom filled to overflowing by a huge staff of attorneys for both state and defence, members of the Leopold and Loeb families and hundreds of morbidly curious spectators who gained admission despite the efforts of a corps of 25 uniformed policemen and sheriff's deputies.

Shouted His Plea.

Clarence Darrow, sphinx-like dean of criminal attorneys, who is 67 years old, and has been practising law for 37 years in Chicago, entered the first plea for the boys. He stood erect, throwing his shoulders back, his voice increasing in volume as he spoke, until he fairly shouted that the defendants pleaded guilty.

Judge Caverly, after consulting State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Darrow, announced that hearing of evidence in the case would begin Wednesday morning, July 23.

The hearing will be held by Judge Caverly and without a jury.

The court under the law of Illinois, may sentence the young college graduates to death. Other sentences which he may pass are life imprisonment or imprisonment for any number of years over fourteen.

Call Every Witness.

Crowe, dumbfounded and taken entirely by surprise at the plea of guilty, made no attempt to contest the action, but announced that he would call every State's witness to the stand "so that the court may hear all the evidence in this case."

"We will not allow the defence to shut out any evidence by pleading guilty," Crowe said. "These boys, both of them sane and entirely responsible, have committed the direst murder in the history of Chicago. They have come into open court and publicly entered their plea confessing that they kidnapped and murdered an innocent child."

Although slightly heavier than when they entered prison seven weeks ago the youths were markedly pale from their confinement.

Young Leopold was called to the bench and himself pleaded guilty. Loeb followed him and did likewise.

"Is it your understanding that if you plead guilty to murder in this court the court may sentence you to death or to the penitentiary for the period of your natural life or for a period of not less than 14 years?" Judge Caverly asked.

Before the Judge.

"Yes, I understand," Loeb answered, looking directly at the judge.

"With this understanding do you still wish to plead guilty?" the judge asked.

"I do," Leopold answered.

"I do," Loeb echoed.

Darrow advised the court that before the boys are sentenced he wishes to present evidence to the court, and the sentencing of the young college graduates probably will be delayed for some time.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, who was in court in person, with a large staff of assistants, was taken completely by surprise, but did not contest the action.

Both sides announced they would be ready for presentation of evidence on Wednesday, July 23.

Benjamin Bacharach, aiding Darrow, announced that the defence wished to introduce testimony of certain alienists who have examined Leopold and Loeb in order to show the court "the degree of responsibility" of the defendants.

Crowe Interrupts.

Believing that the defence was attempting to prove the boys insane, Crowe broke in, shouting:

"Just a minute, your honor. If the defence in this case is trying to show that these boys are insane, how can they come into this court and legally plead guilty?

"If there is any question as to the sanity of these boys, that state's attorney demands that a jury of 12 men be selected so that the state can prove beyond all shadow of a doubt that Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb are sane—that they are guilty of murdering Robert

RESERVE FOR CALDWELL INDIANS WILL BE ESTABLISHED BY THE GOVERNMENT

St. Anne's Island In Lake St. Claire, Selected as Reserve, Will Be Prepared For Habitation— Indians Approve Federal Plans and Declare They Will Make Good.

CHATHAM, July 22. — The Caldwell Indians at a pow-wow held in the county offices of the Ontario Agricultural Department here on Monday afternoon endorsed the Federal Government's scheme to establish a reserve for them on St. Anne's Island in Lake St. Clair and passed a resolution urging the government to provide them with suitable homes, proper drainage of the land, construct roads and provide schools and that government loans be arranged for the purchase of stock and farm implements. The government proposed to settle the married men first and another resolution was passed urging the government to settle the single men as well.

Chief Archie Dodge of Merlin, presided over the meeting, which was conducted in the Ojibway language.

He declared at the close of the session which was adjourned after an all afternoon's discussion, that the Caldwells were depending on the present government giving them a chance to make good and expressed confidence that the tribe would prove that the federal authorities' confidence had not been misplaced.

R. H. Abraham of the Department of Indians affairs, was present at the meeting and stated that it was planned to settle ten families on the new reserve early next year.

A report to the effect that the Walpole Indians oposed the settlement of the Caldwells on St. Anne's Island, was brought to the attention of the meeting.

Several of the speakers maintained that the Caldwells were only receiving their just rights as their forefathers had always lived under the British Crown while the forefathers of the Walpole Indians came from Michigan.

HOMILY BY QUEEN TO WEMBLEY WOMEN

Maintenance of Empire's Ideals Devolves Upon Women in Homes.

LONDON, July 22 (Canadian Press Cable). — Women's Week opened at Wembley yesterday with the Princess Helena Victoria reading a message from Queen Mary assuring the gathering of public-spirited women who were feeting in connection with the British Empire Exhibition of Her Majesty's deep interest in the proceedings, calculated to benefit mankind.

The Queen's message referred to visits made by Kink George and herself to various parts of the Empire as having enabled her to appreciate the special problems of the home life of the women of the Dominions.

Women's responsibilities nowadays, however, Her Majesty said, were not ended in the home; it rested mainly with the women to hand over to the rising generation everywhere the Empire's great traditions and the ideals on which the unique commonwealth of nations had been built up and to impress the youth of today with a sense of the responsibilities of citizenship in this commonwealth.

ATTENDANCE 7,500,000.

LONDON, July 22 (Canadian Press Cable). — The attendance at the Empire Exhibition since the opening three months ago exceeds 7,500,000.

BUILDING IN SLUMP.

Montreal Contractor Blames Government's Tariff Policy For Stagnation.

MONTREAL, July 22—(Canadian Press).—Industrial and mercantile building construction in Canada is dead—"killed by the tariff"; the Liberal Government's unstable tariff policy has caused abandonment of building projects in Montreal worth $8,420,000; and the building trade generally faces the poorest outlook it has known in the last ten years, Douglas Bremner, president of the local Builders' Exchange, declared here last night.

He estimated that about $7,000,000 that would have gone into the pockets of Montreal workmen in building projects had been lost.

ROCK KILLS TWO MEN.

THETFORD MINES, Que., July 22.—(Canadian Press).—Two young men, Philias Lacroix, 18, and Oliva Poitras, 23, were killed here while at work in the King Asbestos Mine. The two men were caught by a large stone that became dislodged.

Five years ago Lacroix's brother was killed in this mine. A verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner's jury.

LONDON FLOUR DEARER.

LONDON, July 22. — (Canadian Press).—The London Flour Millers' Association announce that the official price of standard grade flour advanced a shilling to 45 shillings and sixpence per cwt. for the London area from midnight last night. This is the fourth similar advance in the last eight days.

RAILWAY OFFICE DOUBLE SHOOTING

Dismissed Accountant Attacks Managers and Killed Himself.

VANCOUVER, July 22. — Robt. Wilson, assistant general manager of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, is in hospital with a fractured skull, and E. G. Cordingly, a dismissed railway acountant, is dead as the result of a sudden attack by Cordingly on Thomas Kirkpatrick, general manager of the railway, and Wilson early yesterday morning.

Cordingly followed Kirkpatrick and Wilson to their offices in the eighth floor of an office block, and arriving there suddenly turned on Wilson, beating him over the head with the butt end ot a revolver.

Rushing towards Kirkpatrick's office, he fired at him, but missed, and Wilson grappled with him, only to be beaten again over the head and knocked almost into unconsciousness.

Still he stuck to his assailant till the latter kicked himself free and shot himself through the mouth.

SIGNALS SHIFT AS SHIP GOES NORTH

HARTFORD, Conn., July 22. — Radio enthusiasts are mystified over the shift in radio signals of Donald B. MacMillan's "Bowdoin" in the Arctic from the east coast to the west.

It is the surprising feature of the amateur radio tests that have been conducted during the last year as the famous schooner sailed northward for further Arctic exploration.

While the vessel sailed up the coast of Greenland, Donald Mix, its radio operator, was in good two-way contact with amateurs in the eastern part of the United States.

At a point farther north, however, the signals began to be picked up on the Pacific Coast and the eastern amateurs lost contact with Mix.

This condition existed through all last winter, although at times amateurs at other points succeeded in picking up short messages from Mix For nearly seven months reliable contact was maintained, while intermittent signals were received during the rest of the time.

With the approach of daylight in the Arctic signals from Mix have continued to fall off, except for an occasional "all's well." Contact is expected to be renewed soon when MacMillan starts for home.

THE WEATHER.

The temperature yesterday was 85 degrees, the warmest of the present season, but very moderate compared with the figures of some recent years. Last spring, when the snow melted, the ground was but little frozen, consequently the melting snow, instead of running off in the creeks and streams, soaked into the ground. We are now receiving the benefit of that unusual course of nature. While the rainfall this summer has been light, there is little of the browned and parched conditions that sometimes prevail, and would have, doubtless prevailed this summer if the ground had not received an unusual amount of moisture in the early spring. While the surface in places is dry, moisture is usually abundant at the roots, where most needed.—W. P.

CANADIANS NOT EXCLUDED FROM UNITED STATES

THE REGULATIONS.

Naturalized Canadians Must Enter Under Quota of Native Lands.

TORONTO, July 22. — "May I enter the United States from Toronto upon a visit? May I enter from the same port as a Canadian resident?"

Such are the questions that hundreds of peopde are daily asking the local American consul. Some with tears in their eyes and trembling voice, and some treating the new regulations as a temporary joke that will soon be legislated from existence.

For the benefit of those Canadians intent upon spending their summer vacation at some of the popular watering places with friends or relatives or sightseeing across the line, it is pointed out by the consul that they will experience no difficulties with the immigration officials at the border.

"The opinion seems to be abroad that we are anxious to exclude Canadians from visiting or becoming citizens of the United States," said he when interviewed yesterday. "Such is not the case. Canadians are the finest citizens in the world, and provided they can prove the place of their birth to be in Canada, may enter the country to the south with no trouble."

Naturalization not Recognized.

"But we hear of pathetic cases of people separated from their families by the new quota laws," explained the reporter. "Canadians by birth experience no trouble. It is those of naturalization that are excluded, and they are governed by the condition of the quota figures form the country. They do not appear here as Canadians; their naturalization is not recognized.

"If a Canadian citizen desires to enter the United States as a visitor he should have a copy of his birth certificate available to show at the border, if he is asked for it by the immigration officials. If he wishes to enter as a permanent resident he must present himself at the office of the American consul in the Bank of Hamilton building with a medical certificate to prove himself or herself physically fit, two copies of his photograph, a birth certificate, and a ten dollar bill for his vise form. At the border he will be assessed the head tax of $8 and he then enters the republic.

Can't Migrate Yet.

An example of the workings of the new quota law is given in the case of T. W. Soulsby and his wife of 166 Harvie avenue. Mr. Soulsby was born in Gateshead-on-head, England, and came to Canada as a young man in 1906. He was a die-maker by trade, and in that business slackness is at present the rule locally.

Attracted by the promise of employment with good wages and "sunshine all the year around," as the alluring advertisements read, a close friend of Mr. Soulsby, went to the city of Los Angeles, Cal., in January last. With comparatively little trouble he secured employment and he has written back to this city loud in his praises of the semi-tropical metropolis famous for its suburban movie colonies. He suggested Mr. Soulsby also migrate to California. The latter, however, is temporarily barred from taking that journey because he is a Britisher by birth and not a Canadian.

HONORED BY BELGIUM.

Emile Caron, of C. P. R., Created Knight of Order of Leopold II.

MONTREAL, July 22—(Canadian Press).—Emile Caron, travelling passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has been created a Knight of the Order of Leopold II. by King Albert of Belgium, according to an announcement made here Monday by Jan Van Rickstal, Belgian Consul-General.

The honor is in reward of the way in which Mr. Caron had worked day and night during the war and since, taking care of the Belgian people, solving their transportation problems in Canada and assisting them in every way possible, said Mr. Van Rickstal.

Convict at Kingston Jumped Four Storeys Death Was Deliberate

KINGSTON, July 22.—(Canadian Press)—The Coroner's Jury which investigated the death of Zimmer Noah, a convict who jumped from the fourth range of a section of the Kingston penitentiary Monday at noon, found that death had been caused by jumping deliberately from the fourth range and that death was caused by a fracture of the skull followed by hemorrage.

Young Noah was twenty-five years of age and was convicted of manslaughter and two charges of robbery before Justic Lennox at Chatham on September 21, 1922. He arrived at the penitentiary on the 26th of September 1922 and had been working with the stone gang. He was born on the Indian Reserve near London.

The jury recommended that wire screening be placed in front of the ranges to prevent such an occurrence again.

BRITISH REPLY TO THE LEAGUE

Observation on Treaty For Mutual Assistance Will Be Published.

REPORTED IN PRESS.

LONDON, July 22.— (Canadian Press Cable.)— Premier MacDonald was asked in the House of Commons Monday whether it was true, as stated in press reports, that observations made by the government with regard to the draft treaty for mutual assistance was about to be communicated to the secretary of the league of nations, and if the reports were correct when would the premier make a statement on the subject in the house?

Premier MacDonald replied that the press reports were correct. The text of the letter defining the views of the government on the draft treaty would be published in a few days, he said.

The premier added, in reply to a supplementary question, that steps would be taken to circulate the letter as a White Paper before the report appeared in the press. If discussion on the matter were desired, the premier promised, opportunity for this could be seized before the end of the session.

Asked whether communications to and from the dominions on the subject would be included in the White Paper Premier MacDonald said he had not considered this. He did not know that it would be desirable but he was quite willing to do what the house desired in the matter. When reminded that the deputy leader of the house, J. R. Clynes, had given an undertaking that the communications with the dominions would be published, the premier expressed regret that this had escaped his observation, but if the statement had been made the department, he said, would see to it that it was carried out. At any rate he would see to it himself.

Asked as to how the report had appeared in the press before the matter was communicated to the house of commons, Premier MacDonald, amid laughter, said he would be very glad if he could solve the constantly recurring mystery.

BOER GENERAL FREED.

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, July 22.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The Hertzog government has released Manie Maritz, former Boer general, a prominent figure in the rebellion of 1914, who on April 23 last was sentenced to imprisonment for three years. Maritz had been living in exile from the year of rebellion until a short time before his trial and conviction and sentence in connection with the uprising.

Maritz was a member of the defence force at the time he joined the rebels in 1914 and persuaded his subordinates to join the rebellion along with him. In sentencing Maritz for his part in the rebellion and his attempt to hand over to Germany the loyal members of the defence force the judge took into account the former Boer general's sufferings while in exile and sentenced Maritz to the comparatively brief term of three years in prison.

DISMISSAL FOR PHILADELPHIA'S CLEAN UP CHIEF

Mayor Harassed By Political Bosses Decides To Oust Gen. Butler.

ACTION THIS WEEK.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Harassed beyond endurance by the political bosses, whose control of the Philadelphia politics had been thrown off, Mayor Kendrick has decided to abandon his pledges of support and this week will discharge Brig.-General Smedley D. Butler as head of the police.

From sources so close to the Administration that there is no room for doubt, the pending action was revealed yesterday. The Mayor has marshalled all of his forces, and with City Solicitor Gaffney will call on the Director of Public Safety with a demand for his resignation.

The decision to pursue this course was brought about by General Butler's refusal to discontinue his redistricting of the Philadelphia police stations, the only system, he says, whereby the political control of the police can be effectually killed. Increasing pressure has been brought to bear on General Butler not to go forward with his redistricting plan, but he has steadfastly refused to listen to what the Mayor and the politicians call "reason."

It also has been learned just what excuses the Mayor will use to oust the man whom he brought here to clean up Philadelphia and who has done it. The Mayor is going to accuse the General of stirring up trouble in the Kendrick administration by baiting his political friends and members of City Council and of going to the newspapers with his troubles instead of to the Mayor.

Said to Be "Out of Harmony."

General Butler will be accused of being "out of harmony" with the Administration. He will be told point blank that unless he decides to "listen to reason" he will be asked to resign, but that if he "goes along" they will be kind enough to let him stay until January 5, when his leave from the Marine Corps expires.

Under no consideration will he be asked to stay after January 5, it was learned.

General Butler refused to comment upon the situation, but from officials very close to him it was learned that he is aware of the coming show-down and is prepared for it.

"The Director knows it is coming," one official said, "and he has mapped out his own line of campaign. The Mayor and the City Solicitor are going to accuse him of stirring up trouble and will try to put him on the defensive. The Director will refuse to let himself be put on the defensive and will force the issue. There is only one way out—they will have to fire him.

"But the battle will not end there. General Butler has fought too hard to clean up this town to see all his efforts made useless by a gang of politicians who are sore because their own little game has been spoiled.

"He will go direct to Governor Pinchot with 500 honest Philadelphia policemen and ask that the Chief Executive take up the job where he was forced to leave off.

MURDER SUSPECTED.

REGINA, Sask., July 22.—(Canadian Press).—Nick Studnyek, section foreman for the C. N. R., was found dead in a ditch in front of the section house at Spy Hill, Sask., at 8 o'clock Monday morning. There were two gashes in his head and one in his shoulder. Deceased had been in the habit of carrying a large sum of money on his person and the police believe that robbery is the motive for the suspected murder.

KNOX SCHOOL PICNIC.

Steamer Stoney Lake Carried a Full Quota to Rice Lake.

On Saturday afternoon, July 19, Knox Sunday school excursion and picnic was held per Steamer Stoney Lake down the river to Rice Lake and back to Wallace's Point. The day was ideal and the outing was in every way successful. The Stoney Lake had her full quota of passengers and so had to disappoint some who waited at the Street Railway wharf. This was the children's day and they turned out in full force, and were complimented for their good beehaviour during the whole trip.

On the return to Wallace's Point supper was partaken of and then the sports were held. There were competitions for persons of all ages from tiny tots of four and five years to persons of quite mature age. Relay races, sack races and a relay spike-dirving competition added not a little to the merriment of the occasion.

Soon came the call for "all aboard" and by nine o'clock a tired but happy group of people disembarked at George street wharf. Knox S. S. is noted for its successful excursions and this one was no exception as it was in every way successful.

A PERFECT UNIT OVERLAND CRANKSHAFT

Overland Crank Shaft a Perfect Unit

Among the important and fundamental parts of any engine, probably the most important is the crankshaft. To it falls the arduous and continuous task of converting the reciprocating energy of each piston into rotary energy, for the purpose of transferring the engine's power out into the transmission line.

"Every Overland crankshaft represents the last word in the best and most modern engineering development as practised in the manufacture of these important units" says an official of Willys-Overland at the Toronto factory.

The slightest imperfection of balance means undue vibration. Inaccurate crank shaft and crank pin bearings mean excessive wear, with consequent loose bearings and the impossibility of perfect adjustment. Insufficient main bearings allow whipping and warping of crankshaft and a consequent misalignment of parts.

Each Overland crankshaft is forged in one piece from the highest quality steel and is, of course, specially heat-treated to provide the necessary wearing qualities combined with strength. Each bearing is ground accurately to size and the Overland crankshaft is carried in three husky main bearings that positively insure tremendous rigidity and eliminates any possibility of whipping or warping.

Each Overland crankshaft when finished is tested dynamically and statically for balance,—that is to say at high speed and while stationery.

In addition, the same test is made after the crankshaft is assembled with the flywheel.

These tests which are carried out under the unusually high requirements standardized throughout Overland factories, demand extremely skilful handling and precision. It is one of the operations responsible for the vibrationless, smooth-running Big Overland engine.

BANK VICTIMS MEET.

TORONTO, July 22. — Canadian Press. — A moral claim in equity "acquiesced in unanimously" by the Dominion Parliament, is as binding upon the government as a legal clam according to the view of the National Committee of the Home Bank depositors expressed in a statement issued last night following a meeting of the committee, with W. T. J. Lee presiding.

At the meeting, according to the official statement, consideration was given to the present position of the depositors, and the action of parliament in unanimously adopting the report of the Banking and Commerce Committee recognizing the moral claim of the depositors.

It was felt by the committee that a great victory had been won for the depositors in so far as the work had progressed.

"It is fully expected," the statement proceeds, "that early in next sesson the government will deal with the question, and take steps to reimburse the depositors."

The depositors commmittee further says that according to the views expressed in the House of Commons when the matter was under discussion on Friday last, the opinion was generally held that a moral claim in equity acquiesced in unanimously by parlaiment is as binding upon the government as a legal claim.

The committee decided on active work from now until next session and local committes of depositors throughout Canada were urged to keep their organizations active and intact.

GRASPED LIVE WIRE.

Mother and Son Dead in Accident Near Ogdensburg.

PRESCOTT, July 22 (Canadian Pres). — An appalling accident happened at Gouverneur, N.Y., a few miles from Ogdensburg, on Sunday night, when Mrs. Sarah Finley Lamb and her son Fred, aged 12 years, were electrocuted, and another son, Wesley, aged 9, is in the hospital at Ogdensburg in a critical condition, after having grasped a wire thrown by the boys over a high tension line carrying 2.300 volts.

The oldest boy tossed the wire over the line, and his mother, hearing him writhing on the ground, rushed to his rescue, and in so doing sacrificed her own life.

The younger boy then tried to get his mother away from the wire, and he, too, was severely shocked.

Both arms were burned off the oldest boy, and his face was charred beyond recognition.

The mother was also terribly burned.

BOMBARDING REBELS.

(By Bryant Powers, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BUENOS Ayres, July 22. — The Brazilian Federal forces started a heavy bombardment of the rebel positions in Sao Paulo city late yesterday, according to a radiogram received by the United Press from the Munson liner Pan-America at 1 a.m. to-day.

There have been heavy casualties among the civilian population, the radio said.

There is no mention, however, of any Americans having been killed.

The Federal troops now reinforced until they number more than 25,000, are encircling Sao Paulo city, and have brought up big batteries of heavy artillery.

Thousands of refugees have fled from Sao Paulo city into the interior and toward Santos, which is calm.

CONSTRUCT ROADS.

Government Will Build 50 Miles of Good Roads in the Province.

TORONTO, July 22. — (Canadian Press).—Tenders for the construction of about fifty miles of roads are under consideration by Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Public Works. The total cost of this work will amount to around $1,250,000. Compared with last year, the Minister stated there is an approximate decrease of 25 per cent. in the cost of this work, due to a lowering in price of materials and labor. Contracts have not yet been awarded, but the work, when started, will provide employment for a considerable number of men. Odd pieces of mileage at different parts of the Province will make up the bulk of the work.

A STEAMSHIP RAMMED.

Several Passengers Killed and Others Missing.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(Canadian Press)—S. S. Boston, bound from Boston to New York which was rammed amidships in a heavy fog last night off Point Judith sent out a wireless message at 5.15 this morning stating that several lifeboats crowded with passengers, were missing. The steamer one of the prize ships of Eastern Steamship Company, was reported taking in water rapidly, through a gaping hole in her side. She was being towed toward Newport by the S.S. Commonwealth, but it was reported that it might be necesary to beach her as she was very low in water and might sink almost without warning. Four passengers are known to have been killed when Boston was rammed by oil tanker, Swift Arrow, two and half miles southeast of Point Judith, number of passengers abroad was unknown, but estimates run as high as 1,000 this being peak of vacation season for coastwise steamers. Ship has accommodations for 1,068 passengers.

FROM TRENT RIVER.

Cottagers Held a Dance on Saturday Evening—Personals.

TRENT RIVER, July 22.—White Hall Gardens was a scene of gaiety Saturday night, when the young ladies and cottagers held a dance. The proceeds will help the little folks of the city to enjoy the outdoor life for a few days. This was for a worthy cause and those in charge feel most grateful to those who came forward to held, especially those who so kindly sent donations. The music consisted of piano and drum which supplied numbers for the favorite waltz, fox-trot and Paul Jones. Mr. Baxter of Havelock kindly gave his services free of charge in assisting the orchestra by playing the Frisco whistler for some of the dances. Mr. McCraw of Toronto, guest at the Cook cottage, and Miss Marie Davey hard charge of the admission door and each one on entering was given a red ribobn.

Mesdames Tom Lloyd, Jack Christie and Miss Loretta Bennett had charge of the booth, where ice colds drinks, home made candy, buns and hot weaners and pop corn were sold. A lucky number dance was put on and the winners were Mr. and Mrs. George Gourley of Toronto, guests at "Ralden". Mr. Gourley received the prize of a pair of white silk embroidered hose. KING PLANNING TOUR.

Toronto Arranges For Picnic in Honor of Premier in North York.

TORONTO, July 22.— (Canadian Press.)—Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King is planning a tour of Ontario during August, according to advices from Ottawa, received yesterday by the men's Liberal Association of this city, who have in hand Toronto arrangements for a picnic in hono. of the Premier in the riding of North York on or about Aug. 16.

A revival of T. H. Lennox's picnic at Lake Simcoe on Toronto's civic holiday is thought by shrewd observers to indicate his entry into the Dominion field as the Premier's opponent in North York.

DUBLIN WAS SCENE OF UNIQUE EVENTS

Cosgrave and De Valera Were Addressing Meetings at the Same Time.

DUBLIN, July 22.—(British United Press.)— An unique event in the history of Dublin occurred on Monday night, when William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State, and Eamonn De Valera, "President of the Irish Republic," addressed simultaneous meetings.

President Cosgrave addressed the banquet of the American advertising men ,expressing the hope that they would tell the United States that Ireland is safe for tourists and business men. De Valera was given a reception at the Mansion House by thousands of his followers, bearing little trace of his imprisonment. The Republican leader was deeply affected by the welcome. He afterwards made a fiery speech in which he declared the Republic had suffered in "a military defeat, but not a political defeat." Referring to the Ulster boundary dispute, he insisted: "We will never sign away an inch of our territory."

RAIN IS FALLING ON THE PRAIRIES

If Weather is Right From Now On, Manitoba Will Be Above Average.

WINNIPEG, July 22.—(Canadian Press).—During the last 24 hours rain has been fairly general over the Canadian west. Manitoba has been heavily soaked by rain that started early Saturday morning and continued at intervals up till noon yesterday. If the weather is right from now on the Manitoba crop will be above the average, but ten days to two weeks later than usual. The rain was so heavy at Winnipeg that sewers clogged and basements were flooded. There have been good showers in Southern Saswatchewan and Southern Alberta, although there are strips of territory south of Calgary, where yields will be poor. Edmonton district has prospects of a fair crop.

Ten days ago only half a crop was expected at Edmonton owing to drouth, but to-day an Edmonton correspondent says at least 50 per cent. crop is in sight. Wheat held firm on the Winnipeg market yesterday, despite the increased yield in sight, July closing at $1.39 1-8, or about half a cent higher than Saturday's close. Wheat has advanced 40 cents in the last two months.

THE GASOLINE TAX.

If the advice that is being offered the Ontario Governmet's Good Roads Advisory Board is accepted a tax on gasoline is inevitable.

At nearly every session of the board there are recommendations to the effect that this method of paying for the construction and maintenance of the roads be adopted.

The Belleville meeting the other day produced a suggestion that the tax be five cents per gallon.

Possibly that levy may be considered too high; it would, however, produce a very considerable amount of much-needed revenue.

But whatever the rate may be the general principle of taxing the sale of gasoline is invulnerable to attack.

It puts the cost of road-making and maintenance where it should be put—upon the shoulders of the people who use the roads.

Under this system those who use them the most would contribute the most revenue.

The thousands of tourists whose cars help to tear up Ontario's roadways each season would be compelled to pay a share of their cost.

It is a fair, easily-operated and effective system of securing revenue, and it would take some of the burden away from people who are being taxed to pay for roads that many of them have never been over.

THE PENSION BONUS.

The most regrettable feature of the clash between the Senate and the House of Commons which has culminated in a decision on the part of the Government to seek powers to curb the Upper Chamber, is that the dissension centred upon the pensions bill.

Amendments to the measure had been made by the Senate, and when these were not accepted by the Commons, the Senators declined to change their attitude, and finally, to keep the bill from being killed completely, the amendments were accepted in the Commons.

As a result the pension bonus to war veterans and the dependents of the men who were killed on active service, instead of being made permanent as was the intention of the House of Commons, is confirmed for only two years.

The Senate's action will be depluored by the majority of Canadians who realized that the present pension of the Canadian veterans, even when supplemented by a bonus, is small enough, and who recognized the desirability of making the present bonus a permanent addition to the pension in order that the recipients would know exactly where they stood.

Public opinion throughout Canada has expressed itself in favour of this course, and the action of the Commons in bringing down the necessary legislation has been generally applauded.

The Senate, however, has neutralized the most important provision of the bill.

MR. RANEY'S POSITION.

Hon. W. E. Raney, former Attorney-General, in a long statement issued to the press alleges that the plebiscite is the price paid by the Ferguson Government for "wet" support at the last general election, and declares that a vote at this time is not justified.

The majority of people, however, will be more inclined to agree with a temperance leader of another type than Mr. Raney; Dr. Andrew S. Grant, who says that if prohibitionists are afraid of a referendum, they are not true to their own position, and adds:

"There was a time when we were very earnest about asking for a referendum on the matter of prohibition. We got that referendum and we got prohibition. Now when another section of the people is asking for a plebiscite I don't see how we can really object."

The cause of prohibition is helped as much by a statement of that kind from Dr. Grant as it is hurt by the narrowness and intolerance of the utterances of Mr. Raney.

There can be no logical objection to giving the people a chance to vote on this question.

It is apparent from the results in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan that public opinion in regard to the handling of the liquor problem has materially changed in the Western Provinces.

Has that change extended to Ontario?

Mr. Raney would answer the query in the negative and let it go at that.

But there is only one way to really find out, and that is to let the people answer with their ballots.

This is supposed to be a democracy, and if the majority of people in Ontario want a change in the method of dealing with the liquor question they have a perfect right to vote for that change, Mr. Raney notwithstanding.

Similarly, of course, if they are satisfied with the present system they can confirm it by their ballots and settle the matter for the present.

SAFETY FIRST.

There are people who condemn such organizations as the Ontario Safety League as fads and foolishness.

It is difficult for the Safety League, for example, to secure public support or to obtain enough financial assistance to carry on its work of endeavouring to arouse the people of the Province to a realization of the necessity of doing something to eliminate the daily round of accidents, many of which could be prevented without ordinary care.

No need of such a campaign, did somebody say?

Below is a list of headings taken at random from one Canadian newspaper yesterday.

These week-end mishaps are nearly all of a nature that suggests that they could have been averted and would have been except for carelessness on the part of somebody.

How anyone reading such a list can say that there is no place for an organization formed to teach safety first principles is something that requires an explanation.

"Seven in canoe upset; two boys are drowned."

"Couple are swept to death posing for a picture."

"Mother killed in crash; five children injured."

"Young man drowned at Government Park."

"Bag rolling from wagon carries farmer to death."

"Thrown from bicycle when struck by auto."

"Bride seriously hurt on her wedding trip."

"One dead, two hurt from motor upset."

"Farmer breaks neck while unloading hay."

"Two men die of injuries received when hit by street cars."

WE HAVE TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT.

John F. Sinclair has concluded his series of eleven articles on "Canada in the making." In his final article he draws a number of conclusions. He is a student of world conditions of sufficient standing to cause his deductions to be seriously considered.

Mr. Sinclair considers two things, Canada's debt and her ability to carry or discharge it. Growing out of these comes the verdict that the Dominion should cut expenses, not only at Ottawa, but at every point where there is a body that has the power to levy taxation. The list includes the Federal Parliament, Provincial Legislatures, Councils of cities, towns, villages, townships and counties. All these bodies possess powers to tax the people, and they exercise these powers. It is estimated that the combined taxation of these bodies amounts to $90 per capita each year, or for a family of five $450.

But the case of Ottawa is the one under review just now. The net debt of Canada in 1914 was $235,000,000; in 1923 it was $2,453,000,000. Today out of every dollar the Government spends 57 cents is for a war debt; there was nothing paid off during the war.

Mr. Sinclair believes that Canada has too great a governmental machine for the number of people in the country to pay the bills, and in that view we are inclined to concur.

Canada has a Cabinet composed of the Premier and eighteen Cabinet Ministers, four of them without portfolio. A Cabinet Minister in charge of a department receives $14,000 per year and certain allowances. The number should be reduced, probably to nine or ten.

The House of Commons has a membership of 235 members, and the number will be increased to 245. In salaries alone that means almost a million dollars. The more members there, the greater the service required to look after them. Instead of adding to the membership of Commons, Mr. Sinclair believes better results would be achieved by cutting the representation in half. He holds that its fitness would not be impaired by such an operation, and that it would be just as representative of public opinion as it is today.

Turning to the Senate, he finds 96 members there at $4,000 a year, and concludes that the number is too great. He would halve the representation there, leaving 48 in the Upper Chamber. When they are at it, why not reduce it to 32, one-third of the present number? All these things would lead back to changes in the British North America Act, but that is no reason why they should not be attempted. If today we find that the country has too cumbersome and expensive a system of government there is no reason why it should be continued simply because the British North America Act provides for it.

In addition to the large organization at Ottawa, the Provinces maintain nine distinct Legislatures with 543 members. They are distributed as follows:

Ontario	111
Quebec	109
Nova Scotia	43
New Brunswick	48
Manitoba	55
British Columbia	47
Prince Edward Island	30
Alberta	58
Saskatchewan	63

Or in all, counting Commons, Senate and Legislatures, 894, or one for approximately each 10,000 people. Prince Edward Island has one legislative representative for every 2,954 people.

If any business institution felt that it had built up too great an organization to do the work required it would be quick to curtail; it would be considered poor business tactics not to do so. Canada and the Provinces in it are facing a similar problem.

Mr. Sinclair can see no reason why the civil service at Ottawa should work six and a half hours per day. His suggestion of an eight-hour day requires no argument.

His concluding plea is that Canadians, no matter in which of the many governing bodies the spendthrift disease manifests itself, must learn to do without things until they dispose of a good part of their debt. That advice is wholesome, so wholesome that it should hardly be necessary to urge its adoption.

The time is ripe for careful thought on the whole business of cutting down our machinery of national and provincial government to a size we can afford to carry. At present we are working on a basis that automatically increases the load without giving a return in keeping with the increased outlay.—London Advertiser.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The person who asks, "Is it hot enough for you?" has at last made his appearance, some weeks late.

Without the wind from Parliament Hill Ottawa will probably feel the hot weather more keenly than any point in Canada.

A double shooting, inspired by jealousy, occurred in Hamilton on Saturday. The usual combination of a foreigner and a loaded revolver caused the tragedy.

Parliament passed estimates amounting to many millions in its last sitting on Saturday. This is the penalty for the time wasted at the beginning of the session.

"Pussyfoot" Johnston is planning a campaign in Egypt. Why doesn't he make the United States dry first?

"House sits all night to clean business" reads a newspaper head. It was ever thus with legislative bodies in Canada.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 21.— Today's run of cattle at the Union Stock Yards was 2,000 head less than last Monday. Today's receipts were 236 cars, 4,441 cattle, 656 calves 1,937 hogs and 970 sheep and lambs. The smaller cattle run gave a little more activity to the market especially for the lighter butchers which kept the scales busy from the opening. Loads of these 700 to 950 lbs. sold from $5 to $7 a cwt. the wide difference due entirely to quality. These and baby beeves were the wanted butchers, outside of the demand for overseas.

The supply of baby beeves is running short and they are holding firm. Six of these sold early from $7.25 to $8.50 a cwt., and three sold at $9 a cwt. The exporters were not aggressive this morning, as they have only one boat to fill. They will buy about 500 head today. These will be all steers and the prices will run from $7.00 to $8.00 a cwt. These prices look down from last week, but today's cattle they claim are not as good quality as last week.

Butchers cows were not too strong and only one touched $5 a cwt. The average for good cows was not much better than $4.25, and medium cows were $3.50 to $3.75. There were not many bulls on sale and these were steady. Average loads of good butchers steers and heifers sold at $6.75 a cwt. and the top for a few choice butchers was $7.35. With 600 cattle left over from last week there were more than sufficient for the present demand and the market began to drag at midday.

The Buffalo market was up to 12½ cents for tops on Saturday and this helped buying here. Bunches of good calves sold at 9¼ cents and some not fancy at 10 cents. Calves nearly 400 lbs. each, but with fair finish, brought 8 cents. The calf market was quite firm and prices were about half a dollar higher.

Lambs did not apepar so strong as at the end of last week. Early parcels of ewe lambs sold at 15 cents at the opening but the buying grew keener and large bunches of ewes sold at 15¾ and 15½ cents and buckle at 13½ cents a pound. Yearlings brought 9 to 10½ and choice handyweight sheep 6½ cents.

There was no price settled on hogs this morning. Some sellers were asking $8.50 a cwt. f.o.b. and the market will certainly be no lower than $8 a cwt. with the prospect of an advance of 25 cents to $8.25 a cwt.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 22 (Canadian Press). — Rain both north and south of the Canadian boundary led to lower prices for wheat yesterday, and the market here closed 7-8c to 2 1-8c net decline, September $1.25 5-8 to $1.25 3-4, and December $1.28 3-8 to $1.20 1-2.

Corn finished 1 1-4c to 2 1-4c down; oats 1 1-4c to 1 1-2c off; and provisions showing a setback of 20 to 50 cents.

It was generally assumed that the rains would prove beneficial to the spring wheat crop, although some advices said no amount of moisture could greatly change the situation in the drought stricken area in Canada.

Considerable selling appeared to result also from opinions in some quarters that a reaction from the big advance of late was to be expected. There was also more or less selling which was attributed to hedgers.

In this connection it was pointed out that the movement of wheat in the south-west was heavy, receipts at Kansas City alone being 1,289 cars, against 589 a year ago.

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

Masons Visit the Lakeshore Town on Saturday Afternoon—Race With a Car.

COBOURG, July 22—The Rochester Shrine Club, accompanied by Damascus Temple Band of some forty-five pieces of the Temple Order of the Mystic Shrine, came over to Cobourg Saturday on the Ontario car ferry No. 2, which they had chartered for the occasion, and made their headquarters at Victoria Park, where the band gave a fine concert. There were about eight hundred people with the excursionists, and many from town were out to spend a pleasant afternoon at the Park.

They Raced the Car.

A couple of equestrians who were out riding, conceived the idea of trying a race with an automobile, and all went merrily until the horse which one of the men was riding, stumbled and fell, throwing his rider off. This allowed the auto to get a lap ahead, and it won out. The speed record was not made public, but it was fast.

FABLES ON HEALTH

"Have your teeth looked over thoroughly, and at once," advised the Mann family doctor when Mrs. Mann was anticipating motherhood.

"One of the oldest and shop-worn fallacies is that women should have no denistry work done while pregnant. That is a silly and thoroughly wrong idea.

"On the contrary, a woman should go to her dentist at once and have her teeth attended to. This is a time when most women have trouble with their teeth and a milk of magnesia solution can be taken to counteract the action of acid that gathers on the enamel of the teeth.

"Of course if there is any particularly difficult or painful work that the dentists says can be delayed it is just as well to let it go for a time, but proper dental care at this time will do a great deal to insure good teeth after the period has ended.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Oh, look!" cried Nick. "There is a funny little black boy."

The next night when Johnny Jump Up and the Twins scrambled down the rose vine to the magic garden, a beautiful tree had grown there.

And all over the beautiful tree were blossoms that looked like wax in the moonlight, and so fragrant that the air smelled as though all the perfume bottles in the drug store had been spilled.

"Lovely!" sniffed a peevish voice. "That means another journey for me, I suppose. Every time you find a new kind of flower I have to tote you all to the place it came from."

"Fie on you, Tommy Titmouse," cried Johnny Jump Up. "You know very well that you are tickled to death to go places with us. You needn't look so sour. This magnolia tree came from the south and all birds like to go there."

"Shuh, boss, heah I is," called the little darky boy, grinning down at them. "When de Ferry Queen came to Alabama to pick out a nice tree for dis yeah magic garden, she sez to me, she sez, 'Sambo, I gotta change you into a weenty teenty puhson so you can sit in a blossom, and when I wave my wand and send this tree to de magic garden foh dem Twinses to see, you can go long and take dem dese yeah tickets."

The little darky boy held up three tickets for them all to see. The Titmouse flew up and looked at them closely, then he punched them with his bill.

"All aboard for the South," he called, flying down so that Johnny Jump Up and Nancy and Nick could hop on his back.

Away they all went to the Southland where it was always warm and there was no snow—not even on Christmas.

But there were fields of white that looked like snow in the moonlight as Tommy Titmouse approached. "That's cotton," explained Johnny Jump Up. "It grows on little bushes and the colored people pick it off with their hands and put it into big baskets. Then it is taken and put into a machine that takes all the little seeds out, for they stick in the cotton even after it is pulled.

"After that it is packed into bales and sent off to factories and made into muslin and stuff for your dresses and clothes."

"My, something smells sweet!" cried Nancy.

"Those are the magnolia trees," said Johnny Jump Up. "Like the one we saw in the magic garden at home. The southern people love magnolias so they plant them wherever they can. See, there is a whole grove of them."

"Those fields full of green stuff are tobacco," said Johnny Jump Up.

Next the little bird flew to a place that looked like a large cornfield.

"That is sugar cane where all our sugar comes from," said Johnny Jump Up.

"I think the South is a very useful place," said Nancy.

"We haven't seen half of it," said Johnny. "Perhaps we can come back tomorrow."

CHICAGO YONTHS

Franks—and that they must hang."

Bacharach in his argument for presentation of evidence to the court without a jury said: "Your honor, if a formal trial is held and witnesses are called to testify before a jury and attorneys battle and gubb'e over legal technicalities, the whole case would be given the air of a circus sideshow or a vaudeville performance.

May Mean Death.

"We desire rather to submit to the court the real evidence in this case, allowing the court to sentence these boys as the court sees fit, understanding, of course, that the court may sentence them to death."

"We are ready with the state's case and will present all our witnesses," Crowe said. "These boys must hang for the direst murder in the history of Chicago."

Darrow smiled as he saw the look of consternation on the faces of his legal opponents.

"These boys, as they are now, are not fit to mingle in society and we will make no effort to set them free," Darrow said.

Both state and defence will present their evidence when court is opened on Wednesday. It is probable that hearing of evidence will continue for several weeks.

Guard Against Stampede.

Hundreds of people gained admission to the building itself. Other hundreds were lined up along the sidewalks, hoping against hope they could enter. Court was not to open until ten o'clock, but at 8 a.m. well over a thousand people were in line with thousands more expected to battle for a glimpse of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb, millionaire youths, who confessed to kil'ing Robert Franks, 14-year-old schoolboy, "just for a thrill."

Monday's session of court was called to hear preliminary motions of the defence, made by Clarence Darrow, chief defendant's counsel.

The dingy criminal court building was carefully guarded by scores of special police officers and court bailiffs. Impetuous men and women refused to wait for elevator service to start and plodded their way up six flights of stairs to gain admission to Judge Caverly's court. They were repulsed at the head of the stairs and forced to wait their turn.

Remembering how the crowds battered the doors from their hinges when Leopold and Loeb were arraigned six weeks ago, orders were issued to keep crowds from the floor on which the courtroom is located. None will be allowed to stand in the court.

All In Readiness.

The courtroom itself was in readiness. Reserved seats for more than 100 newspaper reporters, special correspondents and feature writers were roped off. Telegraph instruments, equipped with noiseless sounders, were operating.

Loeb's father, Albert H. Loeb, muti-millionaire vice-president of Sears Roebuck and Company, was not present. The elder Loeb is seriously ill with heart trouble and is resting at his summer home at Charlevoix, Michigan. Richard's mother is also at Charlevoix, but his older brother, Allen, was in court.

The tiny courtroom paneled with light oak on the sixth floor of the dilapidated criminal court building just outside of Chicago's Loop, was jammed almost to suffocation. State Attorney Crowe and his large staff of assistants and Darrow and his aides—together with several state and defence alienists—stood directly in front of Judge Caverly. A large group of newspapermen crowded about in order to hear every word that was spoken.

Eyes Unseeing.

Leopold's eyes, which have been considered unusually bright and searching, were watery. He gazed into space without apparently seeing anyone. His aged father, the millionaire president of the Morris Paper Box Company, sat silently in the court room, tears trickling down his rough face.

Loeb, somewhat taller and more erect, faced the court with more composure. His eyes did not waver from Judge Caverly as he declared that he understood the consequences of pleading guilty to murder.

By pleading guilty Leopold and Loeb have made it impossible for a defence of "insanity" to be argued, Judge Caverly explained to the United Press, interpretating the surprise move of the defence.

"It is not legal, of course," Caverly said, "for an insane person to enter a plea of guilty in this state and by entering their pleas, the defendants have cast aside any hope of being proven insane."

GOVERNMENT RESIGNS.

Progressive Liberal Leader Will Be Asked to Form Cabinet.

Athens, July 21. United Press. — Following a vote of non-confidence the Greek government has resigned.

The vote against the Papanstasion cabinet was based on charges of squandering the government finances and general disorganization of the administrative department.

M. Cafantaris, leader of the progressive Liberals, will not be asked to form a cabinet. If he is unable to do so, there will probably be a coalition cabinet, including leaders of the opposition parties.

CECILE KIRWAN WINS HER GOAL

CHICAGO, July 22. — Cecile A. Kirwan wanted to be an editor.

Two years ago she got a job on the Wofan's Weekly, in Chicago, and she didn't think she would be able to hold it. To-day visitors are told "Meet Miss Kirwan, editor."

She is just 23 years of age.

Her climb in the field of journalism has been rapid. She always had her goal and she went after it.

But withal she is a real, feminine womanly sort of young woman. She has her own apartment and there she keeps house. Cooking along with editing is her specialty.

The Woman's Weekly has a circulation of more than 300,000 each week. Miss Kirwan is the editor, copyreader, makes her own art layouts, places the advertisements; in fact, is the Woman's Weekly. She is now doing the job of the man editor who hired her two years ago and she is also doing the work of four other people who were in the office when she first went there.

This editor's chair was not easily reached by Miss Kirwan. After she got over her ambition of childhood to be an acrobat in the circus, she began fitting herself for newspaper work.

She attended the University of Illinois.

She worked first on the Daily Illinj, the university paper; then the News-Gazette at Champaign, Ills. There she did every kind of newspaper job, including the giving of advice to the love-lorn. Her advice was taken to heart by herself, too, because she is not yet married.

Her work took her to Tulsa, Okla. then to New York, then back to Chicago, where she walked the streets in search of a newspaper job. She got some income as press agent for an evangelist and then a friend said she might get on the Woman's Weekly. Her first assignment was politics ,of which she said she knew nothing. To the editor's surprise she had a good story ready next day. Then she was put on the payroll.

Miss Kirwan declares any girl can do any job she wants to do if she will just hang up a goal for herself and never let anyone throw the switch. She doesn't think she has accomplished so much, just doing her best in her chosen field.

PRACTICAL COVERING.

Nothing is more practical as a covering for the porch in summer than the rush rug which emerges triumphant from all types of weather.

NEWS FROM MADOC

Mining Industry Gives Promise of New Development.

MADOC, July 22.—It is reported that Mr. D. E. K. Stewart, K.C., has finally managed to interest a legal firm in Toronto in the well known Diamond gold-mining property in this district. A company is being formed with a share capital of two million dollars. The expectations are that operations will commence before the first of August.

Mr. Coonan from New York City, has purchased the mineral rights on the property adjoining the Diamond with a view of testing this property thoroughly.

Ready For Shipment.

At the fluorspar mine on Lot 3, Con. 1, of the Township of Madoc, Messrs. Ellis and Stockloser have 120 tons of fluorspar on the dump ready for shipment. This is decidedly the highest grade of fluorspar ever mined in this district and would seem to secure for Madoc an important industry. They have recently shipped several carloads of this material to the Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, Ont., which graded up well over eighty per cent. calcium fluoride.

Team Ran Away.

One of our most influential and prominent farmers, Mr. Fred Doughty, met with a serious accident, when his team ran away. Mr. Doughty was thrown on a pile of stones and though bruised and shaken it was not thought at the time that his injuries were serious. Mr. Doughty recovered sufficiently to work on the land for two days, though he complained of not feeling well. Suddenly he grew worse and was hurried to Kingston hospital, where it was found he was suffering from acute appendicitis, having been aggravated, no doubt, by his fall. An operation was performed, but slight hopes of his recovery are held out.

Mr. Jewell, manager of the Bank of Commons, and Mrs. Jewell have gone on their holidays to Sault Ste. Marie and other points.

Mr. Kinnear Cross of the Royal Bank, Orangeville, is camping at Moira Lake with his brother, Mr. Edward Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Gavin Wallbridge are spending a few days in Bancroft this week.

A fruit vendor was in town on Saturday selling oranges at twenty-five cents a dozen, and promising cherries for to-day at eighty-five cents a basket.

New potatoes in the stores are sixty-five cents a peck.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

One whole minted orange, ½ cup jellied fish and vegetable salad, 4 button radishes, 1 gherkin, 1 cup creamed dried beef, 1 small baked potato, 4 tablespoons new carrots, 1 cup shredded cabbage with lemon juice, 4 tablespoons fresh cherries, 1 pint skimmed milk, 2 small pieces crisp rye toast, 1 whole wheat pop-over.

If you have a mint bed this minted orange may give you an idea for other combinations as a change. Enough mint leaves to give flavor won't add a decigram to your weight but may relieve many fruits and vegetables that must be served without sugar or sauces.

Minted Orange

Cut orange in half and with a spoon scoop out the pulp. Scrape out the membrance, leaving a clean shell. Combine fruit and mint and refill shells. It is well to prepare the orange the night before and keep the fruit, tightly covered in the ice box, ready to fill the shells in the morning.

One whole minted orange, 1 cup boiled rice with 1 tablespoon sugar and ½ cup cream, 2 slices cinnamon toast, 1 poached egg on toast with 4 tablespoons rich cream sauce poured over, 1 cup split pea soup ½ cup jellied fish and vegetable salad with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 4 button radishes, 2 pickles, 1 individual 4-inch strawberry shortcake, 4 ounces roast veal, 2 tablespoons brown gravy, 2 potatoes baked with meat, 4 tablespoons new carrots in 2 tablespoons cream, 1 cup shredded cabbage with 2 tablespoons chopped nut meats, and 2 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons baked banana pudding with 2 tablespoons lemon sauce, 2 whole wheat pop overs, 4 toasted wafers for soup, 2 hard rolls, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

Add one or two teaspoons of sugar to the orange for the gaining diet.

Cinnamon toast is particularly good with boiled rice, as it adds the needed spice to the dish. Use lots of butter and lots of sugar and as much cinnamon as you like. Cream 2 tablespoons butter with 2 scant tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Spread on thick toast and put under the flame or in a very hot oven to reheat toast and melt butter. This will add 200 calories of fat and about 150 calories of carbohydrate to the bread.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surpirse, she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavious, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. At last matters reach a crisis, and Paul orders Wanda out of the house. She goes up to London with Mrs. Garnet, her one friend, with whom she is to live. The day after she arrives, Clare's brother Harry, the "black sheep" of the family, comes home unexpectedly, and falls in love with Wanda. Paul comes to see Wanda, and she realizes, all too late, that it is Paul she really loves. He objects to her friendship with Harry Courtney, whom he distrusts. Wanda discovers that Paul is paying for her to live with Mrs. Garnet, and immediately leaves, having written to Harry to say that she will marry him. She asks him to meet her at Victoria Station the next day. But he fails her, and while she is waiting Paul finds her. He tells her Courtney is a thief.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XXXIII.—MASTERY.

"What do you propose to do now?" Paul asked presently. "Mrs. Garnet will be delighted to have you back if you will return to her——"

Wanda's eyes flashed.

"Back to the lodgings you have paid for!" she accused him.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Mrs. Garnet is not a rick woman, and you would take nothing from me."

"I would rather die."

"That's silly," Paul said calmly "And it does neither of us any good. You're not a child, so don't behave like one."

He leaned across the table and laid his hand on hers. "Come, Wanda, be friends with me. Things might be made quite happy and comfortable for us both."

She drew her hand away.

"No," she said obstinately.

He frowned. "Why not?"

"I will not live on your charity. You hate me——"

"Don't be so foolish. I like you very much indeed when you behave like a normal girl."

"Thank you. Thank you for nothing."

He laughed.

"Well, what do you want me to say or do?" he asked good-humoredly. "Everything I suggest is wrong. Will you come back to live at Grey Chumleys if I ask you very nicely?"

Her eyes grew eager, but the eagerness soon faded.

"You wouldn't ask me."

"I would. I ask you now, formally, to come back with me and make your home at Grey Chumleys."

Wanda caught her breath.

"How can I? With you—alone."

"We'll get Mrs. Garnet to come back and chaperone us."

She drew away, her face changing.

"Are you going to marry her?" she demanded.

Paul hesitated.

"I know things which are less likely," he said at last, teasingly.

Wanda started up; this seemed to her to be the last straw.

She was tired and nervous and overexcited, and hardly conscious of what she did, she turned and ran from the room, leaving him alone at the table.

Paul let her go. He hated scenes, and he knew that to follow her now would only be courting one, so he sat and finished his tea without much appetite, paid the bill and leisurely departed, to find Wanda waiting for him outside.

"Good heavens! I thought you'd gone for good," he said bluntly.

"I should have done, but you've got my bag with all my money in it."

He broke into laughter.

"The Fates are against you. You'd far better accept my offer and come back to Grey Chumleys."

She turned her head suddenly.

"Very well. I will.??

He looked incredulous.

"I am to ask Mrs. Garnet as well?"

"No. I'll come alone."

"Don't be a little fool. What do you think people will say?"

"I don't care."

He made a wry grimace.

"It all sounds as if you love me very much," he said with sarcasm.

"I love Grey Chumleys," said Wanda, and her voice trembled.

Paul hailed a taxicab.

"We can talk better if we're not surrounded by half London," he said.

But it was some minutes after they had driven away before he spoke.

To-morrow—The Proposal.

LAWN SOCIAL FOR ORPHANAGE HERE

The little men at St. Vincent's Orphanage are looking forward with eager anticipation to the annual lawn social of that institution, which takes place next Tuesday evening, 29th July.

There are twenty-three little boys in the big house on the hill, the eldest twelve years of age ,the youngest a baby of two years, and there are six or seven others away at their homes during the hot weather.

On the green lawn, the children play through long, warm afternoons, with footballs and baseballs and bats, the smaller members rolling marbles on the verandah floor. In the background, removed far enough to be undisturbed by wild throws of the ball, grazes peacefully one of the two Holsteins which provide milk for the Orphanage, and which, with a grey pussy, make up the animal family at the institution. Away down in the hollow, below the steep hill, is the half acre of ground laid out in a fine-looking vegetable garden. The house within, empty of the noisy little lads who make it ring sometimes from cellar to roof in cold indoor months, is quite silent. Upstairs, in the little washroom where the tiny tots play in winter time, a deserted hobby horse waits for a rider ,companioned only by a dull-looking Teddy Bear, with sawdust leaking from a ripped side. Small, white prim cots in the dormitories have each their little chair, black or red, in sizes like those of the Three Bears in the nursery tale. In one of the cots lies Bernard, sleeping peacefully in the warm afternoon, a convalescent of a mysterious illness politely labelled "indigestion," but suspected by the gentle sisters to have had a little to do with some nice new green apples.

The little boys help around the house, perhaps not as much as the little girls who used to live here, and who now stay at the Cobourg Orphanage, but very willingly, nevertheless, covering the basement walls and themselves with a liberal coat of whitewash just recently, and helping energetically in the oiling of nice, new hardwood floors in the upper rooms. The bigger lads look after the small things; little Joey, who, handicapped by a stutter and an attack of shyness that reduces his spoken efforts to a mild little murmur, yet volunteers cheerfully to say a "piece" for the visitor; small, smiling James, with a shapely front that reminds one of the kewpie that was "so well rounded in the tum-ti-tum," and delectable, pink-apple cheeks; tiny Harold, the baby, who calls for his special big boy chum and guardian when he gets up in the morning; Victor, who looks like a little girl, and has a mop of Dutch cut auburn hair and eyes to match; and Russell, the white-faced, smiling small man with the stunted legs that run so quickly after a ball or a bat.

These are the little things who start to sing in the mornings when they get up, and they join also in the singing of the hymns in which all the boy voices ring out so lustly, as they stand in erect style, with round, bright eyes fixed on the visitor. "I purest of creatures," one of their favourite hymns, in praise of the Blessed Virgin, resounds over the green lawns, through the clear, warm air of a July afternoon, from twenty-three throats, the shrill pipe of the babies joining in with the treble of the older lads.

A minute later they are playing again happily, these little Orphanage wards, like the children of whom the poet sang, in the old verse: "Happy hearts and happy faces, Happy play in grassy places: That is how in ancient ages, Children grew to kings and sages."—(Advt.)

Pretended Drowning To Test Wife's Love

DETROIT, July 22.—Michael C. Roscoe, who the police believed had ended his life by leaping from the old Belle Isle bridge, was arrested. A man's coat and hat and pay envelope bearing Roscoe's name were found on the pier, as well as messages scribbled on the backs of photographs of his wife.

Roscoe told detectives that he had determined to end his life following a quarrel with his wife, but decided to pretend he was dead and see if she still loved him. He returned home after leaving the clothes and notes on the pier, and lived in the garage in the rear, spying on his wife, but keeping out of her way, he said. Roscoe was released by the police, after being warned not to repeat the attempt. Mrs. Roscoe filed suit for divorce last April.

MINER OF DAYS OF '49 BACK ON TRAIL AGAIN.

SANTA MARIA, Cal., July 22.—John Lancaster, ninety, is living his youth over again. Back in the land of buried gold, accompanied by three burros and provisions to last him for several months, he is searching for a mother lode that he ran across twenty-five years ago.

Old miners in this country support Lancaster's belief. They say that the old man, who was a member of an expedition in '49, knows what he's about. "It's the call of the days of gold," they say. For Lancaster "made his pile" years ago.

The Pennsylvasia Hospital in Philadelphia, operates under a charter originally granted to it by George II of England in 1751.

Talking at manual work has been found by official investigation to cause considerable loss of time, except when the work is entirely automatic.

Conscience Fund of $25 For Killing Bird

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 22. — Seth E. Gordon, secretary of the State Game Commission, received a conscience fund contribution of $25 from a repentant hunter who killed a ringneck pheasant out of season. The letter, which bore an Altoona post mark, read:

"Inclosed find $25 for a ringneck pheasant I cooked that was shot out of season in 1921. The Lord has laid it on my heart to make it right. I prefer to withhold my name."

TELLS COURT HE BEAT WIFE TO AMUSE BROTHER

LUDINGTON, Mich., July 22. — William Warner of this city was arrested on complaint of his mother in law who charged him with beating his wife. The court fined him $25 and costs.

Werner told the court that he was trying to amuse his brother who was visiting him.

RETURNS TO CITY AFTER A HOLIDAY

Educational Value of Discussions and Sensational Finish to International Police Convention Outstanding Features.

G. N. Gordon Banquets.

Chief Newhall has returned to the city after attending the Canadian Chief Constables' Convention at Ottawa, and the International Convention at Montreal.

The great International closed with a bang. The convention room of the Mount Royal Hotel, which is the largest in the British Empire, was the scene of a near riot.

Chief Rutledge of Detroit, the retiring president, amidst rooting, cheering and the offerings of a blaring band, tried to restore order. The row rose in the strife over the selection of the association's next place of meeting.

Incidentally, Indianapolis had appropriated $15,000 to Chief Reikoff for his expenses at the convention. He brought along with him 84 delegates, inclusive of the Indianapolis Police and Fire Brigade band, composed of 35 bandsmen.

The Indianapolis supporters commenced to cheer and the strains of "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here!" came from the Police and Fire band in the corridors just as Chief Collins of Chicago began to elaborate on the virtues of the Windy City.

When the disturbance was quietened the convention was so impressed with the enthusiasm of the Indianapolis delegates that the choice of their city was made unanimous.

The Canadian Convention opened on Thursday, July 10th.

The educational value of the discussions is evident from previous reports of the proceedings. Chief Newhall spoke particularly of the scholarly papers delivered by Chief Welsh of Niagara Falls, and Inspector Foster of the R.C.M.P., dealing with finger prints, the use of which have proved a great auxiliary to the police work. Finger print identification as a science is rapidly develing.

"Co-operation," "Extradition," "The Rising Tide of Lawlessness," and "The Standardization of Police Matters," were other subjects which proved instructive.

Chief Crabb of Welland delivered an excellent treatise on "Too Many Police Forces," pointing out that the overlapping of federal, provincial, municipal and country police frequently produced friction rather than efficiency.

Chief Newhall commented that we experienced that trouble in Peterboro at one time.

Inspector of Detectives Guthrie and General Williams were prominent in the debate, and Chief Newhall stated that the Dominion and Provincial police heads would probably be respnsible for carrying into effect some of the ideas advanced. Particularly in regard to the matter of carrying fire arms, a source of crime that was thoroughly discussed.

G. N. Gordon Entertains.

The City of Ottawa royally entertained the delegates, providing a sight seeing tour about the city in autos. The comforts and conveniences of the lady attendants were looked after by Mrs. Albert Cawdron wife of the Assistant Commissioner of the R.C.M.P.

The Canadian Convention prorogued on Saturday, July 12th, and the International Convention opened on Monday, July 14th. Montreal was equally hospitable providing every facility for their guests.

"Last but not least," remarked Chief Newhall, "was a banquet given by Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P."

The outstanding feature of this gathering was the fact that three of the guests were formerly connected with the local police department.

There were present at the banquet Chief Thompson, of Windsor, Chief Brown of Port Hope, Chief Kidd of Belleville, Chief Newhall, of Peterboro, Chief Newton of Winnipeg, Assistant Commissioner Cuddy of the Ontario Provincial Police, Chief Trudell, of Quebec, Chief Cudieux, Acting Chief of the C. P. R., and Albert Cawdron, Assistant Commissioner of the R.C.M.P.

The lively banquet took place in the Parliament Buildings, and a round of speeches were delivered in King Arthur style that sparkled with eloquence under the direction of the host, Deputy Speaker, G. N. Gordon.

ONLY FOUR SURVIVE IN LAST MAN'S CLUB

Drink Farewell Toast to Their Departed Comrades

STILLWATER, Minn., July 22.—With only three of the four surviving members able to attend, the annual banquet of the famous "Last Man's Club" was held here yesterday John S. Goff, 81, came from St. Paul for the reunion; Charles Lockwood 79, made the trip from Chamberlain, South Dakota, and Peter Hall, 83, journeyed from Atwater, Minn. The other member, Emil Graff, 83, was unable to leave his home at St. Cloud, but sent a letter expressing his regrets.

The Last Man's Club was formed here in 1886 by 34 surviving members of B. Company, Minnesota Volunteers, who fought in the Civil War. A bottle of wine was purchased at the first meeting and it was agreed that the last member should drink a toast to the departed comrades. At this year's meeting thirty chairs draped in black were grouped about the banquet table in memory of members who had died.

BOY SCOUT IS MAKING A TRIP

Alfred Blaha of Czecho-Slovakia, Is Attempting to Make Journey on Foot.

Alfred Blaha of Podebrady in Czechoslovakia is making a trip around the world, crossing each continent on foot. He was born October the first, twentw-seven years ago, his father being a man of note in that country in politics and sports. His brother, John is making the trip with him; they are the two younger members of a family of seven, four boys and three girls. Alfred has always taken a keen interest in sports holding second place in the ten-mile road racing and the championship in the hundred yards sprint in his country.

In 1914 when the world war broke out he left his country which was under Austrian rule and joined the Russian army, where he and his fellow-countrymen fought for their lives knowing they would be hanged as traitors if taken prisoners by Germany. He bears the marks of five serious wounds to verify his statements. The last time he was wounded was July 3rd, 1916, when he was taken to the hospital and where he remained until the finish of the war He was the sole survivor of his original battalion.

After the war was over he took part in the revolution of Czechoslovakia to free themselves from the Austrian yoke which they had borne for many years. In this they were successful and are now under their own government.

In his country the custom is that every man must have a profession and serve three years as a apprentice. He having a college education took up book-keeping in a large brokerage office for two years. But his health had been so impaired by the war that he could not remain indoors. He decided to make this walking trip and at the same time build up his health and so accompanied by his brother he set out bidding adieu to all home ties on July 3rd., 1922. Their plan was that on arriving in a country they would separate and work at whatever they could get to do to help pay their expenses. They decided not to correspond with each other but to keep in touch with their home people and through that source know each other whereabouts.

During his stay in France he worked as assistant carpenter, he went then to England and Scotland, where he walked about thirteen hundred miles. His work in that country was as a head waiter in a large restaurant in London. His knowledge of seven languages made him very capable for the job and he was urged to make his stay there but that was not his object.

He next set sail for Canada arriving at Halifax in December, 1923. He travelled through Nova Scotia and New Brunswick during the severest part of the winter. He suffered terribly from the cold being forced many times to sleep out of doors at night. At one time he had both his feet frozen. He travelled on through Quebec and at one time in this province breaking the string of his snow shoe his hands were too cold to mend it so he was forced to break the other one loose and travel six miles through snow up to his waist.

Between Quebec and Montreal on a bright sunny day in March with the temperature twenty degrees below zero, he felt an attack of snow blindness coming on from which he had suffered once during the war. He travelled for hours and when his sight had almost failed he stumbled on to a building which proved to be a deserted lumber camp. He groped around, found the stove and from knowledge received while scouting, he kindled a fire and made himself a meal from his provision as he always carried enough food to last him a week. At the end of three days he again took up his tramp and finally arrived in Cobourg in May.

With the assistance of the scout master of that place, Mr. Sparling, he located a job on a farm with Mr. Delbert Varcoe, near Roseneath, man interested in bees and a breeder of Holstein cattle. He has worked at this place for the last two months While in Roseneath he spent some time making short excursions taking pictures and writing stories for sport ing papers, and magazines in England and Czechoslovakia. He is also writing books on "Sporting," "Farming," "Hunting", etc., in foreign countries which he will have published on his return. He is also taking pictures of his book on hunting of the different wild animals. One day he spent five hours waiting to secure a picture of a woodchuck. On another occasion he spent five days following a wild cat in New Brunswick, before he was finally able to get near enough for a picture.

Alfred has made many friends during his travels as he is of a bright genial disposition and always ready to learn when an opportunity presents itself. He was very interested in the bees kept at Mr. Varcoe's farm and was not discouraged although stung many times in his endeavorur to learn more about them.

When he left home he carried a pack weighing fifty pounds but he has now increased it till it weighs sixty pounds. In this pack he carries a small tent for camping out at night also a waterproof coat as well as his food and writing materials.

He left here recently for Toronto, Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Chicago and then to California where he expects to arrive in time for Christmas While here he received word from home that his brother was in Sudbury and they were to meet at Niagara Falls.

Every alternate night for the last two weeks of his stay here he ran a distance of from three to five miles to harden himself for his trip. While walking he always bandaged his feet and ankles and wore a pair of heavy socks and long laced leather boots.

When his journey through the States is completed he will set sail for the Eastern Hemisphere passing across Australia, Japan, China, Russia, expecting to arrive home in 1926. On his arrival he intends to make a tour of his own country giving illustrated lectures of his travels from which he hopes to reap the reward of his journey.

Four years hence he expects to again visit Canada, although not on foot, as he thinks that next to his own Mother Country the province of Ontario is his ideal of home. On this trip he hopes to visit Alaska.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Stock brokers who deal in listed stocks are divided into two distinct classes, members of accredited stock exchanges and non-members.

Brokers regard their business as a profession, consequently brokers who deal in listed stocks have organized stock exchanges. The exchanges have certain standards of membership with the object of admitting only those who are not likely to mar its professional record.

For instance a man's past is pretty thoroughly examined, because personal integrity is one of the most important requisites of the stock exchange.

No man may be a lawyer or a doctor who has not passed the tests of his profession, but a man may legally be a stock broker dealing in listed stocks even though he might be unable to pass the finacial and moral tests which would admit him to membership in one of the accredited stock exchanges.

BOAT TRIP UP LAKE ONTARIO IN YEAR 1760

A Group of Two Rangers Made the Journey to Detroit

IN SMALL ROATS.

It Was Decided to Make a Fortified Trading Post in Toronto.

COBOURG, July 22. —In 1760, shortly after the fall of Quebec and the transfer of all Canada to the British Crown, a force was despatched by General Amherst from Montreal to proceed westward up river and lake and take possession of the important post of Detroit. This military contingent consisted of two hundred rangers under the command of Major Robert Rogers, and they were conveyed in fifteen whale boats. With some twelve to fourteen men in each boat, they set sail from Montreal and the appearance of this flotilla as it coasted along the shore of the St. Lawrence river and Lake Ontario, was a source of wonder to the Indians, who had seen few white men. Major Rogers' description of this journey, which has been preserved in his journals, is perhaps the most authentic account extent to-day of the lake front of this province at a time when Toronto was an Indian trading post and known as Toronto or Fort Rouille, as well as Toronto. It was not until some years later that it received the appelation of York. Major Rogers set sail from Montreal on Sept. 12th, 1860. On the 25th of September, he states, "they left the ruins of Fort Frontenac, and on the 28th entered the mouth of a river, which he states was called by the Indians, "The Grace of Man."

"Here," he says, "we found about fifty Mississauga Indians fishing for salmon." "At our first appearance," the journal states, "they ran down, both men and boys, to the edge of the lake and continued firing their pieces to express their joy at sight of the English colors, until such time as we had landed." "About fifteen miles farther on, he states, they entered another river which the Indians called "The Life of Man."

"On the 30th," the journal proceeds, "we embarked at the first dawn of day and with the assistance of sails and oars, made great way on a south-west course, and in the evening reached the river Toronto (the Humber), having run seventy miles. Many points extending far into the water, occasioned a frequent alteration in our course. We passed a bank of twenty miles in length (probably just east of Toronto), but the land behind it seemed to be level, well timbered, with large oaks, hickories, maples and some poplars. No mountains appeared in sight. Round the place where formerly the French had a fort, that was called Fort Toronto, there was a tract of about 300 acres of cleared land. The soil is principally clay."

"The deer are extremely plenty in this country," he continues. "Some Indians were hunting at the mouth of the river (Toronto) who ran into the woods at our approach very much frightened. They came back, however, in the morning and testified their joy at our success against the French. They told us that we could easily accomplish our journey from there to Detroit in eight days."

"Further, that when the French traded at that post the Indians used to come with their peltry from Michilimackina down the River Toronto (the Humber). "I think Toronto," Major Rogers continues, "a most convenient place for a factory, and that from thence we may very easily settle the north shore of Lake Erie."

The First Survey of "Niagara Cataract."

On the first day of October, the forty left Toronto and steering south sailed directly across the west end of Lake Ontario. At dark they reached the south shore, five miles west of Fort Niagara. Some of the boats had by that time become leaky and dangerous as they were of rude construction. To avoid the possibility of any danger to his men, Major Rogers gave the following order, before leaving Toronto. "The boats in a line. If the wind rose high, the red flag hoisted and the boats to crowd nearer, that they might be able to give mutual assistance in case of a leak or other accident." "By this means," he continues, "we saved the crew and arms of the boat commanded by Lieutenant McCormack, which sprang a leak and sank, we losing nothing except the packs. We halted the next day at Niagara and provided ourselves with blankets, coats, shirts, shoes, moccasins, etc. I received from the commanding officer eighty barrels of provisions, and changed two whale boats for as many batteaux which proved leaky. In the evening some of my forty proceeded with the provisions to the Falls (the rapid water at Queenston) and in the morning marched the rest there and began the portage of the provisions and boats. Messrs. Brheme and Davis took a survey of the great cataract at Niagara."

The founding of a French trading post at Toronto was originally a scheme to hamper the trade which was going on with the British at a post called Choueguen on the southern side of Lake Ontario, near what is now the town of Oswego. When this post was established it was found that the Indians were taking valuable peltries there for sale, which had originally found their way to Montreal and Quebec. The Indians were keen for a good trade and found, it is stated, "when they compared the silver trinkets which they got at the English store at Choueguen, with those that they heretofore secured in trade at the French stores, that they were purer silver and better workmanship, and did not cost them quite two beavers, while for those offered for sale at the French King's post, ten beavers were demanded."

It was accordingly decided to make a fortified trading post at Toronto and with this in view to send there "an officer, fifteen soldiers and some workmen to erect a small stockade fort."

At the time of Major Rogers' visit to Toronto all trading there had practically ceased, yet in his journal he speaks of it as "a most convenient place for a factory," a prophecy that has been abundantly fulfilled in these later years, by the city's wonderful industrial activities, as well as its commercial, educational and residential growth.

AMERICANS WON TENNIS DOUBLES

TRIUMPHS REVIEWED.

OLYMPIC STADIUM, Colombes, July 22.—Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, of the United States, Monday won the Olympic men's doubles tennis title, defeating Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, of France, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Richards gave so much in winning the men's doubles title that when paired with Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, he met "Dick" Williams and Mrs. George Wightman in the mixed doubles. The latter won easily, 6-2, 6-3, taking the fifth Olympic tennis title to fall to America.

The United States, by competing its tennis triumph Monday, rolled up a point total in the Olympic competitions which clinches the all-around championship of the games. The completed tabulation last night of points for the 16 events thus far competed shows that the United States is far in the lead with 98 points, double that of the nearest rival, France, which has 74 points and cannot overhaul the United States even if triumphant in the remaining four sports which are to be completed this week.

France jumped to second place by scoring heavily in tennis, gymnastics, fencing and the modern pentathlon. Great Britain is now third with 38 points, and Finland fourth with 34 points. The United States added 10 points under the Olympic scoring system for tennis and two more for gymnastics, the tabulation reveals.

Championships have been carried off by the United States in eight fields of rivalry, including track and field, rowing, swimming, tennis, boxing, catch-as-catch-can wrestling, Rugby and target shooting. Norway, with victories in the winter sports and the hunting shooting, is the only other nation to take two Olympic crowns. The other six championships are distributed among France in fencing, Sweden with the modern pentathlon, Finland with the Graeco-Roman wrestling, Argentina with polo, Uruguay with soccer, and Italy with gymnastics.

Altogether, 22 of the 45 competing nations gained places in the scoring column, with the only remaining contests in yachting, weight lifting, cycling and the equestrian games.

Behind the first hour in the point column are the Scandinavian countries, Sweden and Norway, the former with 33½ points and the latter with 21¼ points. Switzerland has 18, Italy 17 3-4, while Argentina ranks tenth with 13 points, only 3-4 of a point behind Denmark. Uruguay, with 10 points, is eleventh.

TUNNEY READY FOR FRENCHMAN

At Apex of Condition For Battle With Georges Carpentier Friday.

BOTH ARE CLEAN.

NEW YORK, July 22 — Gene Tunney stepped from his dressing room at the Shrewsbury County Club at Red Bank, N.J., yesterday afternoon, looking the pink of perfection. Everything about the big fellow radiated health. His glance, action, talk and laughter indicated Gene Tunney was at the apex of a flawless physical condition.

He is so fine that today winds up his training, and at that his work will be very easy, as he doesn't want to cross the peak. He is down to the required weight of 175 pounds, and when he faces Georges Carpentier next Friday evening at the Polo Grounds you are going to see an improved Gene Tunney.

Fighters as a rule lead pretty clean lives for the rigors of their profession demand good health. As for Gene Tunney, he is probably the cleanest living athlete ever known. An air of refinement and education surrounds him in every move. He shows the true colors of a real man. No slang, loud talk, rudeness or boastfulness is included in his make-up. That is the reason he enjoys the respect of everybody connected with the fighting game.

* * *

Many go so far as to declare that Gene Tunney is too mild mannered to be in the rough game. Gene always answers back that, being gifted with a little more skill than the other fellow, enabled him to gather together a small fortune, and his prospects are still glowing. Tunney isn't hypocritical about the fighting game. He knows it isn't a parlor sport and doesn't improve a man's social standing.

But Tunney made a short speech at a meeting of the commission some time ago and in clear, concise tones informed the gathering that if he had not been fortunate enough to take up boxing he would have been working as a clerk for about $2,500 per annum Now, though a young man, he is comfortably fixed financially and expects to strengthen his nest of gold as the days roll by. He is a clever real estate expert around Red Bank and adjoining territory, and has made quite some money in this line. Tunney is an athlete at heart, but fighting to him is only a business.

Carpentier's career extends longer than Tunneys' and bears quite a similarity to Gene's The Gorgeous One is a good living citizen of France, a war hero and a very popular man wherever he goes. Across the water they treat fighters differently.

* * *

Carpentier' good friend is the Prince of Wales, and that doesn't mean acquaintanceship but real friendship. Again, Carpentier numbers most of the leading figures of Europe among his friends and on this side has a speaking acquaintance with many of our social leaders If Tunney were of foreign extraction he would be as well received as Carpentier, for his geniality makes friends wherever he goes.

There will be a military atmosphere around the battle between these men for bothe underwent baptisms of fire on the other side. Carpentier carried off greater honors than Tunney, and his deeds will always be remembered, as they bordered on the sensational. Tunney went along in his own quiet manner, doing his duty as ordered.

It was really through the war that Tunney burst into prominence. He won the A.E.F. lightweight title and ever since then has been endeavoring to fight the Gorgeous One. He will get his opportunity Thursday evening, and no matter which man wins the palm of victory will go to a red-blooded human.

OLYMPIC FAILURE FINANCIALLY LAID TO FRENCH APATHY

PARIS, July 22.—A magnificent success from a sporting point of view, this year's Olympic Games will probably go down in history as the most gigantic promotion failure on record.

The main reason for this has been the apathy of the French themselves. During the main events at Colombes Stadium scarcely anyone was to be heard talking French. Americans and English were the best customers, with South Americans a good third. But the stands, built to hold 60,000, were seldom more than a third full.

Enormous expenses were incurred by the French Olympic Committee to make the games a success, and to insure against too loss the Olympic committee insured—chiefly with English companies—against the gate receipts being less than 10,000,000 francs. At present writing the probabilities are that the receipts will total less than a quarter of that amount, so the total loss will be shated by the insurers.

As another mitigating factor there is the fact that the Colombes Stadium is a permanent asset to the city and likely to be a source of profit for many years.

DETROIT SERIES IMPORTANT ONE

TYGERS DANGEROUS.

NEW YORK, July 22. — The ability of a team to win when victories count most is an essential to a pennant. Twice this season the champion Yankees were in losing slumps that for a time threatened to erase them from the American League race. But the Yankees managed to rally in time, check their losing streak, and thereby remain in the running for the championship.

The race is far from over, and as fast as the Yankees overcome one dangerous opponent another appears to menace their progress. The champions got away to a poor start when season opened, but the team found itself, and it was not long until the club was back in the lead. When Washington was on its sensational spurt the Yankees felt the force of the Senators' rush and were pushed back during the drive.

Later the champions atoned for this setback by taking the series from the Senators in Washington, when Manager Harris' club was on its way to make a runaway of the race.

Now the Yankees are entertaining the Western clubs, and with two series completed the Yankees are found on the winning end of each. St. Louis and Cleveland were the victims. The latest sensations of the League, the Detroit Tigers, open a series here on Monday, which may prove to be the decisive one of the year. The Tigers have won ten out of the thirteen games played on the Eastern trip, and this morning are only a half game back of the champions.

This is another test for Huggins' men. The club is going on high speed, with Ruth playing brilliantly and leading a winning attack. Manager Huggins has his pitchers working in form again. During the last few weeks the Yankees have been playing the same brand of baseball that carried them into league championships in the past.

The Yankee pitching staff will be forced to submit to a severe test this week, as Cobb has one of the hardest hitting teams in the league. It has been the batting of the Tigers more than any other factor that has enabled them to remain in the race. The Tigers are getting better pitching than has been customary for them in the past. The Yankees have wrecked the pennant hopes of the Tigers before, but it remains to be seen whether the morale of the Detroit players has been lowered as a result of these reverses.

Injuries to stars fail to check the progress of the Giants. When McGraw lost Southworth it was the belief that his team would suffer a slight slump, but that injury gave Hack Wilson, a substitute outfielder, his chance to become one of the season's sensations of the National League. Wilson was lost temporarily on the Western trip when he suffered a twisted ankle, but Southworth returned to the game and the Giants continue to show form.

Interest in baseball continues to hold and whenever a series of any importance is played the crowds rush to the baseball park. During the past week, with Pittsburgh far from being in the race, there were large crowds daily at Forbes Field, and last Saturday, the final day of the series, a record crowd attended.

The fact that the Giants and the Yankees continue to lead their respective leagues has not taken all the interest out of baseball. The sport is having another of its goo years, especially in the American League, where the race has been close all season.

Despite the large lead that the Giants have gained, the National League clubs also are drawing good crowds.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

THUNDERGATE TOUCHES NEW SCREEN HEIGHTS.

The screen drama reaches new heights in "Thundergate," an exciting, dramatic photoplay, laid in the colorful atmosphere of the Orient, which opened yesterday at the Royal Theatre for a 3-day engagement.

This play, based on Sidney Herschel Small's popular novel, "The Lord of Thundergate," is a First National picture and deals in a romantic and dramatic way with the adventures of an American in China, who bears the resemblance to a mandarin and through strange circumstances is forced to masquerade as the Chinese.

Replete with rapid fire incidents, tensely dramatic and exciting, the play contains all the essentials that go toward making a worthwhile screen drama. Laid in the colorful atmosphere of the orient, with the magnificence of Chinese temples and palaces as a background, "Thundergate" offers a wonderful opportunity to a brilliant cast of players to present a story entirely different in type from any story ever told on the screen.

The comedy, "The Misfit," with Clyde Cook, is filled with genuine laughs, and the balance of the programme is up to the high standard now maintained by the Royal management. It's all worthwhile entertainment.

RAWLINSON AS LOVABLE IRISH COP WHO ENTERS THE PRIZE RING ROYAL THURSDAY

There are a number of good fights in "Jack O' Clubs," Universal's latest starring vehicle for Herbert Rawlinson, showing at the Royal Thursday, but perhaps the most thrilling bout occurs when Ruth Dwyer and Esther Ralston settle their differences with a hair-pulling stunt.

The two girls are great friends off the screen and it was only after much coaching on the part of Director Bob Hill before they could put up a real film battle. During the rehearsal of the scene, Rawlinson, an expert boxer, gave the girls a number of tips on how to make the scrap look realistic without causing bruises.

They followed his instructions carefully. When the scene was completed it had all the appearances of a bitter battle, yet neither of the girls actually disarranged their disposition.

Rawlinson plays an Irish patrolman who is sent into a none too well behaved section of town. He restores order and is given the title of "Jack O' Clubs."

CANDY FOR KIDDIES AT THE ROYAL.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Royal has another programme that will appeal one hundred per cent. to the children as well as adults. As an added inducement free candy will be given each matinee at 2.30.

AT THE CAPITOL.

LINCOLN J. CARTER'S GREAT MELODRAMA COMING TO CAPITOL ON THURSDAY

"The Arizona Express" is one of famous author's best stories

"The Arizona Express", always considered one of Lincoln J. Carter's best melodramas of the early west, comes to the Capitol theatre the last three days of this week, commencing next Thursday. Replete with surging action, tense situations, battles with Indians and for a climax, a spectacular train wreck, "The Arizona Express" should please every lover of melodrama. On the same bill will be Stan Laurel in his latest comedy, "Near Dublin."

"THE ETERNAL CITY" BOOKED TO CAPITOL AT AN EARLY DATE

Just to get the proper atmosphere and the actual background in which the story was written, the entire company making Sir Hall Caine's famous novel, "The Eternal City," were sent to Rome, Italy, where they spending two months producing the feature, Lionel Barrymore and Alma Rubens are featured in this exceptional picture, which comes to the Capitol theatre the first three days of next week, commencing Monday.

The beautiful Agnes Ayres is the heroine of "The Guilty One," the feature picture now showing at the Capitol Theatre. As Irene Short, the wife of a rising young architect who is intent on making progress in his work rather than in escorting to gay parties his bride of a year, she does some excellent acting, in one of those roles which seem eminently suited to her type of appealing, wistful charm and somewhat irritating faculty of becoming involved in compromising situations while apparently doing nothing whatever that is out of the way. Edward Burns plays opposite her, as her husband, a part that has not quite as much prominence as that of the other male characters, with Cyril Ring as the unscrupulous man of the piece, and Clarence Burton, Stanley Taylor, Crauford Kent and George Seigman to round out an interesting and unusual story.

The tale winds itself by absorbing stages into what looks like an impasse for the young wife and her husband. The end appears to be about to evolve itself into a murder trial, with the man unable to prove his innocence, when a peculiar twist clears the atmosphere instantly, establishes the guilt of the real criminal, and rings down the curtain on a happy climax, at least for the two most concerned.

In her efforts to help her husband to procure a coveted piece of work, Irene Short encourages the attentions of a rich man who has the reputation of cultivating the acquaintance of beautiful women. The enterprising gatherer of a certain type of slimy news, the employee of "Gotham Gossip," publishes items reflecting on the character of Irene and her friend, and this precipitates trouble. Her husband and her brother both pay unexpected visits to the man in the case, and he is found dead by police officers. It is in the uncovering, in dramatic and swift fashion, of the real culprit that the story has its big moment, but it is entertaining throughout, as a cross section of the lives of the middle-class population of a big, modern city, with its people seeking for excitement and pleasure outside of the home circle. The entire cast is well chosen for the roles portrayed, and the element of interest is sustained to a logical ending.

Al St. John is the hero of the comedy offering, "His First Car," in which the harassed owner of a brand new Lizzie takes his family and the neighbors on a camping trip, in which anything and everything that could possibly happen to a car and its hapless owners is delineated. The neighbor's quarrelsome wife and the big "lapdog" furnish plenty of excitement on the excursion.

PETERBORO VERSUS OTHER CITIES

The unemployment situation prevailing throughout Ontario presents a harassing problem which may grow serious before winter sets in according to the general trend of official opinion.

Fortunately, Peterborough has not arrived at the state where it becomes necessary to distribute bread, as in Oshawa, declared Mr. Finch Miller, City Relief Officer to-day.

Mr. Miller stated that in his 28 years of experience in relief matters he never knew of such a condition to prevail at this time of year. He remarked that while Brantford, Kitchener, London, Windsor, and Oshawa have had to provide special relief measures this summer, Peterborough's situation is far from that state of abnormality.

The City has never dispensed with more relief at this time of year than it is doing to-day, but strange to say most of the cases require civic assistance due to sickness and throughout the last two months there has never been more than two on the roll at one time because of unemployment.

Act 1 showed the interior of Dick Tate's and Francis Felton's bachelor apartments at Boston. Act 2 was the same as Act 1 ,the afternoon of the same day. Strawberry Festival.

The Bailieboro Methodist Sunday School held their annual strawberry festival on Tuesday, 15th July, on the church grounds. Supper was served from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. In the early part of the evening a game of softball was played between the Bailieboro Girls and the Garden Hill Girls. The final score was 10 to 7 in favour of the visiting team.

The Centreville baseball team also played a game against the Coldsprings team, and the score was also 10 to 7 in favour of the visiting team.

The concert which followed was held in the open-air. The members of the George Street Methodist Orchestra of Peterborough aided in the programme, as also did others from outside points. The Orchestra played many selections, which consisted of duets and solos by the members.

LIQUOR SEIZURE HAMILTON POLICE

HAMILTON, July 22.—(Canadian Press).—Investigations being made by police following the seizure of a huge quantity of liquor near Hamilton Saturday morning may reveal a large organization behind bootleg operations both in Hamilton and Toronto, it is stated. Some of the liquor was found in the cellar of an apparently deserted farm house, while the rest was on a motor truck and is said to have been unloaded shortly before from a launch.

The launch in question has made several trips to "Cuba," and is said to be owned by a Hamilton man. It is believed to have cleared from Toronto on Saturday or Friday last and to have secured its cargo in that city.

Though the farm where the cache was located is apparently deserted and neglected, a substantial rental is paid to the owner, according to reports.

COURAGE.

It is not so much lack of strength that makes us loosen our grip on life, as it is lack of heart. We need something to strengthen our faith in mankind, but almost everything tends to weaken it, and then often, as if things were not bad enough we begin to doubt the goodness of God, and thoughts which we would be ashamed to give voice to are uppermost within us, and tears of self-pity fill our eyes and blind us to the fact that "All is well," that there is a divine purpose in the things that happen to us who believe in God and that all our pain and disappointment, and empty places and deep ditches in our lives, which humans have not filled, God intends to fill in his own time and way. "Therefore, let us hold fast the profession of our faith, without wavering for He is FAITHFUL that promised."

HOW?

Germany is buying from other countries about 60 million dollars worth of goods a month in excess of what she's selling to her export customers.

Until the situation is reversed and Germany builds up favorable trade balances by exporting more than she imports, there will not be much paid in the way of reparations. Cash, not oratory and conferences, pays indemnity.

FRENCH CLAIMS STOP PROGRESS OF CONFERENCE

U. S. Ambassador Called Upon Mediator in Near Crisis in London.

DEADLOCK ON LOAN.

Demands of Bankers Might Supersede French Rights Under Treaty.

LONDON, July 23.—With the Inter-Allied Conference on the expert's reparation plan not yet a week old, the United States Ambassador Frank B. Kellogg, has been called upon to play the delicate role of mediator, which all the delegations confidently predicted would be his sooner or later when the statesmen opened their parleys there last Wednesday.

Mr. Kellogg's opportunity came Tuesday afternoon when the French ideas of security were found to be out of harmony with the guarantees required by the United States financiers who are expected to take up a considerable portion of the £40,000,000 loan to Germany, with which the Dawes' plan is to be inaugurated.

The situation, although tense last night, is regarded by most observers as capable of amicable solution through the offices of the United States Ambassador and his colleagues. On one principle all the delegates seem still to be agreed, —that the experts' plan affords the only solution for Europe's ills, and that the alternative is chaos.

Hitch Not a Crisis

Accordingly, the position is one of anxiety, but not of despair, and the delegations do not regard the hitch which has occurred because of the bankers' demands for protection of the loan in the light of a crisis. It is emphasized that the conference, which has made such remarkable progress during the first six days, will yet find a way for the restoration of the accord, which characterized its earlier important decisions.

When it was finally determined at the meeting of the Allied financiers with the United States and British bankers that the safeguards unanimously agreed to by the Committee on sanctions and defaults respecting the German loan were considered insufficient by the financiers, Premier Theunis of Belgium is understood to have advanced the first alternative.

M. Theunis proposed that a German default, which the first report stated might be adjudged by the Reparation Commission, could be declared by that Commission only after consultation with five members of the Dawes committee, who would act in an advisory capacity. This is understood to have proved wholly unsatisfactory to the United States bankers.

To Reparation Commission

Then it was that Ambassador Kellogg's alternative proposal was brought forward. It is not concerned with the declaration of a German default, but deals entirely with the manner of application of sanctions to Germany. It proposes that sanctions may not be applied until recommendations for a default have been made by the Agent-General of Reparations and the bondholders 'trustee, and also by five members of the Dawes' Committee, who would be called in. Then the question of sanctions would be put to the Reparation Commission and if there was a unanimous vote in favor of sanctions all the Allies would join in imposing them.

The hitch comes in the possibility of the Reparation Commission's vote not being unanimous; the question would then arise as to whether the nations voting in favor of sanctions would take them, or whether they could be held back by the nations which had voted against the taking of penalties.

A feature of Ambassador Kellogg's plan is calling in five of the experts who aided General Dawes' to work out his reparations scheme. They would likely be M. Parmentier, of France, Dr. Alberto Pirelli, Italy; Emil Franqui, Belgium; Sir Robert Kindersley, Director of the Bank of England and Owen D. Young, United States.

Difference not Serious

A United States financial authority informed the correspondent of the Associated Press last night that the only problem from the financiers' viewpoint was that if any nation voted in the Repatation Commission for taking sanctions, it might be difficult to restrain independent action on the part of that nation, and as long as this was possible the basis for credit was not sound. He expressed the opinion that the difference was not a serious one and that a settlement would surely be worked out from the Kellogg plan within a week.

In official circles, it is taken that the Kellogg proposal precludes separate action by France, but the same spokesman said that the details would have to be throughly worked out to satisfy the bankers. At the close of the afternoon conversations between the financial experts and the bankers, the French delegates reiterated that France was irrevocably committee to the Verssailles Treaty and the interpretation regarding separate action, with which France had made the whole world familiar through her invasion of the Ruhr. That implication in Mr. Kellogg's alternative plan is as abhorrent to the French delegation as the Theunis proposal is to the financiers.

JOY RIDE OF THREE TORONTO YOUTHS IN STOLEN CAR STOPPED BY CHATHAM COPS

Took the Woods on Side Road, But Halted When Police Opened Fire—One of Them Taken to Hospital With Flesh Wound In Arm.

CHATHAM, Ont., July 23.— Ted Stacey, 18, 1 Roberts Street, Toronto is recovering in the public hospital here from a bullet wound in his left arm inflicted when he and two companions fled to a Raleigh township bush to evade capture by the County Police after a thrilling chase Tuesday afternoon.

He is under arrest along with Albert Jones, aged 16, 147 Melrose Ave., Toronto, and Norman Riley, 16 259 Beatrice Ave., Toronto, charged with stealing a six-cylinder touring car in Windsor.

At noon yesterday, County Police received a tip that the youthful thieves were heading for Chatham along the Middle Road. Chief Peters and assistants waited for them at the inter-section of the Middle Road and the Raleigh-Harwich town line, which leads to Chatham. After a short wait the police observed a car approaching at a rapid speed. The driver ignored the command to halt and swinging the machine North, proceded towards Chatham. Police immediately gave chase. When the fugitives realized that the police car was steadily gaining on them, the driver turned west along a Harwich township side road, where the trio abandoned their car, and attempted to hide in the bush.

Police employed their revolvers at random to scare the youths and the ruse had the desired effect. The youths submitted quietly to arrest. Stacey was nursing his left arm upon examination was found to have a slight flesh wound. Chief Peters ordered the youth removed immediately to the hospital for treatment where he is under guard pending arrival of a Windsor escort.

The trio will be taken to the border to face a charge of auto thieving.

ALBERTA NEEDS HARVEST FORCE

Six Thousand to be Recruited From Outside the Province.

SOME FROM STATES.

EDMONTON, Alta., July 23 (Canadian Press). — Ten thousand men needed in Alberta for the harvesting of the crop now growing, is the present estimate of the Provincial employment service.

That estimate has been made on the basis of reports sent in from the several labour bureaux throughout the province and makes allowance for the poor crop conditions in certain districts.

Official of the Department point out, however, that it is necessarily subject to change as the season progresses for better or worse.

It is stated that there are 4,000 men already in the province available for harvest work, leaving the number to be brought in from outside at 6,000.

These will be recruited largely in British Columbia, with some also from Eastern Canada and possibly a limited number from the Western States.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., July 23.—(Canadian Press). — Swamped by the waves, little Thomas Hynes, Jr., aged 13 years, son of Mr. T. A. Hynes, East Street, was drowned on Monday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock while swimming about thirty feet from the St. Mary's River Boat Club, after an unsuccessful attempt to rescue him had been made by his little sister, Edith, who almost lost her own life in the attempt. Edith, fully dressed, managed to hold her brother above water until Dave Pirrie, steward of the Boat Club, swam out. Both rescuers spent their strength, and Pirrie was taxed to the utmost in saving Edith.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., July 23. — (Canadian Press).—Jack Cox, aged 8, a cripple from birth, on Monday night lost his life by drowning at Alexandria Bay, west of here, when he fell from a dock a short distance from his home.

THEFT OF 250 SILK DRESSES

Montreal Man Charged as Accessory After the Fact —Value $2900.

HE GAVE A MESSAGE.

MONTREAL, July 23 (Canadian Press). — Charged with being an accessory after the fact in connection with the theft of 250 silk dresses, valued at $2,900, Champlain Rosen, 24, clerk, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Judge Cusson, who set 29th July for enquette, and refused bail.

Rosen is also held on a warrant of commitment arising from a judgment of $50.00, and $9.70 costs, or eight days in jail, for running his automobile without lights.

Further, Rosen was arraigned today, according to R. L. Calder, K. C., Crown Prosecutor, on charges of "attempting to defeat the ends of justice," and of "doing public mischief," laid by the Provincial Government following the evidence given at the recent trial of the six bandits in the Hochelaga bank collection car holdup case.

This evidence showed that Rosen introduced two of the bandits, Frank Gambino and Mike Vaentino into Bordeaux Jail on passes bearing fictitious names.

In connection with the charge heard yesterday, it was stated in the Court that the warrant alleging complicity in the theft of the silk dresses followed an offer made by Rosen to return part of the goods stolen, at the rate of $7.00 per garment.

"I had nothing to do with it. I merely gave a message given to me by another party," said Rosen, who requested bail.

"There will be no bail from me," said Judge Cusson.

Rosen added that he had no direct connection with the theft, and was in no way interested or benefited by it.

THREE CONVICTED.

OTTAWA, July 23. — (Canadian Press). — John Beaufort, Gilbert Roy, and George Sarasin, all of Montreal, were convicted in police court here Tuesday of having held un and robbed John Connell, 15-year-old son of a Fitzroy Township farmer near his home last week. They were all three remanded until Thursday for sentence.

The scene of the hold-up was about five miles from the Connell farm, and occurred when John Connell was driving two large cans of milk to a cheese factory. The trio of hold-up men, on coming abreast of the horse, grabbed it by the bridle, and after firing a revolver shot, ordered Young Connell to dismount from the vehicle. His watch and chain were taken, and after they had removed the cans of milk from the wagon, they drove off with the horse and vehicle. Roy and Sarasin were later captured at Galette. Beaufort was arrested at Woodlawn.

CONDUCTOR TOO LATE REALIZED FREIGHT AHEAD

Order From Despatcher Believed to Have Been Overrun on Algoma Railway.

DIED TAKING CHANCE.

SUDBURY, Ont., July 23. — With the arrival of train crews and passengers in Sudbury from the scene of the head-on collision at Birch Island, on the Algoma Eastern Railway, in which Conductor Dick and section foreman Noble lost their lives, all indications point to the passenger train having overrun orders.

Three miles past Birch Island Depot, a flag station, Conductor Dick, who lost his life, is reported to have asked the mail and baggage clerk if he noticed No. 54, the freight, at Birch Island siding. Receiving a negative reply, the conductor is reported to have made a bolt for the front door of the baggage car and was seen scaling the tender, apparently in an effort to notify the egineer. It was while doing this, while droping to the cab of the engine, the collision occurred.

Received Orders.

Te inquiry will bring out, it is reported, that the passenger conductor signed for and received two slow orders and one meet order, in duplicate, one for himself, and one for the engineer, at Espanola station at 11 a.m., thirty-five minutes prior to the accident. It seems certain that the engineer's copy was never delivered. Railroaders in explaining why Conductor Dick did not pull the emergency and retreat to the rear of the train, where the occupants escaped with a shaking up, state that realizing his mistake he probably preferred to take a chance with the engine crew only a car length away.

Engines Locked.

The two trains were nearing a curve when the impact came. The freight had running orders of twenty miles a hour at this point, while the passenger was travelling about twenty-five or thirty.

The respective engineers sighted one another at less than a pole length away and an inspection of the wreck reveals that only one set of emergency brakes were pulled—that of the freight.

Strangely enough the two engines did not entirely leave the rails. They were locked in spectacular fashion, with the front wheels in the air while the tenders were turned on end, in buckling fashion, but with one set of wheels of each still remaining on the track or ties.

The baggage car of the passenger, where the occupants suffered broken bones, bruises and cuts, was turned straddle of the tracks. The two passenger coaches remained on the track, as did the freight cars.

Only about ten rail lengths were torn up, and the track was expected ed to be clear for traffic yesterday afternoon. A big C.P.R. auxiliary is clearing the wreckage, and already one of the engines is back in the shops.

Five in Hospital.

The injured were brought from Espanola to the Sudbury hospital on Monday night, and X-rays were made n all cases to ascertain the full extent of their injurits. There are five in the hospital, all trainmen, and all are expected to recover.

A representative of the Board of Railway Commissioners is now on his way to Sudbury to be present at the inquiry, the date of which has not yet been set.

The bodies of Conductor Dick and section foreman Noble have been removed to their homes in Sudbury. The funeral arrangements are not yet complete.

Later reports have it that the meet order was delivered by the conductor of the passenger train to his engineer, but it will remain for the inquiry to clear this point up.

Engineer Wright, the only living man who knows, save possibly the officials of the railway, who are still at the scene of the wreck and non-communicative, is too seriously injured to discuss the details of the accident.

VARIED SCENES FROM THE OLYMPIC GAMES

At the top is an interesting study in expression caught in the box occupied by European notables at the Olympic games. Prince John of England (1) and Edouard Herriot, premier of France (3) are deeply interested in the contests. The Prince of Wales (2) seems to be annoyed at something, while President Domergue of France (4) and Prince Henry of England (5) see something highly amusing. The picture below is a good action shot of the 400-meter race showing Jackson Scholz, who broke the world's record, leading. Inset is Le Gendre, making a new world's record in the broad jump. These are the first pictures to arrive from the Olympic games.

GEORGIA PEACH CROP A TRAGEDY

Ripened Too Fast and Glutted Market—8,000 Cars Thrown Away.

A BLOW TO GROWERS.

MACON, Ga., July 23—The aroma of fermenting peaches is arising from the streams and fields of middle and southern Georgia, for during the last ten days peach growers have thrown away approximately 4,000,000 bushels, or 8,000 cars.

The whole crop this year has ripened during July, markets are glutted and peaches are not bringing shipping charges. Hence the determination of growers not to ship any more this year than the market will consume.

Nothing but the Elbertas are left to be shipped. This will be a short crop, estimated at between 3,000 and 5,000 cars. If prices are not satisfactory the growers have indicated that these, too, will be thrown into the streams.

Sell at 40 Cents a Crate.

The situation is tragic throughout the peach belt, and growers are in a panic. Peaches were selling here yesterday at 8 cents a basket, or 40 cents a crate, hardly enough to pay for the crates and baskets in which they are packed, with no allowance for picking, packing and hauling.

In New York the price is as low as 60 cents a crate. Shipments to northern markets have to be made in refrigerator cars, with five tons of ice for the initial icing for each 500 crates. A further expense for the growers in shipping, of course, is the freight charge. And nearly 2,000 cars have been sold during the last week at prices below the actual freight charges.

For the grower to break even in the New York market it is asserted that a price of $1.50 a crate, or approximately one and a half cents a peach, is necessary. Any return above that price is profit. In fact, the growers say that they need 2 cents for every peach shipped to obtain a profit.

Total shipments of peaches last year for the entire season, over a longer period, was 8,701 cars. Total shipments this year to date are slightly under 7,500 cars.

Greatest Crop in History.

But there was the greatest peach crop in the history of Georgia produced this year. The season was three weeks late in starting and the ripening was over a short period, practically all varieties being marketed during July. That is the cause of the growers' trouble.

Orchard men still have hopes of recouping some of their losses on the Elberta crop. Many of them are fortified with other crops, so that to those who have diversified farming interests the failure of the peach crop to bring satisfactory prices will not mean financial ruin. But it will be a hard blow to the whole industry.

Many Trees Are Unpicked.

People who passed through the peach belt Monday said that in addition to the 8,000 cars that have been thrown into the rivers, there are hundreds of cars of dead ripe peaches on the trees that will never be picked.

Many of the growers are begging friends from the cities to come and pick what they want, without charge.

Because of the tremendous crop of peaches, the Georgia Peach Growers' Exchange, with the Government co-operating, worked out the greatest distribution system ever attempted for this year. But markets wouldn't consume the crop.

REBELS ARE SHELLED.

Brazilian Regulars Recapture Sections of Sao Paulo.

SANTOS, Brazil, July 23 (Canadian Press). — Reliable information received on Tuesday from Sao Paulo is to the effect that the Government forces have recaptured several outlying sections of the city from the rebels and are bringing up heavy artillery and placing it at strategic points commanding the rebel strongholds.

On Monday night there was a brisk artillery duel between the Federals and the rebels which lasted twelve hours.

The rebels failed to dislodge the Government forces, who are now surrounding the city on three sides, leaving the rebels only the west for retreat.

It is claimed that the effective marksmanship of the Government gunners, who are landing the shells on the barracks of the rebels, is beginning to break the morale of the rebels.

OTTAWA FELT QUAKE.

OTTAWA, July 23. — An earthquake of moderate intensity was registered at the Dominion Observatory early on Tuesday morning. The first preliminary tremor arrived at 12.12.34 a.m., daylight saving time, and the distance to the epicentre was 4700 kilometres, or 2900 miles. The time at the origin was 12.04.26.

CRIME DETAILS BEFORE COURTS

Two Chicago Youths Appear For Sentence To-day and Evidence is Reviewed.

COURT CROWDED.

CHICAGO, July 23. — (Canadian Press).—The kidnapping of 14-year-old Robert Franks by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb was a strictly commercial proposition, the abductors wrote in their first letter to the father of the victim. The letter was read to-day in the opening of the hearing before Chief Justice Caverly to determine the penalty the two college youths shall pay for the death of young Franks, to which for the second time they affirmed to-day their lawyers' plea of guilty.

State Attorney Robert Crowe, in an opening statement, recited the story of the boys' planning of the "little fellow's murder." From what he said was the inception of the plot in the minds of the two brilliant sons of prominent families here last fall.

Every detail of the planning preparation, foreseen by the young kidnappers, was reviewed by the prosecutor. He told of the perfection of the details for their plot on May 21 and of careful deliberation afterward on the question of who should be their victim. The sons of numerous wealthy families were considered before young Franks was agreed upon. The defendants were styled "cold calculating murderers."

Listening to the State recital of the details of the boy's death with apparent equanimity of spirit, the two defendants sat calmly in their chairs behind their counsel. Frequently one would whisper to the other. Coming to a recital of the first show of weakness by Loeb during his first questioning by State Attorney Crowe, the prosecutor raised his voice and paced nervously before the bench. He told of Loeb's excited cry for a glass of water after he was told that his companion had revealed their secret.

"My God," the youth cried. He then offered to tell the whole story. The same strategy applied later to Leopold, Mr. Crowe said, produced a like reaction. "Each accused the other of being the actual murderer, and sought to save his own neck," the prosecutor shouted.

Courtroom Crowded.

The courtroom of Chief Justice Caverly was the centre of interest, but long before the youthful prisoners came into court, the big building, which houses the community's trial courts, was the mecca for hundreds.

Only a fraction of these could gain a place in the courtroom, and only those who had business with the

THREE DEAD IN STATE-ROOMS OF RAMMED VESSEL

Caught Behind Ship's Plates —Gas Torches Needed to Release Them.

CRASHED IN FOG.

Oil Tanker Collided With Liner Boston Off Newport.

NEWPORT, R.I., July 23.—Three passengers, two men and one woman, are known to have been killed when the oil tanker Swift Arrow crashed into the Eastern steamship liner Boston off Point Judith last Monday night. Their bodies were seen in the wreckage of two state rooms when the Boston was towed into Newport harbor and beached there yesterday.

Identification of the bodies was impossible here. They were caught behind ship's plates that had crushed in and it was said that the plates would have to be cut with gas torches before the bodies could be extricated.

Several Injured.

Several passengers are known to have been injured. Of these the most seriously hurt, so far as known, is C. Copeland of Brookline, Mass. He was rushed to this port on board the coastguard cutter Acushnet and taken to a hospital, where it is said that his leg and shoulder were broken and he had sustained internal injuries.

Several of the rescued passengers were landed here by the steamer Commonwealth, which proceeded to Fall River with other survivors.

Lowering Boats.

"The work of lowering the boats was begun then," said James F. Rooter of Malden, Mass., one of the passengers who landed here. "Women and children went first in accordance with the law of the sea, and then the men passengers and afterwards the crew. Captain A. W. Call and a radio operator were the only persons remaining aboard. The ship's officers did everything possible for us. There was some difficulty in lowering the boats, but as the sea was calm there was no danger."

The circumstances of the collision were described briefly by E. A. Corvell of Boston, another of the passengers landed here by the Commonwealth.

"It came at 11.45 p.m.," he said. "I was just about to retire for the night. For half an hour I had heard another steamer whistling in the fog. Then there was a crash and the Boston listed sharply to starboard.

Cut Right Through.

"I saw that the Swift Arrow had cut right through the Boston's engine-room, and also had crushed in several state-rooms. The engine-room soon filled with water, and within an hour all lights on the Boston went out.

"Lifeboats were lowered, and passengers and crew put off in them. I helped disentangle some of the ropes of these boats."

Passengers Landed.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The steamship Priscella of the Fall River Line arrived here yesterday afternoon with 480 passengers of the steamer Boston, who had been picked up in lifeboats after the collision off Point Judith.

A few moments after the Priscilla had docked, another Fall River liner, the Prudence, arrived with 46 of the Boston's passengers.

WHEAT POOL FINAL.

Payment to Members Will Be Determined To-day.

CALGARY, July 23 (Canadian Press.)—Setting the amount of the final payment which will determine the total which members of the wheat pool will receive for their wheat from the 1923 crop and the matter of the establishment of a central selling agency for the Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba wheat pools are two items of great importance which will be considered by the trustees of the Alberta pool at the meeting which opened here this morning.

It is expected that the session will last throughout the week.

In addition to this the trustees will probably prepare a detailed report on the year's activities for the annual meeting of delegates to be held in Calgary on Tuesday, 5th August.

A GLIMPSE OF THE PAST

The manners and ideas of the days as they come and go are perhaps reflected more faithfully in the public print of the times themselves than through any other medium. If we wish to turn back the pages of history history and revizualize the lives of our forefathers, we naturally revert to printed annals of their times. So a certain amount of reflective interest centres sound old magazines and old periodicals. Looking over the yellowed pages of two copies of "Harper's Weekly," published respectively on April 8, 1865, and on September 30 of the same year, a mirror of the thoughts of those days springs forth from the fine, small type.

Harper's Weekly described itself in those days as "A Journal of Civilization," and devoted its attention to divers matters, ranging all the way from feminine fashions to the latest war news. For those were the days of the Civil War. The April issue, under the heading, "The Weight of the Federal Armies," commences a finely-printed review of the week's efforts at the front by the sentence: "The armies of the Union are bearing down heavily upon Richmond—the great military centre upon which the Revolutionists have drawn back for their last convulsive efforts against the United States Government." The article concludes: "As Sherman pushes forward, flanking Johnston out of Raleigh and completing the seige of Richmond, the choice is given to Lee either to fight against terrible odds or capitulate."

War in those days, despite Sherman's famous dictum, must have been shorn of much of its horror—for readers, at least—by reason of the mild and peaceful treatment accorded its portrayal at the hands of the illustrators of the time. The picture of "The Charge of the First Alabama and Fifth Kentucky, under Colonel Spencer, at White Pond," for instance, is an attractive-looking affair, with gallant gentlemen galloping gaily under tall trees. One horse has fallen, but continues to look brightly toward a distant point on the horizon, and its dismounted rider is taking a pot shot apparently right into the midst of his advancing comrades. A group of soldiers in another picture, entitled "Lieutenant Grinnell bearing dispatches to General Sherman," seems to be a pleasant little party of loitering riders engaged in jolly conversation.

On the contrary, "The Ocean Yacht Race between the Fleetwing and the Henrietta," as illustrated, is an inspiring spectacle. Possibly the artist had a decided marine sense, and his ideas of war were confined to a vizualization afar off.

A picture of the Turner festival at Cincinnati, on September 4, 1865, shows a mighty grove of trees, and beneath the spreading giants, a crowd watching acrobatic exercises. A description of the event, "the Turnvereine or Turner-Bund," refers to its Germanic origin and spread to the United States, and to the quantity of "Rhine wine and lager-bier" consumed at the festival. Reporters in those days evidently took a light view of their responsibilities. Here is the way in which the attendant scribe gives his views of the function:

"The sun was scarcely penetrating the leafy foliage of the trees when the spot became a scene of life and activity. Men with badges, to show they were in authority; men in their short sleeves, to denote that they meant business; women with babies in their arms, and others with none; more coming every moment, and all the bustle of camp life in every quarter. Some selected for themselve shady spots beneath the green trees; others mounted the swings; 'Go-Laddies' began to revolve and carry around their human freight; and in all quarters the continually-increasing community seemed determined to give thmselves up to enjoyment. Of all the means devised to try the muscle or break the neck, or expand the chest, or sprain the back, we have little or nothing to say. We know but little about them, and at our advanced age do not feel that it is necessary for us to begin just now for any new development of our manhood; at least, we shall not attempt it.'

The humorous efforts were o a perfectly innocuous type, of say the least. Here is an example, with the caption, "The Hygiene of New York City" below a group of be-whiskered gentlemen who remind one forcibly of Pickwickian characters: Senatorial Investigating Committee (to Mr. T——, the Health Officer)—"Do you know, sir, what Hygiene is?" Health Officer—"Oh, yes; I know Hygiene! It's the effluvia arising from stagnant water, the consequence of which is disease!" (The committee look astonished, and the Health Officer, suspicious of a blunder, adds: "Oh, I don't understand Greek!")

Another very comical question was: Why is a racehorse like a lollypop? with the answer: "The more you lick it the faster it goes."

"Parisian Fashions for September" in 1865 are described as having "a tendency to return to modes of a more simple description. Whether this gratifying symptom be owing to the severe castigation of the eccentricities and extravagances of ladies' toilets inflicted by M. Dupin (who has been vigorously seconded by many of the French journalists), or to the absence of the Court and aristrocracy from Paris, is a question that can only be resolved after the return of the high-life folks to their habitual quarters. Whatever may be the solution, it is to be remarked at this season that the dresses at least have retuned to a style of simplicitye that cannot fail to be approved by the paymaster-general of the dressmaker department. Plain materials, the employment of little or no ornament, a diminution in the ampleur of the robes, indicate, ar any rate, a short interval of sobriety in the taste of the Parisians.

"A great variety of new buttons have just been introduced for dress fastenings. Some of the larger descriptions are flat, but the round ones, in ebony or lighter woods, steel, dead gold, bone or ivory, are preferred, as being more convenient."

The illustrations, showing various examples of the mode, are described in detail. A "Dress for the Seaside," in which the diminished "ampleur" spoken of is not extremely noticeable, the lady appearing to be wearing, beneath her wasp waist, just about all the material she can cram on, is spoken of as a "dark-blue silk robe, fastened behind with a buttoning band, edged with black velvet and white lace. The short vest is ornamented in a similar manner. Fine Tuscan hat, bordered with narrow black velvet, trimmed with white feathers, and provided with a white gauze veil."

A "dress for a carriage promenade" is also described: "The whole of this costume, including the jupon, is in pale orange linos. The skirt is drawn up and attached with pattes fastened by buttons; the corsage is round, high-necked, and provided with a wide waistband. Small paletot, of the same material as the dress, and without any ornament. Tuscan hat, trimmed on one side with a tuft of corq; long, light-blue, gauze veil."

A dress for a little girl, an innocent-looking child, also encumbered with much heavy clothing, and engaged in trying to catch a butterfly: "Pale buff poplin frock, trimmed round the undulating edge of the skirt and round the outline of the vest with striped magenta velvet. The ornament on the skirt itself is in black satin. Chapeau estelle, decorated with magenta ribbons and a garland of marguerites. High-heeled black kid boots."

The advertisements are odd-looking to modern eyes, but there is a familiar air about the wording of some of the examples that delineate the virtues of various highly-lauded nostrums. "Old Eyes Made New," is a pamphlet telling how to speedily restore sight and give up spectacles; "Artificial Raw Hide Limbs" are "unequalled for lightness, strength and durability"; an advertisement for diamond rings guarantees "California stones" all the way from two to ten dollars each, and photograph albums, with turkey morocco bindings, extra gilt, might be had in those shalcyon times anywhere from two to twelve do llars apiece.

"For eign News" is treated without much prominence. The issue for April 8, 1865, describes an "important debate which took place on the 13th of March in the British Parliament on the defence of Canada and the probability of a war with America. Mr. Disraeli, taking part in the debate, was of the opinion that there was no immediate danger of such a conflict."

Other foreign items of interest, segregated at the extreme right of one page, deal with the cholera epidemic in Constantinople, where the victims were estimated at 20,000; the Fenian excitement in Ireland, and the war in South America between Paraguay and Brazil. "Lopez," it says, "has put himself at the head of his army. The Emperor of Brazil is also proceeding to the front. The hottest of the strife is yet to come."

Perhaps the most noticeable element in these old pages is their inversion of modern values. Scarehead lines that would draw modern attention to war news of exciting character are used on advertisements for pills, and there seems to be a good deal of prominence given to problematical and philosophical matters, whereas events that would attract first notice in these days were left to minor positions in the news columns.

Melt butter and add onion cut in thin slices. Cook until onion is a pale straw color. Rub tomatoes through a colander to remove seeds. Add tomato pulp and seasonings to onion and heat thoroughly. Add beans and turn into a buttered baking dish. Cover with crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown.

Six large, sweetened, stewed prune with juice, ½ cup uncooked cereal with 1 dessertspoon sugar and 4 tablespoons cream, 2 eggs scrambled with 2 tablespoons finely-chopped ham, 2 toasted corn meal muffins, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup cream of potato soup, 4 tablespoons scalloped string beans with tomatoes, 1-6 coconut cream pie, a 4 ounces broiled beef steak, 4 tablespoons potatoes au gratin, 1 cup beet greens with 2 tablespoons hot tartar sauce, 1 tomato and ½ cucumber sliced on lettuce with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 4 tablespoons lemon lemon jelly with 1 banana sliced over dish and 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 tablespoons croutons for soup, 2 bran rolls, 1 tablespoon strawberry preserves, 2 slices whole wheat breat, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pint whole milk.

One medium-sized banana adds 100 calories to the dessert. Only three of these calories are protein, the rest are fat and carbohydrate. Many desserts can be "padded" for the gaining diet by the use of bananas. Always scrape the rough coating from the surface before serving as the coating is quite impossible for some people to digest.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

ORANGES AND SMUDGE POTS

"Yes, we're all up and dressed and waiting for you."

"S! S! Are you awake," called Johnny Jump Up cautiously."

"Yes, we're all up and dressed and waiting for you," said Nancy, running to the window where the tiny fairy sat on the rose shoes."

If you had been there you would have wondered where the Twins had disappeared to all at once, but they hadn't disappeared at all. They had just shrunk up.

They climbed to the window sill where Johnny Jump Up was waiting and all three went down the rose vine into the magic garden.

Tommy Titmouse was there watching for them. "You don't need any tickets for your journey tonight," he said. "Because you are going to the same place you were last night. Down south!"

All three got on Tommy Titmouses back and the little bird flew away and away and away till he came to the south again.

This time he took them to a place where there were a lot of trees set out in even rows.

"Do you know what that is?" asked Johnny Jump Up.

"It looks like grandma's apple orchard," said Nancy.

"Now look!" said Johnny again as Tommy Titmouse flew down and lighted on one of the boughs. The moon was as bright as day and it didn't take the Twins long to discover that great golden oranges were hanging all about them.

"Why, it's an orange tree!" cried Nick.

"Yes, this is an orange orchard," said the little fairy man. "If you look again you will see that all the oranges are not yellow. The yellow ones are ripe and ready to pick. But some are still green and won't be ripe for some time. They are different from apples, for apples get ripe all at the same time."

"Are those stoves?" asked Nancy curiously, pointing to queer little iron things on the ground.

"Sort of," said Johnny, "They are called smudge pots and they have a queer use. You know that frost spoils oranges, just as it sweetens nearly always warm, still Jack Frost does come snooping around sometimes with his nuisance fairies, blowing their cold breath on the apples. And, although the south is fruit wherever they get a chance."

"A lot!" said Johnny. "Frost doesn't come where it is smoky. I suppose that is because the frost fairies can't see exactly where to blow their breaths. These little stoves or smudge pots make an awful smoke when they are lighted and so the frost can't come down and hurt the orange trees. They are very useful, smudge pots are but pretty dirty."

Tommy Titmouse flew away then. Pretty soon they came to a field with long rows of queer little plants all standing up stiff and straight like soldiers.

"Those are pineapples," said Johnny Jump Up. "They grow in the ground, not on trees as some people suppose."

"Let's go home," yawned Tommy Titmouse.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

A surplus of from 5 to 10 per cent. in the number of apartments is necessary to keep rents stable. If the surplus is larger, rents go down; if it is smaller, rentes go up.

Would you be satisfied to walk into a shoe store and have a salesman politely hand you a pair of shoes and inform you that there was just one pair of shoes for each customer? Certainly not.

You want to choose your shoes and the store must have some left over after every one has chosen, if it wants to give satisfaction.

The same thing applies to apartments. There must be a surplus so that people can choose, not just enough to supply everybody. If there were just one apiece, people would bid for the most desirable apartments and rents would go up. If there were too many, people would get too choicy and rents would go down.

A CUT IN PRICES.

Less Than Half Price Paid By Drury Government For Markers.

TORONTO, July 23.—(Canadian Press).—At less than half price obtained by Drury Government when dealing with same firm Ontario Department of Highways announced yesterday it had awarded contract for 1925 auto markers to Canadian Color type Co., of Hamilton, contract calls for supplying of 275,000 pairs of markers at cost of 10 cents per pair, Colortype Company was selling markers to Government at 23 cents a pair prior to cancellation of their contract by Ferguson administration in 1923. Terms of new contract also mark reduction of 2 3-4 cents from price paid by Ferguson Government last year, after it had cancelled color type contract and turned over manufacture of markers to a St. Thomas Metal Signs Company, last year's price was 12 3-4 cents. Four tenders were submitted this year, and St. Thomas was one of the tenderers.

NIAGARA MAN KILLED.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 23 (Canadian Press). — John Strom, 37 years old, was killed while at work on the new M.C.R. bridge yesterday.

Misisng a blow with a hammer at a rivet, he lost his balance and fell, striking the ironwork of the bridge twice in the descent, 200 feet to the river bank.

Life was extinct when he was picked up, and it is believed he was dead before he reached the ground.

SMOKE KILLS GERMS.

BERLIN, July 23.—(United Press).—Smoking has some prophylactic effect, says Dr. George Wolff, well-known Frankfurt physician.

Writing in the "Umschau," he declares: "Tobacco smoke hinders the growth and expansion of germs, though it does not destroy them."

During his experiments, Dr. Wolff exposed various germs to tobacco smoke and put them together with "unsmoked" germs into an oven generating a heat of 37 degrees centigrade. The result was, he claims, that the unsmoked germs grew more rapidly than the others.

In a second test, aiming at investigating the destroying potentialities of the smoke, he exposed the germs for a long time to it. The results were meagre. He succeeded in killing off only the germs of the "flu," while other less "tender" bacteria lived on, though considerably impeded in growth.

Dr. Wolff believes that nicotine, formaldehyde and pyrrol, soluble ingredients of smoke, are the destroying and impeding factors.

POSTED A LETTER WITHOUT A STAMP

Conscience Hurt Him So He Returned Two Cents to the Government.

By LARRY BOARDMAN.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Most people, at heart, are honest. Their conscience won't let them be otherwise.

So believes Frank J. Thiel, assistant U. S. treasurer, who has charge of the Federal conscience fund, now totaling more than $600,000.

The fund is made up of money sent the Government by individuals who have at one time or another defrauded the Government. And their conscience will not give them peace.

Fear is in no way a factor, for in almost every case the money is mailed in long after possibility of deception has passed.

Started Fund.

The fund was started in 1811. A contribution of $5 was sent in by a man who gave no name, but explained he owed the money to the Government.

Treasury officials pondered long over the entry, finally deciding to put it down as "conscience."

Since that time anonymous contributions have totaled nearly $600,000, the largest item being a contribution of $30,000 in gold certificates.

Frank J. Thiel, assistant U. S. treasurer, keeps a watchful eye on the fund, partly because of official duty and partly because of personal interest.

"The conscience fund shows a wholesome condition," he says. "It indicates that people aren't so bad after all.

"A man will defraud the Government. That, of course, is wrong. But the point is he knows it's wrong, and the thought won't let him rest. Years later, even after chance of discovery is past, his 'still, small voice' moves him to restitution.

"We receive many remittances from ministers, who forward them in behalf of pentitents. Once we received $14,250 from St. Paul's Church in London.

"Once we published the fact that the fund's smallest remittance was 2 cents. Shortly afterward, we received a long letter from a Chicagoan, saying he was the individual who had sent it.

"It was conscience money, he explained, for a bet he had made when a boy that he could send a letter through the mail without using a stamp.

"He won the bet—and his conscience hurt him ever since."

Another man once sent half of eight $1,000 bills, which he had cut in two, explaining he owed the Government $8,000 and would mail the other half when he saw a notice in the newspapers that the first half had been received. He did.

HAMILTON GETS JOB.

License Plates For 1925 Will Be Made By Color Type Company.

TORONTO, July 23.— (Canadian Press.)— Differences in the quality of the plate to be supplied are said by the Hon. Frank Biggs and by the Canadian Colortype Company of Hamilton to account for the fact that the company has just been awarded a contract to produce 275,000 automobile markers at a cost of 10 cents a pair for 1925, while it charged the U. F. O. government 23 cents a pair. The Color Type Company's tender was the lowest of several bids presented this year and involves approximately $27,000. The price paid for markers last year was 12 3-4 per paid, so that the saving this year will amount to some $7,500.

TOKIO, July 23. — (Canadian Press).—The MacLaren party of the British round-the-world aviators was winging its way northward through Kuriles to-day. Forced down a week ago on Uruppu Island, near the southern end of the Kurile chain by fog, and for a time feared to have perished, the fliers early today left Tokotan Bay on Uruppu for Murakami Bay, on Paramashiru, the most northerly of the larger Kuriles and their last stop in the Japanese Empire.

SARNIA PROMISED GRAIN ELEVATOR

Grain Men Backing Ten Million Bushel Project For 1925.

SARNIA, Ont., July 23.—(Canadian Press).—The virtual assurance of the building of a grain elevator at Point Edward with a capacity of ten million bushels of grain was given here Tuesday by Senator F. F. Pardee, along with the announcement that the Federal Government had made provision for a total of $93,000 to be expended in harbor improvements at the mouth of the St. Clair River in connection with the project.

This includes a sum of $30,000 passed in the estimates some weeks ago. According to Senator Pardee, who is closely in touch with Toronto and London grain men who are backing the project, the elevator will be constructed in time to handle its share of the 1925 crop, and work may start this fall.

It is, according to plans, to be the last word in construction, similar to the mammoth storage houses at the head of the lakes.

Point Edward had a small elevator once, but this was in the days before 1914, and the new one will be built on a site nearby, leased from the C. N. R.

REBELS' BULLETS IN SAO PAULO HIT COFFEE CUP SOON

CHICAGO, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. American Citizen will pay heretofore-unheard-of prices for their morning cup of coffee unless there is a speedy end to the revolution in Sao Paulo.

Leading coffee importers here said today there is less than thirty days' supply of coffee in this country. Importation of the bean to the United States from the district of the revolution has virtually stopped, they asserted.

The first effect of the revolution 5,000 miles away was felt today when wholesale prices were advanced about two cents a pound. Prolongation of the revolution beyond four or five weeks, it was said, will mean that thousands will be unable to get coffee at any price.

LIGHTNING HIT HOUSE.

Farm House in Albermarle Township Completely Destroyed.

HEPWORTH, July 23 (Canadian Press). — The dwelling-house on the farm of Andrew Haller, in Albemarle Township, was struck by lightning and almost completely wrecked during an electrical storm yesterday.

One side of the building was completely torn away, the heating radiators were destroyed, and most of the furniture was wrecked.

One girl sustained severe shocks, but the other members of the family who were in the house at the time escaped injury.

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Husband Sinks While Wife Helplessly Looks On.

WINDSOR, July 23.—(Canadian Press). — Within almost a stone's throw of where his wife stood on the shore watching him, Albert J. Barns, 45 years old, of this city, a mail clerk running on the Canadian National between Windsor and London, was seized with cramp while bathing off Cedar Island, near Kingsville, yesterday afternoon, and sank to his death in six feet of water. The body was recovered within a few minutes and artificial respiration applied, but without effect.

Sir Henry Thornton, who is on his annual tour of inspection of the Canadian National Western lines in an interview at Winnipeg made a significant statement to the following effect:

"I know the branch lines are essential for the future prosperity of the West, and I am determined before long to make the Senate see reason."

If there is still any lingering suspicion that some of the branch lines contemplated by the Board of Directors of the National Railways were being urged for political reasons rather than because they were needed, the statement of the President should dissipate the idea.

Sir Henry cares nothing for politics.

He has more than once declared that if there were signs of political interference in the administration of Canada's railway system he would resign.

His job is to make the National Railways pay.

It is a big task, and Sir Henry has tackled it in a manner that promises splendid results.

It is unfortunate that, along with the other handicaps he has to overcome, he also has to contend with a Senate that shows little signs of being friendly to the National Railways, and more than one indication of being warmly inclined toward the opposition line.

A NECESSARY LAW.

An English judge in dealing with a bankruptcy application in which a motor accident figured made a statement that should be of great interest to Canadians, seeing that conditions here are identical.

"It seems to be," said His Honour, "that it would be a most beneficial thing if the legislature could see their way to pass an Act of Parliament which would compel everybody who drives a motor vehicle, if not other vehicles, to be covered by insurance, so that in the event of a catastrophe happening there should be such resources available as would remedy, so far as financial resources could remedy, any injury or damage resulting from driving such a vehicle.

There is every need of such law in Ontario.

How many motorists who are driving cars around Peterborough carry insurance of this nature?

There are, on the other hand, many men handling cars from whom it would be difficult to collect $50 in the case of an accident.

If they figured in an accident for which they were to blame there would be nothing on which the injured party could collect.

Several States across the line have realized the situation and have passed legislation making it compulsory for all car owners to carry insurance covering accidents.

It is a development of the popularity of automobiling that should be adopted in this Province.

THE TOURIST TRAFFIC.

The tourist season is reaching its height, and the large number of motor cars with New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and other State license markers seen on the local streets is first-hand evidence of the fact that the Peterborough district is receiving a goodly share of the traffic.

The Examiner trusts that those with whom the motoring visitors come into contact are doing everything in their power to give these tourists a favourable impression of Peterborough.

So much can be done by courteous treatment, by showing an anxiety to supply visitors with the information they may be seeking, by seeing that they are given service at a reasonable cost, that it would be decidedly poor business to neglect any of these details.

The merchants of Peterborough know how much the tourist traffic means to them.

Cars standing along the business streets with foreign license numbers mean that the owners are spending their money in Peterborough stores.

They are lavish shoppers the majority of such visitors, and it behooves those who profit from their visits to see that they are encouraged to come back.

It will grow year by year if it is not killed by exorbitant charges and unblushing attempts to gouge visitors.

"All the traffic will bear" is a poor motto for any community to adopt.

HOW TO MAKE HIM DUMB.

It's a wonder children ever accomplish anything when they grow up, considering how they have "Don't do that" and "Don't do this" dinned into them all through babyhood and early youth.

It's bad psychology on the part of parents, this endless stream of "don't." It leaves a lasting impression on the young developing mind—generates a tendency to draw back and hesitate whenever instinct prompts the child to take the initiative.

Take a baby, prowling into everything. This isn't a spirit of mischief, as most people believe. Rather, it's a manifestation of the inquisitive instinct that prompts to investigation, discovery and progress.

The child approaches the unknown. He wants to learn. His brain craves knowledge of the thing that has attracted his eye. Just as he reaches for new knowledge, he is startled by "Tut, tut!" or "Mama spank."

A child naturally cannot be allowed to pry into everything. Nor can he be permitted to tear the house down and wreck its furnishings to gratify his curiosity.

But when he exhibits interest in something that has never attracted him before, his lazy parent should join him and assist in the exploration.

Encourage him to "do" instead of curbing his every move with a "don't."

"Do" makes a doer.

"Don't" plants the seed of timidity and laziness.

When a lad with a tool chest begins sawing up the furniture, it's usually because his father hasn't given him boards and suggested that he try to build something.

Children are extremely susceptible to suggestion. "You bad boy!"—repeatedly spoken to a child—implants in him a belief that he really is bad. Later he decides that he might as well have the game as the name.

A great many children can be made good simply by drumming into them the convincing statement that they are good.

Children have a highly developed instinct for believing what they are told. This confidence can be capitalized.

THE IDEAL OF ATHLETICS.

The American Olympic team has won the track and field sports by a substantial point margin, and as Canadians we hasten to extend congratulations to our American cousins, says the London Free Press. However, the real hero of the 1924 Olympics is Finland. With a mere handful of men the little northern state not only carried off the long distance honors, but it added to its score in other events. Poavo. Nurmi, who won four first places, is without question the greatest long distance runner of modern times. Second to him is Ritola and Strenroos, the 40-year-old marvel, and the easy winner of that hardest of all contests, the marathon.

Canada has not made a showing at the Olympic to cheer about. Why? It is not because Canadians are not athletic-loving or fond of sports, nor is it because Canadians are soft and indolent. Perhaps the chief reason is that Canadians do not enter athletic contests in the systematic and businesslike manner of Americans, nor have we the time or the money to devote to long and expensive training. Americans specialize in sports as they do everything else. They go in to win in athletics with the same zeal they chase the almighty dollar. Without detaching from the glory of the Americans, we might well ask whether it is the best thing for the nation as a whole.

We believe youth for youth and man for man, there are more Canadians who take an active participation in games than Americans. The average American thinks he is a great sport if he attends a baseball game twice a week, yells himself hoarse and abuses in proper baseball style the umpire.

The English ideal of the game for the game's sake rather than to play merely to win is possibly more predominant in our sports in this country than the American goal.

Let us hope that it will for all time remain the Canadian ideal of true athletics! Let us win, by all means, but let us make the game subordinate to the winning!

SASKATCHEWAN VOTES.

Saskatchewan, after making trial of prohibition for nine years, has reversed its decision of 1915 and has voted by a substantial majority in favor of Government control of the sale of liquor. By an even greater majority this Western Province has refused to establish taverns for the sale of beer by the glass.

Saskatchewan was the first Province in the Dominion to throw out the saloon, as it was the first also in Canada to make trial of a system of Government control of liquor sales, borrowing the plan from South Carolina, where public dispensaries had been established twenty years previously and since abandoned. The method of the adoption of the system was unusual, since Premier Scott announced this radical change in social legislation without reference to the voters. Yet there was no question of its general welcome. The Great War was just beginning to be taken seriously in Western Canada and the possibilities of rigid economies in private as well as public expenditures were being impressed upon the national consciousness. Such criticism as there was came from the temperance people, who, while grateful of the advance towards their goal of absolute prohibition, still complained that the measure was not drastic enough.

The dispensaries produced a very large revenue for the Government during the time they were in operation, and while the money thus obtained was exceedingly welcome at a time when the western governments were feeling the pinch of hard times, Government control of liquor sales was never popular with any large majority of the electors during the war years. Eighteen months after it had been in operation the question of continuance of the dispensary system was put squarely before the voters with the result that it was overwhelmingly rejected by a majority of more than 70,000.

By this time the temperance sentiment had spread throughout the Dominion. Manitoba passed a Prohibition Act in 1915 and Alberta went into the dry column in 1916, Saskatchewan becoming "bone dry" in 1917. Legislation of the Union Government provided that a vote of the electors might be taken in any Province for or against the importation of intoxicating liquors into that Province from outside its boundaries and that when the majority was in favor of such restriction enabling legislation would be passed by the Federal Government to give effect to it. Saskatchewan was one of the Provinces to take advantage of this legislation.

It would seem therefore that the electors have undergone a change of heart in Saskatchewan and that from being overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition they have now switched over into the "wet" column.

It is somewhat strange that across the international border in the Western States, with many essentials of life similar to those prevailing in our own West, there has been no swing back of the pendulum. Eastern America might vote tomorrow to rescind the Volstead Act, but the West is solid for its continuance. The Volstead Act is the most courageous piece of legislation and the greatest social experiment ever made by a great nation. The United States has chosen to tackle what the Hon. George Langley of Saskatchewan termed the "monster in our midst" in a different way to that of Saskatchewan and it will take years to discover which is the better for the greater number.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If Premier King is to curb the powers of the Senate his first step will necessarily be to line up the Provinces. And already Ontario's Government has taken the opposite view.

The story of a nude bathing party at Grimsby should be investigated at least far enough to bring out the bare facts of the case.

It is remarkable how unresponsive the price of flour is to a drop in the price of wheat, and how quickly it responds when wheat prices jump. Thus the warning is already out that Canadians will have to pay more for their bread.

Sir Henry Thornton says he is determined to make the Senate see reason. Looks like as if Sir Henry is tackling a bigger job than make the National Railways pay.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 22.—Steady continuous buying on Monday at the Union Stock Yards found 3,903 cattle sold at the close against receipts of fresh cattle of 4,379. There was, therefore less than 500 of Monday's arrivals left. The exporters bough: 540 from $6.75 to $8.00 a cwt. and the average cost was $7.50 a cwt. against $7.70 and $7.63 the previous week. This about represented the decline in all varieties of butchers. Deliveries this morning at the yards were 32 cars, 427 cattle, 275 calves, 513 hogs and 192 sheep and lambs. Trade opened distinctly slow at unchanged prices.

The exporters bought a heavy steer at $7.75 a cwt., and a couple of bulls at $3.50 and $4.00. They will require nothing further this week unless it be for a carry over. The major part of the cattle moving this morning was the light butchers. The hot weather beef demand is for light cuts and cattle over 1,000 lbs. each are wanted only in small numbers. Few butchers went over $6.50 a cwt., and the big bulk for local butchering sold from $5.25 to $5.75 a cwt. These were generally useful killers with a fair amount of finish.

Light unfinished steers and heifers sold from $4.50 to $5.00 and a good many of these were taken for stockers. Cows and bulls were only steady, but a choice bull 1,330 lbs. brought $5.00 a cwt. The general run of butchers are down 10 to 15 cents a cwt. from last week. A few choice cows brought $5.00 a cwt., with most of the good ones at an average of $4.50. The few baby beeves on offer sold well from $8.00 to $9.00 a cwt. Trade was very slow around 11 a.m., and some of the commission men went to their offices.

There are not too many calves coming in, and this market stands firm. Bunches of good calves sold at 10 cents and odd fancy ones at 10½ cents. Biggish calves did not sell over 8 cents, and grassers were only 3½ cents.

Some lambs sold lower on Monday afternoon, but these were off the road, and compared with others by rail there was mightly little difference in price. Choice lambs sold at 16 cents this morning, an advance of 25 cents a cwt. Heavy yearling sheep are 8 cents.

Hogs are strong. They sold on Monday at $8.15 to $8.25 a cwt. f.o.b. but this morning $8.25 was the straight bid from packers.

ST. PASCAL, July 23 (Canadian Press). — At the meeting of the board there were 300 packages of creamery butter and 140 boxes of cheese offered. The butter sold at 31 3-4 cents per pound. The cheese brough 14 11-16 cents per pound.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK.

WINNIPEG, July 23 (Canadian Press). — Arrivals yesterday, 817 cattle, 47 calves, 363 hogs.

Bidding on the cattle market was anything but active, medium and common grades were in poor demand.

The hog market was steady, thick smooths $7.25, and select bacons $7.97 1-8.

There were no sheep or lambs.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, July 23 (Canadian Press). — The wheat market displayed a heavier tendency yesterday, and after opening about 1-2c lower, made further declines. July closed 21-8c lower, October 2c lower, December 17-8c lower, and May 27-8c lower.

At the low point prices had declined almost three cents. The trade volume was not large, but the market was under more or less selling pressure throughout the session, which found a very ordinary buying power except on the extreme break which caused a little reaction from the dips.

Slightly lower cables and more rain in Manitoba and Alberta were given credit for the day's tendency, although conditions in the Saskatchewan dry belt were unchanged.

Southern Saskatchewan seems assured of a fair crop, but in the centre and north, conditions are very serious.

Alberta should yield an average crop.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 23 (Canadian Press). — Wheat underwent a sharp setback in price yesterday, influenced by rains over the spring crop territory and by bearish estimates of the domestic winter crop yield.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 17-8c to 21-2c lower, September $1.23 1-4 to $1.23½-2 and December $1.26 1-4 to $1.26 1-2.

Corn finished 21-4c to 3c down; oats 7-8c to 11-2c off; and provisions varying from 22c decline to 5c advance.

Selling of wheat was general, but houses with eastern connections were responsible for the chief share. Some of the selling, moreover, appeared to be of an unwilling character, necessary to stop losses. The fact that further beneficial moisture was reported from Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota as well as from Manitoba and Alberta, did a good deal to start prices downward, and it appeared later that much of the eastern selling was based on unofficial figures suggesting that the winter crop in eight central western states would total 37,000,000 bushels, more than was indicated by the Government report last month.

BARON VON SEIDLITZ WOUNDED IN A DUEL

Pistol is Said to Have Failed German in a Combat With a Russian Baron.

BERLIN, July 23.—(Associated Press).—Baron von Seidlitz si in a Berlin hospital with a bullet in his knee and the German capital's old set is busy discussing a duel which von Seidlitz is alleged to have fought in reactionary Mecklenburg with Baron von Elsen, who is a Russian from Latvia.

The duel is said to have grown out of a quarrel which developed in a Berlin cafe. The combatants did not risk fighting in Prussia because of the strict anti-duelling law, but went with their seconds to a wooded estate in Mecklenburg. The pistol of von Seidlitz is alleged to have failed to g ooff when the signal to fire was given, and there is much speculation as to whether there was foul play in the duel.

Von Seidlitz, who is about 50 years old, comes from a military family. He was in the United States for several years and returned to Germany to serve in the World War, in which he fought with distinction. He is a social favorite in Berlin diplomatic circles, in which the former Crown Prince, Frederick William, moves.

U. S. TEETH HOLD MORE GOLD THAN BANKS OF EUROPE

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Since it became unfashionable for workmen to carry full dinner pails, it is the gold tooth that signifies prosperity to Secretary of Labor Davis.

"American workers have more gold in their teeth than laborers in most European countries have in the bank."

Secretary Davis said this to friends here today on commenting on what he thought were baseless complaints that the loss of European markets was hurting American labor.

NO LOVE SCENES.

LONDON, July 23. — The plays which have opened the summer theatrical season in London are without love-making scenes of any description, critics have pointed out. Play-brokers say that modern dramatists fight shy of big love scenes because they feel that love is becoming "a more casual thing" in real life.

THE COACH'S JOB

Something of the taskmaster, the general and the diplomat, and a lot of the doctor must be hidden away in the man who would be the coach of a successful football or track team.

Emergencies of all kinds are his daily routine. A thorough knowledge of first aid is as essential as a knowledge of the game played by his men.

Bumps, bruises, strained ligaments and muscles are every day happenings, but the coach never becomes contemptuous of them. He knows that if neglected, they may result in anything.

Trainers everywhere keep Absorbine Jr. in their lockers. They use it not only for sprains, cuts and bruises, but for the skin and blood protection of its disinfecting properties. In one convenient container it combines the functions of a number of preparations.

It is the first of all the First Aid requisites in use in all of the leading athletic clubs.

And there are just as many everyday uses for Absorbine Jr. in the homes of Canada as there are in the training camps. Always "jump to it" in case of emergency. $1.25 at your druggist.

APSLEY, July 23.—The appearance of the village has been greatly improved by the fencing in of the war monument and trophies and the plant ing of flowers. The fence is an ornamental wire one, painted white and was bought with funds raised by the A.Y.P.A. The work was mainly done by the Rev. C. Spence who painted the guns, cut the posts and flower beds, and erected the fence. Harvie Trickey, Russel Hales, Jim Lean and Roy Spence assisted in the latter work and the ladies of the village are now planting flowers and looking after them.

Loon Lake bids fair to outrival others in this vicinity as a popular summer resort, judging from the number of tourists coming in, which far exceeds that of any previious season. All accommodation is taken up and there are numerous parties of campers on the shore. As a result of the boom, several owners of property are contemplating building cottages. Salmon fishing is good, the largest fish captured so far weighing eleven pounds which fell to the reel of A. Long, who was the guest of Philip Tanner.

At the recent examinations of the Canadian Academy of Music, Miss Marjorie Spence, daugter of Rev. C. A. G. Spence passed her Junior Theory Examination with first class honours, and also secured a pass in the Progressive violin examination. Her success is particularly creditable as she is entirely self taught both in theory and the violin.

The roads to Jack's Lake and Loon Lake have been considerably improved and motorists need anticipate no trouble in reaching both these great fishing grounds.

To-day, Monday July 21st is the hottest day of the year. The thermometer registering 88 degrees in the shade.

Haying is now in full swing and promises to be a good crop, the weather being favorable for it to be housed in the mow in good condition Corn is not coming along so well as it should and turnips begin to show the need of rain. The potato crop is looking fine, with few bugs showing so far, and oats generally are heading out and standing up well.

Wild strawberries are about over, raspberries and huckleberries, if a shower of rain comes, will be abund ant, a few of the former having been gathered. They are about two weeks later this year than usual.

THE OLD HOME TOWN - By Stanley

A HOAX THAT HURT.

"Hold Up" of Summer Camp Party Met With Resistance.

LAKEFIELD, July 23.—The village enjoyed a sensation for the week-end that rivalled an episode in a movie serial. A group of young fellows spending a quiet week-end at a summer cottage were startled by the noise of a shot, followed quickly by the entrance of a masked figure armed with a business-like looking revolver. The command of "hands up" met with a response which surprised the modern Dick Turpin for a lad, playing a banjo, jumped up, saying, "I'll hold up my hands to no man," at the same time throwing the banjo at the head of the intruder. The result was a badly cut lip for the amateur highwayman but the lad, who is champion boxer in his school, leaped upon the masked man and pommelled him till he pleaded for mercy. When the mask was removed the highwayman proved to be a village boy who was playing a practical joke on the campers. He had a couple of companions who evidently believed in safety first as they were stationed at a little distance and evidently did not intend to take the stage till the second act of the melodrama.

The consequences of the joke reacted on the jokers as besides the injuries to robber number 1 which required medical attention, they have to answer to the charge of carrying firearms and where they obtained the same. It is not likely that a second hold up will be staged in the village as the first cannot be considered a succes even as a joke.

BANK DEBITS LESS.

Represent Cheques Charged to Individual Accounts at Clearing Houses.

OTTAWA, July 23.— (Canadian Press.)— The bank debits of the amount of cheques charged to individual accounts at the clearing house centres of Canada as reported to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics were $2,056,775,141 in June as compared with $2,290,109,812 in the preceding month. This represents a decline of more than $233,000,000 or 10.1 per cent. Nearly half of the decline was accounted for by seasonal tendencies and some part of the remainder was due to the fact of there having been five Sundays in June this year. The decline in June was equivalent to 5.4 per cent. when adjustment was made for the seasonal variation. Another contributing cause of the decline was the droppig off in Governmental business as shown by a fall of about $83,000,000 in the bank debits of Ottawa.

The bank clearings declined from $1,431,500,000 in May to $1,259,900,000 in June or about 12 per cent. When corrected for seasonal variations by dividing by factors determined by the experience of the last ten years the adjusted clearings declined 7.3 per cent. only.

PRISONER HAS PAL.

Martin Fleming Has a Dog That Will Keep Him Company.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23. — (United Press).—Martin Fleming, serving a life sentence in the Eastern Penitentiary here for murder, has a pal who will also stay behind, the grey stone walls for the rest of his life.

The pal, with a family escutcheon proud and unstained, went to the penitentiary very young and doesn't wear the uniform of a convict, but is a "lifer."

Fly came to the penitentiary a little puppy, to-day he is a full-grown police dog.

The prison "grapevine" code sent out a message that Fleming longed for a dog as a pal. Then, one day, Fly was sent him.

CHINESE CARRIED INTO THE STATES FOR HALF DOLLAR

Thousands of Aliens Are Stealing Across the Border Illegally.

MEXICANS BUSY.

BY LARRY BOARDMAN

WASHINGTON, July 23.—"Bootlegging" of aliens is increasing since the new and stricter immigration law went into effete.

Last year 1,200,000 foreigners were permitted to enter the United States. Five hundred thousand more were smuggled in. That means 1,700,000 gained acess to this country.

Under the new regulations only 161,000 will be admitted this year.

450 Guard 5000 Miles

"You can make you own guess at how many of these will attempt to come in anyway," says W. W. Sibray, assistant commissioner general of immigration.

"There probably will be less obvious smuggling, but a lot more of hidden smuggling.

"It used to be carried on right in the open at hundreds of points before we had the border patrol force. Such flagrant violations, of course, will be checked considerably now.

"But 450 men, guarding 5000 miles of border, cannot begin to cope with it all."

Immigrations are sneaking into the United States all along the Mexican and Canadian borders and the Florida coast, Sibray declares.

Carry Chinese Across

"On the upper Rio Grande, where the river is shallow," he explains, "scores of Mexicans have been in the business of wading across with Chinamen and others on their backs.

"The Mexicans usually charge 50 cents a person for this service. When about 10 feet from the American shore, they dump their human cargo into the water and scurry back for another load.

"With miles of unguarded border along the Canadian side, all the aliens had to do was to step across, in the past. They were flocking in by automobiles and farmers' wagons. We even have found several coming in under loads of hay.

"Most of the smuggling is carried on along the Florida coast. They come first to Cuba, then board tramp steamers which run them ashore in hidden bays and coves.

"At the large seaports our greatest trouble is with deserting seamen. Thousands of contraband aliens ship on various vessels, then desert upon arrival. The average is about 40 a boat."

Many Loopholes.

"The biggest is that all students can come into the coutry without bond," he says.

"Now, a student is anyone who is going to attend school—and, after a country's quota is filled, just about everybody from that country becomes a student.

"All we can do with travelers is to use our own discretion. An alien applies for admittance, says he is a traveler and that he is returning to his own country in a few months. If he looks like a bona fide traveler, we let him in.

"Tourists" Stay.

"And once in, he usually stays in.

"One English woman, denied admission, went up to Canada and came back on a sight-seeing tour to Niagara Falls. She didn't even carry a handbag. We couldn't very well refuse he a look at the Falls, but once in she made for the interior."

Sibray sees two solutions to the problem—increasing the border patrol and enlarging the interior force.

WATER PROFITEERS ARE PUNISHED

HETTSTEDT, Germany, July 23.—"To profiteer in water is worse than profiteering in butter or other things," a court held here recently when a water works company tried to serve the town at the rate of 1 2/7 cubic feet for one cent, against a pre-war price of five cubic feet for a cent. The two owners of the water company were fined 2,500 each and sentenced to six months in prison.

WOMAN COMPOSER WAITS 28 YEARS

Girl at Sixteen Wrote Story For Which She Now is Getting the Sheckles.

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

At the age of 16 she wrote a song which used to be played on every piano and cabinet organ in the country. It came to life before the phonograph and radio did. You've probably played it yourself and heard all the other youngsters on the block play it. The name is "Star of the Sea."

That old favorite has had the largest sale of any song ever written. Over nine million copies of it have passed into circulation and it has a steady output of about 200,000 new copies every year.

But not until the piece was 28 years old did Mrs. Moore add more than a dollar and a half—her original selling price—to her own private exchequer. Even the copies she got for her own pupils—she was a teacher all this time—she bought with just the teacher's discount allowed.

During this time it passed through the hands of three publishers and made a fair-sized fortune for all of them, and had an enormous sale in England.

Then, after 28 years of making money for others, the copyright expired and the golden goose came back to Mrs. Moore—came just in the nick of time, too, for it was only three years later that her husband died, and but for the royalties she might have been in what we call straitened circumstances.

Then a New York publisher paid a good price to get it, partly because he had certain sentimental interest in the piece, it having been his father's favorite song as they sat about the family parlor on Sunday afternoons, and partly because he always has an eye out for business.

Since the copyright came back to Mrs. Moore's possession, her royalties have provided her and her sister with a comfortable Boston suburban home, a substantial bank account and a 100-acre farm in Maine.

Mrs. Moore still teaches music, though, because she loves to, but she doesn't have to worry any more about the rainy day.

ABLE, BUT MODEST.

MONTREAL, July 23. — In the ranks of the Conservative party in the Province of Quebec were men of ability representative of all walks of life and fitted to go into the highways and byways and preach the party gospel, but unfortunately many were too modest to do so, Arthur Sauve, Quebec Opposition Leader declared in an address before the Cartier Club here yesterday.

Referring to a recent speech by Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary, in which the latter had expressed the need for religious instruction in education, and urged the necessity for classical colleges, Mr. Sauve said it was not the Conservatives who had threatened classical colleges, "nor is it by us that the Canadian Cardinal has been threatened," he added.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarrelled, and who had gone abroad. Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise, she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behaviour, and tells her to leave the house immediately; she refuses, and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. At last matters reach a crisis, and Paul orders Wanda out of the house. She goes to London with Mrs. Garnet, her one friend, with whom she is to live. The day after she arrives, Clare's brother Harry, the "black sheep" of the family, comes home unexpectedly, and falls in love with Wanda. Paul comes to see Wanda, and she realizes, all too late, that it is Paul she really loves. He objects to her friendship with Harry Courtney, whom he distrusts. Wanda discovers that Paul is paying for her to live with Mrs. Garnet, and immediately leaves, having written to Harry to say that she will marry him. She asks him to meet her at Victoria Station the next day. But he fails her, and while she is waiting Paul finds her. He tells her Courtney is a thief. Then he asks her to come back to Grey Chumleys with him.

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT.

XXXIV.—THE PROPOSAL.

"There's only one way you can come back with me, Wanda."

"What do you mean?"

"By marrying me."

"You're laughing at me. You're going to marry Clare."

Paul laughed.

"Am I?" I promise you I am not."

"Don't you love her then?"

"Not nearly as much as I love you."

"And you don't love me at all," she said.

Paul considered.

"I don't know whether I do or not," he said at last honestly. "You make me angry; you irritate me beyond endurance, and yet when I am not with you, I want to be. I worry about you. You're not a bit the sort of woman I should have chosen for my wife——"

"You haven't chosen me," she flashed.

"I know I haven't. But the fact remains that I want to marry you. Well, what do you say? Will you have me?"

"We shall hate each other in a week; we shall quarrel — most frightfully."

"We do that already."

"It's worse when you're married to people."

He laughed.

"How do you know? What experience have you had?"

"None, but I have eyes in my head."

"I'll take that risk," he laughed excitedly. "I'm strong enough to break you, Wanda."

"Are you?" She turned her head away.

For a moment neither of them spoke, then Paul said again:

"Well, what is it to be?"

"Yes."

He drew a long breath.

"Very well. I'll get a licence first thing in the morning."

Wanda raised her eyes to his face.

"We're both out of our minds," she said. "You'll be sorry for this to-morrow."

"If I am I'll tell you," he promised.

Wanda leaned back; she felt faint and confused.

"What will Clare say when she knows?" she asked.

"She knows already," Paul answered. "I told her before I left the flat this morning."

"Told her—told her—what?"

"That I thought the only solution of the difficulty would be to marry you."

"If that's the only reason——" she began.

"It isn't," Paul interrupted. I'm marrying you for the same reason that some men keep wild animals—to see if they can master them."

Master her! Had he not done so already, when the only thing she wanted was to feel his arms around her, and his lips on hers?

To-morrow—Wanda's Decision.

MAY BAIL "PIRATE."

Alleged Rum Buccaneer Needs Two Bondsmen at Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 23.—If Captain Samuel C. Forde, New York, charged with piracy can find two bondsmen to guarantee bail of $12,000, it is highly probable he will be given his liberty pending trial of the case before the Court of King's Bench next Falll Mr. Justice Guerin in reply to an application for bail given by the defence, gave them until to-day to find reputable bondsmen and adjourned the case until then.

LUNG PUNCTURED.

Workman Fell to Deck of Steamer at Montreal.

MONTREAL, July 23. — Felix Cimeta, aged 27, suffered a lacerated lung, two broken ribs and a badly torn chest when he fell from a Century Coal Co. barge to the deck of the river steamer Rapids King, which was calling at Victoria Pier yesterday afternoon. The victim was rushed to Notre Dame Hospital, where last night he was reported to be in a critical condition.

According to information obtained by Captain Cowley, of the Harbor Police, Cimata was with others erecting the coal chute with which to carry the coal from the barge to the steamer when the accident happened. In some way he lost his balance and slipped, falling to the deck of the Rapids King. Although his body dropped a comparatively short distance, it struck against machinery on the deck which resulted in the workman suffering the in-

OAKLAND, Cal., July 23.—When John Vellela was brought to police headquarters here recently, the arresting policeman announced that the prisoner had been "drunk on a water wagon." The desk sergeant looked up dizzily and was informed that Vellela had been driving the public conveyance known as a water wagon and had been in a state of intoxication. The desk sergeant, after studying over the paradoxial phrase wrote down: "drunk in a public place."

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Arthur Brown, one of the operators at the Hydro Power house at Healey Falls, had his face, hands and arms badly burned on Tuesday about twelve o'clock noon. He was doing some switching and in some way pulled the wrong switch, thus causing the burns. He was rushed to the hospital at Belleville and his burns attended to.

His home is in Belleville but he has been in his present position for over a year. His mother and sister and two cousins have taken a cottage at the Falls and were spending the week with him.

The afternoon garden party held on Tuesday afternoon on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. McKelvie under the auspices of the W.M.S. of St. Andrews' church, was quite a success

Cars met at the Library to take the ladies out. Over fifty were present, including two or three men.

The afternoon was spent in social intercourse and all enjoyed going around the beautiful lawn and gardens. About half past five the company sat on chairs taken out on the lawn and tea was served under the trees.

After lunch was over Mrs. Robert Bell President of the Woman's Missionary Society on behalf of all the ladies present, tendered Mrs. McKelvie a hearty vote of thanks for the hospitality shown them and for the use of her beautiful home and lawn.

Mrs. McKelvie responded and said "she was glad to have them all."

Then the cars with their occupants returned to town about seven o'clock the ladies all feeling they had had a splendid outing.

SPANISH COUNSEL ON DOPE CHARGE

Trial in Montreal For Alleged Importing of Narcotics.

DETECTIVE'S STORY.

MONTREAL, July 23—(Canadian Press).—The cross-examination of Sergt.-Detective C. C. Brown, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in the case of Miguel Maluquer, Spanish Consul, and Raymon Torrentz, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Canadian Customs and to import narcotics into Canada, was concluded here yesterday afternoon.

Sergeant Brown said that narcotics were always spoken of by code names in his dealings with Spanish merchants to whom he was introduced by letters from either Maluquer or Torrentz. Thus cocaine was known as "brandy." While in Barcelona or Tarragona he registered himself and wife under the name of "Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Robino." He stated that forty-six cases containing in part alcohol and olive oil had been consigned from Spain to Montreal, addressed in his name, and he had given Maluquer and Torrentz to understand that he was to take possession of the goods here and would later smuggle them to New York and then distribute them for western consumption.

"That was the story I told them," said Brown. He said that before his introduction to Maluquer, he had been given to understand that the Spanish Consul was in the smuggling game.

The trial is continuing to-day.

MANITOBA PROSPECTS.

Wheat Yield of 75,000,000 Bushels Is Expected This Year.

WINNIPEG, July 23.—(Canadian Press).—Manitoba has prospects of 75,000,000-bushel wheat crop this year, as compared with 50,000,000 last year. The prospects are good all over the province, according to F. A. Chapman, of Ninga, a director of the Manitoba wheat pool, who has been touring the province. There is enough moisture to carry the crop for two weeks, and now that the long drouth over the west has been pretty well broken, there are prospects of continued showers.

TORONTO DREDGING.

OTTAWA, July 23. — (Canadian Press).—Tenders for the dredging of the eastern entrance to Toronto harbor are in possession of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, and although the tenders have been opened, no report or awards will be made in the absence of Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, it was intimated here yesterday. The contract will probably be awarded within the next two weeks.

ORLAND RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY

Mary Grosjene, One of the Oldest Residents of Orland, Has Passed Out.

ORLAND, July 23.—(Special).—Miss Mary Grosjene one of the oldest residents of this place passed away at 11 a.m. yesterday at the home of her brother, Nicholas.

The deceased's father emigrated from France to this country in the early fifties with his family of four boys and three girls, the fifth and eldest son remaining in France and was later killed in the Franco-Prussian war.

Mr. Grosjene settled near where Miss Crosjene died and carved a home from the virgin wilds on the banks of the Cole Creek living where he first settled till the time of his death in the middle seventies, leaving the homestead to his youngest son George who was single and resided at home with his mother.

The whole family were industrious but old settlers were never tired of telling of the laborious feats of the two Grosjene girls. Mary the deceased and Catharine afterwards Mrs. John Nelson. It is related that Mr. Grosjene hired John Poole to cradle grain for him and when Poole started operations in the morning Catharine took a hand rake and began to bind what he cradled into sheaves and continued to keep up to him, although he was a big burly fellow and trying to keep up his reputation that no person was able to follow him for a day and bind what he cut. But at night on going home he told a neighbor that he was —near dead as he had cut seven acres trying to do up that slip of a girl, but it was of no use as she was ready for the last sheaf when delivered from the cradle.

The deceased worked at most all manual labor on the farm until a few years back. She was taken in the early spring with gangrene starting in the foot but with her wonderful constitution she fought off that dire disease until her whole system was affected. She attained the ripe old age of eighty three.

The funeral will be held to-morrow at the Roman Catholic church at Wooler and will proceed to the Roman Catholic cemetery, which is adjoining the old Grosjene homestead.

STORM AT MONTREAL.

Half an Inch of Rain Fell in 45 Minutes.

MONTREAL, July 23—(Canadian Press).—Montreal was treated to a brisk thunderstorm, with accompanying heavy rain, Tuesday afternoon, during which half an inch of rain fell in 45 minutes. The rainfall of 1.15 inches, bringing the total for the month to date to 3.23 inches, is, however, short .37 inch of the normal for July, which is 3.65. The storm broke at 2 o'clock and reached its greatest intensity between 2.15 and 3 o'clock, stopping at 7 o'clock. The rainfall was the greatest precipitation since the storm of April 18 and 19 last.

FIRES PLENTIFUL AROUND BRIGHTON

Five Fires Have Taken Place During the Last Week—Carelessness is the Cause.

BRIGHTON, July 23. (Special.)—Fire again visited this town at noon yesterday, being the fourth blaze in a week.

Mr. Morley Snelgrove, who lives in the eastern part of the town, was on his way to his meadow, and when passing his barn, he discovered two tramps inside.

He ordered them to leave the place at once and then proceeded to his work and was very much surprised to see his barn in flames a short time afterwards.

It is supposed that in lighting their pipes they carelessly set the barn on fire, which had not advanced far enough to attract Mr. Snelgrove's attention wehn he ordered them off his premises.

A Second Fire.

Another barn was burned this morning just west of this town with another getting on fire from the former but extinguished with difficulty.

It is alleged that detectives arrested a young man residing close by, and took him to Cobourg last night where he confessed that he went to get gasoline for a car, and not being familiar with the surroundings, lighted a match which ignited the gas and burned the barn.

The authorities are investigating the cause of other fires that have taken palce, and doubtless will find that the public opinion is justified that too many men and youths are idle and getting a livelihood by mysterious means.

CUT BY A MOWER.

Maurice Hamilton Badly Gashed By Mower Knives When Horses Bolted.

OWEN SOUND, July 23. — Canadian Press. — Maurice Hamilton, who resides near Chatsworth, was the second victim of a mowing machine accident in this section.

The young man was driving a mower. As he stepped out to brush a fly from the back of one of the horses, he frightened them and they ran away. He was thrown in front of the knives and was terribly cut about the hips and legs. He was caught on the guard, and carried with the machine and it was this which saved him from a worse fate. It required over twenty stitches to close the wounds.

LAFOLETTE'S CAMPAIGN.

CHICAGO, July 23. — (Canadian Press). — Senators Lafolette and Wheeler will open the third ticket campaign in the eastern seaboard and New England States touring west and south over divergent routes to every state in the union, Representative John M. Nelson, National manager of the Lafolette candidacy, stated Tuesday.

MR. G. A. PRINGLE DIED LAST NIGHT

Was Stricken Suddenly a Few Days Ago and Failed to Rally.

The death occurred yesterday of Gilbert Arthur Pringle at the age of 61, a well known merchant of Peterborough.

The late Mr. Pringle, who to his friends appeared to be in his usual good health was suddenly stricken with a stroke of paralysis on the evening of Friday, July 4. On Saturday, it was learned that the paralysis involved his entire right side and practically no hope was entertained for his recovery, although it was thought that the end might be delayed for weeks or even months.

The deceased was born in Stanley, New Brunwsick and spent his early life in Fredericton of the same province, coming to Peterboro seventeen years ago, where he opened a fruit business at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, the store he occupied until the time of his death.

He built up an extensive trade and was known as a man of sterling qualities, an attribute which inspired the confidence of the public. As a highly respected citizen and a prominent merchant his loss will be keenly felt throughout the entire community.

In religion, Mr. Pringle was a Baptist and a faithful and esteemed member of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Besides his sorrowingly wife, one son, Morris of Peterborough and two daughters, Helen at home and Mrs. William Sansom of New Brunswick, survive.

The funeral will take place from the family residence 254 London street on Thursday afternoon, to the Little Lake Cemetery. Services will be conducted at 2.30 by Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D.

CANADIAN BUILT FORDS.

504,408 Manufactured in Ontario Since August, 1913.

An item of interest to Canadians is the announcement by Duffus Motor Sales that they have just received a Canadian built Ford Model T Car, bearing the number 504-408. This means that since the inception of Canadian built Fords at Ford, Ontario, in August, 1913, no less than 504,408 of these popular automobiles have been manufactured and marketed in this country.

Then indicative of Ford value comes the computation by reliable authorities that approximately one-third of those 504,408 Fords made in Ontario are still in use.

RAILWAY UNIONS MEET.

Wage Dispute With Their Management Will Be Discussed.

CHICAGO, July 23. — Officials of the railway unions are meeting here to-day to confer regarding the assumption of jurisdiction by the Railway Labor Board over their wage dispute with the railway managements. It is expected that the union leaders will decide to fight the matter in the courts. The Board assumed jurisdiction on the ground that interruption of commerce was threatened by the wage dispute. The union men deny this.

TUBEBORN BABY GETS CUP FROM LONDON'S HEDLEY

LONDON, July 23.—So seldom is a baby born on one of London's subway trains that the christening of Thelma Ursula Beatrice Eleanor (whose initials spells "T. U. B. E.," the English equivalent for subway) was an affair which attracted the attention of Lord Ashfield, head of the subway system, and many railway officials.

Upon learning of the baby's birth on one of the underground trains, Lord Ashfield requested that he be permitted to act as godfather. At the christening he presented her with a solid silver cup.

The first will in the English language was the will of a chandler, who bequeathed candles to various churches.

THREE MEET DEATH.

Fire Which Destroyed Tent in Two Minutes, Killed Three Children.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 23. — A fire which reduced the tent home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sheldon, of South Bend, Ind., to ashes in two minutes, wiped out the lives of three children, on the shore of Lake Cora yesterday.

The dead are Genevieve Sheldon, six years old, Donald Sheldon, three years old, and Lourne Sheldon, one year old.

Early yesterday morning the parents arose and started to prepare breakfast. An oil stove just outside the tent was lighted, and left burning, while the parents went to a well a few hundred feet away for water. It is believed that the wind blew a corner of the tent canvas close enough to the stove to be ignited.

CHARGES BIG THEFT.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., July 23.—When Elias Shreve left home recently to take a look at the young orchard he set out last fall he found it had completely disappeared. Now he charges that Lindsay Ice stole the whole orchard and transplanted it. It is the first case of this sort that ever has been brought into a local court.

LOCAL MISSIONARY RETURNS SATURDAY

Miss L. Rorke, of Japan, Expected Here After Five Years' Absence.

This morning, Rev. S. G. Rorke received a telegram from his daughter, Miss Luella Rorke, stating that she would arrive in Peterborough on Saturday, July 24, having left Yokahama, Japan on July 12 last.

Miss Rorke is a missionary and for the last five years has labored in the foreign fields of Japan, as a representative of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada.

She is one of a party of four who are returning on furlough. It will be recalled that Miss Rorke experienced the unprecedented earthquake that destroyed Yokahama about one year ago.

Should Miss Rorke arrived on Saturday, as expected, the journey from Japan to Peterborough will have been accomplished in 12 days, an unusual speed for that distance.

NO RAISE IN BREAD.

Increase on Price of Flour Will Not Effect the Loaf Price.

TORONTO, July 23.—(Canadian Press.)—The increase of $1.80 per barrel of bread flour will not have any immediate effect on the price of loaves, according to W. G. Bredin, assistant general manager of the Canada Bread Company. A barrel of flour produces the average of 180 loaves so that the increase means a cent per loaf, but Mr. Breden stated the increase would not tend to raise the price of bread yet. Pastry bakers hold different views regarding the $1.10 increase in the price of pastry flour, some saying that they will not be affected, while others declare it will have "a very decided effect."

THE MINIMUM WAGE.

Schedule For Women Employed in Rubber and Tobacco Industries.

TORONTO, July 23 (Canadian Press). — The minimum wage schedules for female employees in rubber and tobacco industries were explained and presented in detail by J. W. MacMillan, chairman of the Ontario Minimum Wage Board, which met last night in Spadina House.

In cities of 30,000 population or over, $11.50 is the minimum for experienced adults, inexperienced adults get a 50 cent reduction on the wage schedules for Toronto, $9.50 and $10.50 a week for the first six and next six months respectively.

Cities and towns between 5,000 and 30,000 population have a wage rate 50 cents lower than cities over 30,000, $11.00 being paid to experienced adults and $9.00 and $10.00 to inexperienced adults.

Young girls will receive $7.00 a week for the first six months, $8.50 for the next six months, and $10.00 during the third half year.

AMERICAN FLIERS DELAYED TILL AUG. 1

Washington Does Not Expect Them to Leave England Before That Date.

WASHINGTON, July 23. — Naval vessels designated to safeguard the passage of the army world fliers from Europe to the Labrador Coast will be in position by the 1st of August, ready to render assistance in any emergency.

The departure of the fliers from England before that date is not expected here, despite reports to the contrary.

Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the flight, has been informed that ultimate success in girdling the globe is to be the first and foremost consideration, and that speed is a secondary object.

While not attempting to formulate an exact itinerary, Army Air Service executives predict that the fliers will arrive is Boston about 20th of August.

That estimate is based on a supposition of average weather conditions and wear and tear of equipment, and, on the same basis, completion of the flight at Clover Field, in California, in the last week of August also is predicted.

EIGHT DETROIT MEN CORRALLED BY THE POLICE

Floating Craft Laden With Beer Was Taken Near American Shore Yesterday.

GREAT HAUL.

WINDSOR, Ont., July 23 (Canadian Press). — Eight men were arrested and the entire flotilla of beer-laden craft, including a 30-ton steel tugboat, was seized yesterday by the Michigan State troopers near the foot of Grosse Point Park, on the American side.

The capture, effected through a surprise attack by shore and lake, followed a two weeks' vigil.

Although many of Detroit's finest residential estates are located in the neighbourhood, this region of the water front has been used as a smuggling inlet for large quantities of Canadian beer, the authorities say.

In addition to the tugboat, the troopers seized a 35-fot steel barge, a 30-foot launch, and three rowboats.

On the tugboat were discovered 100 half-barrels of beer, and 50 half-barrels were found on the barge, and 30 in the launch.

The launch's cargo also included 15 cases of beer.

The men in custody are all Detroiters.

COMMITTEE VISITS NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

Were Gratified With Wholesome Condition and Accommodation Offered By Institution.

A visiting committee, composed of His Worship Mayor J. J. Turner, Messrs. E. A. Peck and Robert Fair, as representatives of the Nicholls Hospital Board, spent a good part of yesterday afternoon, chatting with patients and generally viewing conditions in Nicholls Hospital.

Those, who are confined to bed combating sickness, find it exceedingly trying during the warm spell of the past few days. In this regard, the patience and fortitude of the suffering can well be appreciated, when it is customary to hear those blessed with good health complaining of the discomforts of the hot weather.

At the present time there are 53 patients in the hospital. The institution has a capacity for 85, and Mrs. M. E. Leeson, superintendent, stated that 53 was an average number for this time of year.

Unfortunately of the 53, a substantial proportion are experiencing the trials of serious illness, submitting to the sufferings of a critical period after an operation, recovering from the effects of an accident, or stricken with pneumonia and other ailments, inclusive of a cancer patient.

One of the serious cases is that of Mr. Roland Campbell, who fractured both arms and his left leg, one week ago, in a thirty-five-foot fall, from the top of a windmill to a concrete floor. Mr. Campbell is progressing favorably, and his condition is remarkable, considering the injuries sustained.

The committee viewed with deep compassion the plight of several little children who are confined to their beds suffering from illness, while their more fortunate playmates are able to romp and play during this season when Nature's bounteous blessings are at their greatest. The searching eye of the listless sick child inspires the fondest care, and voluntarily courts sympathy and pity.

The story of the child in the happy convalescent stage affords a brighter scene. Among the patients there were two or three of these, who displayed a tendency to converse and were able to play with toys, or sit in a sun parlor.

The nurses also, who work on 12-hour shifts, added to their many duties, are taxed in their efforts to comfort their patients from the weakening and distressing affects of the hot weather. In this regard, they have accomplished a great deal for the coolness of the building is evident upon entering.

Despite the arduous tasks of the nurses, a cheerful spirit permeates throughout the staff. In the sick room or in the corridors they manage to carry a smile, realizing that cheerfulness is a helpful panacea for all ailments. Nursing as a career is not an easy life, but a noble one, particularly when it is remembered that the profession originated through the inspiration of the noble example of Florence Nightingale.

The staff is not complete due to vacation, but in all, it is composed of thirty-four, four of whom are graduates.

The committee were taken through the brightly lighted operating rooms, where they examined the queer fixtures and surgery instruments in puzzled amazement.

They also viewed the rather inadequate instruction room, where lectures are delivered to the nurses-in-training. Placed in a bed in one corner of this hall, lies a dummy patient, used for illustrative purposes. "No hope is entertained for this patient," remarked Mr. Fair, "as he has been an inmate of this institution for a long time, and I have noticed no signs of improvement."

The three members of the committee were satisfied with the results of the visit, and commended Mrs. Leeson on the splendid public service offered by the institution, making special mention of the capable supervision and the fine morale prevailing throughout the staff.

"Everything is sweet and clean," remarked Mayor Turner, in commenting on the wholesome condition of the building.

KINGSTON COLLEGE CASE REPORT OUT

New Rules and Laws Have Been Put Into Force by Sub Committee.

OTTAWA, July 23. — (Canadian Press).—Interior administration of the Royal Military College at Kingston was subjected to much criticism last winter in light of charges made by Major Arnold, D.S.O., of Regina, that his son had been flogged by senior cadets and subjected to indignity. An investigation was made by officers of the institution, and later a sub-committee of the Advisory Council was asked to investigate. Its report has just been made public, and the general tenor of it justifies the charges that were made, but says that discipline has been changed, punishment meted out and that under the new order, the like will not occur again. The committee which investigated was composed of Sir Arthur Currie, E. W. Beatty, Bishop Roper, Senator Bostock, Gen. McBrien and Roderick McCall. The report tells of the examining records of inquiry conducted and finds that irregularities were in contravention of standing orders and belonged to the life of cadets when not in class or on parade. They arose from the practice of leaving discipline largely to senior cadets. The report deals with "recruiting" and "fagging," and says it was carried on in mistaken idea that smartness would be improved.

IMMIGRANTS TO CANADA

Approximately 5,000 Returned to This Country From U.S. in June.

OTTAWA, July 23. —(Canadian Press).—Continued increase both in total immigration into Canada and in return of Canadians to their own country from United States is shown in incomplete returns to the department of immigration and colonization for the month of June. When all reports have been received influx of people into the Dominion for that month will be about 13,500 as compared with 11,601 in same month last year.

With few agencies still to report, number of Canadians returning to this country from United States in June this year is shown at approximately 5,000.

SHOWING THEM UP.

BERLIN, July 23. — United News. —Passengers on board a Berlin tram car where roused when they heard a conductor say: "Stupid you can't figure in your head!"

There had been an argument. The passenger had complained that there was not the proper relativity between the few pennies he had in his hand, as change from a paper note, and the tram fare.

Then the passengers snickered, for the "stupid" passenger was Prof. Einstein, the world renowned relativity and mathematics expert, and the funniest part of the whole thing was Einsteen had not figured the change correctly and the conductor's mathematics triumphed.

FARM NEWS

FARMERS FEEL THE PINCH OF UPWARD TREND

Rising Price of Wheat Does Not Help Majority of Farmers.

LOW BUYING POWER.

Many Farmers Need New Machinery But Cannot Afford to Buy It.

(By Gerald Staples.

CAVAN, July 23. — Several articles have been noticed recently, commenting on the increased buying power of farmers, due to the increase in the price of wheat, etc., and the favourable effect which this is sure to have on trade.

This increase is an added burden with the majority of farmers instead of an asset, as it did not take place until the bulk of the grain had passed out of the hands of the farmers.

Now when the grain has passed into the elevators, the price goes up and with the upward trend of prices for grain, up goes the price of flour, bran, shorts, etc. This is an added expense instead of a help to very many farmers, so that his buying power is really reduced. Inquiry in rural sections brings to light the fact that only a small per cent of the farmers have any old grain; many are buying grain for chop, hen feed, oats for horses, etc.

The long wet spring delayed work so much, also the tardiness of pasture growth caused the stock to be kept in the stables and fed, much later in the season than is usual.

This depleted the stock of fodder and grain on hand, so much so that many cars of grain were brought in and sold to the farmers.

Those who still have grain in their granaries are amnog the fortunate few who possess enough capital to carry on, without the price of the season's crop to pay overhead expenses, interest, rent, taxes, etc. Should good prices prevail when the new crop comes in, then it will be a real benefit.

The usual order of things in the fall is low prices. The big taxes, which have to be paid in the fall, makes it necessary for many, to at once, market a good big portion of their grain crop, and usually have to take a small price for it.

If a uniform fair price were paid to those who have to sell, as well as to those who can hold their grain, waiting for the advance in price, it would mean greater circulation of money through the country. If farmers could buy and pay for machinery and other articles much needed on the farm, it would keep the manufacturers busy and provide employment for more men. A survey of farms would show much machinery which could very profitably be replaced by new, were it not for the high price of machinery and scarcity of money on the farms.

BEWARE OLD FRAUD UNDER A NEW NAME

Government Warns Against "Resurrection Plant" Fakers.

Various concerns have advertised this plant under different names, and usually at prices far in excess of its market value. It is often sold under the name "Rose of Jericho" or "Rose of Sharon," said to have been obtained from the Holy Land, and to have been mentioned by "Solomon, Isaiah and other prophets."

The circular of one dealer calls it "Dempter Viva or Rose of Jericho," offers it for the modest price of 25c, and describes it as a deordizer" and "a preventive of disease."

Another concern calls it the "Persian Plant," or "Cinnamon Rose." The plant is said to bloom every 30 days, bearing the most fragrant flowers in existence." Resurrection plant is of course not a seed plant, bearns no flowers and is odorless.

The true "Rose of Jericho" is a small white flowered annual of the mustard family. It is a native of the desert regions from Arabia and Syria to Algeria and is supposed to be the "rolling thing before the whirlwind" mentioned in Isaiah.

After flowering the leaves fall off, and the branches become hard and woody and rool up into a ball, bearing the seed pods inside. In this state the plants, uprooted by the wind are blown about the desert.

When the winter rains fall the branches spread back, the pods open, and the seeds quickly germinate. ried plants retain for years the property of opening when moistened, although they do not "come to life" in the proper sense of the term.

Resurrection plant bears no flowers, has no fragrance or insecticidal value and is in no way connected with the Holy Land. It is a native of the deserts from Texas southward into Mexico

HENS AND EGG LAYING HINTS

A Melange About the Handling of Barnyard Poultry.

SPOTTING LAYERS.

Can you tell what hens are laying without the use of trap nests? This is easy to determine if one will go to the trouble of handling each bird suspected of being a loafer. When a hen commences to lay, conditions in the organs concerned in reproduction are quite different from conditions observed during the period of idleness. When the ovary is dormant and no eggs are being produced the distance between the pelvic bones is small. The vent is dry, small, puckered, and in yellow fleshed chickens has a band of yellow pigment around the inside. When laying commences the pelvic bones become pliable and spread apart to permit the passage of the egg. The vent becomes large and moist and the ring of yellow pigment disappears. A visit to the poultry house on an early winter evening and a half hour spent in going over the hens will be profitable.

Conditions Necessary for Production.

The experience of the Ontario Agricultural College Poultry department has been that a hen will not lay if not in good condition. She should be healthy, free from any disease, and show plenty of vigor and activity. The first pullets to lay in the fall have been the early maturing ones. The pullets that have developed slowly in body and feather have been just as slow in starting to lay. The results of liberal feeding and general good care have always been reflected in the pullet flock, and a full egg basket during the period of early winter high prices.

High Egg Production.

The requirements for high egg production are clean, dry, comfortable houses, that are free from direct draughts over the birds, and that are well lighted. The feeding consists of a variety of grains, green feed, animal feed, grit and shell, which is clean, sweet and wholesome and is given to te birds regularly, and in such quantities that they have all that they want to eat before going to roost at night; that the supply of drinking water is clean and abundant; that the attendant is regular in his or her work, and is interested in the same; that the birds are bred from good laying ancestors, and that they are hatched at the proper season and well reared and free from disease.

Distribution of Eggs.

A study of the distribution of the egg production is interesting and important from the point of the annual returns from the birds. Egg prices rise and fall with the seasons, and usually the greatest profit is made where producing eggs at a season or seasons of the year when prices are high. Pullets are the chief source of egg supply. As stated previously, they require usually from six to seven months in which to mature. It is therefor possible to regulate their production in the fall months at least to some extent by regulating the time they will hatch in the spring.

FOR SANDWICHES

Keep sandwiches fresh by wrapping in a dry napkin, then in one wrung out of cold water.

SHARPENING SHEARS

You can sharpen shears on the neck of a glass bottle by closing them briskly upon it as if trying to cut it off.

PICOT EDGES

Instead of trying to make a rolled hem on doilies and centerpieces that are to be finished with lace ,it is a good plan to have the edges picoted as they will be much neater and flatter when laundered.

SAVE SOAP

If you will save all bits of scouring soap and put them in a cup and add enough boiling water to stand an inch above the pieces, you will get a soft paste that is more easy to work with than the original cake.

CONCEAL SCRATCHES

Scratches on patent leather shoes will be less noticeable if they are painted over with a mixture of olive oil and ink applied with a fine brush.

EARLY FARMER HAD A TRYING TIME TO LIVE

It Was Hard to Get Grain Ground Into Flour in the Early Days.

VARIOUS METHODS.

Bran Was Separated From Flour by a Horsehair Seive.

COBOURG, July 23.—Some of the straits to which the early settlers of Ontario were put to get their grain converted into ffour or ground into some kind of a substance for making bread, is discribed by Dr. Wm. Canniff, in his historical notes on the early settlement of Canada as follows:

"The settlers had to get the grain supplied by the Commissariat Department, or the little which they grew themselves the first years that they were settled here, ground as best they could. Various modes were adopted to do it. But in all cases the work was done by hand. Sometimes the grain was crushed with an axe upon a flat stone. Many prepared a wooden mortar by cutting a block of suitable length, about four feet, out of the trunk of a large tree, oak or maple. Sometimes it was the stump of a tree. In this a cavity was formed, generally by heating a piece of iron and placing it upon the end. In some places a cannon ball from the garrison was used. By placing this red hot upon the wood a hollow of sufficient depth could be made.

A Plumping Mill.

"These mortars, sometimes called 'homing blocks,' and sometimes 'plumping blocks,' varied in size, sometimes holding only a few quarts, sometimes a bushel or even more. The pestle or pounder was made of the hardest wood, six or eight feet long and eight inches in diameter at the bottom end; the top sufficiently small to be spanned by the hand. The festle was sometimes called the 'stamper,' and the stamp or block, with the festle, was called the 'stump mortar.' Generally, it was by the unaided hand that the grinding was done, but after a time a sweep-pole was arranged similar to a well-pole, and a hard, weighty substance being attached to the pole, much less strength was required to crush the gain, and a large quantity could be done at once. The work was generally done by two men. Sometimes the grain thus pounded was Indian corn or wild rice. To crush wheat required much labor and a small mortar.

Horse-Hair Sieve Used.

"The bran was separated from the ofiur by a horse-hair sieve, one of which generally served a whole community, as they were possessed only by a few. This crude method continued for many years, especially in remote townships. An individual would possess a large mortar, which would be used by a entire neighborhood. Mr. Diamond, of Belleville, a native of Fredericksburg, remembers when a boy, having accompanied his father "to mill." The mill was one of these large mortars which would contain a bushel of grain when being ground. The grain was crushed by a sweep with a weight attached of ten or twelve pounds."

Done By the Women.

Grinding grain in this manner was very frequently done by the women; and was but one of the difficulties attending the production of meals. The Government supplied the U.E.L. settlers with provisions for three years, and also spring wheat, peas, corn and potatoes for seed: It was a hard task to prepare for use, however, the corn supplied by the Government.

First Log Barn.

It was during the period known as the "scarce years" that the first log barn was built in Adolphustown. The "bee" which was called in order to proceed with the raising, had to be entertained in some way, but there was a scarcity of provisions. The daughter of the household remembered, she being a little girl at the time, seeing her mother each day putting away the eggs which a few hens had contributed towards their subsistence. On the morning of the "raising" they were brought out, and it was found that a pailful had been saved. These proved quite a luxury to many men, as not all of the settlers had poultry.

Food and Drink.

Most of the settlers kept on hand a supply of rum, and this family was no exception. A quantity of the eggs were well beaten and mixed with milk that had been 'nut by' from the last two or three milkings, and a small quantity of rum, and this provided both food and drink for the men engaged with the 'raising.'

Tea, now considered quite indispensable in most homes, was a great luxury at that time, and various substitutes were used, among them being hemlock and sassafras. There was also a plant that was gathered, which was called the "tea plant."

Plenty of Wild Fowl.

Sheriff Sherwood, in valuable memories, says: "I recollect seeing pigeons fly in such numbers that they almost darkened the sky, and so low as often to be knocked down with poles. I saw a near neighbor kill thirty at one shot. Ducks were so thick that when rising from a marsh, they made a noise like the roar of heavy thunder."

Plenty of Game Too.

Roger Bates, who settled near Cobourg, says the woods were filled with deer, bears, wolves, martin, squirrels and rabbit. Firearms at first were not feared by them, hence they were plentiful and very tame. Even wild geese were often easily shot. It is told that Jacob Parliament, of Sophiasburg, killed and wounded at a single shot, four wild geese and two ducks. The meat of the fowl afforded nutritious diet and the feathers were carefully saved for pillows and "feather beds," the latter being placed upon a tick filled with straw, the whole being supported by a wooden bedstead with rope cords.

Natural Fruits.

Another writer says: "While many difficulties were encountered we really had many advantages. We were always supplied with venison, partridge and pigeon, and fish in abundance, no taxes to pay, and fuel right at our doors. Although deprived of many kinds of fruit, we had the natural production of the country, strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, blackberries, and lots of red plums and cranberries in the various marshes all about the country, and I can assure you that pumpkin and cranberries make an excellent substitute for apple pie.

Inventing New Dishes.

The farmers' wives in those days looked as carefully to the ways of their households as they do to-day, says Dr. Canniff. "The nature of their success would depend in part upon the articles of food most abundant, and upon the habits peculiar to their ancestry. The great desire was to make a common article as tasty as possible, and at harvest time, as well as at the inevitable 'bees,' the careful housewife endeavored to have something extra to regale her men-folk and their assistants. There was, for instance, the 'pumpkin loaf,' a common dish. It consisted of pumpkin and corn meal made into a small loaf, which was sliced and eaten with butter. Another dish, which seems to have been derived from the Dutch, was 'pot pie.' This was always made to feed the hands at 'bees' and 'raisings,' and even was generally made to grace the board on the occasion of a wedding. Many of these dishes were truly excellent in taste and nutritious in quality."

"Bad Birds" Not So Bad

Government Men Correct Some Wrong Impressions

W. L. McATEE, U.S. EXPERT ON FOOD HABITS OF BIRDS, STUDYING THE CONTENTS O F A BIRD'S STOMACH. .. ..

WASHINGTON, July 23. —Birds that have acquired a bad reputation arent' so bad as they are pictured.

Investigators of the U.S. Biological Survey have found that out.

Not only that, they say, but birds with inherently bad reputations have turned out to be actual benefactors.

These discoveries have been made through examinations made here of th contents of birds stomachs. Birds accused of feeding on newly planted grain, or on fruit have been shown to be great eaters of bugs and weed seeds.

Take the crow for instance long painted as a corn thief an egg sucker and enemy of lesser and better feathered folk.

The birds isn't exactly innocent, says the government scientists, but evidence shows that if the crow does go on a tear, the good he does by destroying insects and weed seeds usually counterbalances the damage.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has protested against campaigns on the crow. A flock of them may do damage and should be warned by gun or poison, but he's a wise bird and soon learns to return to more creditable pursuits.

When th estarling came to this country and spread prolifically, great efar was expressed over the invasion But a study of the starling's habits and its stomach shows this bird is damaging only when it goes in flocks at certain seasons.

The English sparrow is known as a noisy, ditty, rubbish-spreading bird, but experts of the Department of Agriculture give him credit for a lot of good.

The chicken hawk has a bad reputation on account of a few of its variety —the swift blue darters that do all the damage. Most of the slow flying soaring ones are said to be helpful rather than harmful.

Most birds that hang around the orchard and woodlot wage continual warfare against tree and garden enemies. But among them is a bad one —the sapsucker. This bird does just what its name implies —sucks the asp and eats a part of the tree just under the bark.

LOCAL CROP REPORTS

CAVAN TOWNSHIP.

CAVAN, July 23.—Fall wheat is filled and starting to ripen. Oats and barley are headed out, early peas are ripening, with later varieties well in bloom. Lice are appearing on some of the late peas.

The recent showers have been very beneficial to filling grain and root crops.

Early potatoes are coming along well. Old potatoes are quite scarce. Many requests for them are heard but very few orders being filled. New potatoes will soon be on the market in abundance. So far only gardeners have them for sale.

OTONABEE TOWNSHIP.

KEENE, July 23.—The crop outlook in this section is very promising. The farmers have been busy the past two weeks making hay, which on the whole is very good. Fall wheat is ripening fast and is well filled and gives promise of a good crop and a first-class quality. Potatoes are plentiful. Prices range from $1,75 to $2:00 a bag. Small garden vegetables in the village are not up to the standard from the want of rain. It was noticed on driving through the country that on farms surrounding the lakes that gardens were very good, as well as field crops. Market prices this week are: Butter, creamery, 38c. per lb.; dairy, 33c. per lb.; eggs, 22c-24c. per doz; hens, 18-20c. per lb..

MANVERS TOWNSHIP.

BETHANY, July 23.—Haying in this district is well under way and will be finished this week. Fall wheat and rye are coloring and will be ready for cutting in a week. Peas are fairly good and unless the bug nuisance is prevalent a good crop is expected. The root crop and potatoes are showing up fairly good. Corn is still very short. Butter is not so plentiful, retailing at 27 cents per pound and eggs at the same figure per dozen.

FROM ROSENEATH.

ROSENEATH, July 23. — The farmers are very busy at their hay and hoeing. Mr. Percy Parker has completed haying on his home place and is ready ot start operations on Mr. Wm. Haughtailing's farm, which he has on shares. The hay crop is much better than the farmers looked for and the root crops are immense. The local showers have done a wonderful lot of good and grain is going to be a good average crop.

MATE PENS EARLY

Keep Hens Separate From Males for Several Months.

While breeding pens need not be mated until about three weeks before hatching is to begin, yet I mate my breeding pens in January. The hens in my breeding pens have been kept separate from the males since last fall, so I could mate them only ten days before beginning hatching, if necessary, but it is just as convenient for me to mate them early. Where more than ten hens are put in one pen, two male birds will be used on alternate days. There is an advantage in using two male birds in a pen, as quite often a hen refuses to mate with one male, while this very rarely happens in a pen where two males are used.

PRICE SPREAD LESS HARD ON FARM WORKERS

United State Committee on Statistics Makes a Summary.

BETTER TIMES.

Outlook For the Farmer This Year Said to be More Hopeful.

WASHINGTON, July 23. — With the price spread between agricultural products and manufactured articles becoming less pronounced ,the outlook for the farmer this year is more hopeful, the Committee on Statistics and Standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports in its current review of general business conditions. Co-operative marketing and better opportunities of financing have contributed to bring about this situation, according to the committee.

"Moreover,' 'the report says, "the farmers can be expected to plant less acreage this spring than last of those products whose price is unsatisfactory just as they did in wheat this fall and thus, so far as possible, adjust supply to demand." The committee reports that the acreage of winter wheat is about 15 per cent. less than at this time last year, and "is generally in most excellent condition."

"An encouraging feature of the agricultural situation," the report points out, "is the general liquidation of past obligations by farmers wherever returns from the crops permit such liquidation. Another matter of moment is the growth of the co-operative movement in all phases of farm production and distribution."

Discussing general business conditions, the committee reports that "building and construction continue to be one of the important features of the situation and display an activity unusual for th season. This activity is almost entirely in the cities and is one of the many evidences of tht amazing growth of the great centres of the momentous and significant rate at whch the country is losing population to the cities.

'The output of automobiles still continues at an enormous rate, though the general belief is that building and automobile manufacturing will assume somewhat less active phases as the new year progresses. This expected slowing down in output is already common to most forms of manufacture, and is due generally to a potential capacity of output which overtops any immediate likelihood of demand, especially at this season of the year.

"Another contributing cause is the general conservatism in buying which pervades all classes, and which refuses to make commitments either for the present or future other that as necessity dictates. The general thought is that caution is the best attribute of sentiment and action in view of a general attitude of exceptional uncertainty regarding the future. This attitude accounts for most of the falling off in production, and for declines in prices which marked the course of metals, both in manufacturing and mining, during the fall months.

"Upon the whole, the situation seems healthy and sound, with conservatism strongly in evidence in all sections, and the general conviction that a continuation of the policy of 'staying in the middle of the road' and proceeding along constructive ways is the surest road to progress in tre near future."—Commercial and Financial World.

FOOD FOR CALVES

It is a Good Practice to Teach Young Calves to Eat Grain.

It is considered a good practice, in teaching calves to eat grain, to gegin by feeding them a little ground corn or sifted ground oats. This kind of feed may be given for a few days, and then they may be given either whole oats or whole corn, or a mixture of equal parts by weight of both. This whole grain may be fed to the calves until they are six or eight months of age and then they should be fed ground feed. When a calf reaches eight months of age it does not chew its grain so well; consequently a high percentage of th grain will be lost if fed whele. The theory of feeding calves whole grain when a month to eight months of age is that they chew the grain better, which stimulates the flow of saliva.

IRONING PONGEE

Pongee should be pulled carefully into shape after washing and hung in the shade until thoroughly dry, then ironed on the wrong side with a warm, but not hot, iron.

CARE OF DRAIN

Keep the drain board of your sink well oiled or varnished and it will not become dark colored.

KEEP HENS TO KEEP THE WIFE

MONTREAL, July 23. Special to the Examiner. — One of the passengers on board the Canadian Pacific liner Marburn on her last trip to Canada, was an ex-ploughman from Aberdeenshire, who has been home to Scotland for a holiday. In 12 years he has secured a farm of 640 acres, has over 100 head of cattle, a splendid two storey house; also two motor cars, but he had to go back to Scotland "tae see aboot a wife," as he explained. "It's fixed up; she's coming oot in September. I've just wired tae Saskatoon for a bride's cake, a gramaphone and a hen house."

"What is the henhouse for?" he was asked.

"Oh, that's tae keep hens, the hen'll keep the wife. I'm free Aberdeen."

IMPROVE SOIL BY TEST PLOT

Following Up the Soil Survey Work at Guelph Farm.

THE EXPERIMENTS.

The three demonstration plots that have been started as follow-up work in connection with the soil survey are now giving interesting results. The outstanding feature so far is the proved beneficial effect of lime and phosphoric acid. On the light sandy soil of the Norfolk County plot the increasing amount of decaying organic matter is beginning to make itself felt in the improved texture of the soil and increased crop yields. On all three of these experimental plots certain mixtures of fertilizers are giving paying results, while other mixtures are not.

Lime Phosphate Experiments

The lime phosphate experiments planned to discover the effect of lime, lime and acid phosphate and mixed fertilizer on wheat and the succeeding crop of clover, have given interesting results. Each experiment consisted of four half-acre plots, and these were laid down on three different farms in eight different counties, twenty-four experiments in all. As these experiments were started in the fall of 1922, only the wheat crop has been harvested. The clover, however, shows marked difference in development in the various plots and interesting results may be expected next season. The outstanding results so far obtained is that acid phosphate increased the yield of wheat in every experiment. The average for the check plot was 22.2 bushels per acre, and the acid phosphate plot 34.34 bushels per acre, an increase of a little over 50 per cent. Assuming that the addition of the acid phosphate at the rate applied on these experiments would have given the same results on the 717,307 acres of fall wheat harvested in Ontario in 1923, the value of the crop would have been increased by nearly eight million dollars at a profit over the entire cost of the acid phosphate of over four million dollars.

Experiments With Potatoes.

The Triangle experiments with potatoes have demonstrated in every county where held that legumes may be used to gather all or nearly all the nitrogen required by the potato crop, and that phosphoric acid and potash in proper proportion may be used to increase both the quantity and quality of the crop with profit.

This work is being extended to eight additional counties, and is being carried on by the Chemistry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College in co-operation with the Agricultural Representatives.

SEED SELECTION VERY BENEFICIAL

The Large Plump Seeds Are By Far the Best To Buy.

During the year 1923 the Field Husbandry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College supplied to nearly 2,000 farmers pure seed and other material, with instructions and full information for conducting tests on their own farms.

Selection of Seed Important.

Different selections of seed of various classes of grain have been carefully tested at the Ontario Agricultural College for from six to nine years. The average results show that even one year's selection of seed grain has a marked influence on the resulting crop. In every instance, the large plump seed gave a greater yield of grain per acre than medium sized, small plump, shrunken or broken seed. In the average of the six classes of grain, the large plump surpassed the small plump in yield of grain per acre by 19 per cent, and in the average of the three classes of grain the plump seed gave a yield over the shrunken seed of 20 per cent. It should be understood that equal numbers of seed were used in this experiment. The results throughout show that a large plump seed will produce a larger, more vigorous and more productive plant than is produced from a small plump or from a shrunken seed.—Department of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

RED CURRANTS IN MILLBROOK FRUIT STORES

Strawberries Will Soon be a Thing of the Past in This District.

CARE OF SHEEP.

Interesting Items of Farm News From Millbrook Correspondent.

MILLBROOK, JULY 23. — Red currants and green gooseberries have made their appearance in the local stores, selling at 25 cents a box. Strawberries are practically off the market, and raspberies are expected in stock this week. Musk melons, not of local growth, have found a ready sale. Cucumbers and tomatoes have apparently been hard to secure recently but as the variety of vegetables from local gardens, such as green peas, butter beans, young carrot, new potatoes, etc., is increasing daily and householders thus have their tables supplied, the demand for things of this nature brought in from outside is diminishing.

To lengthen the season for peas and beans, pick regularly and the crop will be increased. This rule applies to most flowers as well.

Muskmelons and watermelons must have careful cultivation if they are to bear well. Do not disturb the roots near the surface but loosen the soil gently about them. Home-grown melons are of the best flavor as the commercial variety are picked green and ripen while waiting for the customer. Garden melons must be supplied with plenty of moisture if they are to give a good yield.

Sheep Effected

The rainy, cloudy weather pervailing earlier in th cseason is blamed for the fact that on some old pactures sheep and lambs are being troubled with stomach worms. Copper sulphate is recommended as a cure, two ounces being thoroughly dissolved in one gallon of water. Dosage: for a lamb 3 months old, two thirds of a fluid ounce; 6 months old, twice this amount; one year old, two fluid ounces; two years old, and over three fluid ounces.

It is necessary to mix the solution in anything but a metal container glass wood, or earthenware, are suitable and keep thoroughly mixed while in use. Measure the dose accurately using a graduated glass, and kee pthe sheep or lambs without either feed or water for 18 hours before treatment, and for six hours after giving the bluestone solution.

Fall Wheat Good.

Fall wheat in this section is making a fine growth, the grain being well headed out and promising a good qield. It is expected that cutting will be in full swing the first week in August. Rye also is ripening and a number of fields of barley, while somewhat short in the straw, are healthy in color, weather conditions recently proving favorable to the maturing of this and other grains.

Keep Hoeing

"Keep the hoe busy!" is apparently the popular slogan at present. Local gardeners are also finding that plenty of cultivation both with vegetables and flowers, will take the place of watering to a considerable extent.

Leaf Scorching.

A recent agricultural bulletins explains that the leaf scorching properties of Paris Green may be largely eliminated by mixing with a double quantity of freshly slaked lime, making the mixture into a paste with water and allowing to stand some little time before diluting and using as a spray.

"Durum" Wheat.

"Durum" wheat was first brought into America in 1898, being introduced from Siberia. It grows well in a dry, alkaline soil, and nearly 50,000,000 bushels are grown annually, and finding favor, because American wheats cannot as a rule stand any drought or alkilinity.

MIX YOUR WHEAT

Fresh Wheat Should Be Mixed With the Dryer Grain.

If new wheat, which is frequently damp, is thoroughly mixed with dry old wheat from the previous year and put into bulk storage for a few days, experiments show the dry wheat absorbs from the damp wheat to improve both kinds for milling purposes.

Keeping the animals inactive with good feed is not a kindness. Hard work all the time, with good care is much more so.

KEEP STOCK WATERED

Farm animals should be kept well supplied with water at all times, to insure normal action of the body processes. It helps digestion and absorption of food and keeps stock in good condition.

HAGEN NOW AFTER CANADIAN TITLE

Has Already Won American, British and French Golf Crowns.

Walter Hagen is going after the Canadian championship next month at the Mount Bruno Country Club, Montreal. This is the only open championship of consequence the American home bred hasn't won.

The American, the British and the French open titles have fallen to him. Now he plans an onslaught on the Canadian, and, if he is anywhere near his usual form, he will be hard to beat.

To be known in history as a player who held all the open title of importance in the world is a rather enviable distinction, and our Mr. Hagen is not at all adverse to accepting enviable distinctions.

Incidentally, Hagen will not be the only American star to compete in the Montreal classic. Joe Kirkwood and Leo Diegel have entered and it is expected Cyril Walker, the new champion, and his exhibition match partner, Bob Cruikshanks, will be among the starters.

The record score for the Canadian open was made by J. Douglas Edgar, an Englishman, who was connected at the time with an Atlanta club. Edgar turned in a total of 278 for 72 holes in the 1919 event, a mere matter of 10 better than even 48.

Edgar's feat broke the record by 17 strokes. Only two players in the history of the game have done better in a championship tourney, and in each instance the prize involved was comparatively unimportant. George Duncan won the Switzerland championship in 1913 with a score of 263, and Emmet French won the Ohio State title in 1922 with 274.

Edgar was killed several years ago in an automobile accident. In many respects he was the most interesting golfer this writer ever met. He was a firm believer in the power of mind over the matter. Psychology was his craze and he gave it free rein in his discussions and instructions. At the time of his death he was working on a book dealing with simplified golf which he earnestly believed would revolutionize the game.

PARLOR FOR MAIDS.

OMAHA, Neb., July 23.—A special "maid's parlor" has solved the servant problem for Dr. Jennie Callfas, who is prominent in national politics. Dr. Callfas' home in Omaha contains a small parlor that is her maid's own when her young man comes calling. Dr. Callfas has lost several maids in this way by marriage, but has kept many others for years at a time.

DEMPSEY INJURED.

Right Arm Dislocated at Elbow in Motor Accident.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 23.—Jack Dempsey's right arm, with which he punched his way to the world's heavyweight championship, disfocated at the elbow in an automobile accident Sunday night, likely will be slow in getting back to normal but it will come back, according to a statement yesterday by Dr. Clair Wilson, the fighters' chief medical attendant.

The injuries, suffered in the automobile smashup at San Juan Capistrano south of here, include:

Dislocation of right elbow; ligaments strained in neck; abraisions on right knee; cut on scalp.

Dempsey will be confined to his room several days. He admits he escaped death "by a miracle," when his heavy sedan, carrying himself and two or three friends, was sideswiped by a speeding motorist, who kept going after he had tilted the Dempsey car from the highway into the ditch. Dempsey said:

It was winner's luck ,that's all."

SISLER'S SIGHT IS COMING BACK

He Is Voted the Most Valuable Player in the American League.

ST. LOUIS, July 23.—(Associated Press).—Baseball fans generally throughout the country have noted with satisfaction this season the work of Manager George H. Sisler of the St. Louis Browns and the hope is now entertained that eventually his impaired vision will become normal.

Voted the most valuable player in the American League during the 1922 season, Sisler was stricken with influenza in February, 1923, and his condition was aggravated by sinus trouble and tonsilitis, resulting in impaired vision which caused his retirement from the game for the 1923 season. For a time it was feared that his baseball days were over, but Sisler gave his eyes a careful, patient course of treatment and rest.

With the opening of the 1924 season Sisler assumed his regular position at first base in addition to managing the Browns. He admits that the defect in his vision has not been entirely remedied, but with his eyes constantly improving he is optimistic that his sight will gradually returns to normal. The defect, he declares, hampers him in batting, but its effect upon his fielding is negligible.

Although Sisler has been batting this season below his usual average he attributes this to periodical slumps which all ball players experience. However, there have been comparatively few games in which he has gone hitless.

SHOULD BE BEST BATTE OF YEAR

Fireworks Promised When Trunks and Petes Clash on Saturday.

A CRUCIAL FIXTURE.

Saturday's game with Belleville at Riverside Park, the last scheduled visit of the Trunks this year to Peterboro promises to be the most exciting exhibition of the season. The Belleville crew and the Petes have both been playing great ball and from present indications the second half race is between the two outfits so that Saturdays' game will have a very important effect upon the standing. The only defeat Belleville has sustained in the last nine games was at the hands of the Petes, who are determined to put another dint in the Trunks record on Saturday. Today Oshawa are playing in Belleville while the Petes are to clash with Kingston in the Limestone City.

WESTERN PHENOMS PROVE FIZZLES

Major League Magnates Invest $250,000 in Four Stars, But Get Little Action—Strand, Kamm, Hale and O'Connell Fail to Make Good.

BY BILLY EVANS

"It's the climate."

That is the way the folks out west explain many of the phenomena of their great country.

Baseball magnates are wondering if the climate might not work the other way relative to some of their star players of that section.

During the past two years several major league club owners have been badly jolted in their dealings with players hailing from the far west. For instance—

John McGraw o fthe New York Giants paid $75,000 for Jimmy O'Connell in real money. The manager of the Giants figured O'Connell would win a place in the outfield and give the club a batting punch.

Most of the time since joining the Giants O'Connell has done bench duty.

Kamm a Great Fielder

The Chicago White Sox paid a reputed price of $100,000 for Third Baseman Bill Kamm.

In the field Kamm has lived up to all advance notices, but hasn't done so well at the bat. Recently at his own request he was taken out of the game and given a few days' rest.

A year ago Connie Mack paid in the neighborhood of $50,000 for Third Baseman Sammy Hale.

While Hale haa previously been tried by Detroit and sent back, Mack was confident he would add much strength to the Athletics. Allowing for his fielding faults, the leader of the A's was confident he would supply a batting punch to his club.

Hale Slumps at Bat.

Last year Hale, who had batted around .350 in the Coast League slumped to .228 with the Mackmen. This year when he failed to do even as well, he was benched in favor of Riconda.

Probably the biggest disappointment of Mack's entire baseball career, was the showing of Outfielder Paul Strand, recently sent to the Toledo club of the American Association. Strand was a $50,000 investment.

Last year, with Salt Lake in the Pacific Coast League, Strand led that organization in hitting with the remarkable average of .394 for 194 games.

Strand, in amassing that average, made 325 hits, including 43 home runs, 13 triples and 66 doubles. He batted in 187 runs.

Strand Proves Failure

Surely Strand will give my club a batting punch, thought Mack. With the Athletics he hit only a little better than .200.

They do say that the high altitude of Salt Lake City, where Strand played, plus the short fences, helped greatly in his 1923 Coast League batting spree.

"It's the climate," may be a proper explanation of the failure of some of the highly touted coast batting stars to come through.

Four major league owners have spent a quarter of a million dollars for Kamm, O'Connell, Hale and Strand, and as yet haven't had much of a run for their money.

FIRPO SIGNS CONTRACT.

Will Meet Harry Wills Some Time After Aug. 30.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight, called on Tex Rickard yesterday and signed final contracts for his match with Harry Wills, negro heavyweight. The contract stipulated that Firpo could not fight for any other promoter before meeting Wills.

No definite date for the match has been decided upon by Rickard, but the promoter said he would make a decision to-day. The match will be held some time after August 30, he intimated.

Firpo intends to remain in New York for a short time before taking off for a training camp.

When informedof the injury to Jack Dempsey in an automobile accident, he expressed regret, hoping that the injury was not serious enough to keep the champion from the ring for any length of time.

"I want just one more crack at him before I retire," said Firpo.

BOUTS FOR ROMERO

NEW YORK July 22. — Quentin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, signed contracts for two bouts to-day. On Monday night at Newark, N.J., he will meet Charlie Wienert, New York heavyweight, in a 12-round match.

Romero was also signed to box George Lamson, an Indian heavyweight at Detroit, on August, in a ten round match.

PARIS, July 23. — Three events in the Olympic middleweight weight lifting class were in competition on Tuesday.

Neuland of Estonia, broke the world's record for the one-hand snatch with a lift of 82½ kilograme (181.8 pounds).

The stocky Esthonian held the previour secord of 80 kilograms (176.3 pounds.)

In the "one-hand clean and jerk," Eidler of Austria, proved the best man with 90 kilograms (198.4 lbs.)

To-day three other events in the middleweight programme will be run off. It appears now that the battle will be between Eidler and the Frenchman, Vandeputte, for first place.

TORONTO BOAT SECOND.

In First of Yachting Series Off Marblehead, Mass.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., July 22.—Two international yacht races held here in the series began to-day between the Royal Canadian Yacht Club of Toronto, and the Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead, resulted under the point system in a score of 11 for the United States Club and nine for the Canadians.

The first race was a victory for the United States, the two local yachts finishing first and third, and the Canadians second and fourth.

There was an even break on points in the second race, with the United States in the first and fourth positions and the Canadians sixth and third. Herreschoff S-Class boats were used.

RALLY WON FOR C.G.E. IN SEVENTH

LOCK WORKS LOST 5-4.

The Mercantile game between the Lock Works and the C.G.E., staged at Riverside Park last evening was a tame affair except for the last inning rally of the C.G.E., which netted them the game 5 to 4, with none out, after being down two with the count 4 to 2 against them.

The game was lifeless throughout, none of the players extending themselves in the pursuit of any hits. The Lockmakers managed to ring up seven errors, but few of these counted in the C.G.E. victory, the final stanza win being secured on clean hits. The C.G.E. gave McDonough better support, but they were shaky also.

Jack McDonough twirled nicely for the winners, striking out eight, passing one and allowing nine hits. "Lefty" Connors was on top of the situation until the final frame, when the C.G.E. batters got close to him for four bunched hits, and the game was then lost to him.

BANKERS VS. EXAMINER.

Important Game in Mercantile League Thursday Evening.

The Bankers and the Examiner will hook up in an important game in the second half of the Mercantile League race. Both teams are confident of a win, and they are both anxious to get away to a good start in the second half. Manager Akron of the Bankers will trot out a bunch of new players to fill the vacancies caused by loss of several of the players. It is likely that Whitehouse will do the twirling. Manager Dugan has had the Examiner team working out regular and is going to try and have his team hit a winning stride Thursday. It should be a good game.

CANCER IS LAID TO RICH FOODS BY DANISH DOCTOR

COPENHAGEN, July 23.—Civilization is blamed for the increase of cancer by Dr. Mikkel Hindhede, Danish nutrition expert, in a report just made public. He points out that the non-cultured races and aborigines do not contract cancer of the digestive organs until they become acquainted with civilization's fleshpots.

Dr. Hindhede believes that cancer is due chiefly to over-eating of rich food.

BLOWERS MISSED A PENALTY KICK AGAINST G.W.V.A.

The First Was of a Kick and Rush Character.

NO SCORING AT END.

Second Half Was Full of Many Thrills and Very Fast.

Soccer fans were treated to an old-time thriller last evening at the Oval when the Woollens and G. W. V. A. played hard to have a final result in their league fixture, but fate was against the Woollens, who outplayed the Vets in superior combination attacks. During the second half Blowers was entrusted with a penalty kick, which he missed. Then Mitchell headed over the crossbar. Both goalkeepers put in a fine evening's work, and Frick, no doubt, deserves credit for the drawn game, along with Blowers and Mitchell. There was a good attendance of spectators to witness the game.

Game Described.

The Vets kicked off facing the sun. Clark led the attack, to confine the Woollens to their own area. A breakaway by Gaskill and a beautiful corner caused anxiety to the Vets' defense until Gash kicked clear. From mid-field Jack Chambers sent a rocket drive into goal that Frick saved in the upright corner. A little later he gave away a corner kick that went a-begging. Clever play by the Woollens ended in poor markmanship when opportunities were plenty. At the other end Ward saved from Clark. Quick-as-a-flash play hovered around the Vets' goal. Mitchell beat the full-backs, then slipped the ball out to Roberts who hit the crossbar. Dundas sent across again for Wasson to clear. A foul against Underwood let Blowers have a fast drive, which Frick had to jump up to grasp. The Woollens came back again, where Mitchell's dilatory methods spoiled a tally. Sawyers repeated the same performance a few seconds later. At this period the Woollens had the best of the argument and were in the Vets' vicinity as half-time was announced. No scoring.

Half-Time.

Both goals went under heavy bombardment on resuming. From a cross by Clark the Vets' centre-half skimmed the bar from 10 yards out. Continued combination by the half-backs and Woollens' forwards had the Vets putting up a sterling defense against the onslaught. On mid-field play Blowers sent forward to Mitchell, who met it in a turn movement to have hard luck in not scoring in two attacks. On a raid by Mitchell a Vets' full-back handled. Blowers took the kick, and from his parting kick hit the upright amidst great excitement. Then Mitchell headed over the crossbar. The Vets made occasional raids that were easily frustrated by Cridland and Chambers. It is no need emphasizing the run of the game, because it was like a hammering rod the Woollens were using, but could not get the ball through the goal. There was not a more unlucky team this season than the Woollens in this ninety-minute tussel that only gave them the insignificant point. Full-time—Woollens, 0; G.W.V.A., 0.

Woollens—Warde, goal; Cridland and Chambers, backs; Read, Monkman and Blowers, half-backs; Gaskill, Roberts, Mitchell, Sawyers and Dundas, forwards.

Vets—Frick goal; Crow and Wasson, backs; Frost, Mann and Bestard, half-backs; Clarke, Underwood, Griffin, Gash and Dyer, forwards.

Referee—J. C. Russell.

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS—

1—Pitcher delivers ball to the batter. It strikes ground about a yard in front of plate and bounds directly over same, about six inches above the batter's knee. Is it a ball or a strike? If after striking the ground it hit the batsman would it be a ball or would the batsman be entitled to first base?—W.C.

2—With bases filled, and three balls and two strikes on batter, all runners start for the plate as the pitcher prepares to deliver the ball to the batsman. Pitcher curtails motion, and the ball is low and inside, runner from third being touched with the ball before he reaches the plate. Umpire rules runner from third out and sends batter to first. I claim he erred.—H.W.P.

3—Runners are on second and on third and two out. Batsman hits drive to left field fence, making circuit, scoring two men ahead of him. He fails to touch first base and when a play is made there, umpire rules him out. Do the runs count?—R.

ANSWERS—

1—It is a ball even though it passes over the plate just above the knee. The moment the ball strikes the ground in front of the plate it loses all chances of being ruled a strike. If such a pitched ball struck the batter, he would be entitled to first base.

2—Runner was badly off in his ruling. The ball pitched was the fourth ball, entitled batter to first and, since bases were filled, runner on third was entitled to score and all other runners to advance one base.

3—Runs do not count. Failure of batsmen who apparently hit home run to touch first, simply made a out at that base, in which batsman failed to reach first. No runs can score on such a play.

MAPLE LEAFS SNATCH LEAD IN THE 2ND HALF

Curlers Not Up to Form and Leafs Walked Off With Victory.

WOODS HIT HARD.

Maple Leafs hopped back into the race for Juvenile honors at Exhibition Park last evening by defeating Curlers, first-half winners, by the score of 9 to 6. It was a wild and wooly contest, with both teams behaving badly in the field, much to the disappointment of a big crowd of fans. But the game did not lack in interest. For four innings it was a real battle, with the outcome very much in doubt. What really won the game for the Leafs was Chuck Bradley's willingness to fight it out to the finish, and the verdict for the local southpaw was a popular one.

The teams made a great getaway. The Leafs were retired in order in the first, and Bradley struck out the side.

Corbett, first up in the second, hit a homer. Wood came right back at the Leafs and retired the side without further damage.

Delahaye scored for the Leafs in the third after his single, a stolen base and a wild pitch. The Curlers went out in order.

Jack LeBarr started a rally for the Leafs in the fourth by beating out a bunt. He stole second. An infield out, an error, a pass, Delahaye's three-bagger and a wild pitch went for four runs.

Curlers tied it up in their half. Barrie was safe on Franks' error. Ash doubled. Hall's grounder was booted, allowing Barrie to score. The next two fanned. A. Baird singled to score two.

The Leafs took a two-run lead in the fifth. Bradley beat out a short one, and Corbett doubled, to score Bradley. Corbett made third and went out trying to score on LeBarr's tap to the pitcher. Scully was dead-headed. LeBarr, who had made his way to third, scored when Franks shot a hot one at Barrie. The third baseman, however, recovered in time to tag Scully going into third. Gillespie fanned.

Curlers were held in check in their half of the fifth, Wood being the only batsman to reach the bag, which he earned on a single.

The Leafs put two on in the sixth but failed to deliver. A double play started by Franks killed off the Curlers in their half.

After two were gone in the seventh, a walk to Franks, his steal and Gillespie's single to left, gave the Leafs their ninth and final run.

Curlers in their last chance got a runner on with one out. The next two were retired at first.

TUNNEY FAVORITE.

Odds Are 3 to 2 Against Carpentier in Thursday's Fight.

NEW YORK, July 23.—(Canadian Press).—Georges Carpentier, colorful French heavyweight, will make one last endeavor to re-establish himself as a light heavyweight of the top rank, when he steps into the ring against Gene Tunney, United States light heavyweight champion, at the Polo Grounds to-morrow night. Carpentier will enter the ring with Tunney a 3 to 2 favorite, but those who have seen the French battler getting in trim at Great Neck, L.I., predict that the Carpentier who meets Tunney will be a vastly improved fighter from the one who was dropped for the count at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1921.

Tunney, fresh from a victory over Erminio Spalla, who remained upright for 14 rounds with Luis Angel Firpo in Argentine before coming to this country, is polishing up his fighting tactics at Red Bank, N.J. Both fighters are below the stipulated 175-pound limit, and expect no trouble in balancing the scales at the State Athletic Commission's office on Thursday.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Nick, 15 years ago, was one of the game's greatest pitchers, an outstanding southpaw in a classy field.

When Nick was a pitcher he used brain as well as brawn. Other southpaws with far more natural ability failed to compare with him, because he did more than merely pitch. Altrock put some thought back of every ball he delivered.

There is a finish to the career of every player, no matter how great a star he may be. Altrock was no exception to the rule.

As a pitcher Nick Altrock was one of the most serious individauls that ever stepped on the ball field. Baseball was a business with him, a mighty serious one.

In Nick's day as a player the stars didn't get anything like the money they do today. Always a good spender, Altrock, as he passed as a player, probably found that his bank roll wouldn't last forever.

In an effort to capitalize on his reputation as a player, Altrock turned from the serious to the humorous.

Realizing all work and no play sooner or later became monotonous, Altrock gave a new touch to the game by pantomime comedy. Every fan is so familiar with Nick's stuff that comment is unnecessary.

Altrock still has his serious moments, however, despite the fact that he is the champion laugh-maker. When not clowning, Nick sits back on the bench and carefully studies the play of his teammates and opponents. The comedy ends with him when the game starts.

"Is the game faster than it was 15 years ago?" I asked Nick in one of his serious moments.

"I would be a star pitcher today," was his reply. Mr. Fan, you can read between the lines for yourself on that one.

"Could any of the old fellows hit them like Ruth?" was question number two.

"If Sam Crawford, Larry Lajoie, Hans Wagner, "Bick" Freeman and some of the old-time sluggers could have had a whirl at the lively ball the fans would still be talking about their records" answered Nick.

"In what department, if any, has the game gone back?" I asked.

"Pitching of today doesn't compare with that of 2 years ago," replied Altrock. "Baseball certainly has slipped in pitching."

Veteran stars are agreed that major league pitching has slumped badly in the last 10 years.

They point to the fact that in those days every club had at least four great pitchers, while now they are lucky to have two.

Incidentally the veterans point out to you that 90 per cent of the leading pitchers in the game today are experienced pitchers, men who have been performing in the majors for 10 years or more.

All of which makes Altrock's argument look logical.

LONDON, July 23.—The ancient legend surrounding the "Clock of Death" has once more been fulfilled by the stopping of the famous clock of Henry VIII. at Hampton Court Palace, and the death, within a few hours afterward, of one of the palace inmates. EPINARD, WITH "LOOK OF EAGLES" IN HIS EYE TELLS GIRL, "IT'S THE HEART THAT COUNTS"

EPINARD

EPINARD IN HIS TRAVELLING COMPARTMENT DE LUXE.

By Hortense Saunders

BELMONT PARK, N.Y., July 18—"Handsome ees as handsome does mam'selle," said Epinard as I stood before his bridle suite de luxe, admiring the beautiful creature.

He must have read my thoughts, for I was comparing him to Papyrus the English race horse I interviewed here last fall.

Epinard was portaking of a simple spread of oats from France, hay from England, carrots from Belgium and water from Mt. Kisco when I met him. Thoroughbred that he is, he stood throughout our interview.

After seeing and hearing about dark horses for three weeks at the Democratic convention it was with real relief that I looked upon such an honest, upstanding horse with coat of burnished brown.

Epinard is handsomer than Papyrus but not quite so stalwart as our own champion, Zev.

"But, mam'selle," Epinard warned me, "Eet ees not looks, eet is the heart. No matter what our heads or legs con do we are all humans and horses ,limited to our capacity to feel.

"And, ah, mam'selle, when thousands cheer, when flags wave, when the ground rumbles under me with the thud of hoofs, ah, then mam'selle I feel.

Mam'selle, I feel like an eagle, so high, so sure, way up there, seeing something more and feeling something more than other horses and humans can feel.

"They say I have the look of eagles in my eye when I come down the stretch, all the power that is in me, and more, strained to win."

Of course, Epinard (whose name in English is Spinach) didn't say all of this. After all, he is only a horse, but thought transference between such an intelligent steed and a human is not entirely impossible, is it?

Epinard owned by Pierre Wertheimer, French millionaire, trained by Eugene Leigh and ridden by Frankie Haynes, Americans, will engage in three races in America.

The first will be at six furlongs at Belmont Park early in September, the next at one mile at Aqueduct later in the same month and the third at a mile and a furlong at Latonia, Ky., in October.

Wertheimer insisted on the western race. He wanted as many Americans as possible to see that "look of eagles" in Epinard's eyes.

OLYMPIC GAMES AROUSED PEOPLE

British Boxers Will Not Compete in the Future Olympic Tourneys.

LONDON, July 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Incidents which aroused international animosities during the Olympic games are widely commented upon here with recognition that failing reform and growth in genuine sportsmanship discontinuance of games in the future is almost inevitable.

"It cannot be denied that the total result of contests in Paris has been injury to sport and international amity," says the Daily Telegraph. It adds that it is not surprised to learn that the British Olympic committee informed the International committees that British boxers would not compete in the Olympic in future. The Chonicle foresees the possibility of games having to be stopped by governments as a public danger. It nevertheless hopes that Great Britain will not hastily decide to withdraw and remarking that competitors from the United States suffered more than the British, it adds: "It would seem sufficient that we link our conduct with that of Americans. If they go, we go, if they stay, we stay."

BOWLERS BATTLE FOR SUPREMACY

Many Outside Centres Represented at Tournament, Which Opened To-day.

LOCAL RINKS WIN.

Local bowling enthusiasts are in their glory to-day, having been provided with an opportunity to match their wares against the representatives of many Ontario towns and cities with the opening of the two-day bowling tournament this morning.

The visiting bowlers were royally welcomed upon arrival this morning and found many facilities provided for their convenience.

A large welcome sign was prominently displayed, and long lines of overhead pennants were flying above the place of action.

At 10 a.m. the greens were the scene of much activity. The meeting of old acquaintances was an outstanding feature of the first gathering, and although the competitive spirit prevailed in the play, the spirit of good fellowship predominated.

President D. H. Moore, in a brief address of welcome, formally opened the tournament. In his few remarks he combined humor and idealism by a frequent use of biblical paraphrases.

Pointing out that in the games of life it is impossible to always claim victory, the speaker declared that within the next two hours, eight rinks would experience achievement, while eight others would submit to the pathos of defeat. By way of consolation, he observed that "The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong." Likewise, by way of warning to the victorious he urged the players to remember that "Pride goeth before destruction."

Stratton Trophy.

Peterboro—J. N. Bacon, skip, 13. Kingston—H. W. Newman, skip, 10.

Bowmanville—R. M. Mitchell sk 6; Peterboro —Dr. A .H. Allen sk 15.

The following rinks were scheduled to play this afternoon:

Campbellford—A. J. Meyers, sk; Peterboro—J. Sedgwick, sk.

Campbellford — J. Wilkinson sk; Peterboro —M. B. Chenhall sk.

Peterboro — W. J. Oke, sk.; Oshawa—D. A. Swanson, sk.

The umpires selected were Messrs. R. Kerr of Toronto Oakwood Club, A. J. Meyers, Campbellford, Rev. D. C. Ramsay, Belleville and J. W. Mayneord, Peterboro.

In the five games in which Peterboro rinks participated this morning, they weresuccessful in each case. The most remarkable win of that Mr. D. H. Moore's rink against Dr. McWilliams' rink of the Granite Club Toronto. The local rink was composed of Messrs. D. H. Moore, sk., T. Brightman, R. M. Glover and Frank Wise. The Toronto rink in this case was regarded as the premier outside contender for the Stratton Trophy and Mr. Moore's rink was made up at the last moment last night as an extra entry from the Peterboro Club.

"Jack" Mayneord, the present holder of the Stratton Trophy met Rev. D. C. Ramsay in the preliminary round to-day, his rink winning the game handily. Last year the Belleville rink headed by Rev. Mr. Ramsay was defeated by Jack Mayneord's rink in the finals. This win eliminates a foremost aspirant.

"Bob" Wray of Belleville, was 9 shots up with 3 ends to play and lost to J. W. Thompson of Sunderland. The whirlwind finish of the latter was a feature of this morning's play, as Wray was a runner up in the finals of an Ottawa tournament two weeks ago.

Dr. Allen looks like a promising contender after the manner in which he defeated Mitchell of Belleville by a score of 15 to 6.

Warne Trophy

The losing rinks are afforded a partial opportunity of redeeming themselves. The defeated drop into the consolation and will battle for the Warne Trophy. Individual prizes consisting of cutlery and silverware will be awarded to the members of the rinks that reach the finals in both the Stratton and Warne competitions.

LINCOLN J. CARTER'S GREAT MELODRAMA, "THE ARIZONA EXPRESS"

Master of Thrilling Fiction Contributes Another Great Drama to the Screen.

"The Arizona Express," another of Lincoln J. Carter's great melodramas of the early days in the far West, will be the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre for three days, commencing tomorrow. Lincoln Carter contributed many thrilling stories of the West, and about twenty years ago was rated as one of the most popular writers of western romances. Only recently have the movie-makers discovered that even today—two decades after they were written—Carter's great stories still retain their popularity. "The Arizona Express," like all of Carter's stories, is a true melodrama, alive with thrilling action, hair-raising situations, battles between the Indians and the whites, and as a powerful climax, possesses a thrilling railroad wreck. The story has been faithfully translated on the screen, and as a picture possesses far more melodramatic and entertainment value than it did as a novel. It is a William Fox production, which means that the last thrill has been extracted from the story in making a picture out of it. "The Arizona Express" will be shown for three days only, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at the Capitol.

STAN. LAUREL COMES TO CAPITOL IN NEWEST COMEDY, TOMORROW

Stan. Laurel, the locale of whose comedies have been located in various parts of the world, lately such as Russia, Africa and Alaska, now takes his audiences to Ireland in his latest success, called "Near Dublin." This will be the comedy entertainment at the Capitol tomorrow, Friday and Saturday.

"THE ETERNAL CITY," MIGHTY DRAMA, COMING TO CAPITOL

Lionel Barrymore Heads Distinguished Cast in Picturization of Sir Hall Caine's Novel.

Sir Hall Caine, who wrote "The Christian," "Name the Man" and other great screen dramas, has had another of his works picturized. "The Eternal City," featuring Alma Rubens and Lionel Barrymore, is the latest of this great writer's stories to be filmed. To make "The Eternal City" the entire company spent three months in Rome. "The Eternal City" will be the feature at the Capitol next Monday.

AT THE ROYAL.

HERB RAWLINSON, A FIGHTING IRISH COP! IN A GREAT STORY AT ROYAL THURSDAY.

The warm Irish heart combined with the love of a good rousing fight are ever near the surface in Herbert Rawlinson's screen interpretation of a New York policeman, "Jack O' Clubs," which opens on Thursday night at the Royal Theatre. There is plenty of fighting in "Jack O' Clubs" by reason of the hero's strong arm tactics among the doubtful characters.

Little Tillie Miller, beloved throughout the district for her beauty and her charm, earns her living as a cafe singer. Her sweetheart is Spike Kennedy, supreme gang leader, who bears Jack O' Clubs" a deep, unsatisfied grudge for his successful reform measures in the neighborhood.

The police officer hears Tillie singing one night and is immediately captivated. He tries to meet her, but she, thinking he is the betrayer of her sweetheart's pals, repulses him. Later she relents, after a furious quarrel with Spike. She cannot find opportunity to explain her mistaken opinion before Queenie Hatch, a revival belle of the district, picks a quarrel in the cafe. Tillie resents Queenie's insulting remarks and the two girls have a fight which quickly develps into a general melee.

"Jack O' Clubs" rushes in and tries to quell the disturbance. Somebody blackjacks the singer. In the excitement everyone is only too ready to believe the officer struck the girl, which is the gang's version of the fray.

"Jack O' Clubs" has no way of proving his innocence. He is severely reprimanded by his superiors. He visits Tillie at the hospital and convinces her of his innocence, at the same time winning her love. How he regains his honor and position on the police force brings the story to an unexpected and thrilling climax.

There is no gun-play or other unpleasant action in the picture. Throughout the five reels, Director F. Hill has persistently clung to the human and picturesque side of the lives of the people who live in a separate world of their own in the big metropolis.

CHEMONG PARK GETTING BUSY

Things Are Picking Up and More Cottages Are Opening Up.

(By a Staff Reporter)

CHEMONG PARK, July 23rd. — With the advent of warmer weather, the Park is brightening up considerably. Cottagers who take summer homes for a fortnight or month are moving out and new people taking their places. At the Pavilion, the evening dances are enjoying a greater measure of patronage. Fishing this year is described as being very good. A party of Americans made two trips to Chemong last week, getting 36 bass and four 'lunge on their first outing, and capturing 32 bass the second day.

Several picnic parties have held outings at the Park recently. Two groups from the De Laval Company have been entertained at the Breyfogle and the Robinson cottages, a party of girls from the Canadian General Electric Company were at Mr. and Mrs. G. Fitzgerald's cottage and the A.Y.P.A. of St. John's church also picnicked at the Park last week.

In Kelly's Grove, near the cottage of Alderman and Mrs. R. N. Jones two youths, Ned Hodgson and 'Mickey' Koster, have a camp. Ned and Mickey are having an extremely good time, cooking for themselves in very satisfactory fashion, and landing some good fish occasionally. They are also taking part in helping neighboring farmers exterminate surplus groundhogs.

The annual meeting of the Patte-Wolff Foxes, Limited, was held yesterday. The black fox family at the ranch at present numbers 105, with 113 babies.

At a recent meeting of the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association, it was decided to hold the annual regatta on August 7th.

Some of the big maple trees at the Park are showing the ravages of a certain type of insect which stings the leaf, deposits eggs of reddish and yellow tints, and leaves the larvae to hatch out later. Several of the magnificent maples around "Maple Lodge," where the late Mr. John Maloney planted a long row of Canada's favorites thirty years ago, are covered with these tiny eggs. At the Lodge, now owned by Mr. Thomas Brennan, Mrs. Maloney and Mrs. MacNab of New York city are staying.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Davidson and family, Antrim street, are in their cottage at the Park. Their visitor, Miss Ruddy, daughter of Judge Ruddy of Whitby, has returned home. A number of young people from the city were entertained at the Davidson cottage last evening, and a gay house party of cousins from Toronto the Misses Fitzgerald and their brothers, are expected on Saturday.

CRIME DETAILS

"Court fans" had no chance today. Police guards at the building's portals, at elevators and again at the door of Judge Caverly's courtroom kept them back. But still the morbidly curious held their places on the sidewalk, but they were disappointed in their hope to see the two youths who had startled the country with an atrocious crime and then added to the sensation by pleading guilty.

There were newspapermen of every degree in plenty in the courtroom. Telegraph operators, writers and camera men, male and female, hurried into their reserved places.

MINISTRY RESIGNED.

CHRISTIANIA, July 23. — The Ministry of Premier Abraham Berge has resigned as a result of the defeat of the Government's proposals for balancing the Budget by repealing the present prohibition law and permitting trade in liquors under Government control. It was estimated this trade would bring in an income of 30,000,000 kroner.

WOMAN IN COFFIN WEIGHS HALF TON.

ANSONIA, Conn., July 23.—Mrs. Catherine Bristol, forty-nine, whose funeral was held here on Monday, weighed in excess of 600 pounds and was buried in a coffin weighing 430 pounds, the largest ever used in the State, according to the undertaker who supervised the burial.

The woman's death occurred on the third story of her home, and a block and fall was used in lowering the coffin. Ten men acting as pallbearers, carried the coffin from a hearse to the grave, a distance of 100 feet at Riverside Cemetery, Waterbury. They were obliged twice to put it down to rest in the short journey.

Mrs. Bristol's death, physicians say, was caused by her increasing weight. She has been unable to leave her home for three years.

DEADLOCK HOLDS.

Effort to Break Inter-Allied Deadlock Failed.

LONDON, July 23 (Canadian Press). — The effort to break the apparently serious deadlock which has arisen in the Inter-Allied Conference over the financial guarantees for the £40,000,000 loan necessary to put the reparation experts' plans into operatiin to-day occupied the entire time of the delegates.

While the attitude of the French indicates that they are unwilling to agree to any plan which will alienate their liberty of action under the Versailles Treaty in the imposition of sanctions.

Optimistic observers here feel sure that a way will be found to surmount this obstacle.

U. S. FILMS POPULAR.

FUNERAL IS MARKED BY MASONIC HONORS

Death of James N. McGregor, Oakville, Mourned by Many Friends.

ESTEEMED CITIZEN LOST

OAKVILLE, July 23.—Hundreds of friends, many of them members of the Masonic Order, were present at the funeral of the late James N. McGregor, a well-known Oakville resident, which took place yesterday afternoon to St. Jude's Cemetery. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The service in Knox Presbyterian Church was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. E. Munroe, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Dr. H. S. Dougal, minister of the Methodist Church here. Dr. Munroe paid a glowing tribute to the late Mr. McGregor, to whom he referred as a "loyal citizen," "a great reader of great authors," and one who always took an interest in young men and athletics. The pallbearers were: James Kendall of Dundas, Charles Cross, I. H. Hogge, Reginald Smith, W. A. Dean and George Hillmer, M.P.P., all of Oakville. The funeral was fully Masonic.

Had Active Career.

James N. McGregor was born in Oakville March 8, 1862, and died on Sunday last. He was brought up on the old homestead on the Ninth Line, about ten miles north of Oakville, and attended Streetsville High School. Afterwards he taught in public schools at Omagh for two years and at Hornby for a year. He then went to New York, where he was business manager for Collier's Weekly for 18 years. For health reasons he resigned and returned to Oakville, where he started a hardware business, which he had conducted successfully for 18 years.

A Prominent Mason.

Mr. McGregor was a man of many affiliations, being the first president of the Oakville Athletic Club in 1917, was chairman of the Parks Board at one time, chairman of the Board of Management of Knox Presbyterian Church, vice-president of the Trafalgar Fair, a Past Master of the Royal Arch Masons, and a member of Blue Lodge of the Royal Arch Masons, a members of the Scottish Rite of Hamilton, Grand Superintendent of the Royal Arch Masons of Hamilton, a member of the Pastime Shrine of the State of New Jersey, and a Cavalry Commander of the State of New Jersey. He was a staunch Liberal and had been a reader of The Globe for a great many years.

Besides his wife and one son, Roy, he is survived by three brothers: Douglas McGregor, on the homestead; Charles McGregor, of Vanguard, Sask., and Alexander McGregor, district editor of the Peterboro Examiner, and three sisters: Miss Mary McGregor, on the homestead, and Mrs. John Ross and Mrs. David Ross, of Streetsville.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Carlton street Methodist church, Toronto, when Marjorie, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Ripley, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Harry Taylor formerly of Peterboro. Rev. J. J. Ferguson performed the ceremony.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Winnifred Paynter. She wore a charming sleeveless gown of white flat crepe, draped with rosebuds and ribbon streamers, with a picture hat, and a shower bouquet of ophelia roses and baby's breath. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Sutherland, wore orchid crepe with picture hat to match and bouquet of sweetheart roses, and valley lilies. Miss Sutherland also wore a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. Little Irene Paxton was a dainty little flower girl, in pink taffeta, carrying a basket of sweet peas. Mr. C. C. Patterson acted as best man.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, on Mutual street, attended by a number of friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left later for Peterboro, en route to Niagara Falls and New York, the bride travelling in a navy suit, with sand colored hat and shoes to match. On their return they will reside in Toronto.

CHICAGO COURT HEARS DETAILS OF BOYS' CRIME

Leopold and Loeb Declared They Realized Consequences of Plea of Guilty.

DEFENCE AIM SEEN.

Hanging After Pleading Guilty Would Be Unprecedented, Lawyer Said.

CHICAGO, July 24.—The courtroom of Justice Caverly was the centre of interest in Chicago Wednesday. But long before the two youthful prisoners came into court, the big building, which houses the community's trial courts was the mecca for hundreds.

Only a fraction of these could gain a place in the court room and only those who had business with the courts could pass the outer doors of the buildings, but scores of curious jammed the sidewalks. The "court fans" had no chance. Police guards at the building's portals, at the elevators and again at the door of Judge Caverly's court room kept them back.

There were newspapermen of every degree in plenty in the court room. Telegraph operators, writers and cameramen, male and female hurried into their reserved places.

Safe in Court Room

A safe containing exhibits which the State will offer for the information of the court, was wheeled into the room. Atop it were a number of boards, the bloodstained flooring of the automobile in which young Franks was killed. What remained of the boy's clothing, a belt and a few other bits of equally gruesome evidence were in the metal container.

As soon as court was called the defendants were summoned at once.

Judge Caverly announced that proper legal formality had not been complied with Monday when the boys changed their pleas to "guilty."

He summoned them to the bar and in long, legal phraseology, asked them, again separately if they realized the consequences of their action.

"I do, your Honor," said Leopold, and Loeb replied in like manner.

Stood Statue-Like

Leopold looked about occasionally, but most of the time fastened his eyes upon the judge. Loeb stood statue-like, his eyes straight ahead, and bore an expression of concentrated attention.

After the judge's statement the defendants returned to their seats and conferred smilingly with their attorneys.

"The State is ready to proceed with the murder hearing, but asks a continuance of the kidnapping case," said Mr. Crowe.

"Object," said Mr. Bachrach. "This is not a real trial, and there should be no separation of the two cases."

"If this is not a trail, what is it?" commented Mr. Crowe.

A wrangle finally brought an agreement to proceed with the murder indictment while keeping the other charge "on call from day to day."

Mr. Crowe then started his opening statement. He dwelt upon the identity and upbringing of the defendants.

Planned for Months

"They behaved in accord with standards of their social sets, except that they developed a mania for gambling for high stakes," said Mr. Crowe. "This evidence will show that from this they retrogaded to the point where they could commit a cold-blooded murder."

Mr. Crowe said that the crime was planned and schemed for months. He said they threw a compact bundle of newspapers from a train to learn where it would land so they might instruct the father of their victim how to throw ransom money to them Mr. Crowe told of the now familiar details of the kidnapping plot and the method of which the boys hoped to obtain money from the victim's father.

Quebec Farmer Lost Property and Job—Picked Up Unconscious.

SLEPT IN FIELDS.

MONTREAL, July 24 (Canadian Press). — Picked up unconscious on the road near Snowden Junction in the north end of the city yesterday, Louis Lamothe, farmer, of Bagot County, told a story of hard luck that has dogged him for the last few weeks.

Two months ago he was a prosperous farmer, yesterday he dropped for want of nourishment, and there was not a cent in his pockets.

For the past two days he had starved and slept in the fields.

He had owned a small farm in Bagot County, Lamothe told the police while eating the meal thay gave him. He had done well, but had had bad luck, and he had been forced to dispose of his land.

Then he had hired himself out as a farm-hand. His employer sold his property, and Lamothe was out of a job. He came to Montreal looking for work, but without success.

At the end of his resources and his strength he had collapsed when he stopped to rest at Snowdon.

NEWS FROM TWEED.

TWEED, July 24.—James Sedore, aged 17, eldest son of Fred. Sedore, of Actinolite, broke his right arm while cranking a car on Sunday evening. Dr. Mather set it, and it is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Frost, of Kitchener, with their children, Patricia and Helen, came to town on Sunday. They, with Mr. Geo. Frost, have gone to camp at Fernleigh, but will return the end of this week and will spend the remainder of their holiday in Tweed. Mrs. Frost gave a violin solo in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, and it was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. John Frost and daughter, Ruth, of Cleveland, Ohio, are spending a couple of weeks with Mr. Geo. Frost and Miss Annie Frost.

Miss Anna Rayburn has lost "Buster," the Boston bull terrier she has had for ten years. She was backing out of the garage at camp when he made an unexpected move and the car struck him. He was killed at once. Buster was 12 years old, and had been such a faithful friend. He seemed almost human at times. Miss Rayburn feels badly that she herself killed him, and in such a way.

ADOPT EMPIRE RADIO REPORT

Main Recommendations of Committee Approved by British Government.

NEW "BEAM" SYSTEM.

LONDON, July 23. — (Canadian Press).—Vernon Hartshorn, post-House of Commons to-day that the master general announced in the government had decided to adopt the main recommendations of the Imperial Wireless Telegraphy Committee which was appointed some months ago to inquire into the subject of imperial wireless control. Robert Donald was chairman of the committee which sent its report to the government last February. The committee recommended chiefly that the state through the post office should own all wireless stations in Great Britian for communication with the overseas dominions, colonies, protectorates and territories; that the post office should operate all the Empire stations in Great Britain; that as an alternative an exception made in the case of Canada and that competition between the post office and private enterprise in the Anglo-Canadian wireless service, which exists at present, be continued, provided that, in any license granted for the Anglo-Canadian service, public interests are safeguarded as regards conditions of working and terms of expropriation by the state; that private enterprise be given facilities to develop wireless communiaction with continental Europe, as with the rest of the world outside the British Empire.

Mr. Hartshorn added that the Marconi Company, meanwhile, had submitted to the government proposals with regard to so-called "beam" stations and had definuitely arranged to erect a "beam" station in Canada.

"Hadley" is supposed to be the smallest Pekinese in the world. Anyway, he is small enough to fit comfortably in the championship cup.

LINDSAY GIRL STILL MISSING

Relatives Frustrated in Seeking Explanation From Suspected Youth.

HIS AUTO BURNED.

(Special to the Examiner.)

LINDSAY, July 24. — The mystery in connection with the disappearance of the twenty-year-old girl is still unsolved.

Provincial Officer Storey has sent out one hundred descriptive circulars through the province, but no information has been received regarding her whereabouts.

The young man who is charged with being concerned in her disappearance has returned to town, and on Sunday night a crowd of over 50 of the girl's relatives and friends assembled for the purpose it is alleged of demanding an explanation from the young man. He made his get-away, however, and their plans were frustrated.

There is a strong feeling against him in certain circles, although he maintains that he knows nothing at all about the girl.

The incident took a somewhat sensational turn on Tuesday night when a car which the young man has been driving, and in which, it is claimed, the girl left town, was mysteriously destroyed by fire on the highway west of the town.

OLYMPIC CYCLING.

France Won Team and Individual Honors at Colombes.

PARIS, July 24 (Canadian Press). —France yesterday captured both team and individual honours in the Olympic cycling Marathon, a gruelling grind of 188 kilometers, approximately 117 miles, over a road course, starting and ending in the Colombes Stadium.

The European riders proved the superior to their rivals from the Western hemisphere in the test of stamina and speed, for European nations took the first eight team places.

TWELVE KILLED NEAR TOLEDO IN CROSSING SMASH

Party of Picnickers Were Returning From Outing in the Woods.

TRAIN HIT TRUCK.

Occurred at Oak Harbor, Ohio, 20 Miles From Toledo.

TOLEDO, O. July 24.—(Canadian Press)—Twelve persons were reported killed in a collision between a New York Central passenger train and a truck load of picknickers on a grade crossing at Oak Harbor, Ohio, twenty miles east of here early last night.

The truck is said to have been returning with a load of young people from an outing in the woods.

OTONABEE CLAIMS A YOUNG LIFE

Raymond Caldwell Drowned Last Night While Swimming Above Auburn Dam.

BODY RECOVERED.

Raymond Caldwell, twenty-one years of age, was drowned in the Otonabee about 7 p.m. last night, while swimming on the east shore of the river about 100 feet north of the Auburn power dam.

The young man went in swimming after supper with a chum, Gordon Hawlie, of 997 Water street. Mr. Caldwell had just learned to swim about one week ago and had never tried to accomplish more than short distances and it is believed that he succumbed in an effort to go farther than he was able.

He swam from the shore to a pier, a distance of about 75 feet, and although cautioned by his chum to walk around to the shore by way of the boom rather than to attempt to make the shore alone, he started out and when about 20 feet from shore, after calling in distress to his chum, he sank.

Gordon Hawlie was on the shore at the time and ran to release a punt that was fastened to the bank. In the excitement he was unable to reach him in time and no more was seen of him.

The pulmotor arrived about 7.20 and shortly afterwards Constable A. Thomas, County Constable S. R. Pearson and Provincial Officer Maker arrived on the scene with grappling irons. The body was not recovered until nine o'clock this morning.

At this point in the river there is an undercurrent, due to the flow over the dam and the water is very deep in places, making it a perilous spot in which to swim, particularly for a beginner.

Raymond Caldwell came to Peterborough a little over a year ago and boarded with Mr. N. Hawlie at 997 Water street. Since coming to the city he has worked steadily in the Auburn factory and in his short sojourn in Peterborough he had many friends and was an esteemed and popular employee amongst his fellow workers.

The boy's parents live in Chandos, near Clysdale P.O., and he has a brother living just east of Nassau, in Douro.

WAR LORD'S STAR WANES

General Erich Ludendorff, who led the famed German war machine, is reported in dispatches from Berlin to be victim of strange fantastic dreams; to have become a recluse, withdrawing from society and to have split with the Hohenzollerns and Hindenburgs. He is said to be unable to face the realities and has weird conceptions of the power of a disarmed Germany. He has become equally fanatical on religious subjects. His dreamings of lost power have caused some critics to declare that strain has distorted his mental processes. In this latest picture of Ludendorff (left) he is shown meeting veterans of the German navy.

RUMOR OF BLACK RUST IN CANADIAN WHEAT REACTED VIOLENTLY IN PIT

Price Leaped Up Eight Cents a Bushel on the Chicago Exchange.

A WINNIPEG REPORT.

Wild Scenes of War Time Duplicated Among the Traders.

CHICAGO, July 24 (Canadian Press). — Apparently authentic reports that black rust was threatening new damage to the Canadian wheat crop, already reported drought-stricken, added many millions of dollars yesterday to the speculative value of farm products in the United States.

Roughly, almost 8 cents a bushel increase of price within twenty-four hours for about the entire wheat production of this country was shown by the action of the Chicago market.

Prices for corn, oats, rye, and provisions followed wheat upward and closed with big gains. Both in giant volume of trading and degree of excitement in the pits as well as in the steep climbing of values, the day on the Board of Trade here rivalled the crucial occasions of the World War.

Report from Winnipeg.

Bernard W. Snow, former United States Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, sent the news from Winnipeg that set the markets here aflame. Mr. Snow is widely known as one of the leading authorities of the United States on crop conditions, and the fact that he telegraphed personally saying that widespread black rust damage had developed in Manitoba came with thunderbolt effect to the wheat trade. It was on the basis of his word about black rust that the wheat pit went wild, and duplicated war time scenes.

R. O. Cromwell, R. W. Kinyon, and George M. Lecount were largely responsible for part of the day's advance in the wheat market. Each of these men are seasoned crop experts and all of them sent despatches early in the day indicating that the drought conditions in Canada had heretofore been under-estimated.

Mr. Lecount figured that owing to drought the crop in the province of Alberta this year would total only 40,000,000 bushels, as compared with last year's aggregate of 166,000,000 bushels.

Dramatic Effect.

It was with something like dramatic suddenness, however, that the black rust news struck the wheat pit as the day was approaching an end. There has heretofore been news that black rust had appeared in the spring wheat territory south of the Canadian boundary, but the conditions there had been such that the peril to the United States wheat seemed in the last few days to have been averted.

Black rust at this time in Canada, however, was taken as a radically different matter, especially in view of the havoc said to have been wrought already in Canada by the drought. The maturing of wheat in Canada is later than in the United States, and as pointed out by Mr. Snow, the menace from widespread infection would depend upon weather conditions.

Yesterday's conditions in Manitoba as reported by him were the worst possible—hot and moist.

Tremendous Buying.

Under such circumstances, buying of wheat was on a tremendous scale. Both here and at Winnipeg, Europeans were credited with purchasing heavily, and despite heavy profit-taking the close was at but relatively slight reaction from the day's top figures, net gains being 6 1-8 to 7 1-4 cents.

Yesterday's advance in wheat was all the more remarkable as coming on the heels on estimates that the wheat crop in the United States is 30,000,000 bushels larger for Kansas alone than was figured a month ago, and that the United States is about on a shipping basis for Europe as compared with Canada or Argentina.

Denials from Canada that black rust had appeared in Manitoba and reports minimising the extent of the damage as reported from Alberta, came too late to affect the market.

CANADIANS RETURN.

Tide Across the Border Has Turned From U. S. Cities.

SARNIA, Ont., July 24 (Canadian Press). — Canadians and former British-born residents of Canada are returning from across the border at this point at the rate of more than 600 a month, Chief Immigration Officer Robson stated yesterday.

In June 637 returned, according to immigration office statistics, the largest number than for any month in years. A large number returning are from Lambton County originally, so that the county is regaining much of its lost population.

According to returns from the local employment office the unemployed roll here has increased perceptibly with the return of men from Detroit and other American industrial centres.

FARM HELP SCARCE.

Chatham Reports Serious Situation Among the Farmers.

CHATHAM, July 24.—(Canadian Press). — Scarcity of experienced farm help in this part of the country has produced a serious problem, according to reports reaching the city. County farmers declared that if efforts to secure help fail many bountiful crops in Kent will go unharvested this year.

FOOT AMPUTATED.

WIARTON, Ont., July 24 (Canadian Press). — While at work in the lumber mill of C. T. Whicher, Colpers Bay, George McCullough got his foot cut in the slashing table.

Dr. Fooge, of Wiarton, was called and had McCullough taken to the Owen Sound Hospital.

His injuries were so severe that it was necessary to amputate the foot.

FOUR KILLED IN AUTO CRUSHED BY SMOKE STACK

Stack Fell in Detroit Street, Crowded With Automobiles—Several Were Hit.

LOOSENED BY WIND.

Fell From Roof of Eleven Storey Building.

DETROIT, July 24.—(Canadian Press).— Four persons are reported to have been killed and several injured when a large smokestack fell in the downtown district last evening. The stack is reported to have struck several automobiles when it fell into a street crowded with automobiles carrying people to their homes from work.

The stack, believed to have been weakened by action of wind and weather, fell from the roof of the Charlevoi Building, an eleven storey structire. Three of the persons killed were in one automobile parked in front of the structure.

PREMIER GOING WEST.

Extensive Autumn Tour Mapped Out For Mackenzie King.

CALGARY, Alta., July 23. — Premier King will come west in October this year and will probably speak at Calgary during the course of his trip. Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who was in Calgary on Wednesday morning, is authority for this statement. He said that the Premier intended to make an extensive tour of the west in the autumn.

Mr. Stewart also said that Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor, would probably visit the west within the next few days. He did not know whether Mr. Murdock's visit was the result of the coal strike situation in Alberta or not.

GOVERNMENT RESIGNS.

Situation Had Its Inception in the Prohibition Issue.

COPENHAGEN, July 24.—(United Press.)— The failure to put through a bill calling for abandonment of prohibition caused the resignation of the Danish Government to-day. The Lagting, or Upper House, defeated the proposal by a vote of 22 to 16, whereupon the Government stepped out. The Liberal leader, Nowinckel, who is an extreme dry, is expected to form a cabinet.

BOY DRAGGED BY COW.

Youth May Not Recover as Result of Experience.

PORT ARTHUR, July 24.—(Canadian Press)—With a chain wrapped around his waist, and the other end attached to a cow, ten-year-old Jimmy Gillespie, Duluth Road, was Tuesday noon dragged over rough and rocky country for a distance of 150 yards, sustaining injuries from which he remained unconscious up to midnight, and is still in a precarious condition.

GAS WELL A TORCH.

FORT COLLINS, Colo., July 24 (Canadian Press). — The Mitchell Gas Well, which came in last Saturday night, caught fire late yesterday. The well has flowing between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day.

It is located 13 miles north of here, and the flames can be seen from Fort Collins.

STOCK YARD FIRE.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 24 (Canadian Press). — The Portland Union Stock Yards, owned by Swift & Company, caught fire here yesterday afternoon.

The flames spread to the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition Building.

CROP ESTIMATE LOW.

EDMONTON, Alta., July 23.— Estimates of a 40,000,000 bushel wheat crop for Alberta this year are entirely too low, states R. H. Settle, manager of the Gillespie Grain Co. From reports received he estimates the yield this year at from 65,000,000 to 70,000,000 bushels.

MANY SETTLERS SEEKING FARMS

Colonel Smythe Was Appointed Supervisor of Colonization in Northern Ontario.

TORONTO, Ont., July 24.—(Canadian Press.) — Hon. James Lyons, Minister of Lands and Forests, announced yesterday the appointment of Col. W. R. Smythe, former M.P.P. for East Algoma, as supervisor of colonization and settlement in Northern Ontario, Colonel Smythe, who was one of the earliest pioneer settlers of Northern Ontario, will undertake his duties at once with a view to providing adequate accommodation for many settlers who are now making application for land in Northern Ontario.

"It is expected that under supervision of a pioneer settler like Col. Smythe, who thoroughly understands conditions of Northern Ontario, great assistance can be given to settlers not only in getting them properly located but in general supervision after they have been located," said Hon. Mr. Lyons in making the announcement, The appointment, said the Minister, constituted a step toward enlarged colonization policy effective in Northern Ontario. He explained that in effort at colonization of settlement, certain townships which could not be settled to advantage would be closed for that purpose, enlargement of settlements that have already been created so that greater assistance can be given in construction of roads, of schools, and other public conveniences has also been decided upon.

HUMAN FLY TO CLIMB THE EMPRESS HOTEL SATURDAY, JULY 26TH

The Man Who Climbed the Woolworth Building in New York, 63 Stories High.

Babe White, world's greatest daredevil and famous Human Fly, internationally known throughout the United States, Cuba, Mexico, and parts of Canada, is to climb the outside walls of the Empress Hotel Saturday, July 26th, at 2.30 and 7.30 p.m. Besides climbing the building he is to perform upside down stunts in mid-air, showing you that he has nerve in the air upside down as well as right side up, and it does not make him dizzy to look down. This and other stunts on the wall. Mr. White has been a professional daredevil for the last fifteen years, having climbed the Woolworth building, 63 stories, New York; L. C. Smith building, 42 stories, Amicable building, 22 stories, Waco, Texas; the Cathedral of Mexico and hundreds of other skyscrapers throughout the various countries.. This is Mr. White's first appearance in this city. He promises the citizens a high class exhibition of nerve, skill and ability, one that you seldom get a chance to see. A collection is taken up by Mr. White and assistants as compensation for his work. In the afternoon he will be dressed in gay colors and at night in white; also a powerful searchlight will be used so it will enable the crowds that come out to see every movement as plain as day.

Old legends tell of men who had the power to look down into the earth and see where gold and silver lay hidden.

MR. G. A. BRETHEN ON REDISTRIBUTION

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Your article, "East to Lose Separate Entity," apearing in Saturday's evening edition, has been brought to my attention. While I appreciate the space you have devoted to my address in the debate on Redistribution, there are some quotations that are absolutely the contrary of what was actually said or reported, and certain conclusions you have drawn are so utterly at variance with the actual fact that I cannot let them pass unanswered.

In the second paragraph of your Saturday article, you say: "Both Mr. Brethen and Mr. G. N. Gordon, the members from Peterborough, took a leading part in the debate, and although the former strongly resisted the bill it was shown that he failed to support the amalgamation of the two Peterbroughs on another occasion, and that he was satisfied at one time to accept a riding in lieu of the one he now represents, which would incur violation of county boundaries."

The only opportunity that any private member had to publicly voice his views regarding the disposition of his particular constituency, occurred when the final report of the Redistribution Commmittee came before the House of Commons on Tuesday, July 15th last. I accepted the oportunity. Every word I uttered on that occasion, as reported in Hansard of that date, establishes my position on the question of the union of the two Peterboroughs.

By misquoting the Hansard speech of Mr. Stewart of Leeds (under the heading "Changed Attitude") you make Mr. Stewart say, "When Peterborough County came for discussion before in the House, he moved that the two ridings in Peterboro County be consolidated into one, and to his surprise received no support from Mr. Brethen on that occasion."

Later on, you say: "He (Mr. Stewart) further stated that when he sponsored the retention of the two ridings constituting Hastings County, the member for East Peterboro was again silent."

I presume this is the basis of your charge in paragraph two that "it was shown Mr. Brethen failed to support the amalgamation of the two Peterboroughs on another occasion." Mr. Stewart's speech, Hansard, page 4711, proves Mr. Stewart never made the statement.
concerning the member for East Peterborough you have attributed to him. He did not, because no such situation as you have depicted ever existed.

I repeat, the only occasion upon which the disposition of East and West Peterborough and the two Hastings constituencies came before the House of Commons, was on Tuesday, 15th July last. The only resolution dealing with the union of the two Peterboroughs came before the House of Commons on the above date, and was moved by the member for East Peterborough.

Mr. Stewart, of Leeds, who was one of the Conservative members on the Ontario sub-committee on Redistribution, does refer to a situation in the sub-committee when he moved a resolution calling for the retaining of the county boundaries, which did not get the support of the two Progressive members, Messrs. King and Kennedy, on the committee. As all such committee meetings were closed to all except the members, of course I was not present. I understand, however, that at times there was not the utmost harmony in the committee and that on one occasion after the two Conservative members had repeatedly opposed resolutions proposed by the Progressives asking for the retention of the county boundaries in several Western Ontario constituencies, the two Progressive members refused to support Mr. Stewart's motion to unite the Peterboroughs. This situation was later reversed before the main committee, the Progressives moving for the union of the Peterboroughs and being voted down by the united vote of the Government and Conservative members on the committee.

Under the heading "Boundary Violation," you say, referring to the speech of Mr. MacDonald (Picton): "The latter pointed out that Mr. Brethen, on one occasion before the whole committee, strongly urged the joining of Rawdon and Huntingdon Townships to East Peterborough."

Wrong again! Here are the facts. The member for East Peterborough, or any other member as far as I know, never appeared in person before the main committee or the Ontario sub-committee on Redistribution. The Progressive members on the committee, however, strongly opposed the addition of Rawdon and Huntingdon to East Peterborough.

Mr. MacDonald's speech, page 4,712 Hansard, substantiates this.

With but one exception during the two years this question of Redistribution has been before the Parliament, I have never been charged by friend or foe that I have ever departed from the principle of retention of County Boundaries. Mr. MacDonald who was chairman of the Main Committee in defending the report of this Committee before the House tried to saddle me with responsibility for a proposition submitted by the Ontario Sub-Committee for joining all the present riding of East Peterboro with North Hastings.

I promptly corrected the statement of Mr. MacDonald in the folowing words, Hansard p 4713: "May I correcet the hon. gentlement? I wish to say that I never compromised myself as regards county boundaries. An alternative was suggested as a compromise butI stood first, last and all the time for the retention of county boundaries in Peterboro County. I cannot help what was done in the committee. Many things were done in the committee that I did not approve."

I am very sorry your correspondent has seen fit to present a matter of such vital interest to the people of the whole County of Peterboro in a manner so obviously untrue and unfair. I cannot believe the inaccuracies in statement and quotation contained in this article to be deliberately authorized by any trusted member of your staff but rather am I led to believe this the work of some inexperienced new-comer, with a careless disregard fo rthe truth, exhibited in almost every sentence not a quotation.

I have appreciated your editorial support on more than one occasion in favor of merging the Peterboros and believed I enjoyed your co-operation. In fairness to one who gave his best to fulfill the wishes of his constituents on this question, I trust you will give this letter the same publicity the article enjoyed, which I feel called upon to correct.

Respectfully yours,

COBOURG, July 23.—The death took place at Colborne a few days ago of Eliza Oliver, widow of the late John T. Nunn, who passed away in her 76th year. She was born at Enniskillen, Durham County but had resided at Colborne for the last 46 years. She is survived by two sons and a daughter. Chas. W. A New Ball Team

The little village of Wicklow, ten miles east of here in Haldimand Township has a baseball team that is coming into the limelight in that it has not been defeated this year. In a recent exhibition game with Colborne the score stood at the close 13-9 in favor of Wicklow. Wicklow will probably apply for admission to the Northumberland County League another season.

Matron at Kingston

Summer Season at Newcastle

Burglary at Newtonville

Mr. Frank Low's store at Newtonville, was broken into one night last week. Upon his return he found quite a large amount of cash and some boots and shoes to be missing. The police have the case in charge.

Thefts of Poultry

Mr. John Thompson, Orono, had fifty ducks stolen the other night and Mr. Thomas Andrews lost twenty-five. Thieving of this kind seems to be on the increase.

Durham Regimental Band

This district is to have another band. A regimental band has been organized for Durham County which will have its headquarters at Orono. Because of this the Orono Citizen's Band will probably wind up its affairs and become defunct for the time being at least.

COBOURG, July 23. — Cobourg and Port Hope Lawn Bowling Clubs have entered upon a series of home and home games to be played between the two clubs for a trophy presented by Mr. W. H. Hopper, of Cobourg, and Mr. Rosevear, of Port Hope. The games are awakening a lot of interest among the rinks of the two towns.

GREEK HAIR STYLES.

PARIS, July 23.—Parisian women are replacing shingled hair with a sort of Greek headdress, which consists of a band around the head, forcing all the hair back. The ears are tucked behind or left outside the band. In this way long hair can be grown again to replace the now unpopular shingle bob.

POTATOES IN SLUMP.

WAKEFIELD, Mass., July 23.—The American potato acreage for 1924 is 98.3 per cent. of the acreage area reported last year, figures of the New England Crop Reporting Service reveal. The figures show 3,753,000 acres under cultivation, compared with the 3,816,000 of last year.

NOTHING WRONG HERE.

MANCHESTER, England, July 23.—When Officer Callahan saw an automobile zig-zag into Peyton street recently and mount the sidewalk he arrested Ralph Coucher, the driver, for intoxication. "Why, he can't be drunk," said Mrs. Coucher. "We are just coming back from a temperance dance."

LEGAL TO MAKE DAD KEEP WIFE

Judicial Opinion in Honolulu Creates New Hold For Hubby.

HONULU, July 24.—A woman is not justified in deserting her husband because he compels her to live with his parents, according to a recent decision by the territorial supreme court.

In an opinion reversing the decision of a lower court, the supreme justice held that Kui Yim-fong, Chinese, was not entitled to a divorce from W. Fong on ground that he failed to support her.

Evidence adduced at the trial indicated that William's wife had deserted him because he could not provide her with a home other than the one he occupied with his parents. She then charged him with non-support because he refused to support her while she was living with friends.

"While the taking of a wife to the home of his parents," the court held, "is perhaps not the best and ideal method of supplying her with a home it cannot be said, as a matter of law, that that fact alone justified the wife in deserting her husband."

POWER FROM RIVER SHANNON

DUBLIN, July 24.—A Berlin firm has submitted to the Free State government detailed plans for the development of electrical power from the River Shannon. The plans provide for the annual production of four times as much electricity as the Free State now uses for all purposes.

GAVE A CONCERT.

Peterboro Girl Took Part in a Radio Concert.

Last Saturday's "Star," Toronto, contains a lengthy account of a radio concert given by The Star's radio station, CFCA, on Friday evening, when it re-entered the radio field after seventeen days' silence, with a concert given by vocal pupils of Signor Carboni, in which Miss Doris Rathbone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rathbone of Peterboro, figured prominently, both as a soloist and as a member of quartette groups.

The report says: "A brilliant and never-to-be-forgotten concert—one fitting for the inauguration of the new CFCA, was heard last night. Signor Carboni is to be congratulated on the masterful exhibition by his studio. The training and technique was evident, the inherent beauty of the voices, striking. Each showed a resourcefulness, a volume and quality of tone that is rarely heard over the radio. The numbers wer carefully chosen and were such as to extend a strong appeal to the thousands of invisible auditors."

There are several references to Miss Rathbone:

"Miss Doris Rathbone, who sang the contralto aria from "Samson and Delilah", was in splendid voice. The aria is really a duet with the tenor, but the latter, relatively unimportant, is generally omitted for concert purposes. The dramatic object is to make a slave of Samson to the charms of Deliah, whose amativeness is voiced in the opening line, "My heart at thy dear voice opens as the flowers open to the kisses of sun-rise." The music is in Saint Saens' typically elegant style and has received great vogue. The range of voice demanded greatly taxes the singer, but Miss Rathbone never once faltered. Her finale was particularly pleasing."

Miss Rathbone also took part in a vocal rendition of the popular Sextette from "Lucia di Lammermoor," in which the "ensemble effect was perfect," and in the quartette from the last act of Verdi's "Rigoletto."

BOY ARCHITECT.

LIVERPOOL, England, July 23.—Liverpool Cathedral, which will be the largest in Great Britain when it is finished, was designed by a 20-year-old architect, Gilbert Scott. His designs were accepted in a competition which 103 noted architects entered.

HIDE "THE KISS."

TOKIO, July 23.—The introduction of kissing into Japan must not be encouraged, authorities have decided. Rodin's masterpiece, "The Kiss," at the French Art Exhibition here, has been covered by bamboo screens. The picture was shown for three months in Osaka, however, without any apparent effect on the morals of the people.

BERLIN ADOPTS QUICK DRINKING.

BERLIN, July 24. — A "drink it standing up" bar, designed along the lines of the American quick lunch stands, is making inroads upon the old-fashioned Berlin beer halls, where Germans for many years have been accustomed to sit about for hours and sip their beer.

In the "stand-up" the customer gets his beer at the bar, pays for it and steps over to a waist-high table where there are no chairs.

Here he drinks his beer in a minute or two, instead of an hour or so, and hurries off to his business.

RECTOR IS COWBOY.

WEMBLEY, England, July 23.—First prize winner in the amateur bronco-riding competition at a rodeo held here recently was the Rev. Harold V. Hodson, a Cirencester rector. The Rev. Hodson now is known as the "rector-cowboy." The King and Queen of Denmark witnessed the exhibition.

CAREFUL DRIVING NEEDED.

The paving of the Kingston Highway between Oshawa and Bowmanville has commenced and traffic is being diverted via a road two concessions north of Oshawa.

The detour chosen perhaps is the best that is available but the road is extremely narrow in places and makes a poor channel for the constant stream of motor cars that travel over the provincial highway.

Many Peterborough motorists are accustomed to drive to Oshawa and Toronto and for their benefit it may be stated that the detour calls for careful driving.

The paving of the highway will be welcomed—but it is unfortunate that at the height of the tourist season suc a long link should be closed to traffic and a detour of such proportions made necessary.

The traffic is very heavy and the road chosen to take care of it is likely to be in bad shape before long.

Motorists will have to put up with the inconvenience as a necessary evil, consoling themselves with the ultimate benefit that will ensue when the paving operations are finally completed.

WHY NOT IN 1927?

From time to time in these columns it has been suggested that Peterborough should again consider giving an opportunity to those who previously lived in the City to re-visit the old home town during a period of celebration set aside particularly for that purpose.

A great number of towns and cities during the past years have successfully "put over" such celebrations, and have advertised their municipality accordingly, besides giving an opportunity for ex-residents to renew old acquaintances.

It is believed, however, that to celebrate some historical event on the occasion of the Re-union would add considerably to its attractiveness.

The year of 1927 marks the occasion of the hundredth anniversary of the founding of Peterborough. Let 1927 be the year set aside to review the development in one hundred years, and bring the former residents back on this occasion to celebrate with us.

With two years intervening it would be possible to arrange to hold the 1927 conventions and annual excursions of province wide organizations in Peterborough, and thereby make the hundredth anniversay of Peterborough a year never to be forgotten.

THE PEOPLE DO NOT FORGET.

Hon. Mr. Raney must be of the opinion that the people of Ontario have short memories when he declares that there are conditions existing under the Ontario Temperance Act that the Government could wipe ou in twenty-four hours if it went about the task in the right way.

The Examiner holds no brief for Attorney-General Nickle.

It may be that under his administration there are too many violations of the Temperance Act.

It is a difficult matter to enforce any measure when a large percentage of the community is opposed to the legislation.

Be that as it may Mr. Raney shows unusual recklessness in declaring that the existing conditions could be cleaned out in twenty-four hours.

For the people have not forgotten that Mr. Raney had charge of the enforcement of the Act for a long period.

He did not clean up the conditions in twenty-four hours or in twenty-four months.

He did not prevent bootlegging, or the illicit sale of liquor on a large scale.

But he did succeed in arousing the resentment of a very considerable proportion of the people by interfering with magistrates, his narrow attitude toward the whole question and the prosecution of minor offenders while the chief culprits escaped.

Hon. Mr. Raney can accomplish most for the cause of prohiibtion by keeping discreetly silent during the campaign.

DODGING THE TAX MAN.

Fifty-five billion dollars of wealth escapes the tax collectors in the United States. That's enough to make 55,000 millionaires. So reports National Industrial Conference Board after an extensive check-up. This board is the most scientific and thorough statistics-gathering outfit. Its figures are used widely in settling labor-capital disputes.

The board is a conservative organization. And its figures are conservative, as usual.

It doesn't take into account the billions of dollars that evade taxation by the help of crafty tax-dodging lawyers and bookkeepers—experts in finding loopholes.

Out of this total 55,000 million dollars that escapes taxes, 34,000 millions represents Liberty Bonds and other tax-exempt securities issued by the national, state and local government.

Rich and poor have the privilege of participating in this branch of tax exemption. The joker is that these tax-free securities gradually drift into the hands of banks and rich individuals and corporations.

And stay there.

The board's other figures should be considered by every reader, to clear up a lot of confused ideas.

For instance, among tax-exempt property are these:

One thousand millions in "foundations."

Bringing it down to a nutshell: Tax-exempt wealth is a sixth of the national wealth of the United States, and equal roughly to a third of all property assessed under the general property tax.

As civilization gets older, the tendency is for taxes to be shifted increasingly (directly and indirectly) to the poor and to people of moderate means. The rich progressively escape. They have the money to find or create avenues of escape.

THE WEATHER.

By JOHN CARLYLE

It would add wonderfully to the happiness of the world if we might all come to realize that the weather, like the Kingdom of God, is within us.

In the rain and cold of a backward spring we cry for the warmth of the summer-time. When the summer-time comes we complain bitterly of the heat.

Human tendency is to over-rate the weather. We let it have an exaggerated effect on the system. As a matter of fact we should all be so concerned with more important matter that we are left impervious by a mater of so little vital moment as the daily weather.

A philosophy that won't withstand the rainstorm and the grey, dismal days is a philosophy that is no good.

A philosophy that can be overturned by the heat and the cold isn't worth acquiring or carrying as a part of life's equipment.

A certain brilliant playright has written a play to prove what the tropics can do for the human soul. Morals, he says, is a matter of longtitude and lassitudes.

No doubt climate has had a profound effect on human beings.

Thomas Henry Buckle, one of the most learned men who ever lived and wrote books, sets forth to prove in his famous "History of Civilization" that most of the habits of mankind are the products of geography.

Man behaves, he thinks, according to latitude and longtitude and climate.

Geography and climate and all material surroundings do have a deep influence on the lives of men.

But men have the power to overcome the material, natural forces which weigh them down.

Men have the power to achieve victory through the adjustment to circumstances.

Don't make an alibi out of the weather.

Don't let down because you are uncomfortable.

Don't let climate warp your ideals.

The weather is within you.

FERGUSON VS. LAPOINTE.

Premier Ferguson of Ontario has raised a question in connection with Mr. Lapointe's proposal to amend the British North America Act with a view to meeting extra-territorial needs which will arouse quite as much interest in Quebec as in Ontario. Mr. Ferguson says that, in his judgment and in the judgment of the officers of the Crown at Toronto, the Lapointe resolution interferes with the basis of our compact in Confederation. More definitely, Mr. Ferguson fears that the powers asked in the Lapointe resolution might enable the Federal Parliament at some future time to invade the field of Provincial Rights, and to curtail or abrogate privileges conferred upon the Provinces at Confederation.

If the Lapointe resolution or memorial really does this, Mr. Lapointe and his colleagues from Quebec should be the first to fear and oppose it. The basis of Confederation was intended to protect minorities. Majorities are usually thought able to protect themselves. The predominate element in Quebec Province—for which Mr. Lapointe especially speaks—is in a minority in the Dominion. It enjoys certain rights guaranteed it by the British North America Act. It should and would be the last section of our population to desire to weaken these guarantees.

The phrasing of Mr. Ferguson's speech seems to indicate that he understands that Mr. Lapointe proposes to ask the British Parliament to permit the Canadian Parliament to amend the Constitution. Of course, this can only be a mis-reading of the resolution. The resolution sets forth the amendment which Mr. Lapointe desires to see incorporated in the British North America Act, and then adds "that His Majesty's Government be respectfully requested to promote the necessary legislation for the sanctioning of the said enactment." That is, our Parliament will memorialize the British Parliament to amend the B. N. A. Act—something which has been done repeatedly in the past.

Still a similar question was raised in the House debate on the resolution by Mr. Baxter, thus showing that it has found a lodgment in many minds. Mr. Baxter's argument was that, if the laws of the Dominion Parliament were given extra-territorial power while the laws of the Provincial Legislatures had no such power, the Dominion Parliament might on some occasion attempt to legislate on a subject reserved to the Provinces under the excuse that it only desired to cover the extra-territorial phases of the subject. He proposed to remove this danger by inserting a clause which would limit the powers of the Dominion Parliament to accomplish this end to enactments "otherwise within its legislative authority." It is a pity that Mr. Lapointe did not accept this amendment, even if it does only seem to assert the obvious. It might turn up useful some day in view of the overlapping powers of the Dominion and the Provinces.

Speaking generally, we should only tamper with the Constitution when the need is very plain and great. We can put up with minor inconveniences for quite a time rather than call in question the Ark of the Convenant. Mr. Lapointe might also consider the perils of getting "a bad name." He has created in the public mind a general belief that in every possible way he is striving to attenuate our connection with the Empire. If it were not for this sedulously-fostered impression, it is hardly likel ythat Mr. Ferguson could have made much of a point against the Minister of Justice on a resolution dealing with so mysterious and little understood a matter as "extra-territoriality." But if Mr. Lapointe keeps on alarming the loyalists of Canada, they will be able to attack him successfully for squaring the hypothenuse.—Montreal Star.

COURT DEFINES 'FIRSTCLASS'

BERLIN, July 24.—To advertise an article as of "prime quality" does not really mean that it must be firstclass, says the German court of commerce at Bamberg. All that is necessary is that the article shall be better than the average. If a merchant wants to indicate that something is really firstclass, he should use the double superlative "prima-prima", or the Italian "primissima." Only if he uses either of these superlatives can he be sued of article is not all that is claimed for it.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 23.—Tuesday's sales of cattle at the Union Stock Yards amounted to 1,155 head, against receipts of 1,207. This left around 600 head unsold on Tuesday. For today the receipts were 62 cars, 544 cattle, 382 calves, 1,639 hogs and 701 sheep and lambs. There was not much improvement in business this morning with the only real demand for light useful butchers. For these the asked prices were a dollar a cwt. over Monday and some 800-lb. butchers' heifers sold at $6.25 a cwt. were better by 50 cents a cwt. than on Tuesday.

The Old Country market is down a dollar a cwt. on cattle and this has compelled buyers to drop their bids. The exporters were going through the pens this morning and will take anything worth the money to carry for shipment next week. Dunn & Levack bought two loads of steers and one of heifers on order for export. These were around 1,180 lbs. each and the steers were bought at $6.50 and the heifers at $6.75 a cwt.

The best price paid for a few handyweight butchers was $6.75 a cwt. For a load of heavies not quite suitable for exports $6.40 was paid. One baby beef, 600 lbs. sold at $9.25 and more of these are wanted. Export heifers are not now wanted and a load in the yards stands without a bid. Butchers' cows were readily bought this morning at about steady prices. There is little more movement in stockers and loads of fairly good ones about 900 lbs. sold today at $5.25 a cwt. Trade was active around noon and there is a possibility of almost clearing the yards today.

Calves are maintaining a very steady market, although the tops today were not above 9½ cents. Good calves are 8½ to 9 cents and mediums 7 to 8 cents. Heavy calves are 5 to 6 cents and grassers 3½ to 5 cents.

Lambs off the road sold at 15½ cents for the first sale this morning. Loads off cars sold at 16 cents for the choice with bucks at 14 cents. Cull lambs brought 10 to 12 cents. Sheep ranged from 5 to 6 cents.

Hogs are coming in too slow to make any weakness in prices and the $8.25 a cwt. f.ob. bid was in effect again to-day.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 24 (Canadian Press). — Wheat went whirling upward to-day 8 cents a bushel. News of black rust in Canada set loose an extraordinary buying stampede which was goaded on also through estimates that drought damage to the Canadian wheat crop would amount to more than half as much as last year's total Canadian harvest.

The wheat market closed excited 6 1-8c to 7 1-4c net higher, September $1.30 to $1.30 1-8, and December $1.32 5-8 to $1.32 7-8.

Corn finished 2 1-4c to 4 1-8c up; oats showing 1 3-4c to 2 3-8c gain; and provisions at 15c to 50c advance.

All previous top price records for wheat this season were eclipsed as the market went skyward. Strangely in contrast, considerable uncertainty had been shown at the opening, first trades varying from a full cent decline to an equal upturn. The initial weakness was ascribed to eleventh hour liquidating sales on the part of holders who apparently believed that on account of recent rains in Canada

METHODISTS RENEW PROHIBITION FAITH

Conferences Review Results of Wet and Dry Regimes in Provinces; Not Weakening Anywhere.

TORONTO, July 24. — Opponents of Prohibition have been eager to discern a tiny cloud on the Methodist horizon. First, they interpreted the action of the American Methodists on the amusement question and then they forecasted a weakening of the Canadian Methodist attitude toward the use of alcoholic beverages.

Action by the annual conferences in the Dominion gives the lie to the rumours tht have been in circulation.

Methodism is drier than ever.

In certain Canadian newspapers at the time of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church in May an attempt was made to suggest that world-wide Methodism was modifying its stand on Prohibition. Nothing that would lend colour to such a thought has been discovered in the findings of the more recent annual conferences of Canadian Methodism. In the provinces where the beverage sale of liquor has been restored the Methodist conferences have joined with their brethren of the dry provinces to renew their confession of faith in Prohibition.

The British Columbia Conference again asserts its positive conviction that "the only effective method for the removal of the evils that attend the beverage use of intoxicating liquors is a law which will prohibit the manufacture, importation and sale for these purposes." "Government control" as a method of eliminating the evils of drinking is branded by the conference as a "complete failure."

"We reaffirm our unshaken conviction that the only final and satisfactory solution of the evils of the liquor traffic is total Prohibition for the state, and total abstinence for the individual," reads the resolution adopted by the Alberta Conference, which goes on to denounce Government sale in the strongest terms.

In view of the plebiscite set for 16th July in that Province, the Saskatchewan Conference altered for this year the rule that ministers reach their new circuits on 1st July, and instructed them to remain on their present fields until 17th July.

The Montreal Conference explicitly reaffirmed the historic Methodist position of unalterable and absolute opposition to the liquor traffic, asserted the "utter failure" of the Quebec system and noted "with satisfaction the benefits that have come to Ontario by the operation of the Ontario Temperance Act."

Confidence in the Ontario Temperance Act, and in its enforcement, and belief that the people of the province heartily endorse the present law were the feelings voiced by the Toronto Conference.

"The Liquor Control Act stands condemned as having signally and tragically failed to control or reduce the trade in alcoholic beverages; as having introduced drinking into many homes which previously were free from it ,and as having greatly increased drinking among our young people," concludes the Manitoba Conference findings after eight months' experience with Government sale in that province.

Advocacy of measures leading to a return of total Prohibition is urged by the British Columbia, Montreal, Alberta, and Manitoba Conferences. These conferences are all of the opinion that the various laws grouped under the name of Government control have led to great bootlegging activity in the four provinces concerned.

The cimplete text of the findings in other conferences has not yet been received by the Department of Evangelism and Social Service, but it is known that all have taken advanced ground.

Perhaps the most detailed and clear-cut arraignment of the 'control' measures from the Methodist standpoint is made by the Manitoba Conference, which cites statistics and various evidence to prove that the Government Liquor Control Act of Mantoba has not moderated the operations of moonshiners, bootleggers and rum-runners. Legal sales and drunkenness are said to have increased considerably under the permit system.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

NEWS FROM DOURO.

Little Girl Cut By a Hay Mower—Now in Hospital.

DOURO, July 24.—A distressing accident happened on Monday when a young daughter of Mr. Ed. Leahy had her foot badly cut by a mower knife. It appears that Mr. Leahy had found a turkey's nest while mowing, and had called the girl to get the eggs. While his attention was taken up trying to avoid driving over the nest the child came too close, with the result that the mower knife cut her foot just above the heel. Tendons, arteries and veins were severed and the bone cut. Dr. Munro, of Warsaw, was called, and after administering first aid, advised the parents to take her to Peterboro hospital, where an anaesthetic was given and the injured foot attended to. It will be some time before the child will be able to be about again.

Much credit is due Miss Mary Begley for the success of her entrance pupils, the four who tried all succeeding, one of them, Miss Mary Leahy, being the only student who wrote at Warsaw to obtain honors. The other schools made a very good showing also.

Miss Mary Lynch, of Otonabee, has been engaged as teacher in S.S. No. 9.

Mr. A. Sloan, of Dummer, has been engaged as teacher in S. S. No. 12.

Besides causing the ruin of the pea-crop, the "pea-louse" is now blamed for the death of quite a number of turkeys. It is said that when the turkeys frequent the pea-fields the insect get on their bodies in such numbers that the irritation causes death. Turkey-raising is a very uncertain business, as so many things can happen the young poults.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Garvey, of Peterboro, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Healey.

Mr. Frank McCarthy, of Peterboro, was a week-end visitor with Mr. and Mrs. T. Forsythe.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Rita McMurray on her success in her Normal School examination.

Mrs. Veronica Faux, of Norwood, spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. D. O'Brien, last week.

A very heavy shower fell on Tuesday afternoon, which will help the crops. Quite a bad electric storm accompanied the rain.

Quite a number of local people motored to Rice Lake on Sunday.

Miss Agnes Sweeney was a visitor with her aunt, Mrs. Ellen English, of Asphodel, last week.

KILLARNEY VILLAGERS.

They Need the Pre-War Tourist Trade Very Badly.

KILLARNEY, Ireland, July 24.—An American heiress with a large income and a few million dollars for the restoration of the mansion on the estate of the Earl of Kenmare would be highly appreciated by the entire population of the village of Killarney.

The Kenmare mansion was destroyed by fire many years ago and the village sighs for the return of the days when the dwelling ranked as one of the most magnificent in the British Isles.

Killarney has had lean years since the opening of the great war but now tourists, the source of the chief income of the village of 5,000 which is better known abroad, perhaps, than any other scenic spot in Ireland, are beginning to come again.

AUTO SMUGGLING.

This is a Profitable Business Along German Frontier.

BERLIN, July 24.— Automobile smugglers have been operating in Germany. This fact came to light reecntly when government agents swooped down upon the Avus speedway, between Berlin and Potsdam, set up a guard at either end and confiscated a lot of cars of American and other foreign makes, the owners of which could not produce papers to show that they had paid the import duties.

Government officials announce that a great many foreign cars were brought into Germany this spring through the occupied territory along the western frontiers, where there are no customs officials. Most of them came from France, and paid no import tax.

IRISH WILL CELEBRATE.

DUBLIN, July 24. — Professor John MacNeill, minister of education, reminds Irishmen that in a little more than seven years 15 centuries will have passed since the mission of St. Patrick to Ireland. He urges that the nation at once consider how the centenary ought to be commemorated.

Religious celebrations will be a matter of course, and visitors from many countries are expected to take part in them. Dr. MacNeill pleads for a commemoration which will leave permanent memorials, and suggests the institution of a library of Irish history in uniform volumes to be published under the direction of a corporate body of competent scholars, with a suitable endowment.

U. S. GOLD PRODUCTION.

Since 1915 There Has Been a Steady Decrease.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Canada by 1926 will displace the United States as second among the gold producing countries of the world, in the opinion of Louis D. Huntoon, New York mining engineer and a former professor of mining and metallurgy at Yale University. Canada is now third, Africa ranking first.

Mr. Huntoon, after a prolonged study of the Dominion's gold districts, reports his conclusions in the official journal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Canada's output of gold is increasing rapidly, he says, while in the United States since 1915 there has been a rapid decline.

PECULIARITIES OF CANADIAN VEGETATION

New Map Shows Areas of Various Forms of Vegetation, and Emphasizes Striking Features of Tree Growth.

Lack of knowledge of climatic and vegetation conditions has caused many prominent travellers and visitors to Canada to unjustly criticize this country. The same and in many cases greater ignorance of Canadians has permitted much of this unjust criticism to pass unanswered and unrefuted with the result that Canada has often been unfairly condemned.

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service or the Department of the Interior, partly as a result of the great number of enquiries received, has prepared and published an exceedingly interesting Vegetation and Forest Cover Map of Canada. This map shows at a glance the different zones of vegetation and their chief distinguishing characteristics, from what are known as the barren lands, that are in no sense barren but support a growth of hardy grass and vegetation peculiar to the cold climate, to what is termed the Carolinian zone, in southwestern Ontario, where is found almost sub-tropical vegetation in the fruit belt.

The enormous area of Canada must o fnecessity provide a wide range of vegetation and forest conditions. In the northern country, extending from the shore of Hudson bay to the Mackenzie delta, the white spruce struggles for existence, while on the southeastern portion of Vancouver island are found a number of Californian types of trees, the most remarkable being the Madrona, or arbutus, the only broad-leaved evergreen tree in Canada.

The new map is an intensely interesting one, and one that will conduce to much study and investigation. An immense amount of hitherto unpublished information is shown thereon, much research work was entailed, and the notes of explorers and surveyors, from those of Sir Alexander MacKenzie, Sir John Franklin, Samuel Hearn and others to the more modern survey and explorations of the different Federal and Provincial government departments, were carefully examined for authentic records. To the students of Canadian conditions the new map will be of much assistance in enabling him to segregate the several vegetation zones, approximate the possibilities of forest exploitation, and establish the areas of known farming districts.

From north to south, from east to west, all the wonderful changes in our natural vegetation are vividly portrayed on the new Vegetation and Forest Cover Map. It fills a want long experienced, and will no doubt be in considerable demand. Copies may be obtained from the Director of the Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa.

Germans Cool to Sodas.

BERLIN, July 24.—"Eis creme soda" has arrived in Berlin, but so far has been regarded more as a curiosity than as a quencher of thirst. Dealers say they expect the sodas to take well with the public as soon as the weather becomes hot, and the people once get a taste of the combination drink which helped to make America famous over here.

Bears Killed With Bow.

CORDOVA, Alaska, July 24.—Despite the fact that the majority of hunters in Alaska use rifles and shot guns for game, a hunting party composed of three men and two women returned here in June from the Yakataga district with seven brown bears killed by bow and arrow.

the rise in values had reached the maximum.

At this juncture, however, it became known that advices from Chicago experts investigating drought damage in Alberta, pointed to conditions far worse than any heretofore published, one authority estimating the Alberta yield this season at only 40,000,000 bushels, compared with 166,000,000 bushels last year.

Then a nearly vertical rise began that suddenly became a wartime reminder when a half hour before the close of the wheat market the trade was apprised that serious black rust infection was menacing the crop in Manitoba, where the Canadian drought had done relatively little harm.

The fact that this news came from one of the most experienced crop observers in the United States left virtually no room for doubt so far as Chicago traders were concerned, and the soaring of prices reached a stage seldom equalled.

Purchasing attained mammoth proportions and the market climbed 8 cents from the day's low point early. Despite heavy profit-taking and the execution of numerous stop-loss orders, the market closed at only a fractional setback from the top level reached.

FABLES ON HEALTH

Keep the skin in good condition!

That was another admonition of the Mann family doctor to Mrs Mann at the time she was preparing for motherhood.

Proper attention to the bath is the best way to insure a good active skin. Warm tub baths each day are essential.

"But avoid soaking yourself in hot water," the doctor warned. "There are some persons who are accustomed to cold baths who suffer no ill effects from their continuance, but generally speaking they are inadvisable.

"The thing to remember is the warm bath. Some prefer the morning to the evening; the time is a matter of personal preference, the important thing is to take one each day.

"For there is nothing like a bath for stimulating skin health and this is a time when skin health is mighty important to a woman."

CHANGES IN PRICES.

Nearly all foods have a seasonal rise and fall in price. By learning these you can buy when prices are reasonable and save money.

Soaking takes the place of rubbing—

JUST by soaking the clothes in the suds of this new soap, dirt is gently loosened and dissolved.

Even the dirt that is ground in at neckbands and cuff-edges yields to a light rubbing with dry Rinso. Not a thread is weakened. The mild Rinso suds work thoroughly through and through the clothes without injury to a single fabric.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. For the family wash it is as wonderful as Lux is for fine things.

All grocers and department stores sell Rinso.

PRIESTLY BRONCHO BUSTER

LONDON, July 24.—Clothed in full clerical garb with the exception of his coat, Reverend Harold Hodson, a Church of England clergyman, essayed the difficult task of riding a broncho in the competitions for amateurs which took place recently at the rodeo at the Wembley Exhibition. Although the parson only remained on the back of his mount for six seconds, this time is longer than most of the other amateur horsemen who have tried to make a "qualified cowboy ride" in the Stadium.

Sudden shocks and rough roads

CULVERTS, rough roads, ruts, loose gravel, sand and holes—your tires get all the shocks and wear first, last and all the time.

Shocks cause internal friction; friction develops heat and heat is the enemy of tire durability.

In Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires, built exclusively in Canada by the Web Cord process, internal friction and heat caused by cross threads, are now eliminated.

Sprayed Rubber used in the walls and treads of Dominion Cord Tires gives the greatest elasticity, strength and resilience to the tire.

When you equip your car with Dominion Royal Cord or U-cord Tires you will have tires which will give greatest mileage under the punishment of rough roads.

These new, exclusive improvements in Dominion Cord Tires add nothing to your tire costs—they are added values for your money.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarreled, and who had gone abroad. Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise, she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavior, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. At last matters reach a crisis, and Paul orders Wanda out of the house. She goes up to London with Mrs. Garnet, her one friend, with whom she is to live. The day after she arrives, Clare's brother Harry, the "black sheep" of the family, comes home unexpectedly, and falls in love with Wanda. Paul comes to see Wanda and she realizes, all too late, that it is Paul she really loves. He objects to her friendship with Harry Courtney, whom he distrusts. Wanda discovers that Paul is paying for her to live with Mrs. Garnet, and immediately leaves, having written to Harry to say that she will marry him. She asks him to meet her at Victoria Station the next day. But he fails her, and while she is waiting Paul finds her. He tells her Courtney is a thief. Then he asks her to come back to Grey-Chumleys with him. And she consents to marry him.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XXXV.—WANDA'S DECISION.

Wanda lay awake all night in her big room at the Savoy, feeling as if she were in a dream.

She was to marry Paul to-morrow! It sounded like the veriest nonsense. She would be Paul's wife in another few hours—of course, it could not be true.

She closed her eyes and tried to think calmly, but all she could remember was the sound of his voice and the expression of his eyes.

A queer, half-mocking expression it had been, and sudden fear shot through her heart.

Supposing he had not meant what he said? Supposing he was just trying to humiliate her afresh? She tried not to think of such a possibility, but the conviction grew stronger in her heart.

He did not love her; why, then, should he wish to marry her?

He had boasted that he was strong enough to break her; was this his method of going to work? To say he would marry her, and then treat her as Courtney had done?

Her heart grew cold. Had he guessed that she loved him, and was that knowledge to make him cruel?

When morning came she had worked herself into a frenzy of conviction. Paul would not come, she was sure, or if he did, it would only be to tell her he had not meant what he said.

She meant to leave the hotel before Paul came; she would not permit him his triumph; she would show him that she was not so easily mastered.

She drank a cup of tea, surprised to find how she was trembling.

What was the matter with her? She felt that if anyone spoke to her she would burst out crying; there were tears in her eyes when she put on her gloves. Only half-past nine! Paul would not be here for hours yet, she was sure; perhaps he would not come at all.

Well, if he did, he would find that she had gone, and even as the thought filled her mind she heard his voice outside.

"Wanda."

"Come in," she said breathlessly.

Paul glanced quickly round the room as he entered.

"I thought you did not mean to keep your word to me," he said.

"What do you mean?"

He pointed to her packed suitcase.

"You were going to run away again."

She tried to face him defiantly.

"Because I knew you did not mean what you said, either. I knew you were only trying to punish me—trying to—to 'break' me, as you said last night."

Paul looked at her silently for a moment, then he covered the ground between them in a stride and took her in his arms.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

A TRIP TO MEXICO

"Why, that's a Christmas flower," cried Nancy.

A queer flower was growing in the magic garden the next night when Johnny Jump Up and the Twins climbed down the rose vine.

It looked very bright in the moonlight.

"Why, that's a Christmas flower," cried Nancy. "Mother gets a pot of them every Christmas."

"Yes, you're right," said the little fairy man. "It is a Christmas flower, but it has another name—a long queer name that I suppose you will forget the minute I tell you. But that doesn't matter. It is called poin-set-tia."

"Does it grow up where Santa Claus lives?" asked Nick.

"No," said Johnny Jump Up. "It grows in the south. Even further south than we have been on our travels. In fact, it grows in another country altogether, called Mexico."

Just then Tommy Titmouse came hopping up. "Say," he said crossly. "Is that where we're going to-night—to Mexico?"

"Yes, sir!" said the little garden fairy. "That's where we're going, Tommy."

"Then for the land's sake," said Tommy, "why aren't we moving? That's some distance to travel before sun-up. Where are your tickets? I can't take passengers without tickets."

"That's so," said Johnny Jump Up. "I'll have to find out if the Fairy Queen sent them."

"Yes, she did and here they are!" cried another little fairy, suddenly appearing on one of the red velvet blossoms. She was very beautiful, the new little fairy was, and she was dressed in a sort of Spanish dress. She had a high comb in her hair with a lace scarf over it.

"Oh, are you a Mexican fairy?" asked Nancy.

"Yes!" nodded the tiny creature. "And I hope you will like Mexico."

Before Nancy had time to answer, Tommy Titmouse hopped up on a green stem beside her. "Just let me see the tickets," he said, "and I'll punch them with my bill. All aboard for Mexico!"

Away went the three of them, Nancy and Nick and Johnny Jump Up, on Tommy's brown back.

"Keep on going until you come to the Panama Canal, Tommy," said Johnny Jump Up. "Here we are. Stop on top of this mountain."

So Tommy stopped and they all looked down at the canal, which is a sort of river through the mountains.

"A few years ago," said Johnny Jump Up, "the canal wasn't here. It was all mountains just like this mountain we are on. The Atlantic ocean was on one side and the Pacific ocean on the other side of these mountains.

"But some men thought they could fix it so the boats could go through. After digging hard for several years with thousands of men, they go enough of the mountain cut away so that the oceans could meet. And that is the Panama Canal."

Johnny talked so much, I'll have to tell you about the rest of the trip tomorrow.

GENERALS LOST GAME YESTERDAY

Three Pitchers Used by the Locals in Effort to Stem the Tide.

HARD FOUGHT GAME.

COBOURG, July 24.—Three pitchers were used last evening by the C.G.E. team in an effort to stem the flow of Dye Works' runs, but without effect, as the Dye Works hit each pitcher hard and often, and some of those on the Dye Works team who never got a hit before came through with doubles and singles yesterday. The C.G.E. put up a hard fight, but lost out in the last inning when the Dye Mixers collected 4 runs, making the score 13 to 10 in their favor. The Generals came back in the last frame, but it was so dark that the ball was hardly visible, and they went out in order before Piper, who had replaced Schaefer on the mound in the fifth inning.

Scotty Galbraith started on the mound for the Generals, but after he had been touched for two runs and three hits in one and one-third innings, he was derricked to the dugout. Galbraith worked hard, but the odds were all against him, as there were eight right-hand hitters on the Cobourg line-up. He fanned one in the first inning. Bun Frost was Manager Primeau's next choice to do the heaving. He was no better than Galbraith, and was touched for four hits and four runs in the first inning he pitched.

He held his position on the mound for the next three and one-third innings but was touched for 3 hits and 6 more runs. Jeff Hardill was then called upon but he was far off colour and the first man to face him drew a walk, the next singled, and the third doubled, adding another run. Hardill was then yanked, and Frost once more took the mound and finished the game.

The C.G.E. scored two in the first, two in the second, one in the third, one in the fourth and four in the fifth, but were blaked in the sixth and seventh.

At the end of the second inning the Dye Works were leading by the score of six to four, but the Generals made it 6-5 in their next frame.

The Dye Mixers collected one more in the third while a home run by Dugan in the fourth made the score 7 to 6. The Cobourg nine went scoreless in the fourth while the Generals collected five hits and four runs in the fifth, advancing three in front of the Dye Mixers. It looked like a victory for the Generals at this stage but the Cobourg lads came back with two in the fifth and four in the sixth, winning out by 13 to 10.

Schaefer started the heaving for the Cobourg nine, but was replaced in the fifth inning after he had been felt for 10 hits and nine runs, by Piper, the giant southpaw. Piper was touched for two hits and one run before he retired the side in the fifth, but in the sixth and seventh the Generals went out in order before him.

Jeff Hardill was the heavy hitter for the Generals, getting two singles and a double in four trips to the plate, while Gordon, in left field for the winners, was the outstanding player of the game. He reaped in three hard flies, got two runs and three hits in four trips to the plate.

BUILDING

One industry that hasn't slipped is building. For May the 157 leading cities report new building permits to per cent. more than in May, 1923. Possibly increased prices represent the 10 per cent gain, but the actual physical volume of building is about the same as a year ago, and that means it couldn't be much more.

The nation is spending three and a half billion dollars a year for new buildings, including homes. This pace, continued, will eventually lower rents.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Rebekah Lodge Favored With Visit From District Deputy—Treating the Roads.

MILBROOK, July 24.— "Golden Sheaf" Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, was favored with an official visit from the District-Deputy President, Sister Margaret Baldwin, of Lindsay, on Tuesday evening when the regular Lodge session was held. The Noble Grand, Sister Irene Fallis, occupied the chair, and the visiting Grand Lodge official gave a brief address during the evening, congratulating the Lodge on the efficient manner in which its work is being carried on.

A social hour was enjoyed at the close giving an opportunity for a better acquaintnace with the visitors from the sister Lodge at Lindsay who included, besides Mrs. Baldwin, Sisters, E. Wickett, District Secretary-treasurer, M. Davidson and M. Bryson, Mr. G. Baldwin of Lindsay, also accompanied the party in their visit to the sister organization, this being the first time, since her election as District-Deputy President, that Sister Baldwin has been present at "Golden Sheaf" Lodge.

Dust Nuisance.

A second attempt has been made this week to abate the dust nuisance on King Street with an application of calcium chloride. The first coating, given a short time ago, was not successful because of too much surface dust. The fire engine was brought into use, the road bed washed clean with the hose, and the loose dirt scraped and carted away, before the chloride was put on this time. Seven tons extra had been received for the second trial, and better success is hoped for. McCorry Bros. were in charge of the work.

So far, on the side streets, the first application has been all that was expected, and a considerable improvement on other seasons when practically nothing was done to lay the dust other than watering part of the main street.

ADOPT EMPIRE

The government, he said, was prepared to co-operate in a trial of the new "beam" system and an agreement would shortly be submitted for the approval of the House of Commons whereby the Marconi Company would be capable of extension to South Africa, India and Australia. The installations, added the minister would be accepted and paid for by the government only if they fulfilled certain guarantees, namely, communication at the rate of one hundred 5-letter words per minute for 18 hours daily between Britain and Canada, 11 hours between Britain and South Africa, 12 hours between Britain and India and 7 hours between Britain and Australia. Long distance communication by the "beam" system, it was explained, was possible only during hours of darkness and one or two hours before and after twilight, thus such stations were suitable only for deferred traffic. High power stations would still be necessary for long distance communication at all hours and the government regarded them as essential for strategic and other reasons.

Continuing Mr. Hartshorn said the governments of India and New Zealand had stated that the new type of station was unsuited to their requirements. Australia and South Africa had not yet reached a final decision but it was understood they were disposed to allow "beam" stations to be erected in Australia and Southm Africa in order to give the new system a trial. His Majesty's had undertaken to provide the corresponding installations in Britain as extensions to the station which would be erected for the Canadian service. The contracts would not be valid, said the minister, unless approved by the House of Commons and therefore an opportunity would be given for discussion of the proposals.

Owing to the success of the experiments with short wave, low-power "beam" wireless, the Marconi Company have already announced that they will build no more high-power stations. The five advantages claimed by the company for the new system are: low power; comparatively inexpensive short wave stations which will maintain a direct high-speed service with the most distant points; more words per day; direct service which can be received only by the stations within the restricted sector of the beam; economy in the cost of new stations and in operation due to the low power.

BELLEVILLE GAME WILL BE CORKER

Petes Can Tie Up Race By Beating Trunks Here on Saturday.

OULETTE VS. HECKMAN

The Petes' sensational victory at Kingston last evening, when they tallied eight runs in the second last frame and turned a deficit of six markers into a Peterboro win, leaves the Solomon crew in position to tie up the race by beating Belleville at Riversride Park Saturday. The Trunks beat Oshawa at Belleville yesterday, and the League standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Belleville	5	1	.833
Peterboro	4	2	.667
Oshawa	2	4	.333
Kingston	1	5	.167

Saturday's game, the first home appearance of the Petes in two weeks, should be the battle of the season, and the home fans should be out in swarms in view of the fight that is being put up by the Solomon crew to win the second half. The Petes have won three games in a row, two of them away from home, and they are battling with every ounce to win the section honors. They realize that they must beat Belleville here on Saturday to stay up in the race, and the whole gang are determined to turn the trick.

It will be Oulette against Heckman, and the duel should be one of the season's features.

It will be called at 3 o'clock, and Hallinan and Benson will likely be the officials in charge.

Each of the teams in last night's game used every man they had in uniform, and it was a real fight. The Petes' big inning took all the gimp out of the Kingston rooters, who had a lot of fun up to the eighth.

Hall's grab of Compeau's liner to deep centre was one of the most sensational of the season. He did not seem to have a chance when he set sail after the drive.

Somerville's hitting was a Kingston feature. The second baseman had three hard smashes, one good for three bases.

The Pones were caught cold when Cherry blew up in the eighth. Gallagher was warmed up enough when he went in, and he had to be yanked before Kelly could get ready. Manager Solomon outguessed the opposition, for he had Heckman warmed up during the big inning, and Heck made sure of the game by blanking the Ponies in the last two frames.

Legon was up twice in the eighth and got two hits, a double and a single.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, July 24. — A little girl of six lost her life trying to save her little sister of four.

Aileen Pickering, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben. Pickering, Havelock Road, was drowned in the river yesterday afternoon about two o'clock, near the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, Queen Street. She and her little sister Lily, aged four, were sitting near the bank of the canal watching some older on swim, when somehow Lily fell in, and the older girl jumped in to save her and was drowned. Lily was floating down stream on her back when some boys saw her, and Ernie Wilks swam out to her and brought her to the shore.

When the children saw who she was they brought her up to Mrs. Baker's, where her mother was helping with some work, and it was then they missed little Aileen.

When asked about it, the child said, "I fell in the water, and 'Ailly' came in after me."

As soon as possible, some boys were brought to hunt for her, and Mr. Grant Morrison soon found the body about ten feet out from Cairns' boat-house. She was given first aid till Dr. Longmore reached the spot, but it was impossible to bring her back to life, as she had been in the water too long.

Mr. Pickering was 'phoned for at the Campbellford Cloth Co.

Coroner Dr. Loucks was called, but he did not consider an inquest necessary.

The body was taken to Mrs. W. Collard's home, a sister of Mrs. Pickering.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon from Mr. and Mrs. Collard's home to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Three Ribs Broken.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Stockloser, who lives in Mr. W. Sweet's house on Maple Street, and works on the Hydro, fell about fifteen feet, and a plank fell on his back. He has three ribs broken. The ambulance was sent down for him and he was brought to his home.

WEMBLEY REHEARSAL.

Canadian Section of Empire Pageant Back to Confederation.

LONDON, July 24 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian "Fathers of Confederation," dressed for the most part in lounge suits and soft hats, were crowned with maple leaves at Kensington Gardens last night when the Canadian section of the British Empire pageant, which opens on Friday at Wembley Exhibition, rehearsed.

About 60 0of the 1,100 performers in the Canadian section were present under the direction of J. B. Fagan, producer, and W. J. Kemp, stage manager.

The performers did their best, according to instructions, to imagine the "distant blue hills, a brown river, and a wide, waiting land of primeval forest" in the somewhat prosaic setting of green lawns in Kensington Gardens.

The scenes rehearsed presented the acquisition of the great North-West, the building of the transcontinental railways, and the signing of the Treaty of Confederation.

DREAM.

An airship flight around the world was planned by a Belgian named Robertson in 1804. He was a flier, quite a star for his day. Which isn't saying much, for the balloon had only been invented 21 years before. Robertson proposed circling the globe with a fish-shaped balloon 150 feet long. He never made the trip, of course, but he did explore the air to a height of over four miles above ground.

"Visionary dream," scoffed capitalists he asked to finance his round-the-world flight. Today the thing is being done. Nothing is impossible, given enough time.

Milk cans should be boiled occasionally in a strong solution of washing soda.

WHO BRANDED HIM?

The letters "K. K. K." are seared upon his back. But Rev. Orria Van Loon, of Berkeley, Mich., a Detroit suburb, insists he remembers nothing of the branding. The minister had started for Lake Orion, Mich., to attend a Bible conference. Nearly two weeks later he was found unconscious on the streets of Battle Creek. He had lost 30 pounds and his hair had turned from gray to white. Doctors declared he had been drugged. Rev. Van Loon said he recalled nothing from the time he cashed a check at a bank in Royal Oak, near his home, until he awakened in the hospital in Battle Creek.

WOMEN PRISONERS NEVER ESCAPE

Honor System in Penitentiary Works Wonders.

VIENNA, July 24.—Conducting a penitentiary without guards whence no prisoner has ever escaped, is the record claimed for the Wierner-Neudorf prison near Vienna where more than 300 women are serving terms of from one year to life. The honor system is employed, the penitentiary being in charge of about 40 sisters of charity under leadership of a supervising director who does not even live on the grounds.

The women do all their own work, attending the heating apparatus, laundry, gardens, bakery, kitchen, and look after the live stock and poultry which keeps the penitentiary supplied with milk, fresh meat and other produce. All this work is so systematically done that the prison has become almost self-supporting, and is known as the model penitentiary of all Europe.

Scarcely a day passes that some representative of a foreign government does not visit the Wiener-Neudorf penitentiary to inspect the institution, and consult with the sisters as to their way of conducting it.

SPANISH TEACHERS DESERT SCHOOLS

Dissatisfied With Puny Salaries Paid to Professors.

MADRID, July 24.—A movement for higher salaries for professors in the universities and technical high schools has been inaugurated in Spain. The professors, it is pointed out by The Liberal, receive an average of 4,000 pesetas annually, or about the same as an ordinary clerk in an office.

When the salaries were fixed the value of 4,000 pesetas was between four and five times as much as today. As a result many professors have been obliged to seek other means of earning sufficient on which to live and now are found in all sorts of employment.

Protestant Church Organize.

BEILEFELD, Germany, July 24.—The evangelical churches of Germany have linked themselves together in a national federated body that may be roughly compared with the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America. The first congress of the federation was held here recently, and many questions of policy and practice settled.

Formerly each of the 28 German states and provinces had maintained evangelical churches independent of the organization in the next adjacent state or province. More and more the desirability became apparent of linking the various state organizations together in one national federation. Accordingly conferences were held in 1921 and 1922, as a result of which it was agreed to form a national federation of state and provincial evangelical churches.

In matter of administration the state and provincial bodies are left supreme, while in matters of presenting the evangelical point of view to the non-Protestant world, and inculcating a Christian spirit in the community, the federal body is expected to do considerable work.

TRIVIAL

Justice Benedict says: "There is far too much time spent in detection of the misdeeds of the ordinary offender against ordinances and regulations which involve no moral wrong, and too little time devoted to catching and punishing criminals possessed of influence or wealth."

It's a good deal like bootlegging. The nets usually are set for the minnows. A whale is caught only occasionally. It's more dangerous to steal $1000 than a million.

OUT

New York exports more goods to foreign countries than any other state. Texas comes second. Third is Pennsylvania, with only half as much as Texas. This is shown by statistics of recent months. Most of the eastern states rank high in the list. They will wane as the center of gravity of our foreign trade gradually swings to the orient and manufacturing moves westward to be nearer its big markets and sources of raw materials.

The United States future is west of the Mississippi.

Before 1900 less than one-fourth of the medical schools in the United States required even a high school education for admission.

FREE STATE FINES BRITISHERS

Trawlers Located Fishing in Irish Waters Punished.

DUBLIN, July 24.—A question at issue between the Saorstat, or Irish Free State, and the British government, seriously affecting the fishing industry, was raised in a case before the District Court at Tralee, County Kerry. British steam trawlers were fined $500 and costs for illegally fishing within the defined limits in Ballinskelligs and Dingle Bays.

J. H. Thomas, the British colonial secretary, had said in the House of Commons that trawlers from Britain were entitled to fish in any part of Irish water provided they kept outside the three mile limit, and British fishermen have been freely acting on that declaration. But during British rule in Ireland the fisheries department had the power to make by-laws effective outside the three mile limit. These powers have been transferred to the Saorstat which claims the right to continue the by-laws and punish offences against them. The defendants did not appear at Tralee or send any explanation and were fined the full penalties.

CHICAGO COURT

Adjusted Stylish Tie

Loeb, however, frequently adjusted his stylish bow tie, moistened his lips with his tongue, and picked at specks on his sleeve, Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, sat quietly beside his attorney— chewing gum with apparent determination, but wholly without outward show of feeling.

Nathan Leopold, Sr., father of one of the 19-year-old "intellectuals" whose fate is at stake, sat within a few feet of his son, and next to another son. His brow was creased, and deep lines of grief bore evidence of a parent's bowed spirit and heavy heart.

At one point the State's Attorney alluded to evidence he would ask to "present to the court in private."

Improper to Reveal.

"The nature of the evidence," he said, "as will be seen, and doubtless appreciated by the court, is such that it would be improper to reveal it in open court."

"In the name of the people of the State of Illinois and of the parenthood and childhood of the State, we demand the death penalty of both of these cold-blooded and vicious murderers," said Mr. Crowe.

Produce Ransom Letter

At this point Benjamin Bacharach turned and whispered in Loeb's ear. Loeb nodded and passed some word along to Leopold, who also nodded, smiled a bit wistfully, then turned away.

Crowe then called for the original copy of the $10,000 ransom letter sent to Jacob Franks, the slain boy's father, shortly after the murder.

Leopold, for the first time, appeared interested.

The letter warned Franks that his son might be injured or killed unless he delivered the $10,000, according to instructions. The letter was signed "George Johnson."

Crowe said the letter had been written long before the murderers decided upon their victim. Not until young Franks was killed did they address the letter to Franks.

They had to consult a telephone directly to find the Franks' address.

Cold-Blooded Longing

This, Crowe argued, showed the cold-blooded nature of the crime. They longed to kill—they cared not who their victim was. It was only by chance that they fell upon the Franks boy.

"The evidence will show that the boys were to the Leopold home, where they obtained a can of ether which Leopold used in etherizing birds," Crowe said. "They secured tape and gags and set out into the streets in the rented automobile, stopped at a drug store and bought acid which they intended to use in burning away the features of their little victim.

"Only because John Levison, another small millionaire's son, hurried home through an alley instead of following the sidewalk, was this boy saved from the fate that befell Robert Franks.

Leopold and Loeb, according to Crowe, drove their automobile to the Harvard private school, stopping a few hundred feet from the playground in order to avoid suspicion.

Picked a Victim

They watched a score of boys playing ball and argued between themselves as to which one they should kidnap and murder. They decided upon young Levinson but when they missed him they decided that the Franks boy would be their victim. They took notice of the fact that Robert's father was a millionare, and therefore would be willing to pay the ransom.

"Seeing Robert Franks swinging gaily along a sunlit street the two defendants drove alongside of him and invited the little youngster to get in for a ride," Crowe said.

"While one of the boys drove the other leaned over from the rear seat and struck that innocent child on the head with a tape-bound chisel. The boy was pulled into the back seat and covered with blankets.

"Then Leopold and Loeb drove through the south side of the city and prepared to do away with their victim.

"They prepared the hydrochloric acid and it was Leopold who tossed the burning liquid on his face. The ether was not needed for the little fellow—just an hour earlier a happy schoolboy—was dead."

Spectacles First Clue

Crowe told how the finding of Leopold's spectacles led to the arrest of the defendants. He dscribed how he extracted the confessions.

"Loeb demanded to know why he was being held," Crowe said. "I told how that we were holding him because we were tightening the web of evidence around his friend, Nathan Leopold.

"I told him that we knew if Nathan Leopold was found to be the murderer that Loeb was also connected with it.

"' My God! Is that right?' Loeb shouted,' " according to Crowe. " 'Give me a drink of water and I'll tell you the whole story.' "

"Then while Loeb was dictating his confession to one of my assistants, Leopold called for me and said he wanted to ask a hypothetical question. I told him to go ahead."

Leopold Broke Down

Leopold then broke down and told his story.

"Supposing John Doe committed this murder, don't you suppose if he had parents as wealthy and influential as mine and could hire famous criminal attorneys and could go before a friendly judge and bribe the jury. Don't you think he could escape?' Leopold asked.

" 'Nathan Leopold, I am going to give you that chance,' I responded."

Leopold, dumfounded, was then told that Loeb that very minute was giving his confession, according to Crowe.

"We will show that all of these terrible things happened in Cook county, Illinois" Crowe said.

"And in the name of the people of Illinois in the name of the motherhood and fatherhood of this country and of the children of tis state we will demand that these wicked cruel, atrocious murderers be hanged."

As Crowe sat down, Larrow, the sturdy chief defense counsel arose and started the opening statement for the defense.

"To describe the crime as the most atrocious and the most everything else in history," said Darrow, "is to drawn upon the imagination of the State's Attorney."

Crowe objected to the tenor of Darrow's remarks and demanded a ruling from the court on whether it was time "for statements or for concluding arguments."

Darrow responded that Crowe had 'sought to stir up feelings and passion" in his talk.

"We objected that all the evidence which the state offers, is incompetent and meant only for an appeal to passions and prejudices," Mr. Darraw said.

Darrow made a brief but stirring statement, asking the court for clemency in the case of the defendants.

"Your honor, it would be without precedent, if these boys, after pleading guilty, were to be sentenced to hang," Darrow said.

Darrow spoke only five minutes and when he finished the State called its first witness, Edwin Grescham, uncle of the slain boy.

Grescham gave merely perfunctory testimony, telling of his trip to the morgue in identifying the body of Robert, Jacob Franks, father of the slain youth, stooped and bent by the sorrow that has come upon him, was the state's second witness.

Father on Stand.

Sitting calmly on the witness stand, his hand held to his ear, Franks answered questions as they were put to him. He spoke in a low voice, looking always directly at the state's attorney and never once glanced toward young Leopold and Loeb.

The two murderers, somewhat relieved when Crowe finished the state's opening statement, relaxed and whispered together as the questioning of their victim's father continued. They showed little interest in the procedings at this time.

Franks testified simply to the fact that he was the father of Robert Franks, identified a picture as that of his son and identified various state exhibits including the ransom letter and the clothing worn by Robert on May 21, the day on which the murder was committed.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

In building the small home a way is now available to cut the cost from two hundred to six hundred dollars without skimping anything.

The way to save this amount of money in building the small home is to dispense with the architect. Sounds impossible and peculiar at first but it is not and here is why.

So many lumber and material companies of today have employed architects to design small and inexpensive houses for their advertising campaigns that the design of this type of structure has undergone intensive study and improvement.

These lumber and material companies are ready and willing to let people use these plans without charging any royalties. The plans which these companies have evolved are so clever and well done that an average man building an average small home would have to pay an architect a great deal to work up plans which were the equal to those which can now be obtained for nothing.

Send for some of these plans if you are thinking of building a home. You will be surprised at the ingeniousness and beauty of them. In addition, every effort has been made in these plans and specifications toward a reduction of costs without a reduction in quality or value.

BANDED

Over 8300 co-operative organizations report to the government. Nine-tenths of them deal in farm products, and do a business of about 1500 million dollars a year. Co-operative marketing has reached its greatest development in California.

Problems of production are mainly solved. Problems of distribution to consumers are steadily getting further from solution. Too many young men are obsessed with the production bug. The greatest opportunities are in distribution — short-cuts between producer and consumer, eliminating superfluous middlemen.

MAH-JONGG

This game, mah jongg, according to Chinese scholars, was invented by a Chink fisherman named Sze to entertain crews of his fishing fleet when their ships were tossed about by the four winds. That was 20 centuries ago.

The Chinese also invented chess, dominoes and playing cards. When chess becomes the national rage, thigking will have become less painful. There seems to be no agony more generally dreaded than intense, continuous thought.

WEAR DOWRIES.

Croation Peasant Girls Adapt Themselves to a New Fad.

ZAGREB, Croatia, July 24.—Village maidens in Croatia now carry their dowries in the shape of trimming sewn on the bodice, instead of jingling necklaces and buttons of gold coin as of old. The new fashion results from the governmental ban on the possession of gold coins, which are no longer legal even as a medium of purchase.

Adapting themselves to the new order, the girls now sew banks notes of as large denominations as they can afford in decorative lines on either side of the bodice as a token of their rating in the matrimonial market. The man who marries a girl displaying half a million dinars, for instance, knows that she brings him a dowry of about $10,000, and not a few young women display that much on feast days.

The remarkable thing about this display of such amounts of money is that here, as all through the Balkans, the young women are perfectly safe from robbery, as even professional thieves regard the stealing of a girl's dowry as unethical.

FIND TOMBS OF ANCIENT WARRIORS.

HALLE, Germany, July 24.—Tombs of warrors that are believed to have fallen in battle about 500 A.D., have been discovered in connection with excavation work undertaken at Reuden, near Halle.

The warriors were buried with their weapons.

Both the skeletons and the arms are well preserved, and are to be brought to the provincial museum of Halle.

ALIEN STUDENTS LEAVE GERMANY

LEIPSIC, Germany, July 24.—Conservatories of music are declining alarmingly in Germany. Recently an institution with a normal enrollment of 300 pupils went bankrupt, and a great many smaller undertakings have been forced to liquidate.

During the inflation period these institutions were kept above water only by the fact that the foreign music students paid five times the tuition of the natives. Since stabilization has taken place, however, thousands of foreigners have left Germany, finding it too expensive, and the music lovers who remain behind can for the most part afford to pay only about one-half the prewar tutition fee.

How desperate the situation is may be judged from the fact that the conservatory students are permitted to play in movie houses and in cafes, a thing that was anathema before the war. There is also no objection to their earning money on the side by playing at dances.

The chief reason for the plight in which the musical art finds itself is the fact that the inflation period and the war have wiped out the middle class, which before the war was the principal supporter of the finer arts.

MINERS GOT $1.12 A DAY

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 24.—The increase in miner's wages during the last 70 years was shown in old papers found when a building was razed here recently. The daily pay in 1853, the old records show, was $1.12 for the average day worker, who now gets $5.40. Opposite the name of one man was $6.75. In those days ten hours constituted a day trick, two more than the present schedule.

PUBLIC LIBRARY RECORD

CHICAGO, July 24.—Chicago's Public Library, whose only source of income is from taxes, costs its citizens about 44 cents each last year to choose among 1,305,140 volumes. It maintained its position as the second largest institution of its kind in the world and surpassed its only competitor, the New York Public Library, in number of books circulated by nearly 400,000.

REDISTRIBUTION BY MR. GORDON

In Saturday's Examiner I noticed some observations made by Mr. Peck and Mr. Denne regarding redistribution. Mr. Peck is reported to have said that "the present rearrangement is what we call, gerrymander, inspired by political expediency opposing the interests of the country as a whole."

Under the British North America Act, representation by population has been declared the basis of redistribution, and the unit on this distribution is approximately 35,000. In the new constituency of West Peterboro, the population is 35,157, so all this talk about county boundaries has no application when a definite unit cannot be obtained without the modification of that idea.

Mr. Denne's scheme would compel Peterboro people to cast twice as many votes to elect a candidate as they would have required to do in North Hastings, and he seems to be aggrieved that it affects the Progressive party. He is showing, certainly, more consideration to the Progressive party, than his leader, Mr. Meighen, or the Honorable Howard Ferguson, who never lost an opportunity of assaulting this party, as vigorously and as offensively as they have known how.

Otonabee, Douro and Lakefield were added to West Peterboro, on the motion, in the Redistribution Committee, of the Honorable H. H. Stevens, the former Minister of Trade and Commerce, in the Meighen Government, and one of the outstanding Conservatives with Canada. Every Conservative present in the House of Commons, when the vote was taken on the Redistribution Bill, voted in favor of Otonabee, Douro and Lakefield being added to West Peterboro, and the East part of the county to go to North Hastings.

There was one exception, and that was Thomas Thompson, M.P., who voted against it.

The criticism of Mr. Peck and Mr. Denne of the re-arrangement of West Peterboro, is a criticism directed against their leader, the Right Honorable Arthur Meighen, and all his Conservative supporters, including H. A. Stewart, K.C., M.P., a Conservative member of the Redistribution Committee, who stood up in the House of Commons and urged all the Conservative members standing behind him, to support and vote for West Peterboro's re-arrangement, to include the Townships of Otonabee and Douro, and the village of Lakefield.

It will be interesting to find out if Mr. Peck and Mr. Denne send their complaints to Mr. Meighen and ask him why he voted a re-distribution arrangement, which they so freely criticise.

HEATING SYSTEM TO BE IMPROVED

Board of Health Will Advertise For Tenders.

Plans and specifications regarding the alerations to the Queen Mary Hospital heating system were presented to the Board of Health at a special meeting last night by plumbing Inspecting Arthur Metheral.

The recommendations were approved of, and the Board will advertise for tenders, which will be received up to 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday, July 30th. No tender will be accepted unless accompanied by a cheque for an amount equal to 10 per cent. of the tender.

According to the plans and specifications the present boiler will be retained and the piping will not be replaced except where faulty or sagged. Four new ardiators will be installed and a return air line will be made from each radiator to the boiler and an equalizer attached to the boiler.

Fuel Saving.

It is expected that the proposed improvements will not only remedy the present heating insufficiency, but will substantially reduce the fuel required.

With the air lines, only 2 or 3 pound steam pressure will be required instead of 10 or 12 and the possibility of freezing in the radiators will be eliminated. When condensation takes place in the radiator the water will be carried back to the boiler and ever coil will be heated uniformiy.

The Hospital requires from 70 to 80 tons of coal annually and according to general opinion the improved system will probably not require more than 50 tons or even less.

There were present at the meeting: Messrs. G. H. Duncan (chairman), Mayor J. J. Turner, James Lynch and Dr. T. W. H. Young.

TO-DAY'S HEARING OF FRANK'S CASE

Gruesome Exhibits Presented to the Court—Covering Up Crime.

CHICAGO, July 24. — (Canadian Press). — The heavily taped chisel with which the life of young Robert Franks was beaten out was introduced in evidence to-day in advisory hearing before Chief Justice John R. Caverly which is to fix the penalty of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and his companion, Richard Loeb.

Bernard Hunt, a neighborhood night watchman, told of seeing the chisel tossed from a passing automobile about 1.30 a.m., May 22nd, a few hours after the slaying.

"There was fresh blood on the chisel when I picked it up," said Hunt. The relic was given to the court.

Elizabeth Sattler, maid-in-honor in the home of Nathan Leopold, Sr., called to the witness stand, identified the Underwood portable typewriter, which she said "resembled" the machine she had seen in the room of her employer's son. She added she had seen Nathan, Jr., use such a machine "many times." It was on this kind of a machine the ransom letters were typed.

Miss Sattler was questioned also about the storing place of automobile robes in the Leopold home.

A fuzzy, greenish and badly charred robe, said by the State to be the remnants of the blood-stained robe with which the two boys attempted to destroy by soaking it in gasoline and burning it on the lake front, was offered in evidence. Witness said she had seen a similar robe in Leopold's home. She was cross-examined briefly.

Four University of Chicago students, class-mates of Leopold in the law school, were called to tell what they knew of typewriters. The best they could do was to say the machines they saw at the Leopold home were "portables."

There was a noticeable speeding up of the proceedings to-day. Robert E. Crowe, with the assent of the defence, asked the leading questions of his witnesses and dismissed the fourth student with this query "Your testimony is substantially the same as that of the other students."

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

The portable typewriter offered in the evidence by the State was the one grappled from the bottom of the park lagoon by investigators after the confession of the two youths.

As part of their plans to cover their crime, the State pointed out in its opening statement yesterday, Loeb had joined the letters from the machine with pliers and strewn them in scattered sections of the lagoon. The bulk of the machine and its cover was tossed into another part of the lagoon.

WHEAT MARKET QUIET.

To-day's Opening Did Not Produce Any Excitement.

WINNIPEG, July 24.—(Canadian Press).—The opening of the wheat market was rather a tame affair today, and the trade volume during the first hour of the session was not heavy. Liverpool cable opened 3 5-8 to 4 1-8 higher, but the trade is not of opinion that this advance is high enough compared with yesterday's strength on the Canadian and United States markets. Railway officials and agricultural experts deny the presence of black rust in Southern Manitoba, and although they admit its presence in the red stage trade on the local market is not taking much notice of this factor at the present time.

A NEW ANAESTHETIC.

Will Put the Patient to Sleep For the Longest Operation.

PARIS, July 24. — (Canadian Press).—A new anaesthetic which is claimed to be far superior to any hitherto employed, is being used by Dr. Fredet, of the Hospital De La Nouvelle Pitie. The anaesthetic is called "sommifere." In doses of ten to fifteen cubic centimetres it is injected in the veins after previous injections of morphine or scopolamine. According to an account given the French Surgical Society, the resulting anaesthesia is complete, permitting the longest and most serious operation. The patient remains plunged for 24 to 36 hours afterwards in torpor, from which, however, he can be aroused from time to time for food. There is no sickness, and no ill effects on the liver and kidneys. It is said that surgeons believe the new method is likely to become general.

ALBERTA CROP POOR.

Rain Might Improve Crop Situation Materially.

CALGARY, July 24. — (Canadian Press).—Whatever it is, it will be bad. Thus declared H. W. Wood, president of the U.F.A. and of the Alberta wheat pool, last night when questioned regarding the Canadian Western crop situation. Mr. Wood declined to make an estimate in bushels, but said that even while rain might improve the crop situation materially, the yield would be poor. "It looks bad," said Chester M. Elliott, superintendent of the Grain Commission Department of the United Grain Growers, when asked about the crop outlook. Rain might make a great difference even yet, but I don't think that the crop could run more than between fifty or sixty million bushels at the best. A large part of the Alberta crop is now damaged beyond repair, said Mr. Elliott.

MANY CHANGES IN CITY SINCE 1891

Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Sloan of Chicago, are visiting Mr. Sloan's brother, Mr. George Sloan, on Chamberlain street. It is thirty-three years since Mr. Robert Sloan was last in the city, and he expresses himself as much surprised with the industrial growth of the place within the last third of a century.

Speaking of conditions generally, Mr. Sloan remarked that the present business slump was just as noticeable on the other side of the boundary line, "but you couldn't get the Republicans or the Democrats, both of whom have been holding their conventions recently, to say so." A downward trend in both the real estate and the automobile businesses was responsible for much of the slump on the other side, he thinks. Building costs were almost prohibitive and the charges for skilled labour is very high.

Bricklayers in Chicago receive $1.50 an hour, and "corner" men in Boston get $1.75, in some instances. The bricklayers as a class are a steady-going, conservative class, according to Mr. Sloan, but the plasterers are "tricky." One of their manoeuvres is to refuse to work on Tuesday or Wednesday, for instance, and then work on Saturday or Sunday and run an over time pay sheet up to $16.00 a day.

Mr. Sloan, who is now secretary of the big Chicago Motor Liverymen's Association, was formerly in the undertaking business, and is interested in the ebb and flow of vital statistics. Contrasting the decreasing death rate from natural causes in recent years with the higher rate of former times, he thinks that three things have an influence on the declining figures—prohibition, which he says has done a tremendous amount of good, the automobile, and its general purchase and use, giving the poor man a chance to enjoy the pleasures of life as well as his richer brethren, and thirdly, the sensible manner of dress of the modern woman. Queried as to his opinion on bobbed hair, Mr. Sloan thinks it is perfectly all right for youthful women, but seems rather ridiculous on grey heads. He is of the opinion that women holding the responsible positions in commercial life still retain their natural locks.

A KIDD BYRNE RIVAL.

Painter Will Sail For Europe in Search For a Fortune.

TORONTO, July 24. — (Canadian Press). — "It's a hundred to one chances that I become a millionaire in the next few months," said a modest painter, who lives in a little humble bungalow on Toronto Island, to-day.

This optimistic William Webber Eastman, who claims he is entitled to an odd million or so from the millions of Aneka Jans, a Dutch trader, the famous fortune about which so much interest has been spelled in the last two hundred years.

Eastman has found a cousin, Mrs. Ralph Webber, in Plymouth, England, who also claims part of the estate, which is in Borneo, and they have planned a course of action which they hope will lead them to wealth and position. He leaves for Europe in a month or so, and with Mrs. Webber will place his claim to the estate before the Government of Holland.

OBITUARY

DR. THOMAS NEWTON GREER
(Contributed)

After a brief illness, beyond the ken of his own profession to remedy Dr. Greer passed out of our life this morning ot his beautiful summer home, Rice Lake, leaving behind him Mrs. Greer and their son Major George Garnet, M.D., M.C., of the permanent force, Kingston. So passes from life a stalwart and distinguished citizen and physician into the history of this county and city.

In Peterborough and the surrounding country, Dr. Greer has a notable record not only as a trusted family physician but as a specialist and surgeon of rare ability and dependability. His interest in medical and surgical research and in the practical advancement of his profession was particularly characteristic of his career.

He was the first president of the Central Ontario Medical Association, now the Peterboro Medical Society. He believed in co-operation and did much to make the local association contributary to personal and public health. He was also an active member of the Provincial and Dominion Medical Societies and of the Ontario Health Officer's Association.

He was a close student of medical science and kept intimate touch with advancing knowledge. He was keenly interested in clinic work and attended many lectures and clinics in the great schools and hospitals in England, United States and Canada, taking special post-graduate lectures in London, New York and Chicago.

Dr. Greer was born in the township of Cavan, Durham County, on February 9th., 1859. His preparatory education included the public and Collegiate school. He was undergraduate in Arts, Victoria College, Cobourg, M.D.C.M., and received his M.D. after graduating with high credit at the University of Toronto, when twenty-one years of age.

Immediately after his graduation he began practice at Cold Springs, Northumberland Co., and ten years later established himself in Peterborough where he was in the active sphere of professional work until his illness developed a fortnight ago.

Dr. Greer's services as coroner for the County of Peterborough form a notable record in a notable career. For twenty-five years he was Officer of Health for North Monaghan.

Public and benevolent work received a generous shore of Dr. Greer's attention and Peterboro will hold his name in grateful memory. During the war he was indefatigable in attention to the many patriotic campaigns for medical and hospital facilities, Red Cross and Belgian Relief and other demands for aid and honoured by the government for Home Duty as a captain in the Canadian Medican Corps.

His son Dr. Garnet Greer was one of the first, if not the first, to enlist for service at the front. Garnet proved a worthy son and distinguished himself for original work in the danger zones, retiring with many honours as Major and the Croix de Guerre.

Midst the duties of a hard pressed physician Dr. Greer took keen interest in municipal affairs: he became an influential advocate of the good road movement in this neighborhood and province. He was prominent in the Masonic order and a P.G.M. of Corinthian Lodge.

Dr. Greer has passed into the great hereafter leaving with us the record of a life of singular directness of purpose; the record of a man, scholarly, broad minded, benevolent public-spirited, faithful to the tenets of good citizenship. He was a conspicuous figure: he showed no peril nor feared any adversary. He never flinched when duty called. He had courage of a high order:—

"The spring of all brave acts is centered here
"As falsehood draw their sordid birth from fear."

ONLY CHOICEST LEAVES USED

While a tea plant in an ordinary garden produces an average of five ounces of tea in a season, on the best estates, where RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA is grown the yield is much less, because only the choicest leaves are plucked for this very fine tea. You'll like the richness of RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA. Better to try a package.

SONG OF THE MYSTIC.

I walk down the Valley of Silence—
Down the dim, voiceless valley—alone!
And I hear not the fall of a footstep
Around me, save God's and my own;
And the hush of my heart is as holy
As hovers where angels have flown!

Long ago was I weary of voices
Whose musik my heart could not win;
Long ago I was weary of noises
That fretted my soul with their din;
Long ago was I weary of places
Where I met but the human—and sin.

I walked in the world with the worldly;
I craved what the world never gave;
And I said: "In the world each Ideal
That shines like a star on life's wave,
Is wrecked on the shores of the Real,
And sleeps like a dream in a grave."

And still did I pine for the Perfect,
And still found the False with the True;
I sought mid the Human for Heaven,
But caught a mere glimpse of its blue;
And I wept when the cloud of the Mortal
Veiled even that glimpse from my view.

And I toiled on, heart-tired of the Human;
And I moaned 'mid the mazes of men;
Till I knelt long ago at an altar
And head a voice call me;—since then
I walk down the Valley of Silence,
That lies far beyond human ken.

Do you ask what I found in the Valley?
'Tis my trysting place with the Divine;
And I fell at the feet of the Holy,
And above me a voice said, "Be mine!"
And there arose from the depths of my spirit
An echo—"My heart shall be thine."

Do you ask how I live in the Valley
I weep—and I dream—and I pray.
But my tears are as sweet as the dewdrops
That fall on the roses in May;
And my prayer, like a perfume from censers,
Ascendeth to God night and day.

In the hush of the Valley of Silence
I dream all the songs that I sing;
And the music floats down the deep Valley,
Till each finds a word for a wing,
That to hearts, like the dove of the Deluge,
A message of peace they may bring.

But far on the deep there are billows
That never shall break on the beach;
And I have heard songs in the silence,
That never shall float into speech;
And I have had dreams in the Valley
Too lofty for language to reach.

And I have seen thoughts in the Valley,
Ah me! how my spirit they stirred!
And they wear holy veils on their faces,—
Their footsteps can scarcely be heard;
They pass through the Valley like Virgins,
Too pure for the touch of a word!

Do you ask me the place of the Valley,
Ye hearts that are harrowed by care?
It lieth afar between mountains,
And God and his angels are there;
And one is the dark mount of Sorrow,
And one,—the bright mountain of Prayer.

NEWS FROM MADOC.

Annual Picnic of Women's Institute—Girl Guides Had a Motor Trip.

MADOC, July 24 — The local branch of the Women's Institute held their annual picnic on Blakely's Hill at Moira Lake this afternoon. Members with their families and visitors brought the attendance to fifty, and all were enthusiastic over their outing.

Blakely's Hill is a delightful place for a picnic, commanding a fine view of Upper Lake. A level stretch at the foot of the hill makes an ideal spot for races.

The races this afternoon were provocative of much merriment, as grown-ups as well as children entered heartily into the spirit of the sports. The first prize for the ladies' race was won by Mrs. Kenneth Hill, and the second by Mrs. Bronson. For the gentlemen's race the first prize was won by Mr. Wm. Hill, and the second by Mr. Charlie Whytock.

When this strenuous exercise was over a number of the party trooped off for a refreshing dip in the lake.

When the supper hour came a sumptuous repast was spread in the shade of the trees. Ice-cream and lemonade were provided for all.

At twilight the merry makers embarked for home, feeling that it was indeed "the end of a perfect day".

The next regular meeting of the Institute will take place at Mrs. Angus McKenzie's home in the country in August.

Holidays Over

The boys of the Community Camp finished their holiday outing to-day Last night they entertained the campers at a farewell party. A radio concert was heard, and then all sat around a cheery fire for refreshments and community singing.

The Girl Guides

The Girl Guides motored out from Belleville yesterday for their turn at Community Camp. They have arrived in high spirits, full of energy and care-free happiness. The last that was seen of them this afternoon they were showing their joy in the freedom of the county by swarming up a near-by haystock, which took on the appearance of a gigantic hive, black with bees.

The Public Library is closed for a few days while the wood work is receiving a fresh coat of paint.

A number of Madoc residents attended the ball game in Belleville to-day when Belleville once more defeated Oshawa. Others drove to Deloro to see Deloro defeat Tweed.

IMMACULATE SOCIAL.

Several Hundred Persons Took in Enjoyable Event.

The social held on the grounds of the Immaculate Conception Church last evening, under the auspices of the Children of Mary, was a very successful event, and the energetic young ladies who engineered the affair were extremely pleased with the result of their efforts, which netted them over two hundred dollars clear. Several hundred people attended during the hours from seven to ten o'clock, and the various centres of amusement and refreshment had an excellent patronage. A very attractive portion of the evening's programme was the concert given by the Caledonian Pipe Band, which attended in full Scotch costume, and played the bagpipes, with drum accompaniment, throughout the evening.

The president of the society of the Children of Mary, Miss Stella Brady, acted as general convenor of arrangements, and, with Mrs. D. Minogue, supervised the sale at a big booth of ice cream, home-made cake, strawberries and coffee. Messrs. Martin Guerin, Michael English and Frank McMahon had the sale of soft drinks, Mr. G. Morency had charge of the "Kill the Cat" novelty, Miss Helen Collins, with the Misses Marie Flynn and Louise Flynn, had the fish pond, and Messrs. Jack Primeau and Dan. Leonard acted as auctioneers for a splendid collection of useful and fancy articles.

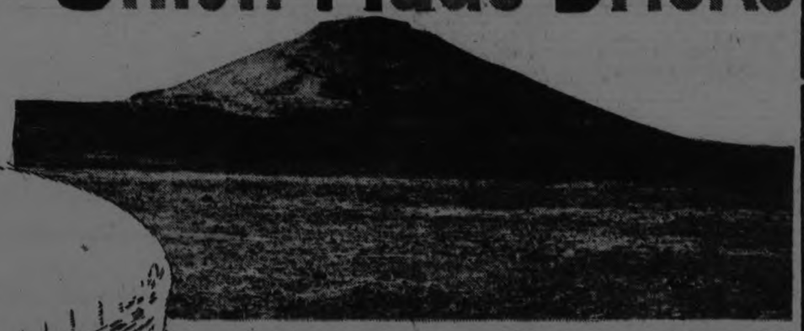
How the Tower of Babel was Built of "Union-Made" Bricks 4,000 Years Ago

Amazing Discoveries When Archeologists Unearth the Highest Tower Ever Reared by the Ancients, Which Was First Found and "Restored" 550 Years Before Jesus Was Born



Photograph of the Ziggurat on Which the Tower of Babel Was Built 4,000 Years Ago, and Where the Ruins Are Now Being Excavated.

"AND he set three score and ten thousand of them to be bearers of burdens, and four score thousand to be hewers in the mountain, and three thousand and six hundred overseers to set the people a work."—II. Chronicles ii., 18.

AS far back as King Solomon the workers were organized, according to the Scriptures. But now the amazing discovery has been made that the tower built by the Chaldeans in Babylonia by which they hoped to reach the gods in the skies was constructed of union-made brick!

Highly Glazed Artistic Brick Used in Facing the Tower, Each Brick Bearing the Royal Imprint and the Work Stamp of the Organized Brick Makers.

Modern Descendants of the Ancient Chaldeans Who Made the Union-Stamped Bricks for the Tower of Babel.

On the Highest Hill "They Built Themselves Towers Whose Tops Might Reach Unto Heaven" Where They Would Be Nearer to God.

Archeologists connected with the University of Pennsylvania and the British Museum have just uncovered at Ur a great brick temple or tower, known as the Ziggurat. It was built over 4,000 years ago, or 2,350 before the birth of Christ. To get another idea of its great antiquity, the last king of the Babylonians, Nabondius, who reigned in 535 B. C., discovered the ruins of this temple, which was then almost as old as the Christian era, and decided to restore it!

Ur is located on the great plain between the Euphrates and the Tigris in what is to-day known as Lower Mesopotamia. In the Old Testament it was referred to as Aram Naharaim and Babylonia. Year after year and century after century the sand piles up like waves of the sea and completely changes the appearance of the country. Even though it stood on the highest hill the sands had buried the ancient Ziggurat entirely from view when Nabondius dug out the tower. Again they came in the centuries that followed the restoration and buried the tower deeper than it had been buried before.

In modern times this territory between the Tigris and the Euphrates has been distinguishable by a number of mounds with steep, sloping sides. One of these mounds was larger by far than any of the others. It was as a great sentinel in the valley.

Years ago excavations were made on several of the smaller of these mounds, and ancient buildings were found inside. Then the archeologists from the University of Pennsylvania and the British Museum decided to dig into the largest of the mounds.

It was in this one that the tower of Babel of the Chaldeans was found. It is, by far, the highest temple ever constructed by the ancients. The bottom has not yet been reached, and will not be for years. But already 250 feet of the structure has been uncovered. It is rectangular in shape, with a winding ramp by means of which the top was reached. The tower becomes narrow toward the top. At its present base it is 195 feet long and 150 feet wide. Because of these great dimensions, the archeologists believe that when the tower is wholly unearthed, it will be found to be at least 600 feet high.

It is significant that this tower is built of brick. Most of the others found in Babylonia have been of stone blocks. But the ancients could not go high enough with the heavy blocks, so in building this tower, they used the lighter bricks.

There was more than one "Tower of Babel." In fact there were many. Whether or not the Ziggurat is the one mentioned in the Bible is uncertain. But it is unquestionably the largest of them all. The one object of the Babylonians was to "build themselves towers whose tops might reach unto heaven" where they would be nearer to God. For that reason they built them on the highest of the hills.

One of the most amazing things in connection with the uncovering of this tower is its wonderful state of preservation. All over the upper part may be found places where restoration work had been done by Nabondius; and there are an abundance of hieroglyphics and bas-reliefs testifying to the work done by the last king of Babylon. In the debris have also been found clay cones. On these cones were recorded the many great deeds of the king, and the history of the site upon which the tower stands.

In addition to the ordinary bricks used in the construction of the original temple, highly-glazed and most artistic bricks were used for decorative purposes. It was on these that the "union label stamp" was discovered.

Each one of these bricks contains the imprint of Urengur, who was King of Ur when the tower was built. Alongside the name of the king is a rectangular imprint, of almost the exact shape of the tower. Inside the rectangular lines is a crude impression of a bird and some hieroglyphics. The archeologists are authority for the statement that these hieroglyphics are the insignia of the craftsmen who were banded together to perform certain parts of the work.

The ancient walls are profusely decorated with sculptured friezes of calves, cows and heifers, which has created quite a controversy among the archeologists. While the bull is an extremely commonplace feature of religious architecture in ancient Assyria and Babylonia, the presence of cows as an object of worship (for which they were undoubtedly intended) has never been encountered before.

The friezes are elaborately described in a cablegram which has been received fro Dr. C. Leonard Woolley, director of the joint expedition.

Of the copper reliefs of cattle which formed a frieze along the temple side, there are at least a dozen examples; some have been crushed and distorted by the weight of the fallen masonry, under which they have lain for four thousand years, but others are practically perfect, and all are fine museum specimens.

"Lower on the facade," Dr. Woolley says, "there stood statues of oxen, not bas-reliefs, but complete statues, made of thin copper plates hammered over a wooden core. These had suffered from the hands of the spoilers as well as from the general ruin of the shrine, for they had had horns of gold, which were tempting booty for the enemy; when found by us they were in a sorry state. But out of the four survivors we have been able, with infinite pains, to save a pair."

There is some question among archeological experts in America as to whether or not one of these statues of burnished copper with horns of gold may not have been the "golden image" described in the Bible. The excavators themselves, however, are inclined to believe that there must have been at least one central statue, long since disappeared, which was either of real gold or completely covered over with gold plate or gilt.

"That some of the metal objects should have perished," says Dr. Woolley, "is not, indeed, to be wondered at. The surprising thing is that any should remain, and still more surprising that things yet more delicate should be found in almost perfect preservation. But such was luckily the case.

"Most of the figures are those of cattle and oxen, walking in line; the most important panel shows a reed-built enclosure, from whose door two heifers are coming out; on one side of this are cows with their calves, being milked by men who squat most uncomfortably under the beasts' tails, and hold long milking jars between their knees; on the other side are men engaged in straining the milk and pouring it into stone jars.

"One is led to the conclusion that the prevalence of cattle in the temple decorations must have a religious significance. The bull is a common symbol for the deity in Sumerian religions, but the cow is generally a type of fertility, and as such must have been also worshiped.

"In front of the temple stood columns of mosaic work, shafts made apparently of hardened mud, overlaid with bitumen, to which were fixed by loops of copper, pieces of mother of pearl and other ornamentations."

The discoveries at Ur are considered the most remarkable ever made in Biblical lands. According to Dr. Woolley they shed a great new light on the early history of this country, into what was heretofore regarded as the doubtful ages of legend. But of greater interest to the masses is the fact that from all indications, the workers who built the tower of Babel were banded together, just as they would be to-day on a similar undertaking.

Peterboro and Belleville Both Win Their Mid-Week Game

ING PETES FROM MILE D TO WIN

x Runs at End of They Score Eight Next Frame.

COUNT IS 10-8.

Use Whole Pitching Trying to Save the Game in the Eighth.

Apparently hopelessly beaten with thes core 8 to 2 against them at the end of the seventh inning of last night's game at Kingston, the Petes saged a rally in the eighth that brought Kingston's whole pitching staff into action, and when the smoke had cleared away the Solomon crew had scored eight runs, and were in front 10 to 8.

And that was the final score.

The Petes thus maintained their position at Belleville's heels and by a victory over the Trunks at Riverside Park on Saturday can tie the Belleville crew for the leadership.

Last night's game was marked by good, bad and indifferent baseball, but the fighting finish of the Petes turning a walk away for the Ponies, into a Peterboro victory at the eleventh hour made the fixture the most notable of the season.

Manager Daley sprung a surprise in sending big Del Cherry in to pitch while the Petes' pilot decided to give Heckman a rest for Saturday's crucial game with Belleville, and called upon Hap Harrison to do the gunning.

Neither of the original selections finished his assignment.

Cherry went great guns in the early stages, holding the Petes to two runs and four scattered hits in the first seven innings. He weakened badly however in the big eighth, and when the Petes had scored two runs and had two men on, with nobody out, Gallagher was sent in to save the day.

The big left hander had nothing to do it with however, and when he departed in favor of Kelly, the score was tied and the winning run was on third, and there was still not a hand down. By the time the third pitcher of the inning got the side out, the Petes were two in front.

The Big Inning.

Legon started the big inning by sizzling a double over third. Swanston walked and the pair advanced on a passed ball. Harrison drew a pass, filling the bases. Heckman slashed a single through short, scoring Legon and Swanston, Harrison going to third. Solomon elected to bat for Johnston, and went two balls and one strike on the corpulent pilot. Cherry was relieved by Gallagher. With a left hander on the rubber the Petes' pilot countered by sending Shaughnesy a right handed hitter in to complete his term at the plate. Gallagher threw two more balls to Shaughnessy, filling the bases. A wild pitch let Harrison score, and the rest went up a peg. Collins lined a single to centre, scoring Heckman and Shaughnessy. Hall was hit. Turner bunted and Gallagher threw wide to first, Collins scoring the tieing run, while Hall reached third and Turner second. Still nobody out. That was enough for Gallagher and he was yanked in favor of Kelly. A passed ball scored Hall with the winning run. Holyman flied to McKee. Legon up for the second time, singled through short, scoring Turner. Swanston flied to Daley, and Harrison ended the innings with a roller to Balstone.

Harrison pitched the first seven innings for the Petes, and yielded nine hits and eight runs while he toiled on the rubber. The big fellow got none of the breaks, and three or four of the hits registered against him were decidedly scratchy.

When the Petes took the lead by their sensational rally in the eighth, Manager Solomon sent Heckman in to hold the margin, and the Petes' ace did the job neatly. He retired the side in order in the eighth, and although the first two Ponies in the ninth hit safely, Heck went to work cooly on the next three, ond retired them easily, leaving the tieing runs stranded on the base paths.

The game was marked by some great fielding plays. Johnny Hall had the feature in the fifth, when he ran far out into left and gathered in Compeau's terrific smash on the gallop, cutting off a home run. The Petes' fielder got a great hand from the crowd, and deserved it. Compeau, Kingston's sensational young short stop, handled eight chances without a skip, and his one-handed pick-up of Harrison's smash in the fourth was a great piece of fielding. Somerville also figured in several smart plays.

Ponies Start It.

In the first Holyman flied to Teeple in centre. Legon walked, and was sacrificed to second by Swanston. Harrison fouled to Rickman.

Kingston took the lead in their half. Nickle scratched a hit on a slow roller to Heckman. Compeau bunted safely. Batstone fouled to Swanston in trying to sacrifice. Somerville singled through short, filling the bases. Daley hit to Harrison, forcing Nickle at the plate. Teeple walked, forcing in Compeau with a run. Rickman forced Teeple, Holyman to Johnston.

Heckman, first up in the second, died on a smart play by Somerville. Johnston popped to Compeau, and Collins lined to Daley.

For the Ponies Purvis flied to Legon. Cherry's fast drive was nailed by Heckman, and Nickle rolled to Heckman, Harrison covering first.

Hall gave the Petes a good start in the third by singling over second. Turner sacrificed neatly, but Holyman struck out, and Legon rolled to Somerville.

The Ponies increased their lead by two. Compeau lined a single between short and third. Batstone fanned, but Somerville tripled to deep right centre, scoring Compeau. Collins mussed up Daley's roller, Somerville scoring. Daley went to third on Harrison's bad throw to first. Teeple fanned and Daley was nipped trying to steal home.

In the fourth Swanston flied to Daley. Compeau made a beautiful gloved hand pick-up of Harrison's scorcher, cutting the batter out of a hit. Heckman singled over second. Johnston bounded to Compeau.

For Kingston, Rickman fanned. Purvis flied to Hall. Cherry was safe on Collins' low throw. Nickle rolled to Johnston.

The Petes' First.

The Petes broke into the scoring column in the fifth. Collins was hit, and when Turner bunted for a sacrifice, Purvis dropped the throw and everybody was safe. Holyman lined a single over short, scoring Collins, Hall taking third and Holyman second on the throw-in. Legon's hard-hit roller to the box was converted into a fast double play, Hall being nipped going back to third, and Holyman caught between second and third.

In Kingston's half Hall robbed Compeau of a home run by his sensational catch. Batstone hit sharply to Heckman for an out, and Somerville bounded to Johnston.

The Petes were easy in the sixth. Swanston rolled to Cherry and Harrison and Heckman struck out.

Not so the Ponies, who scored four in their half. Daley scratched a single down the first base line and Teeple doubled to left sending Daley to third. Rickman's double to centre scored the pair. Purvis walked and Cherry singled to left filling the bases. Nickle hit to Harrison whose throw home was too late to get Rickman. Compeau forced Cherry at third, Holyman to Collins. Purvis scoring. Batstone lofted to Holyman and Somerville popped to Heckman.

One Each in Seventh.

Johnston first up in the seventh walked, but was forced at second on Collins' rap to Somerville. It would have been a double play but Purvis dropped the throw to first. Hall forced Collins, Compeau to Somerville. Turner doubled over Daley's head, scoring Hall. Holyman struck out.

For Kingston Daley bounded to Holyman. Teeple walked. Rickman flied to Hall. Teeple stole second and went to third when Harrison threw to centre field. With Purvis up Teeple made a clean steal of home after which Purvis fanned.

That left it 8 to 2, and then came the Petes' big eighth described upstairs.

Heckman was on the firing line when the Ponies finally got to bat in the eighth and he struck out Kelly and Nickle and got Compeau on a fly to Legon.

In the ninth Heckman fanned. Moore flied to Compeau and Collins rolled to Batstone.

Batstone opened Kingston's ninth with a single which Harrison knocked down but could not make a play on. Somerville singled on a line to right, fast fielding by Turner holding Batstone at second. Rice batted for Daley and bounded to Moore, Batstone reaching third and Somerville second. With the tieing runs on the bases Heckman fanned Teeple and tossed out Rickman to wind up the game.

LAKEVIEWS WIN JUNIOR LEAGUE DECIDING GAME

Showed Good Form in Defeating Crescents by 7-3 Yesterday.

SCORED AT START.

Whitehouse Had Edge on Sheehy and Got Better Support.

Lakeviews won the championship of the Junior City League last night when they beat the Crescents 7 to 3 at Riverside Park. The game was fast throughout.

Whitehouse occupied the mound for the winners, and Sheehy did the gunning for the South-enders. Both pitchers hurled good ball, Whitehouse having a slight edge. The support accorded Sheehy was somewhat loose, and he aided the Lakeviews by his own wildness.

Cameron's good throws from deep short to retire Taylor and Milloy at first were the feature plays of the game. Whitlow, Rody and Jones gathered in a number of hard flies.

Marchen and McDonough were the heavy hitters with three apiece, and Freddy Jones came through with two neat singles.

Started Early.

Lakeviews got most of their runs in the opening innings. Sheehy retired the side on strikes in the first, but a hit, a walk and an error in between accounted for two runs. The Lakeviews garnered three more in the second on Whitlow's double, a walk to Johnston, Cameron's fielder's choice and a single by Marchen. A double and single added another in the third. They got their last in the seventh when Ash doubled with LeBarr on first, and Collins hit a long sacrifice fly to centre.

The Crescents were held scoreless in all but the first and sixth frames. McDonough singled in the first, stole second, and came all the way home on wild throws by Collins and Whitlow. In the sixth Jones walked and scored on McDonough's double down the left field foul line. Rody singled, sending McDonough across but he was caught off first to end the rally.

STRATTON FINAL AFTER MIDNIGHT WON BY J. BACON

Defeated Herb Martin's Rink at Early Hour This Morning By 15-7.

TROPHY PRESENTED.

Scores in Stratton Trophy Bowling — Visitors Eliminated.

At one o'clock this morning Jack Bacon was proclaimed the winner of the Stratton Cup after a persistent battle with Herb Martin.

The few who remained until the finish witnessed a fine exhibition of bowling, and though deprived of sleep, were rewarded for their patience.

The Stratton Trophy has changed hands, but it still remains in Peterboro. Jack Mayneord, who brought the trophy here for the first time in ten years last summer, was eliminated yesterday in the first round by J. W. Thompson, of Sunderland, who defeated the much heralded Belleville rink in the preliminary.

The Brothers Oke.

W. J. Oke, Port Hope, and W. J. Oke, Peterboro, two skips in yesterday's tourney, were a nuisance to the score-keepers. These two gentlemen are brothers, and though labelled with the same initials, one is called Walter, the other "Bill." The two Oke brothers reached the second round, and it looked for a time as though the crowd would find the fracas boiled down to a family affair. The coincidence of finding the two brothers in the finals almost happened. Their play was a unique feature of yesterday's programme.

The extraordinary feature of the tournament was the remarkable success of Herb Martin, who went through to the finals with the scheduled rink he has played with all season. The runners-up earned their way by smart bowling.

The finals commenced at 10.30 p.m., concluding at 1 a.m., the score being 15 to 7. The losers were inclined to injure their own chances in efforts to kill the play, while the winners were more steady in the pinches.

Herb Martin to Charlie Seymour: "Man! You're short, I told you to kill it."

An excellent calibre of bowling was displayed in the finals, the very peak of the tournament. Peterboro can boast of the splendid calibre in her bowling ranks, in view of the tribute paid to the local club by Dr. McWilliams, of Toronto Granites, who was defeated by D. H. Moore's rink in the preliminary. He stated that he did not think there was a stronger rink in the Queen City than the one he represented, and naturally was somewhat overtaken with surprise to be eliminated in the opening round.

Trophy Presented.

Immediately after the finals Mr. D. H. Moore summoned around him the small gathering that remained, and presented Mr. J. Bacon with the Stratton Trophy. He congratulated both teams, observing that the winners had won on their merits, and highly commending the runners-up for the whirlwind finish they had provided.

The members of the winning rink were each presented with a cut glass cake dish and the runners-up a cut glass berry bowl each.

The finalists were:

J. Bacon (skip), G. F. Cairns, A. Gilliam and P. King.

Herb Martin (skip), H. Freeman, C. I. Seymour and G. Cooke.

The booth provided by the Ladies' Bowling Club was a great auxiliary to the players. There was a steady run on the soft drinks, and the sale of ice cream was also heavy. Yesterday was a perfect day for the tournament, both for bowling and the sale of soft drinks.

Mrs. R. Fox was in charge of the refreshment booth, accompanied by Mesdames H. R. Martin, P. King, J. Bacon, C. Perry, Sr., C. Perry, Jr., Storey, C. J. Seymour, Clysdale, French, G. J. Johnson, H. Nevin, G. Gimblett and Mitchell.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

1. Is it permissable for the manager of a team sitting on the bench to signal either to the pitcher or catcher the kind of ball that should be pitced? My contention is that the playing of the game should be confined exclusively to the active players.—G. C.

2. Pitcher starts his delivery to pitch as stray ball is returned to the infield. Umpire noticing it rolling on the ground, calls time. Pitcher delivers ball, not hearing the umpire's ruling, and batsman hits ball into the left field stand for a home run. What is the proper ruling?—O. C. K.

3. Two players are of equal speed, one is left-handed batter, the other a right hander. Which can get to first base in the quickest time.—R. D. E.

ANSWERS

1. Your contention is well put, but baseball precedent gives the manager the right to signal from the bench to pitcher or catcher. Manager McGraw of the New York Giants is credited with running his club along such lines.

2. It is an unfortunate situation, but if the umpire has called time because of the stray ball that has rolled on the field, he suspends play and renders void the home run made by batsman, who must hit over.

3. The left hander, because his position at the plate shortens the distance to first base a few feet.

OULETTE SHOWS HIS BEST WARES ALLOWS ONE HIT

Oshawa Shut Out By Belleville in Battle of Pitchers.

SCORE WAS 2 TO 0.

Errors Behind Dainty Spoiled His Fine Performance.

BELLEVILLE, July 24.—(Special to The Examiner).—In one of the snappiest games ever played at Agricultural Park, the Grand Trunks yesterday shut out the snappy Oshawa nine by the score of 2-0. The game was played in one hour and thirty minutes. It was a pitching duel between Harold Dainty and Jack Oulette, in a game of few strike-outs, but equally as few safe hits and the snappiest of fielding.

Oshawa bungles were expensive and inexcusable, while the Trunks' only one was excusable and meant nothing against them. Wilson at first, and Ward, a new man, at second, contributed prize boners, and Ward robbed W. Fair of a nice catch by butting in, and not getting near the fly ball. Trunks outhit Oshawa four hits to one, one of Bill Mills' being a double, which scored one of the two tallies. Broad, a junior from the Red Sox, nicked Oulette for Oshawa's lone single in the third frame.

Murray Was Hit.

In the fourth inning Mickey Murray, in the game after his recent serious injuries, was knocked to the ground when Oulette hit him on the left wrist with one of his swiftest pitched balls. He gamely continued play amid applause.

Oulette outpitched Dainty, fanning seven to the Duke's four; each passed one, but Oulette hit one batter. Oulette fooled Oshawa's best hitters with a fake slow ball, something new, and at other times curve-balled them to death. Dainty was steady, but his control was not so good yesterday. He, too, heaved a nice game just the same. Ross, Weir and the Mills brothers contributed the hits, in but two frames did more than three Oshawa batters face Oulette, they being the fourth and seventh when Oshawa had nice chances to tally but could not come through with the much needed clout.

Turned Them Back.

All the other innings required but three hitters, and in one frame Oulette threw but four pitched balls; again in the sixth he retired the side in order by strike-outs. Oshawa also had snappy halves in the first, second, fourth, sixth and seventh. In the third Weir's single, plus two errors, counted the first, and Mills' double in the eighth, with Ross on, sent the second over.

BREAD MAKER BEAT INDIA[illegible]

Mackey's Piled Up Score 16-8 Against Curve Lake.

26 HITS—17 ERRORS

Bob Mackey's dough-slingers stepped into Curve Lake last night, catching George Copperway's Indian Braves away off color, walloping them 16 to 8. It was a game was featured by heavy slugging and poor fielding. There were 24 [illegible] 26 hits and 17 errors.

The Indians, who usually do the heavy slugging in most of the contests failed to deliver last night and the honor went to Mackey's. The Breadmakers got eighteen hits, Dugan getting 4 of them and Jobbit, Collins, Hardill and Clark each collected two. Shiner Clarke hit one for the circuit and Collins and Hardill each collected a double. Hardill could have completed the circuit twice on his hit, but owing to ground rules he was held to a double.

The Curve Lake aggregation collected 8 hits, A. Johnston getting two of them. M. Taylor got the longest hits for the Indians a triple to deep left, while J. Jacobs collected a double.

It must have been an off day for the Curve Lake team for they did not turn in the game they are capable of doing. They did not seem to be able to handle the ball and ten errors were the result of their efforts. Mackey's took the lead in the first inning and were never headed. They scored in every inning. The Indians scored three runs in the second and five in the sixth. They had lots of opportunities to score in the other innings but threw them away by poor baserunning.

Sawyers started on the rubber for Curve Lake. He was very unsteady and did not seem to be able to get going. M. Taylor who relieved him did not do much better than his teammate. Shiner Clarke went the full route for Mackey's and pitched steady ball. He was very effective in the pinches.

The Curve Lakers gave Mackey's a royal reception after the game. They showed the boys a real time and Mackey's team sure appreciated it.

GREY BIRDS AND JUNIOR PACKERS PLAY TIE GAME

Score Was Equalized in Last Few Minutes on Penalty Kick.

C P C HAD THE LEAD.

Hard Fought Game Resulted Two All—L O L Medals Presented.

The C.P.C. Juniors met the Grey Birds in a League game at King Edward Park on Wednesday evening and a fast and exciting game ended in draw of two goals each. The Grey Birds showed great improvement and were in the lead with only one minute to play Williams handed the ball and James' score from the penalty. Before the game commenced Mr. James Ball on behalf of the L.O.L. Demonstration executives presented the medals to the C.P.C. Juniors which they won at Exhibition Park on the 12th.

The Junior's won the toss and at once Williams got away, Cross shooting over the bar. Oxley sent well down the field and Mitchell took a long drive which deceived Batley and opened the scoring. Dick Somers and Hotson became prominent with some nice work and Hotston had hard lines, his final effort went just wide of the post. Both goal-keepers were having all their work cut out. Clarke and Bradley kept sending their forwards away Kilenbeck with a nice overhead kick put Somers in possession. Oxley relieved with a great kick. Downer and Foster combined nicely on the left for the Juniors. From Foster's center Strudley missed by inches. From the goal kick Williams sent out, to Somers who gave to Kilenbeck whose shot just went out of Montgomery's reach and made the score equal. Half time arrived with the score standing 1-1.

Second Half

Upon resuming the Grey Birds aided by Cross whose runs and centres were the feature of the game, came within an ace of scoring Montgomery fisting out. F. Ball, who made his first appearance, this season, received from H. Bradley, raced away and sent to Kilenbeck who again beat Montgomery with a fast ground shot The game was now exciting the Juniors were putting all they knew in the game to score. Batley and his backs were having a lively time. James kept playing the fast footed Mitchell with nice passes. Williams or Bradley popped up at the right moment and averted disaster. The Grey Birds were playing a defensive game content with their lead. Time was now fast approaching and it looked as if the Juniors were going to lose their record. Downer and Foster went down their wing Foster sent in a beautiful centre, Williams handled the ball and the referee awarded a penalty. James took the kick and made no mistake time was soon after wards called and one of the best games played in the League, this season ended in a draw of 2 goals each.

HIKE TO MONTREAL.

Golf Caddy Afflicted With the Popular Malady and Breaks Into Print.

TORONTO, July 24.—(Canadian Press).—"Bill" Kemp, one of Toronto's best known golf caddies, is hiking on foot to Montreal for the Canadian open golf championship, caddies of Scarboro Golf and Country Club reported yesterday when "Bill" failed to take his place in the shelter to await employment. He left on Monday.

The lad thinks he can secure employment with Percy Barrett, professional golf champion of Canada, during Beaconsfield tournament, and later on Mount Bruno course, where the professional of the United States and Canada will compete for the open title. He caddied for Barrett when he won the championship at Summit last season, and is anxious to carry his bag during the two matches.

COW PUNCHERS BACK.

Glad to Get Back to the Free Open Life of Plains.

NEW YORK, July 24.—(Canadian Press) Eleven Canadian "cow punchers" from Calgary, Lethbridge and other points in western provinces today are on their way back home tremendously relieved at what they regard as narrow escape from being stranded in New York.

Cowboys were part of the outfit which participated in rodo at Wembley, organized by Tex Austin, promoter of wild west shows. "New York is all night," one of them explained as he fondled his ticket to Lethbridge, "but it's too crowded for me. You can't ride a pony in this traffic. Alberta's good enough for me."

BUSINESS NOW IN ASCENDENCY

At Least One Company Is Hopeful of the Future.

Speaking of life insurance sales as a barometer for general business conditions, Mr. F. C. Fiske, Third Vice-President of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who is in the city to-day, visiting the district offices of the company, in charge of Manager E. T. Flood, says:

"Life insurance sales, which people believe point the finger to general business conditions, show a steady increase throughout the Dominion. Comparing May, 1924, with May, 1923, sales have increased twelve per cent. For the first five months of the year sales have advanced fifteen per cent. over the same period in 1923. The favorable crop outlook and the current improvement in European conditions are two factors which we believe will send our business as well as others on an even sharper upgrade curve."

In April the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, established a Canadian Head Office in Ottawa, the directors of the Company, Mr. A. F. C. Fiske says, being convinced that the growth of Canada and the best intests for two million Canadian policy holders, warranted the establishment of the office.

Moving a $600,000,000 insurance company nearly 538 miles over night, was the feat accomplished by the contingent of insurance workers, headed by Mr. Fiske, several months ago. The story of that move attracted much attention at the time, for the entire transfer involved no delays in handling the business of the Canadian field force and the policyholders. At the close of the day's work those who were to make the trip had dinner together in New York city, and then set out for Ottawa on a special train. They arrived the next morning. Their records, and other working materials had come up with them and were installed in their new quarters; without loss of time they resumed their duties where they had left off the night before

"We have been operating from Ottawa nearly three months to date," Mr. Fiske continued. "So far we have taken on over 345 Canadians, 240 women and 105 men, to replace New Yorkers on various clerical jobs. The New Yorkers came up with the idea of training Canadians to fill their positions and as soon as that is accomplished they returned to New York city. About sixty Americans and their families came up with the idea of remaining permanentiy in Ottawa. They are chiefly officers of the company and executives who cannot be replaced by Canadians for some time for they hold their positions by virtue of long service and experience with the company. When executive calibre is developed among the new employees, replacement among executives will be in order. Generally speaking we are greatly pleased with the way in which the Canadians have taken hold of the work of the head office.

"We intend to begin work on a new office building in Ottawa early next spring," said Mr. Fiske. "It will be a three or four storey building and we hope to make it a credit to the capital city and a worthy neighbor to the beautiful Parliament buildings. Several purchases of property on the main streets of the Capital City running back to a frontage across from the Parliament buildings, have been made by the Metropolitan. About $700,000 was paid for this property. Plans for the building are now been drawn up and it is hoped that it will be ready for occupancy early in 1925."

VISITORS FROM CANADA TO U. S.

All Persons Crossing Border Should Have Card of Identification Handy.

OTTAWA, July 24.—Visitors to the United States from Canada, to avoid complications and probable disappointment should, owing to the operation of the new United States laws and quota systems with regard to immigrants, arm themselves before hand with a letter from a reputable Canadian citizen testifying that they are entering the United States on a visit and that they intend to return to their homes in Canada. C. G. Blake, American Vice-Consul in Ottawa to-day explained that some such requirement is necessary to assist the emigration officials in determining that the representations as to being visitors only to United States are bona fide and not merely a way of evading the quota system which the United States' Government has established to regulate immigration to the United States.

Mr. Blake said a letter of identification should contain the name of the intending visitor, address in Canada, business or employment, where they are going, that they are on a temporary visit, for how long, and that they intend returning to Canada on such a date.

Should an automobile party attempt to visit the United States the owner of the car should be armed with such a letter testifying as to each member of the party, that is, if each member of the party has not procured one for themselves. In some cases it may be that the immigration officials of United States will collect these letters at the point of entry into the States and in that case a fresh letter of identification will be required on each trip.

Any person intending to take up permanent residence in the United States whether Canadain born or otherwise must, of course, comply with all the regulations in connection with the quota system, Mr. Blake said.

ONTARIO SYSTEM WILL BE CHANGED

Change in Education Policy Announced by Premier Ferguson.

TORONTO, July 24 (Canadian Press). — Return to the "three R's" and to other subjects equally well established, is the plan which Premier Ferguson, as Minister of Education, entertains for the curriculum of the Ontario elementary schools, formal notification of such revision, such as has been intimated since the Government's accession to office, is contained in the Premier's first annual report for the Education Department.

The aim of the new policy, according to the Premier's statement, is to make Ontario's education system more adaptable to local conditions, and, therefore, more practical to the child. With this in view, the present curriculum is being divided into two sections, basis and supplementary.

In the first category, which all children will be required to learn, are kept reading, writing, arithmetic, composition, geography, history, and spelling—in short, subjects necessary to any well conceived curriculum.

In the second category, from which children will select, are placed music, nature study, agriculture, manual training, domestic science—in short, those subjects which are supplementary to routine curriculum and which, for their sccessful study, depend to some extent upon the adaptability of the child.

The effect of the changed curriculum will be to give it flexibility suitable to Ontario conditions.

Agriculture is being included in the curriculum for the first time, and is calculated to correct in some measure the present tendency charged against rural schools of educating children away from the land.

Manual training also becomes optional subject available to the child suitably inclined.

No attempt is made to teach the commercial subjects in the elementary school.

Novel Suggestion.

Representatives of the trustees' section of the Ontario Educational Association who waited on the Deputy Minister of Education Colquhoun yesterday presented a novel suggestion for the upbuilding of citizenship. The deputation urged upon Dr. Colquhoun the advisability of having a picture of the Fathers of Confederation hung in every schoolhouse throughout the province.

It was stated that such a picture could form part of a valuable citizenship course.

The deputation presented resolutions which had been passed at the Easter meeting, one of the most important of which was that provincial grants should be given to small urban communities on the same basis as to rural communities.

Judge J. H. Scott of Perth was the spokesman of the deputation.

Other members of the trustees' section of the Ontario Educational Association in the deputation were Mrs. W. R. Morris of Peterborough, Dr. E. H. Wickwar of Smith's Falls, J. G. Elliot of Kingston, Rev. W. Morris of Toronrto, D. McKessick, and S. Farmer.

Dr. Colquhoun assured the deputation that he would make a report of their representations to the Prime Minister.

According to the Crown authorities, the original charges in the indictment will stand but proceedings will not be taken against A. E. Calvert, who was acting manager of the bank at the time of its suspension. He will likely be used by the Crown as one of its principal witnesses.

H. J. Daly, who was president of the defunct institution, and one of the accused named in the indictment, died June 9th.

"FLOWING GOLD" TO BE HERE NEXT WEEK.

First National Picturization of Rex Beach Novel Heralder as a Stirring Drama.

The feature at the Royal Theatre next Monday will be "Flowing Gold," an adaptation of Rex Beach's latest novel. This first national picture, which was produced by Richard Walton Tully and directed by Joe De Grasse, is declared to set new standards in the gripping qualities of its drama and action.

Milton Sills and Ana Q. Nilsson are seen in the leading roles of Calvin Gray and Allegheny Briskow, supported by Alice Calhoun, Josephine Crowell, Charles Sellon, Bert Woodruff, Cissy Fitzgerald and John Roche.

Author Beach has chosen for the setting of his story a small town in Texas which had been thrown into a furore by the discovery of oil in the vicinity. It immediately becomes the Mecca of fortune seekers and adventurers of every kind, among whom are Calvin Gray and Henry Nelson. Nelson, a former army officer, had gone there to become rich. Gray to avenge himself on Nelson, because the latter had been instrumental in getting him dishonorably discharged from the army.

The enmity between the two men is intensified when both fall in love with the same girl. Many attempts are made to "get" Gray but he frustrates the plots and eventually has the joy of seeing his enemy the loser in the battle of wits.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"THE ARIZONA EXPRESS" IS REAL CARTER THRILLER —OPENS AT CAPITOL TODAY

For more than thirty years the name of Lincoln J. Carter has stood for all that is best in melodrama—real punchy thrills, coming from rapidfire situations that follow each other in a breath-taking series.

In "The Arizona Express" Carter did some of his best work. He was absolutely at home in writing this rapid-moving story with its splendid plot, weird thrills and romantic love story. For years "The Arizona Express" played to capacity houses in United States, Canada and England a dnnow on the screen it is even better entertainment than it was or the legitimate stage.

"The Arizona Express" brings in a great bank robbery followed by a thrilling battle with a posse. Later we see a runaway express car crashing madly along and the stirring scenes in which the crew of the car leap to safety while the final climax comes when the entire train goes thru a bridge and falls hundreds of feet into the racing, swollen river, far below. This is one of the greatest wreck scenes ever filmed and, as is obvious to every spectator, is intensely thrilling and vivid because a real train is sent over a broken bridge so that the last ounce of realism is extracted from the terrific wreck that follows.

"LEAVENWORTH CASE" HOLDS SPECTATORS BAFFLED TO END

Screen Version Keeps Interest As High As In Original Book.

Few motion pictures dealing with mystery maintain the suspense until the end. Unlike the spoken drama this form of amusement is such that often secrets must be divulged which reveal the solution of the mystery. For this reason few detective stories have made much of a success upon the screen.

Anna Katharine Green won fame through writing mystery stories that baffled solution until she was ready to reveal the guilty person. At no time does she purposely conceal the identity or try to prevent the reader from solving the problem. In fact when the denoument comes it is so simple that the reader is surprised he did not suspect the guilty one from the first.

After reading some of Anna Katharine Green's books, Whitman Bennett decided that it would be possible to put such a mystery on the screen and maintain the suspense until the final flash. He obtained the rights to one of the most popular of Miss Green's books, "The Leavenworth Case," and commenced the work of picturization.

In selecting "The Leavenworth Case," Mr. Bennett had a two-fold purpose. The story was one of the first of modern detective stories to be accepted by readers of the better class of fiction as suitable for reading and it was one of the first to keen the reader in total darkness as to the guilty party.

Mr. Bennett believed that in making the experiment for the screen, no better story could be obtained than "The Leavenworth Case," a book that has been read by 10,000,000 persons and has been translated into several languages.

When the production was finished and titled, Mr. Bennett invited a critical audience to review it. The film was projected upon the screen up to the solution and then the film was stopped. A vote was taken as to who was guilty of the crime. Not a person was able to give the solution and all were eager to see the final flashes.

This is one of the few mystery pictures that maintains the mystery to the end. Mr. Bennett is so elated over the results that he expects to make added experiments in the near future.

"The Leavenworth Case" will be the attraction at the Regent Theatre to-day, Friday and Saturday.

URGES REMOVAL OF CITY CLOCK

Uncertain Time-Piece Causes Strangers to Miss Trains.

It is generally supposed that the function of the city clock is to guide people rather than to lead them astray.

One prominent Peterborough merchant remarked that it would be better for the city council to remove the present timepiece instead of allowing it to mislead strangers in the city

The unfortunate tourists, who do not know of its failings, have been repeatedly deceived, and in some instances, thinking that the town clock registered eastern standard time, have missed trains.

It is natural for a stranger to rely on the official city time piece, and other than the inconvenience caused, time and expense are lost, should a busines or professional man miss his train.

"It creates a bad impression," said this man.

A local doctor, who was a party to the conversation, viewed the matter from a different angle, and in describing the precarious and uncertain town clock, stated that a fellow doesn't know when to go home in the morning.

PETERBORO AND TORONTO RINK REACH FINALS

Will Battle For the Warne Trophy This Afternoon.

STARTED DOUBLES.

Twenty-three Entries in the Doubles, With Singles Yet to Play.

Rain did not daunt the enthusiasm of the bowlers. Late hours, sun or rain, had no effect on the play. The caretaker could hardly chase the last few stragglers off the greens early this morning, cutting the interval between last night's finish and the arrival of the early birds quite short.

Warne Trophy

A few games in the Warne competition were played last evening and the finals were reached at one o'clock to-day, leaving a Peterboro and a Toronto rink in the running.

Martin Chenhall who in the semi-finals yesterday, reached the finals for the Warne Cup and will play off with T. S. Kerr's rink of the Oakwood Club at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Martin Chenhalls' rink have been bowling steady and up to the semi-finals were high in the aggregate number of games won.

The Oakwood finalists fared much better than their brothers from the Granite Club who were eliminated in the preliminary round for the Stratton Trophy. Dr. McWilliams did not wait for the Consolation or

There were at least six participants in the tournament over the seventy mark, anod there were some others who played as if they were over a hundred. President D. Moore, a local contender looked strong in the game with Dr. McWilliams.

The youngest contender in the race was Master Delaney of Cobourg who was 16 years of age. He made a good showing and performed as well as anyone on the Cobourg rink. It is his first year with the bowls.

An interesting feature of this morning's games was the win of Gimblett and Oke (Peterboro) over Dr. Allen and Taman in the doubles. The latter were 4 up when the play was stopped for a minute with a brisk shower and when the game resumed Oke and Gimblett got a 6 end reversing the score.

Of the local bowlers, none fared better than the members of the Committees, Herb Martin reached the finals in the Stratton competition and Alex Dick and Martin Chenhall are members of the finalists for the Warne Cup.

Jack Mayneord as secretary treasurer of the Peterboro Club and in the capacity of an umpire had few idle moments.

TRANSMISSION OF RADIO PICTURES

The Inventor's Apparatus Is different wild animals. One day he Now on the Market.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Transmission of pictures by radio, long the subject of the world-wide discussion and experiment, is at last ready for practical use.

Initial installations are now being made and soon the whole United States, as well as other countries, is expected to be covered with a network of radio photo transmitting and receiving apparatus.

A company has already been formes here for the purpose. It established and operates transmitting equipment, manufactures and leases receiving apparatus, and is continuing research work for perfection of the machinery. Basic patents have already been issued and others have been applied for.

Behind this tremendous advance in the history of wireless is C. Francis Jenkins, the inventor, who is as famous in the motion picture field as he is in the radio field. He has the distinction of being accredited the inventor of the first motion picture projector.

The Apparatus

For the last few years it has been known that Jenkins had been working on a method of sending pictures by radio. Others, too, have been busy with the same idea, but Jenkins' machine is unique.

The basis of the apparatus is a prismatic ring, or disc, a new optical shape in glass, which Jenkins himself designed and can make only by the use of special apparatus. In the sending apparatus, four prismatic rings are combined, revolving across a light beam directed through a photo negative. These rings slice the rays into strips and convert the light values into electrical values.

The electrical values are then sent out into space on radio carrier waves, just as sound is transmitted. At the receiving end, these electrical waves are caught, converted into light and recorded on a photo negative.

Thus one broadcasting station can transmit a photograph to as many points as have the required receiving apparatus, powerful enough to detect the wave of the broadcaster. In this, the photo broadcasting is similar to sound broadcasting, the distance of transmission being dependent on the power of the station and the strength of the receiving set.

Radio Vision Ahead.

Jenkins expects to go even further. He forecasts the coming of radio vision and radio movies within a few years. In his laboratory here, five youths are helping him perfect these wonders. Combined with audio-radio, Jenkins sees the next generation listening and seeing plays and events enacted far away.

For the present, the Jenkins installation for broadcasting pictures by radio includes the transmission of messages, contracts and newspaper copy by this method. Jenkins has been able to flash 100 words a minute in this way. He predicts 1000 words a minute within a short time.

INDIANS MEET MACKEYS.

A Loss For the Bread Makers Will Put Them Out of the Running.

The Curve Lake Indians will be seen in action here on Monday night at the Exhibition grounds, with the Mackey's Bread Company team. The slugging Indians are in fine shape and expect to come through with a win on Monday, while Bob Mackey says that he has the best team in the league and is sure of a victory over the redskins. A loss for the Mackey outfit will put them out of the running, while a win will keep them well up in the running for the East Peterborough League championship.

MUTE GRADUATES BACK FOR RE-UNION

Some Have Achieved Great Success in Business World —All Are Happy.

By MILTON MacKAYE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 24 (United Press).—Washington recently played host to the strangest college reunion ever held—a gathering of old grads at which not one audible cheer was raised not one word spoken.

It was the alumni of Gallaudet College, the national school of higher education for the deaf, holding their first get-together in ten years.

Gallaudet lies on the outskirts of Washington, and is known to natives here as the "University of Silence." Ten years ago it was only an experiment.

To-day, according to Dr. Percival Hall, president, it is success. The reunion, bringing back former students from every corner of the country, has proven that men unable to hear and some of them unable to speak, can fight the world on its own terms and come off triumphant.

The old grads, come back in many costumes. Some wore clerical collars and plain black coats. Some of the women wore fine silks and laces. Many are married, but strangely enough, all are happy.

Congress Sceptical.

When the first congressional endowment was provided by Congress for Gallaudet, many members of the House and Senate were skeptical of the practicality of the move.

Time, Dr. Hall says, has proven the case for Gallaudet. The progress made by graduates during the last ten years has established the fact that deaf and dumb citizens can shoulder their share of the work of the world.

The alumni may be found scattered through nearly all the professions. Some are ministers of the Gospel, who preach by the sign language to congregations of the deaf in different denominations—Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist.

New York, Philadelphia and Chicago have churches for the deaf, with resident ministers. Smaller cities have visiting pastors who come once a week—or once a month—serving a circuit of places the size of Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse.

Own Newspapers.

Three of the alumni own, edit, and publish newspapers. One is in Athol, Mass.; another in Arlington, N.J., and the third in a small South Carolina town. All are weekly journals.

Many Gallaudet graduates are teachers in the state institutions for the deaf scattered across the country—experts in teaching mute children their three "R's."

Others hold positions in the government service in Washington—the navy war department, the state department, the bureau of standards, the census bureau.

The school has produced many scientists. Some of them are chemists in great industrial plants, in private laboratories, in government research plants.

One graduate chemist has an interesting job in a Brooklyn department store. He makes the store's perfumes and is recognized as an expert in his craft.

Artists Among Grads.

The arts are not neglected. One man has made his mark in architecture, and, fittingly enough, recently won the commission for the Tennessee State School for the Deaf in competition. The building will be completed this summer. Another alumnus is an etcher, whose work is recognized as being among the best produced in this country.

Still other graduates are in business—real estate, printing and engraving. A few are farmers.

Dr. Hall says their biggest handicap is found not in themselves, but in the minds of the people with whom they a prejudice—a feeling that because of their inability to hear, it will be difficult to communicate with them.

Canada is making heavy wheat exports to China and Japan.

TRUCK DRIVER FINED.

On Wednesday, July 9, a truck driven by Gordon Frise, collided with the touring car driven by Howard Young, son of Dr. T. W. H. Young.

It was shown that both cars were travelling at a moderate speed and that the driver of the truck, in an effort to turn out and pass the touring car, struck its rear end. The accident occurred on George street, north of Smith.

In police court this morning Magistrate Langley taxed Gordon Frise $10.00 and costs. The latter was charged with reckless driving.

OWNER SETS FIRE TO HER APARTMENT

SYRACUSE, N.Y., July 24.—(Canadian Press.) — Forced by pressing debts and in an effort to collect insurance on her damaged apartment and goods, Miss Frances Stabb early yesterday morning set fire to her home, and to lend color to her story of burglars, bound and gagged herself and awaited the coming of the firemen. The fire, however, threatened to become more serious than she had planned, and seized with panic Miss Stabb attempted to undo the ropes she had tied. These only became tightened by her struggles and the helpless woman was faced with possible death in the fire she had started. In the course of her struggles, a roomer in her apartment was awakened and rescued her as the flames were shooting through the house. Other occupants of the building escaped by ladders, scantily clothed. To the police Miss Stabb told the thrilling story of waking to find two burglars at her bedised, of being bound and gaged and of watching her rooms ransacked with the loss of some forty dollars. Her story was broken down only after several hours of quizzing by the police.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL.

Proceeds To Go To Help the Save the Children Fund.

A well-attended ice cream social was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the home of Mrs. R. Bugg, 80 Wolsley Street, under the auspices of the Female Voice Choir, the proceeds to be donated to the "Save the Children" Fund, designed for the benefit of Greek refugee children in the Old Country. Dainty tea tables, decorated with flowers, and placed on the lawn, were well patronized, small waitresses whose mauve aprons and mauve rosettes made a pretty spot of color, being Elizabeth Harrison, Barbara and Jean Grey and Berenice Macfarlane.

In the afternoon, when a number of children were present, a programme of races, in charge of Mrs. A. Clark, was run off, prize-winners being: Girls—Alma Mark and Mabel Brown; boys—George Jay, Henry Jay, Harold Macfarlane, Norman Dainton, Nelson Clark and Harris Fisher.

A musical programme, in charge of Miss Fern Johnson, was much enjoyed, and included vocal solos by the Misses Minnie Allen and Elizabeth Harrison, and small Phyllis Pink, recitations by Barbara and Jean Grey, an instrumental selection by Harold Macfarlane, and several numbers by Bert Budd's orchestra.

Ladies who assisted Mrs. Bugg included Mesdames Clark, Macfarlane, Pink, Fisher, Matthews and Jay. Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Grey also assistant with service of refreshments. Mr. J. John made a donation of tea toward the social, and Mrs. Herb. Johnston loaned a gramaphone.

INCREASE DIVORCES.

More Granted Here This Year Than Ever Before.

OTTAWA, July 24. — (Canadian Press).—More divorces were granted by the Federal Parliament to persons in the Province of Ontario and Quebec during the past session than ever before. One hundred and thirty-one bills of divorce became law during the 1924 session, which was an increase of 14 over 1923. There has been a marked increase in divorces granted by Parliament since 1918, when there were only 12. In 1919 there were 49, in 1920 there were 91 and 1921 there were 101. In 1922 the figures dropped to 90, but last year there were 117 and this year 131.

MOTHER'S AGONY ENDS LAUGHTER OF TWO SLAYERS

Mrs. Flora Franks, Mother of Murdered Chicago Boy, Stifles Sobs.

SUFFERED ORDEAL

Loeb and Leopold Lose Composure When Woman Identifies Garments.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 25. — Under the intent and almost respectful gaze of Richard ("Dickie") Loeb and Nathan F. ("Babe") Leopold, Mrs. Flora Franks, mother of the boy kidnapped and slain, submitted to an ordeal in court here Wednesday such as few mothers are called upon to endure.

The mother whose boy Loeb and Leopold have admitted they killed appeared before Judge John R. Caverly with dark eyes circled with tragedy and grief.

Her lips, pressed tightly, were dams of emotion. She parted them reluctantly and just enough so that the necessary answers might trickle forth, lest they give way and expose her as a weak mother rather than a strong witness.

Frequently she nodded, fearful to trust her voice. Once her voice broke into the trembling vestige of a sob, but she halted and waited, and it continued just firm, and no more.

Straight ahead of her line of vision, so that she could have looked into their eyes without turning her head, were the sleek-looking lads of her neighbors, whom her testimony may help send to the gallows.

Boys' Laughter Stilled.

But she did not look. They looked. Loeb had laughed often before. He had laughed into his clenched fist when the father of the slain Robert Franks was on the stand.

He has laughed a lot. He has heard his attorneys say that he is not entirely responsible, mentally. Perhaps they can prove it. Perhaps he is helping them.

But he does not laugh now.

"Your son did not—did not—return?"

There is no nice way to ask. State's Attorney Crowe tried. The answer came fully a minute later. The weakened mother, looking near collapse, was fighting for control. It came.

Voice Falters Over Shoes.

"No," she said. The lips shut quickly again. She looked at the floor. Her hands trembled now and then. She wore a black dress, with a small white border line.

Mr. Crowe handed her a pair of shoes, dirty shoes, with the soles bent a little. She held them in her hand. Words refused to come. Were they her son's? A long pause now. Her lips moved twice, three times. There is no sound. Then faintly:

"Yes."

She held the one golf stocking Robert wore. She held the class pin, the belt, the buckle. She held them too long, perhaps. She did not speak. She nodded.

And when Mr. Crowe took them away, and they lay on the desk top before her, her faltering answers followed Mr. Crowe's questions, but her mind and her eyes were on the dirty, creased, misshapen pair of shoes.

They looked strange on the desk amid documents, exhibits, notes. But they would look familiar in any average home, as they looked there, one partly over another, as though a careless childish hand had thrown them into a corner.

The mother was one of fifteen witnesses. In all, the State has ninety. At the rate of progress

HIRES OUT CATS

To Stoney Lake Cottagers Pestered With Mice.

LAKEFIELD, July 25. — Master Spencer Piper of Toronto established a business at Stoney Lake last year which is probably unique in Ontario and certainly was a new departure in modern business. He advertised at Juniper Island that he would rent cats to cottagers who were pestered with mice. The youngster did so well last year that he put up a notice this season as soon as he arrived at "Kimo," his father's summer residence. While tacking up his notice, (he had equipped himself with hammer and tacks) he rented two cats. The advertisement, which is neatly printed, reads as follows:

"Cottagers tormented by mice, take notice. Spencer Piper of "Kimo" Island has cats for rent; good mousers, 10 cents per week, kind to children, do not scratch or spit."

MANY FARMERS WON'T GET SEED

Only Southern Part of Saskatchewan Promises An Average Crop.

REPORTS ARE GLOOMY

REGINA, Sask., July 25.— Following is the crop report issued on Thursday by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company:

"Central, Northwest and West Central districts have suffered very seriously from prolonged drought. Farmers at many points in these districts do not expect to get back their seed. Recent scattered rains will help to save summer fallowed wheat and late corps of oats.

"Territory south of the C. P. R. main line from Alberta to Manitoba has enjoyed fair rainfall and reports an average crop.

"East Central Saskatchewan has recently had good rains. Crops are slightly below average."

Official's Opinion

REGINA, Sask., July 25.—F. H. Auld, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan, in a statement on the crop conditions yesterday said:

"There is a fair average crop south of the main line of the C.P. R. In the districts north of the line half of last year's crop will only be secured under the most favorable weather conditions from now on."

Mr. Auld would not venture an estimate on the yield.

Found Traces of Rust.

WINNIPEG, July 24.— B. W. Snow wired Chicago from Plum Coulee that he had driven 75 miles yesterday and had found "traces of rust" in every field examined at St. Agathe, Morris and Rosenfeld, in Southern Manitoba. It was usually slight, but the infection was sufficient to catch the crop should the weather prove favorable to its development. The weather to-day is cooler, however, and not good for rust. Otherwise, said Mr. Snow, he found crop prospects above the average.

Damaged Beyond Repair.

CALGARY, July 25.—Whatever it is, it will be bad, thus declared H. W. Wood, president of the U.F.A. and of the Alberta wheat pool, when questioned regarding the Canadain western crop situation.

"It looks bad," said Chester M. Elliott, superintnedent of the grain commission department of the United Grain Growers, when asked about the crop outlook. Rain might make a great difference even yet, but I don't think that the crop could run more than between fifty or sixty bushels at the best. A large part of the Alberta crop is now damaged beyond repair, said Mr. Elliott.

FATHER CHOKED CRYING INFANT; PENALTY 5 YEARS

American Student Sentenced in London—Prisoner Held To Be Abnormal.

U. S. LAWYERS PRESENT

Commented on Speed of English Criminal Law Procedure.

LONDON, July 25—Judge Shearman in the Old Bailey Court Wednesday sentenced Charles Welford Travis, of New York, a student, to five years penal servitude for slaying his ten-months-old baby. Travis had been found guilty of manslaughter.

Explaining his motion, the Judge said:

"This man is subject to criminal impulses and might become a danger to the community."

American Lawyers Present.

Many members of the American Bar Association followed the proceedings commenting on the speed with which English criminal law is administered as compared with the tedious processes in the United States.

Travis did not display the slightest motion when he was sentenced. He walked unconcernedly to the dock, escorted by warders. His young wife, dressed in black, was in court and burst into tears when her husband disappeared.

Travis in a statement to the police, it is held, bears out the comment of the court on his abnormality. In part he said:

"I was born in New York City in July, 1902. I am independent and have a private income from home.

Wed in Brooklyn.

"I married Myra Elizabeth Farr, at Highfields Rectory N.Y., in August, 1922. After our marriage, we lived at No. 251 Jefferson Avenue, Brooklyn, and subsequently moved to Rockville Centre, L. I., where the baby was born in August 1923. The next month I sailed for London, leaving my wife and baby in Brooklyn. I came to England for pleasure.

"My wife joined me with the baby in May last. We lived in an apartment in Bryanston street.

"The baby cried frequently at night, and we had the doctor see him twice, but he continued to cry. About 1:30 A. M. on June 5, I was awakened by the baby crying. I lifted him into the perambulator in which he often slept.

Baby's Cries Stifled.

"Apparently there was nothing wrong with him, but he begun to cry louder, I placed my hand over his mouth to stifle his cries, and as he still kept on I held his nose, thinking that depriving him of air for a few moments would induce exhauston and that he would return to sleep.

"I repeated the process several times but each time he reawoke and began to cry. Then I tried pressing the wind-pipe in his throat. He struggled and I repeated the pressure and held him until he was quiet. Upon releasing my hold in his throat I noticed that he failed to resume breathing.

Did Not Breathe Again.

"I waited a few moments, but he did not breathe again. I tried artificial respiration, which failed, and I found that his heart was not beating. I breathed into his mouth, but it did no good as he was dead.

'An hour later I woke my wife and said that I had something serious to tell her if she was thoroughly awake. She said she was."

Wriggled From Arms of Mother at Upstairs Window.

MONTREAL, July 25.—(Canadian Press).—Carmen Laroque, aged 18 months, is in critical condition at the General Hospital here as a result of a fall from a second story window. She wriggled out of her mother's arms and fell through the window, fracturing her skull.

CONFIDENCE NECESSARY TO ATTRACT FOREIGN CAPITAL TO DEVELOP MINES

"Wild-Catting" and Gambling on the Mining Stock Exchange Must Be Abolished, Sir Wm. Maxwell Offers as Advice—Is Distinguished War Correspondent.

MONTREAL, July 25. —After a long newspaper career, during which he has acted as war correspondent in eight wars and "during every trouble" and visited all countries in the world except six, Sir William Maxwell, English publicist and traveler, is in Montreal on a business visit.

He has just completed a trip to the coast and to a gold mine in which he is inteersted, that is being worked in Manitoba. He has returned much impressed with the possibilities of mineral wealth in Canada and the value of deposits in undeveloped districts, but he is convinced that before Canada can raise in England the tremendous sums necessary for the development of her ore resources, confidence must be established.

"Wild-catting and gambling on the stock exchange must be abolished, mining must be put on a solid basis," he said. 'Mineral development should be pushed rather than the development of manufactures except in the case of necessities which are consumed at home."

"You have no market, with only nine million population. The west feels, rightly or wrongly, that it is supporting the east. The competition of older countries more densely populated is a serious matter which should be taken into consideration in the extension of manufacturers here, except such necessaries as you use anyway."

RUM RUNNER'S CAR ARMORED

Captured Roadster Equipped With Cowl of Sheet Iron.

BEER CARGO SEIZED

ST. ALBAN'S, Vermont, July 25. —The rum runners are getting ready for war. A high-powered roadster, that had come down from Canada, with a cargo of beer, was found to have been provided with a shield for the driver against gunfire when it was brought here on Thursday by prohibition enforcement agents. Examination showed that the cowl had been built up with sheet steel.

The agents, mounted on motorcycles, had run the car down near Montpelier. The driver escaped. There was no report of any shots having been fired, but in other cases recently shots have been exchanged, and the sheet iron cowl was regarded as a recognition of armed warfare between the rum runners and prohibition agents.

STEEL PLANT CLOSES

British Empire Steel Company Will Be Idle for Three Months.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 25. — Advices from Sydney state the British Empire Steel plant will close down for 90 days beginning August 9th.

The statemen' adds: "The increaseded cost of coal in Cape Breton makes the cost of producing iron and steel at Sydney higher than the prices at which Canadian consumers can buy steel products from Belgium and France delivered with the customs duties paid. Action by the government in properly adjusting the customs tariff on import steel so as to give this industry and Canadian labor the same percentage of protection it enjoyed before the war would result in keeping the steel plant in full operation, particularly the red mill which would have been making the rods that have been imported in large quantities this year."

The steel plant will resume operations as soon as orders insure a reasonable period of work, Mr. Wolvin said.

DOUBLE DROWNING.

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., July 24.—(Canadian Press).—A double drowning accident occurred at Craigie Lea, Lake Joseph, on Tuesday evening last, when Miss F. Skairn, aged about 30, and Miss H. Callander, aged about 28, both of Buffalo, lost their lives. One of the ladies was bathing at Potter's Wharf. She got beyond her depth and called for help, and the second lady, who was on the wharf, jumped into the water to help her, and both were drowned. The bodies were shipped to Buffalo.

ARCTIC CLOTHES FOR U. S. FLIERS

Prepare for Plunge Into Freezing Climate of North Atlantic.

NO EXCESS ARTICLES

BROUGH, England, July 25.— By Associated Press). —The American world fliers are working hard in the hangars here preparing their three planes for the transatlantic flight and getting ready to plunge into the freezing climate of the north Atlantic on their homeward voyage by way of Iceland and Greenland.

While four of the flying officers busied themselves to-day converting the machines to seaplanes, Lieutenants Harding and Ogden went to London to buy Artic flying togs.

Threw Clothes Away

Buying clothes only to throw them away in a week or so has been the somewhat expensive practice the airmen have been forced to adopt throughout their world-girdling voyage. With every pound of surplus weight counting against the chances of success it has been impossible for them to fly from one climate to another without throwing away the clothes they were wearing and buying more suitable ones.

On the homeward hop each man is reducing his kit to the minimum, and one or two of them seem inclined to go so far as to leave their razors behind. They expect to cross the Atlantic without a change of clothes, as extra suits of heavy Artic woollens would weigh as much as several gallons of the more necessary gasoline.

Await Flight Orders.

There has been no word received as to the exact date on which the Washington authorities will have the ships assigned for attendance upon the ocean flight ready so that the trip northward to the Orkneys can be begun. The general impression seems to be it is unlikely the airmen will take off from the waters of the Humber before Monday.

STABBED IN NECK

Laborer on Railway Seriously Injured in a Quarrel.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., July 25. —Following an altercation in the waiting room of the Canadian National depot at Kawene Thursday, Fascino Oituro drove the blade of a knife into the throat of Cozetto Pasquola, inflicting a serious wound. Both men were employed on Welch's conatruction gang operating in the vicinity. Oituro, following the assault, took to the woods south of the track and at noon had not been recaptured. Provincial Constable Kilbride of Fort Frances, is proceeding to Kawene to investigate.

DEADLOCK OVER CONDITIONS FOR AID TO GERMANY

Differences Between British and American Banker and France Not Resolved.

FRENCH ARE WILLING

To Satisfy Bankers, But Written Pledges Present Problem.

LONDON, July 25.—(Caandian Press).—Although Premier Theunis of Belgium, and the British and Untied States representatives at the Inter-Allied conference are continuing to exercise to the utmost their powers of conciliation, the deadlock remains unbroken between Premier Herriot of France and the British and United States financiers over the formula by which to safeguard this proposed loan to Germany.

Before and after the King's garden party at Buckingham Palace yesterday conferences and informal conversations were carried on in an endeavor to discover a formula which a member of the French delegation said last night certainly would be found.

The prinicpal meeting yesterday was at Downing street, where Premier Herriot, of France; Premier Theunis, of Belgium; United States Ambassador Kellogg and Italian Finance Minister De Stefani had a two hours 'conversation with Prime Minister MacDonald.

The greatest significance is being attached to the coming and goings of Secretary of State Hughes and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, of the United States, who are having a most difficult task in convincing London that their mission here is unofficial. Such high hopes were raised at the outset of the conference by the participation of the United States that observers still are optimistic that the two members of the American Cabinet can yet find a way, despite the unofficial character of their good offices.

Resent Bankers.

The French delegates take the view that the bankers are interlopers in the London conference, which they say should be of a wholly political nature. But the bankers maintain that they are merely interpreting their investing markets, so that the needed loan will be readily subscribed when the German Government asks for it.

It was authoritatively stated that the French had orally indicated their willingness to pursue a policy with regard to defaults and sanctions under the Dawes plan that the bankers could wholeheartedly recommend to investors. The problem is to reduce the oral pledges to an acceptable written formula which would satisfy the bankers and at the same time keep Premier Herriott's flag flying in the French Parliament. It was to this end that Ambassador Kellogg and Premier Theunis assumed the role of mediators.

Other suggestions were made by the conference experts and financiers and it is hoped that a composite agreement will be reached at the next plenary session.

It is reported that M. Herriot himself made what was tantamount to a pledge against separate action on France's part, to which an American replied:

"M. Herriot, if you could meet the million of Americans who are potential investors in the loan and talk to them face to face, they would believe you and be willing to take a chance. However, as agents only, the bankers must insist upon a written form and a written formula."

The British hosts are calmly watching the interallied conference proceedings and doing everything possible to lift the negotiations out of the maze of technicalities. They compare the pledges necessary to the guarantee of a German loan to ablebodied workmen pledging themselves to give one shilling annually to a worthy cause. German resources, they believe, are such as to make the service of a loan trivial.

Herriot Extends Stay 10 Days

If the Judicial Committee, established today, decides that Germany shall be called into conference, the Berlin representatives are expected to be in London by Monday. M. Herriot is not going to Paris, as reported, but intends to remain in London for another ten days, which time it is expected, will be needed to wind up the conference work.

FINN DROWNED AT HALIBURTON

Authorities Decided to Investigate Death—Inquest on July 30.

JURY EMPANELLED

LINDSAY, July 25.—A drowning accident occurred at the lake, about five miles east of Haliburton, on Thursday when a young Finn, a member of a Finnish party living near the lake, lost his life. The victim and a companion, according to a story told by one of the party, were out on the lake in a punt, which was upset in some manner, and both were thrown into the water. One of the Finns managed to save his life by hanging on to the boat.

Provincial Officer Boyd investigated the drowning, which is shrouded in mystery. Dr. Bell, coroner, was also notified, and after considering the circumstances surrounding the case, decided that an inquest was necessary. A jury was empannelled and the inquest was adjourned until July 30th to hear further evidence. The dead man's stomach was forwarded to Toronto by Dr. Bell, and a report as to its condition will be submitted to the jury.

The authorities are not at all satisfied with the statement made that the young man met his death by drowning, and intend making a thorough investigation in order to secure all the facts as to how he came to his death.

$300,000 FIRE IN QUEBEC HARBOR

Freight Shed Contained 25,000 Bags of Sugar Recently Unloaded.

SMOKE WAS DENSE

QUEBEC, July 25.—A fire which spread a dense pall of black smoke over the lower section of the city broke out last evening in Shed 19, of the harbor, Point a Carey.

The fire did damage estimated at well over the three hundred thousand dollar mark.

A. Bouchard, the night watchman of the St. Lawrence Transportation Company, stated that fire broke out suddenly in the centre of the shed in that portion reserved for the Kirkwood Line Limited. Mr. Bouchard immediately attempted to control the blaze with a fire extinguisher, but in no time the flames had spread to some bags of sugar piled nearby.

The sheds contained some twenty-five thousand bags of sugar, the cargo discharged by the steamship Grey Point on Wednesday.

One Canadian National Railway car containing carbide, standing on the track nearby, was destroyed and part of the Point a Cary wharf was badly damaged.

Damage was partially covered by insurance.

THREE BANDITS ROB VANCOUVER BANK OF $19,000

Manager Forced to Open Safe While Rest of Staff Were Overpowered.

ESCAPED IN CAR

Bank of Commerce Was Victim of Smooth Working Gang.

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 25.—(Canadian Press).—Three bandits held up the staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Granville and Robson Streets at 9.30 o'clock Thursday morning, forced the manager K. G. A. Bonnallie to open the inner apartment of the steel vault and escaped with nineteen thousand dollars.

Mr. Bonnellie attempted to turn and grapple with one of the desperadoes and was struck over the head with the butt end of a revolver which cut his scalp. Bleeding and dazed he was compelled to open the safe and the bandits scooped several bundles of bills from the cash drawer.

The other two robbers kept the members of the staff covered with their revolvers and compelled them to lie prostrate on the floor.

S. Bush, ledger keeper attempted to scrutinize the men but was threatened with death by one of the thugs who struck him with the muzzle of a gun.

The leader of the gang who directed the others in a cool and deliberate manner, was armed with an automatic. There were two boxes of cash in the vault. One a large one in which many thousands of dollars and a smaller one containing a lesser amount. These boxes were locked. The bandit was forced to discard the larger box but the smaller one containing several bundles of bills, was taken.

The teller states that he will recognize one of the robbers as the man who transacted some business with the bank several days ago. Running from the bank the bandits jumped into a waiting automobile, which was standing at the curb with the engine running, and sped away south on Granville street, being lost in the traffic.

FINN MURDERED

Pulp Mill Worker Found in a Pool of Blood.

QUEBEC, July 25.—Sosnte Kankeeps a Finn, who was found lying in a pool of blood a short distance from the Price Brothers Mills in Jonquieres on Tuesday, died Wednesday evening, at the hospital in that municipality and provincial detectives have been sent to investigate the case.

An inquest, held Thursday, by Dr. Riverin, coroner, resulted in a verdict of death "caused by wounds inflicted by persons unknown."

Information from Jonquieres is to the effect that the victim, who was only 24 years of age, had been working in that place for a few years. He spent Monday evening with some of his compatriots and had a few glasses of beer.

According to the story of the dead man, who regained consciousness before death, he was attacked by four men, whom he did not know, and was robbed. His friends say that Kankeeps must have ben carrying about $75 when he left them and when found there was no money on his person.

THE WEATHER.

The rain last night was the heaviest since June 5th, 1923. The rainfall yesterday afternoon was .41 of an inch, while last night it came down to the depth of 1.57, or a total fall of 1.98 (a small fraction less than 2 inches.). The rainfall for July had been much below the average, but this deficiency has now been largely made up.—W.P.

TO-DAY'S EVIDENCE IN CHICAGO TRIAL

Sixty-one Witnesses Have Passed Through the Witness Box.

CHICAGO, July 25. — (Canadian Press).—The weaving of flimsy threads of circumstantial evidence into the finely meshed web which holds Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb guilty of kidnapping and murdering of Robert Franks was recounted to-day by witnesses who helped bring the wealthy young college students of the "mercy of the court." Police officers, newspaper reporters and a friend of one of the boys were called by the State in the hearing before Judge John R. Caverly to tell of the first hint of suspicion directed against the pair, and of the development of the chain of accusative evidence which led eventually to confession and guilty pleas. Fourteen State witnesses were examined at the morning session, bringing to 61 the total called in two days and half of the court procedure. They moved so rapidly through the witness stand that the luncheon recess came half an hour ahead of the scheduled time to permit the State to prepare additional witnesses for the afternoon session. Loeb and Leopold lingered in the court for a few minutes exchanging assurances with relatives. Leopold spoke briefly with his aged father and his brother. He nodded and patted his brother on the back as he turned to submit himself again to the custody of his jail escort.

No abatement of interest was manifest when the third day's hearing opened. There was the same eager watching by early spectators who gained admission to the courtroom and the same preliminary scurrying of court attaches.

Frank Blair, diver, who fished the portable typewriter from the Jackson Park lagoon, was the first witness. It was the machine on which the Franks ransom letters were written. He testified to having brought the typewriter up from the lagoon.

Percy Van De Bogart, clerk in the drug store where two telephone calls were received May 22, asking for Mr. Franks, father of the victim, told of that incident which was part of the attempt to collect ransom from Franks' father.

George Porter Lewis, amateur ornithologist, told of the trip made by Lewis, Leopold and Sidney Stein, Jr., to the territory south of the city. The trip passed near the culvert where Franks' body was stuffed.

"Leopold took two or three shots at the rare bird there," said Lewis. "Did he hit it?"

"No."

Loeb dug his elbow into Leopold's ribs at this exposure of the latter's marksmanship. Both chuckled.

The following Sunday Leopold told witness that he had been questioned by the police about Franks' case. His name had been given to the police by the game warden. Leopold had asked Lewis if he had lost his spectacles the previous Sunday. Lewis had not. He exhibited his spectacles to the court. They were identical in appearance with the pair found near the culvert, and which afterwards proved to be Leopold's. Lewis said that the defendants asked him not to tell his parents of the incident.

ON CHARLOTTE STREET.

Calamity Overtakes Custodian of Mirror and Two Pictures.

In the heavy rain that pelted its way to the skin last night, about half past ten o'clock, a small group of people stood at one of the westerly Charlotte street corners, silently. Immobile and quiet, they gave the impression of being mourners over some irrevocable calamity. Several stood without umbrellas under the driving drops, considering, without any conversation whatever, the cause of their sudden halt on homeward journeys. A passing motorist stopped his car and came back, umbrella-less also, to join the motionless group.

Someone, more venturesome than the rest, asked what had happened. "Two pictures and a mirror got smashed," came in lifeless accents from their late owner, pointing to a sad looking mess lying in the flood at the curb, with a melancholy piece of wrapping paper floating over the remains. The magnitude of the disaster, and the consideration of those seven fatal years to come, overwhelmed the questioner, who dropped into silence also. Everyone stood and looked at the debris. No one said anything. The rain continued to pour down. The silence was punctuated only by the heavy patter of the drops that came straight to the pavement.

What urge of the moving spirit would cause any man to venture forth on a witches' night like that of last evening, with every step a hazard of slippery wet, accompanied by two glass-fronted pictures and a mirror? And why should a similarly adventuresome gentleman, daring Fate on a bicycle, encounter him at such a position as to cause such havoc? What again, would fascinate a group of people sufficiently to make them pause indefinitely under such unfavorable weather conditions, just to contemplate, in superstitious mood, the spectacle of a broken mirror washed by a pool of midsummer rain? There isn't any answer.

MILLIONAIRE.

Did you ever hear of William H. Moore? He died over a year ago. It's revealed in a New York court that he left an estate of more than 28 million dollars. And yet the public for the most part was ignorant of his existence. Big business leaders, bankers and attorneys knew him. He was a top-notch corporation lawyer.

Getting to be quite a common event, to read of the passing of a comparatively obscure man worth millions. Themultimillionaire is becoming such a common institution that he attracts little attention. Wealth is being gradually cornered.

NATIVE SON WHO LEFT IN 1879 RETURNS TO CITY

Misses Many Members Prominent in the Old School.

LIKES EXAMINER.

Claims to be the Oldest Living Subscriber of the Peterboro Examiner.

Peterboro has had as a visitor the past few weeks, an old native son, left the village of Peterboro in 1879, and returns now 45 years later, to find it a thriving Ontario city.

The old resident is Robert J. Bird, who spent his early life here, leaving for Chicago to seek larger fields, after spending 13 years as a clerk in the hardware business carried on by the late John Walton, in the premises now occupied by J. T. Stinson & Sons.

Mr. Bird spent 30 years in Chicago where he was engaged in the wood-preserving business, leaving for Los Angeles, where he established the Western Wood Preserving Company, the firm of which he is now owner.

At present he is not engaged in active business, although he has been in latter years interested in California real estate. Mr. Bird is now retired, enjoying the fruits of a successful career Some of the old timers who were prominent in the city years ago have departed this world, remarked Mr. Bird, naming amongst others the late Harry Lebrun, Barney Morrow, Bob Leary, James Davidson, Robert McKee and Alex. Elliott.

Before leaving Peterboro Mr. Bird was a bandman in the old 57th band, of which Mr. Finch Miller, City Relief Officer, was the bandmaster. Mr. George Ball, another member of the old school, also belonged to this band.

Mr. Bird was joined in Chicago by Mr. H. W. Weigh, a former business partner, and the two of them came directly to Rice Lake, where they were joined by Dr. Jacobs, treasurer of Cook County, Chicago.

A very pleasant time was spent during their few weeks in this district, and incidentally it was mentioned that Rice Lake was the best fishing waters ever experienced by any member of the party. Mr. Bird stated that the Kawartha Lakes are singularly outstanding as a superb fishing ground.

"It is almost impossible to get a lunge on the other side, and I have travelled the United States extensively trying for a fish, and I know of no place that can compare with Rice Lake."

Dr. Jacobs is so delighted with the success of his trip that he intends to return in September with a large party.

Two large shipments of pickerel, lunge and bass were sent to civic officials of Chicago, some of whom are ardent anglers. The party are confident that the shipments will prove of real advertising value, and will culminate in future visits from Chicago parties.

"I claim to be the oldest living subscriber of the Examiner," said Mr. Bird. "I have been taking the local paper for nearly 46 years, and at present I am a member in good standing, having paid up to November next."

During Mr. Brd's long absence he has closely followed the progress of the city. He finds little difference between Peterboro and the progressive American city of the same size, pointing out that we have in Peterborough manufacturing establishments comparing favorably with America's best, mentioning the size of the Quaker Oats Company.

When Mr. Bird arrived in Los Angeles in 1909 the city had a population of 100,000. It now boasts of 1,200,000. Its progress had been remarkable and in the course of the Examiner's interview, Mr. Bird mentioned as an outstanding feature of Los Angeles, the electric clock dial, which is stationed at the corner of Adams and Tigurorra streets in that city. This electric dial system registers the number of cars that pass the corner for any given time, and in one day it registered as high as 67,500 cars.

Mr. Bird is a son of the late John Bird, who resided on London street, rior to his decease in 1889.

As a native son of Peterboro he was glad to find that so many of the boys who stayed here, growing up with the town, have reached the high mark of business and industrial success in their place or origin.

MAY HAVE SURPLUS.

Farm Loan Department of Government in Good Shape.

TORONTO, July 25. — (Canadian Press.)—Unless it should encounter serious losses between now and October 31st, the Ontario government's farm loan policy will have to its credit its first year of operation upon self-sustaining basis. Figures stated yesterday by Hon. W. H. Price, K.C., provincial treasurer, place the present volume of farm loans at $6,500,000, a total which is sufficient to carry all administration charges and to earn also surplus, provided that no serious reverses occur. Up to the end of last year loans totalled only some $4,000,000 which was volume of business slightly insufficient for meeting operating charges.

Suggestion has been made for the erection of a broadcasting station at the Peace Portal erected on the United States-Canadian border for the dissemination of peace mes-

GREAT DAMAGE TO SAO PAULO

Bombardment of the City Was Resumed by Brazilian Forces Yesterday.

(By Bryant Powers—United Press Staff Correspondent).

BUENOS AIRES, July 25.—The bombardment of Sao Paulo was resumed by Brazilian Federal forces late yesterday with great damage to the city, according to radio messages received here to-day. There was severe fighting at the rebel outposts outside Sao Paulo City during the night. Federal cavalry carried out a number of raids, penetrating Sao Paulo at scattered points, but were forced to retire. The luxurious Hotel Esplanade, one of the finest hotels in South America, has been damaged by the Federal bombardment. It was being used as a hospital by the revolutionaries. Other buildings damaged, according to a radio, received by the Buenos Aires newspaper La Razon, include the branch of the National City Bank of New York, the British Bank of South America, the London and Brazilian Bank, the London and River Plate Bank, and other Brazilian and French-owned banks along the Rua Quinze de Movebro, one of the principal business streets of Sao Paulo City. "The rebels sent out a new request for an armistice so that the remainder of the civilian population could be evacuated," the despatch to La Razon says, "but it was refused."

The newspapers estimate that more than 200,000 civilians still are in the city and in grave danger from the bombardment, despite the efforts by both sides to protect them. A majority of the American colony has left Sao Paulo City.

SASKATOON, July 25.—(Canadian Press.)—Engineer G. E. Seabrook was killed instantly and Fireman H. G. Biggs received fatal injuries when a mixed train from Prince Albert to Big River hit a plank yesterday afternoon on the track three miles north of Shellbrook, the engine, tender and one car going into the ditch. A boy suspected of having put the plank on the track is now in the hands of the police. Seabrook leaves a widow and four children.

FATHER CHOKED

The conversation between husband and wife as he related it, follows, he speaking first.

"I have been quieting Dean."

"Is there anything the matter with him."

"The child is dead."

"My wife appeared dazed, but after some minutes we discussed the best course to take. I said that the best thing to do would be for me to put him in a kitbag and to leave the bag in some woods or to take it to some city in the midlands or the north and leave it in a cloakroom there. My wife did not approve of this, but I insisted.

Disposed of Body.

"At five in the morning my wife and I dressed. I wrapped the boy's body in two blankets and placed it in a kitbag. I went to Birmingham and left the kitbag in the cloak room of the railroad station.

"We decided to cable my parents that Dean had died suddenly of scarlet fever and we were returning. Next day we found the shipping offices closed. We went home to pack our baggage and the police arrived."

Prison medical officers reported Travis intelligent, but abnormal.

Judge Shearman said that Travis will be further examined while serving sentence.

MOTHER'S AGONY

established Wednesday, Mr. Crowe said that he may finish Monday.

Attorney Menjamin Bachrach, for the defence, estimated that the defence would require only three or four days to question its own alienists. The time element in cross-examination is a mystery, but indications were that the trial may end within two weeks.

Translated Aretino.

The first psychological aspect of the case was brought out when Leon Mandel—heir to the Mandel Brothers Department Store millionaires, took the stand yesterday.

Mandel testified he collaborated with Leopold in translating works of Aretino, the famous Italian pervert. He said he believed he knew more about Aretino than Leopold himself and the two had amused themselves many times by studying and translating famous Italian writings.

Richard Loeb, co-defendant with young Leopold, appeared highly amused at Mandel's testimony, laughing and whispering with his companion.

"What else did you do when in company with Nathan Leopold?" Crowe asked. "We often played bridge together," the young millionaire said.

"Who else played with you?" "Richard Loeb and other boys of our set."

"Did you play for money?" "Yes, we sometimes played for money."

"What was the limit?" "Usually Loeb and Leopold played a five to ten cents limit—the rest of us played for a one to three cents limit."

"Did anybody lose much money?" "Yes, sometimes one of the fellows would lose a great deal."

"How much would you say?" "Well, about $90."

"How many times did you play bridge with Leopold and Loeb?" "Five or six times."

"How much money would you say changed hands during these games?" "About $300 or $400 at the outside."

Identify Materials.

Haakan Strangborg, owner of a stationery shop, identified the envelope and paper on which the ransom letter was written as resembling some stationery he sold to Leopold. Albert Hubbinger, clerk in a hardware store, said Loeb resembled the man to whom he sold the chisel used in killing Robert.

Aaron Adler, druggist's clerk, testified Leopold resembled the youth to whom he sold a bottle of hydrochloric acid some time before the murder. The face of the victim was badly burned with hydrochloric acid, and the State contends the slayers purchased it for the express purpose of destroying the features of the slain youth.

Sven Englund, Swedish chauffeur of the Leopold family since 1906 and devoted friend of young Leopold, was the next witness. He testified that the big Leopold automobile in which the boys at first said they were riding in when the murder was committed, was not taken from the garage the afternoon of the murder. It was this story by Englund which broke down the slayers' alibi and resulted in their confessions.

Englund, nervously fumbling with his hat, spoke with a Swedish accent, and glanced occasionally at young Leopold, who smiled and nudged Loeb.

"You are a chauffeur?" Crowe asked. "Yes, sir," the witness answered.

"For whom do you work?" "For Nathan Leopold."

"How long have you worked for them?" "Since 1906."

"How many automobiles do the Leopolds have?" "Four."

"What was the color of the Willys-Knight?" "Red."

Says Leopold Drove Car.

"Did you see this car on Wednesday, May 21?" "Yes, sir I saw it."

"Where was it?" "Nathan Leopold, Jr., was driving it during the morning."

"Who was with him?" "Richard Loeb."

"In the same car?" "No, he was driving another Willys-Knight."

This second automobile, described by Englund as dark green, was the rented car in which Robert Franks was kidnapped.

"What happened to the red Willys-Knight?" Crowe asked Englund. "He left it at the garage at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon."

"Then where did Nathan go?" "He drove away with Loeb in the other machine."

"Was the Leopold car taken from the garage any more that day?" "No."

According to the alibi at first given by Leopold and Loeb, they were driving about the city streets in the Leopold machine when the murder was committed — between three and six p.m. Tuesday.

Englund was followed on the stand by his wife, who corroborated his testimony. Defence attorneys waived cross-examination and court was recessed for luncheon.

Gruesome details of the finding of the mutilated body of Franks were unfolded at the afternoon session.

Leopold and Loeb fixed eyes intently upon Toney Minke, a railroad worker, who told his story of the finding of the body.

Minke said he was passing a railroad culvert on the southern edge of Chicago when he saw something unusual. On closer examination he found a nude body of a little boy.

Talking through an interpreter, Minke said he summoned four men who were passing on a hand car. The body was jammed into the pipe, but the feet protruded.

The men gently drew the limp form from its place. The face was discolored by burns. Search for the boy's clothing was in vain.

There was no life in the body when it was found, Minke said.

Again the supreme self-assurance of the accused asserted itself. They relaxed and appeared at ease. They listened calmly to other witnesses, a carpenter and a policeman, who also told of the finding of the body.

THE CROP PROSPECTS.

It is reassuring to learn that the sensational stories of a failure of the wheat crop in Canada's Western Provinces are unfounded.

The rumour that black rust had appeared in Manitoba is without any foundation, and the statement that there will be a complete crop failure in Alberta is a wild story for which there is little justification.

There is no black rust in Manitoba, and while it is true that heavy damage has taken place in some sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the general prospects are from a fair to an excellent crop.

The price of wheat is booming and Canadians generally should rejoice at that fact.

The more the Canadian farmer gets for his wheat this year the better it will be for the country at large.

Boost the spending ability of the farmer and the impetus to trade and industry will be so marked that everybody will feel the effect.

The farmers of the West have come through some lean years, so lean indeed that Canada as a whole suffered as a result.

A fairly large crop this year, with the greatly enhanced prices that are in prospect, should go a long way towar dputting the grain farmers on their feet again.

Despite the wild rumours, Manitoba hopes for a 75,000,000 bushel crop this year, as compared with 50,000,000 bushels last year.

The other Provinces will not do so well, but the average will be good.

Altogether the outlook is such as to give cause for general rejoicing.

AGRICULTURE IN SCHOOLS.

Nothing is of more interest in Premier Ferguson's report for the Education Department, outlining a new educational policy for Ontario, than the announcement that agriculture is being included in the public school curriculum for the first time, being listed among the supplementary subjects from which the children will select.

It has been frequently charged that the present system has educated rural children off the farms.

However true that may be, the introduction of a policy that will give the boys and girls of the rural school sections a chance to study agriculture will be welcomed as an experiment well worth trying.

When children read of big fees received by lawyers and doctors and of large salaries earned in the cities, it is inevitable that among many of them there is to be found a longing to try their fortune in an urban atmosphere.

Our system of education has lacked anything to counteract the lure of the city.

It has not attempted to show the country boy or girl the possibilities offered by agriculture if intelligently and scientifically pursued.

Mr. Ferguson has not yet explained just what will be attempted along the line of education in agriculture in the schools.

The new policy should at least strive to convince country pupils that their own districts have opportunities for them.

A WISE JUDGE.

Down in Los Angeles there is at least one judge with the Solomon touch.

An eighteen-year-old motorist, charged with speeding, appeared before this magistrate and was ordered to read every newspaper published in Los Angeles every day for six months and re-write the story of traffic accidents in his own hand writing.

Some jokers may affirm that to sentence a man to read all the Los Angeles papers for half a year is drastic to the point of cruelty.

But the judge had the right angle on this question.

By the time that young man has re-written all the stories of automobile smash-ups that may happen in the next six months he is likely to be a much different kind of driver.

If he has any brains at all, long before the order is completed he'll have resolved that so far as care and caution on his part are concerned there will be no more motor car mishaps.

He'll have learned his lesson, and henceforth will follow safety first principles.

The wonder of this whole question of careless driving is how people can read the reports day after day of tragedies caused by recklessness and speeding and then go out and do the same kind of driving themselves.

Possibly it is because they are so busy breaking the speed limit that they have no time to read the newspapers or to be scared by the big headings that tell of traffic accidents.

The Los Angeles judge has solved the problem for one driver.

MOTOR ACCIDENTS.

The three most prolific causes of automobile accidents which these days fill the front pages of the newspapers would seem to be as follows:

(1) Speeding.
(2) Glaring headlights.
(3) Unlighted vehicles.

The first is the most fruitful source of traffic mishaps and the most difficult with which to deal.

Heavy fines, even the threat of a jail sentence, do not seem to deter thousands of motorists from ignoring the speed limit.

Eventually it may be necessary to take away from a driver convicted of speeding for the second or third time his license to handle a car.

If he cannot be trusted to drive with a reasonable amount of care he should not be allowed to drive at all.

The second and third causes are a matter of legislation.

It should be possible to make the regulations in regard to bright headlights tight enough to eliminate this menace.

And it should also be possible to compel the owners of all vehicles moving on the highways at night to be illuminated.

It is said that the Ontario Government hesitates to go this far, regarding such legislation as too drastic.

Many other regulations that are accepted without a question might be similarly described.

If people will not, for their own protection, illuminate their vehicles then the law should step in and compel them to do so.

When people are being killed because of the absence of such a regulation it is no time to be finicky about introducing a measure of this kind.

GRAIN PRICES MOCK THE WITCH DOCTORS.

A few more blows like those dealt by grain prices recently and the McNary-Haugen price-fixing heresy will go under, leaving naught but a chain of dancing bubbles. Since June 2 an upward sweep has raised wheat prices nearly thirty cents; corn, about thirty-five; rye, nineteen, and oats, thirteen cents. The general trend is carrying with it cotton and live-stock prices. Hogs have risen in this swing to $8.10, an increase of $1 per 100 pounds.

More than $1,000,000,000 has been added to the farm wealth of these United States in the last six months by the rise in wheat alone. The agricultural change has been amazing. Under this upward movement has been the conviction that weather conditions were preventing overproduction. Cold, wet weather all spring and into summer has written itself into the market. Droughts and heat in the Southwest and droughts in the Canadian Northwest have strengthened the probabilities of short crops and Government estimates tend to confirm market trends. These may be thus summarized:

Last week's crop estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture shows a probable wheat production of 740,000,000 bushels, or 46,000,000 less than in 1923; corn, estimated at 2,515,000,000 bushels, or 531,000,000 under last year's actual yield. Canada's wheat estimate is 318,000,000 bushels, 160,000,000 under 1923. In Russia there are new famine reports from the old "hunger area," and the wheat yield is estimated at 10 per cent. under that of last year. Intimations of a heavy demand from Southern Europe for American durum wheats are increasing.

The law of supply and demand, sometimes suspended but never repealed, is doing the rest. Last year there was overproduction and millions of bushels of "distress wheat" had no market. Ten months ago the Wheat Country was talking itself hoarse about "cutting acreage." There was a small man-made reduction; but Old Mother Nature and the weather gods have attended to "acreage" in their own inscrutable ways. Drowned-out corn, plowed-under wheat, chill winds here and burning suns there mock the puny talk of a year ago.

A rise in prices followed as day follows dawn. It has been broken here and there by downward dips; but renewed waves of buying have swept markets higher and higher. Breaks like those of yesterday have been followed by determined rallies.

In Kansas City Thursday best wheat sold at $1.46. Flour rose twenty cents on the barrel to $8, a gain of $1.20 since June 9. Talk of $1.50 wheat has become general. The farmer, with money in sight if not in hand, is beginning to buy. Mail-order houses dealing with farmers are feeling the lift. Heavy farm implement-buying is reported. "Frozen credits" in the Northwest are beginning to thaw and farm mortgages on which not a dollar had been paid in three years are being cleared off.

The "drummer" has grabbed his sample cases and the salesman has packed his trunks, and they are heading into the Corn Belt and the Grain Belt as fast as they can get there. They smell the fleshpots of much business in the next six months.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A CASE FOR SYMPATHY.

There will be widespread sympathy with Mr. J. O'Grady, the Labor member for Southwest Leeds in England whose official appointment as Governor of Tasmania is held up because he does not possess a private income sufficient to enable him to augment the official salary of some $12,000 a year attached to that post. But this sympathy will be tinged with a certain measure of surprise, says the Montreal Star, particularly in view of the fact that Tasmania is the model democracy of the British Empire. We seem to have heard a good deal in recent years of the futility of gold lace and the trappings of office. It will occur to most people who read that the Labor Party, indeed, the entire ranks of Radicalism, have held up to the world as part and parcel of their creed the uselessness of uniforms and the extravagance of epaulettes.

Yet here we have a case in which a Labor M.P. finds himself unable to accept a job at twelve thousand dollars a year. Surely Mr. O'Grady is prepared to undertake the duties of Governor of Tasmania as a working man's position, entailing a certain amount of labor throughout his tenure of office, and it might reasonably be expected that he would bring to bear in the discharge of his duties those fine democratic principles which hold the mere decorative part of high office as worthless. In such an event, it seems that the sum of twelve thousand dollars a year is a pretty tidy little income for a stalwart advocate of the doctrine of Radicalism.

There are Governors of various colonies and dependencies in the Empire bigger than Tasmania who manage to get along quite comfortably on very much less than Mr. O'Grady fears would not suffice. Five thousand dollars has proved sufficient for a good many competent administrators who have managed to survive and to avoid bankruptcy thereon.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Sixteen thousand Canadians have returned from the United States in three months. They're glad to get back and their fellow citizens are glad to welcome them.

Chicago has had 177 murders, so far, this year. The other side of the border is getting to be a dangerous place in which to live.

The Russian wheat crop is said to be smaller than in the last famine year. Judging, however, from the alarmists reports in regard to western Canada crop prospecs the Russian bulletins will be taken with a grain of salt.

With the West soon to call for harvest hands, the unemployment situation in Canada should be at least, temporarily relieved.

Buy your coal now, railway officials tell us. Good advice, too, but a lot of us haven't the wherewithal to tie up for three or four months.—Border Cities Star.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, July 24—There was practically no demand for cash grain in the local market to-day. The flour market was without feature. A steady trade continues in millfeed and demand for rolled oats was quiet. There is no change in the condition of the baled hay market. A fair trade prevails in eggs. There is no price change in butter. The cheese market is quiet. Demand for beans is good and prices of one pound pickers are quoted at $3 per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 24. — Although wheat prices to-day reached new high prices for the season, heavy profit-taking sales made the market average lower most of the time. The suddenness of recent advances led many traders to look for a reaction, especially as black rust reports from Canada indicated that the amount of damage which might be done by rust would depend on weather developments.

The close was unsettled at 7-8c to 1 5-8c net decline, September $1.28 1-2 to $1.28 3-4, and December $1.31 1-4 to $1.31 5-8, with corn 1c to 1 7-8 off; oats 1-2c to 7-8 and 1c down and provisions showing five to 25c decline.

CRAWFORD'S HILL IS BEING GRADED

Road Workers Making Rapid Progress Reducing Slope.

CRAWFORD'S HILL, July 25.—The work on Crawford's Hill is rapidly progressing. At present seven teams and thirteen men are at work and the high banks on either side of the road are being cut down so as to make a gradual slope and thus hinder the clay from being washed down into the ditch below. The clay is being used at the old mill bridge to fill in the approach and the grist mill has been forced to shut down for a few days.

Mr. John Mitchell, a former Omemee boy, and now a prominent Saskatchewan farmer, has invented a farm implement, the nature of which is still unknown to friends in Omemee. His invention has been patented in Canada and is being looked into in the United States. Although the patent has not been given there yet, the Tudhope Anderson Company are keenly interested in the invention and no doubt more will be heard of it later. "Jack" in digging a well on his farm recently, struck a twelve foot seam of lignite coal which evidently runs some distance as he has struck it at two different places on his farm. Reporting his find to the government at Regina a man from that department will visit the farm shortly to investigate and see how far the seam runs. Lignite is a low grade of coal but burns well in both range and furnace.

Mr. Mitchell is a son of the late Mrs. J. R. Mitchell and the congratulations of many old friends in this locality is extended to him in his fortunate find.

While Sunlight Works

YOU have more leisure hours on wash day if you use Sunlight Soap. Away downstairs in the wash tub this wonderful soap will do the labour. You rub the things with Sunlight—you put them to soak—and then its penetrating, cleansing ingredients search through and through the fibres, loosening even the hardest dirt or the oldest grease stains completely. No wash board rubbing, no boiling, no hard work. Then, with rinsing, the dirt runs away and your clothes are ready for the line, purified and snowy clean.

Wash day should not take your labour—only Sunlight's gentle strength.

OCEAN WEATHER FOR ZEPPELIN TRIP

Complete Charts of Their Trip Are Now Ready For Use.

FRIEDRICHSHAVEN, Germany, July 25.—Virtually every air mile of the Atlantic over which the ZR 3 is likely to fly in her trip from this port of Lakehurst, N.J., possibly some time in August or September, has been charted by meteorologists employed by the Zeppelin company here. The task has taken many months, and the investigators have examined records of atmospheric phenomena covering a period of 25 years.

The results of their labors have been tabulated in chart form, arranged so as to be easily read by the dirigible navigators, and are considered an invaluable asset for the pilots who will have the past performances of the weather and climate to refer to during the voyage.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, who will pilot the big ship to America, expects to return to Germany after the trip to continue his work here. Captain Ernest A. Lehmann, one of the ZR 3 navigating officers who will make the flight, will remain in the United States, as will some of the other expert members of the crew.

It was announced recently that the initial trial flight could not possibly be made before the latter part of August or early in September owing to decision of the officials to scrap the crank cases of the Maybach motors and replace them with new ones.

When completed, the officials contend, the ZR 3 will have its driving power five engines superior to those of any other airship ever built, and fully capable of making the great non-stop hop from Friedrichshaven, bordering on the Alps, to the lowlands of New Jersey.

TREATING MANURE

Greater Efficiency in Fertilizer Looked For By German Farmers.

MEMMINGEN, Germany, July 25.—Captain Krantz, a retired German cavalry officer, claims to have invented a process for treating manure by which its effectiveness as a fertilizer is doubled. He has demonstrated scientifically that the nitrogen contained in manure is used only up to 25 per cent of its entire contents, while 75 per cent is lost. His process at its present stage of development make possible the utilization of 50 per cent.

It is estimated that the amount of manure produced annually in Germany aggregates 150,000,000 tons, that this manure contains 600,000 to 700,000 tons of nitrogen, only 25 per cent of which becomes available under existing treatment. German farmers are much interested in the Krantz process, because they see in it a possibility of making Germany more independent of foreign artificial fertilizers.

Krantz' method is a combination of first loosening up the manure and afterward compressing it.

The wife of the victim gave evidence and stated that Guichard was an importer of pipes and had suffered business reverses.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCTS

Attention of wheat traders continued to focus chiefly on Canadian crop news, and some of the experts were more emphatic in the bullish character of their advices, depite assertion from other authorities that by contrast were called bearish. The top prices of the day here were reached about mid-day on a wive of buying that was associated with a sharp advance at Winnipeg. Increased selling here, however, resulted from the bulge and as was the case on numerous quick upturns recently, the market again gave way. At no time, however, were prices as much as two cents under yesterday's finish.

One of the largest traders in the wheat market contended that the reduction in the Canadian crop this year as compared with last year, equals the entire exportable surplus of Argentina and Australia combined He also maintained that it equals the total crop of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas combined. In the face of talk of this sort, however, buying power to-day proved insufficient to absorb the offers fully, and the market finished near the days' low point. Corn and oats were governed by the action of wheat and by weather favorable for the new corn crop.

Provisions eased down in sympathy with grain and hogs.

WINIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, July 24. — To-day's market was a broad and active affair with a price range in wheat of a little more than four cents. The close was about in line with yesterday's. July, October and December being 1-2c lower and May 3-8c lower.

Opening prices were about 1-2c up based on strong Liverpool cables, which were nearly four cents higher following the advance on this side yesterday, and on further unfavorable crop reports coming out of the west from American experts.

A New York banker 'warns workers to increase production and do away with unnecessary restrictions if the present high wages and high standards of living are to be maintained."

It is an old story, but true. The standard of living can be no higher than the sum total of production. We can't use more than we produce any more than we can eat more eggs than the chickens lay.

Anything that restricts production lowers the standards of living.

LAWYER SENTENCED

Defrauded Widow Client Out of $1,095—Two Years in Prison.

HULL, Que., July 25.—(Canadian Press).—A two year sentence in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Judge Honore Achim in police court here yesterday on Napoleon J. Marion, former Montreal lawyer, for having defrauded a widow client, Mrs. Anna Daniel, of Hull, out of a sum of $1,095. The sentence was preceded by very strong criticism of Marion's offence, and his professional conduct generally.

An appeal for a new trial was recently quashed by the court of King's bench. Later Marion's name was struck off the list of practicing advocates for the district of Montreal. N. K. Laflamme, K.C., M.P., counsel for Marion, is taking steps with a view to securing a new trial.

FEWER WORKERS JOBLESS.

National Employment Bureau Reports Turn for the Better.

CHICAGO, July 25.—A prediction that the next few months may be expected to show a marked lessening in the number of jobless in industries throughout the country was made at a round-table discussion yesterday at a convention of the National Employment Board.

"Unemployment has taken a turn for the better even during the past two weeks or ten days," declared Miss Grace R. Smith of Boston, Secretary of the board.

Delegates assigned two causes to the recent employment depression —unsettled conditions in Europe and "the irresponsible attitude of workers following their period of financial exaltation during and immediately after the war."

Prospects of an economic adjustment in Europe following the report of the Dawes Committee had done considerable toward stabilizing employment conditions in America, it was claimed.

Your First Duty

A MAN'S first duty is to provide for his dependents. That is his part in the Creator's plan of life.

To provide for them while he lives, to make provision for them should he die—he has no more serious earthly charge than this.

Mutual Life Insurance is a further step towards an ideal of brotherhood by which men co-operate to provide for the widowed and the fatherless and the aged on a permanent, scientific basis. It is not an organization for profit, although it is operated at a liberal margin of profit. It is an organization for mutual protection. Profits go back to the policyholders and serve to reduce the cost of insurance.

PREMIER MAKES RECORD SPEECH

MacDonald Not Reticent in Expressing Views.

LONDON, July 25—Premier MacDonald has talked more in the House of Commons than anyone else, and is 31 columns of the official report of the Parliamentary Gazette ahead of his nearest competitor. According to the record from January to the Easter recess, the Premier's speeches coveerd 126 columns, William Graham, financial secretary to the treasury, being next with 95 columns and Sir Kingsley Wood third with 76 columns. Lloyd George only fills 47 columns, and Henry Asquith 36, while Stanley Baldwin takes fifteenth place with 46 columns.

It is noted that the Clydeside members are comparatively reticent, Tom Johnstone and Neil MacLean filling only 30 columns each. James Kirkwood is not mentioned, because only those who can fill 20 columns are recorded.

In the matter of asking questions, Commander Kenworthy easily holds first with 239 questions or 108 more than Sir Kingsley Wood, who is second on the list.

With power and office comes criticism, and this is indicated by the number of oral questions answered, the premier having 661 answers to his credit, Minister of Health John Wheatley 288, and Minister of Labor Tom Shaw 282.

DIVIDEND PASSED

Bethlehem Steel Company Declines to Draw on Surplus.

NEW YORK, July 24.—Directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation to-day omitted the quarterly dividend of 21.25 on the common shares, following three months of steadily declining operations. During the second quarter of the year, a surplus of only $203,167, insufficient to cover common dividend requirements, were earned.

Omission of the regular payment followed the decision of the Board that the strong cash position of the company should be maintained and that interests of the corporation's security holders should be promoted by not drawing on surplus at this time.

Explaining that the second quarter's earnings were equivalent to only eleven cents a share on the common stock, contrasted with $1.91 in the first quarter, H. E. Lewis, Vice-President of the corporation, said that operations had steadily decreased throughout the period, until at the end of June the rate was only 30 per cent. of capacity. Except for a brief period in 1921 this was the lowest rate the corporation had experienced since 1914.

TIMELY BATHING UNIFORM HINTS

Smart Women Don't Wear the Form-Fitting, One-Piece Suits.

By HEDDA HOYT
Fashion Editor of The United Press.
(Written for United Press.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., July 25. — (United Press.)—

Milly is an ideal daughter,
Always dresses as she aughter.
Wears a bathing suit that's prim,
Covers her from limb to limb.
And tho' she never touches water
Milly's "in the swim!"

To be "in the swim" these days one must look entirely unprepared for a swim, for the most fashionable bathing costumes are as ornate as street frocks. The form-fitting one-piece bathing suits are not being worn by smart women at the resorts who have suddenly grown weary of flaunting their forms before the multitudes.

Modesty in beach attire is the latest fashion decree. Many suits have the elongated shoulder line, giving the appearance of the short sleeve. All suits are loose as to fit, allowing ample room for swimming. Stockings are worn by most of the fashionable, as bare legs are not considered the thing this year. Stockings, however, may be as flesh-colored as one likes, and when they are wet they give the appearance of the nude limb.

Beach robes and parasols are no longer considered beach luxuries, as everyone seems to possess them. Colors are beautiful, and instead of a beach full of half-nude women lying about on the sands, we have a gorgeously robed and sun-shaded feminity.

Fabrics For Bathing Suits.

Fabrics are many for the bathing costume. There are plain jerseys, embroidered jerseys, satins, heavy crepes, cretonnes, ginghams and other materials, too numerous to mention. The bathing suit of wash material is not quite as popular as might be expected. Only the younger girls wear gingham, and cretonnes are not extremely popular. Cretonne flowers, appliqued on plain material to form border effects, however, are among the stunning models.

Jersey models are as popular as ever, although this year we find jersey touched up by contrasting color, by braid, scallops and all sorts of coquetries. Waistlines of these models are long and skirts are extremely short. There may be piping of contrasting color and bloomers the shade of the piping. Red and white is a favorite jersey combination. Black and white combinations are as popular for beach wear as for street wear.

A typical black and white costume has a long-waisted bodice of black crepe de chene, flowered in white. The skirt and bloomers of this costume are plain black and the bandanna, which is worn over the rubber cap, is of black and white flowered crepe de chene.

Plaids are also popular for the bathing costume. Huge plaid taffetas are used for many smart suits which used the simple bodice with the three-tiered skirt. Plaid borders and pippings on plain materials are also smart.

The black costume is not without its adherents, and black satin is the material generally chosen.

Bathing Accessories.

Bathing shoes are low sandle affairs rather than high laced models this season. Half-socks are not as popular as the long, flesh-toned hosiery.

Little rubberized vanity bags are carried to hold one's powder and lipstick and these come in an assortment of colors.

Japanese parasols are popular beach accessories, as Milady of 1924 is determined to keep her white complexion.

Colorful cretonne capes and long coats add beauty to the beach costume. Huge cretonne squares, bound about the edge in solid color, are worn as Spanish shawls.

Striped sweater coats are worn with the one-piece suits when one is on the beach. These are extremely popular with the girls who cling to the form-fitting knit suits and are slipped on as soon as one comes out of the water.

"GREATEST PRISON" NEARS COMPLETION

Joliet to Have Largest and Most Up-to-date House of Correction in World.

JOLIET, Ill., July 25. — The world's greatest prison is nearing completion here. When finished, the new Joliet State Penitentiary will be not only the largest prison in the world, but also the most up-to-date. Families and relatives of 90 per cent. of the inmates will not be as comfortably and as sanitarily housed as the latter.

The structure is in the form of eight enormous towers. There are 250 rooms in every tower, each of which connects with a central building. The cells or rooms are all "outside." Sunlight floods all of them during daylight hours.

A prison farm supplies fresh vegetables in abundance. Hospital facilities are as extensive as modern scientific devices can make them.

The new prison, which will shortly be completed at an expenditure of more than $7,000,000, represents really the life work and planning of the penitentiary's superintendent, John L. Whitman, and his wife, who have long been leaders in matters of prison reform. There will be moving pictures, athletic sports and frequent entertainments on even a large scale than heretofore.

When a prisoner enters he is first taken to the psychiatry department, with accommodations for forty persons. There he remains until his mental and physical condition, his disposition and characteristics are studied. On the basis of this study he is assigned to his proper tower. Hopelessly vicious and depraved criminals will be segregated. Always the prisoner will be treated as much as possible as a patient—a moral patient, whose condition may be bettered in the hope of reformation.

All prisoners, even life termers, will be given the privilege of earning the coveted post of working on the prison farm. At present there are 150 of these men, who live in cottages on the farm. One guard at night keeps watch over them. Some are under life sentence. The honor system has prevailed under Superintendent Whitman's regime, and attempts at escape have been remarkably rare.

A recent census showed 2,276 prisoners at Joliet. Of this number approximately 425 were sent there upon conviction of murder or manslaughter.

INDIANS RETAIN TRIBAL TRADITIONS

Children Withdraw From School to be Taught Ancient Rites of Tribe.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(Associated Press).—The controversy arising out of the question of withdrawing two Indian children from school in the Taos Pueblo, New Mexico, for the purpose of teaching them the pagan rites and traditional customs of the Pueblo ancients has been branded a "tempest in a teapot," by Commissioner Burke of the Indian Bureau.

Declaring the position of the Indian Bureau has been misrepresented, Commissioner Burke expressed a belief that the question would be amicably settled before the new fall school term at the Taos Pueblo begins.

According to new information Mr. Burke has received, two Indian children between the ages of seven and ten are usually withdrawn for an 18-months period from modern educational instruction, to be taught the ancient rites and traditions of the tribe. As there is no written history of the Pueblo the purpose is to develop the children to become priests and medicine men, and enable them to pass on to succeeding generations by word of mouth the story of Pueblo life.

The instructions given the children, Mr. Burke said, deal not only with religious matters, but also the history and materia medica of the Pueblos from the beginning of time, including the uses of herbs and their medicinal qualities. The boys are supposed to be consecrated, are not permitted to play with other children and sleep under guard of an elder Indian in the "estufa" or "kiva," a chamber built in or beneath the pueblo where secret religious ceremonies and tribal councils are held, and which is entered by a hole in the roof.

During their year and a half training, Mr. Burke continued, the boys are fed upon corn and corn products, squashes and other traditional vegetables. Meat from domestic animals is forbidden, such diet being confined to the flesh of wild animals, fish and wild birds.

Commissioner Burke denied that the Bureau of Indian Affairs has issued orders placing a ban on the holding by the Pueblos of their ancient religious ceremonies, and stated the Government would not interfere in any way with them.

The Taos Pueblo is located 72 miles north of Santa Fe, on a small stream, and has a population of 618 Indians, the number increasing about 25 per cent. in the last twenty years.

Paul In Possession

By RUBY AYRES

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

When John Collinge died he left behind him his adopted daughter, Wanda Griffin, a headstrong, passionate and overbearing girl, and his son Paul, with whom he had quarreled, and who had gone abroad. Paul comes home for the reading of the will, and to Wanda's surprise, she finds she is disinherited, and that he is the heir. Paul dislikes Wanda intensely because of her behavior, and tells her she must leave the house immediately; she refuses and, in order to stay there, pretends to be ill. At last matters reach a crisis, and Paul ordersWanda out of the house. She goes up to London with Mrs. Garnet, her one friend, with whom she is to live. The day after she arrives, Clare's brother Harry, the "black sheep" of the family, comes home unexpectedly, and falls in love with Wanda. Paul comes to see Wanda and she realizes all too late, that it is Paul she really loves. He objects to her friendship with Harry Courtney, whom he distrusts. Wanda discovers that Paul is paying for her to live with Mrs. Garnet, and immediately leaves, having written to Harry to say that she will marry him. She asks him to meet her at Victoria Station the next day. But he fails her, and while she is waiting Paul finds her. He tells her Courtney is a thief. Then he asks her to come back to Grey-Chumleys with him. And she consents to marry him.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

XXXVI—PAUL'S SOLUTION.

He did not speak; he just bent and kissed her, a long, passionate kiss that seemed to break down every barrier in her heart, releasing the tears in flooods, sending them raining down her cheeks.

"Oh, you are cruel—cruel!"

"What—to kiss you?" He kissed her again, kissed her hair and her wet eyes.

"Do you know how often I've longed to do that, I wonder?" he asked hoarsely.

She raised her eyes.

"But you don't love me," she sobbed.

"Love you!" His face changed. "If thinking about you all day and every day isn't loving you, then I suppose I don't," he said, with painful earnestness. "If hating every other man who looks at you isn't loving you, then again I suppose I don't, but—Wanda, do you think you could ever get to—just—like me?"

She shook her head.

"No."

His face grew grim.

"All right. I'll marry you just the same. You'll find I'm not easy to get rid of now I've kissed you."

"I don't want to get rid of you."

"Don't want—because of Grey Chumleys, I suppose," he said hardly.

"No."

"Why, then—why—" He bent his head, trying to see her face. "You said you could never even like me—you said—"

Wanda looked up suddenly; she was crying and laughing together.

"But that's because I love you, you silly," she said in a broken voice. "Oh, I do love you, I do! I know I'm horrid, and bad-tempered, and that everyone hates me—"

Paul closed her lips with kisses.

And when he spoke again, it was to say:

"Wanda, I told you one lie yesterday."

"Did you? I don't mind very much."

"But this is about Courtney."

She looked a little startled'

"You mean—he wasn't really one of the men who robbed you?"

"Oh, yes he was, but it's not true that he left you waiting at Victoria. He didn't come because I would not let him. I guesses what you would do after you found out that I was paying Mrs. Garnet for you, and I challenged him about the way he robbed me years ago, and made my conditions. He was to leave the country, and you—"

Paul flushed, and his eyes grew fierce.

"The man's a rotter, and all's fair in love and war—and I loved you, Wanda," he added fiercely.

She turned her face away.

"I'm not worth loving."

"It's not polite to contradict a lady," Paul agreed happily. But she would not stop; she went on ruthlessly:

"I've got a vile temper. I'm self-ish—"

"And you're wilful, and defiant and a spitfire—I know all that—but, all the same," and his arms went round her, "you're the woman I love. Now, is Paul in possession here as well as at Grey Chumleys, or have you got any more to say?"

And for once Wanda had not.

THE END.

The average grocery store spends one and a half cents out of each dollar taken in for rent.

By LAWRENCE A. ADAMS
Assistant Marketing Specialist, U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

* * *

To compete successfully, a merchant cannot overload himself with expenses. Most grocers spend only 1 1-2 cents out of each dollar taken in for rent. Those merchants who spend more than this are carrying an extra burden.

By increasing sales without store expansion some grocers attain a rent percentage even lower than 1 1-2 per cent. Ordinarily, high rent locations do not pay for themselves in grocery or other stores selling food products.

CAUSE OF ORIENT LABOR DISCUSSED

Grave Abuses of Child Labor Exists in China and Japan.

GENEVA, July 25.—(Associated Press).—Labor conditions in China and Japan formed a feature of the discussions at the International Labor Conference. Following statements by the British labor group, who remarked upon the importance of reports that grave abuses of child labor existed in China, Director Albert Thomas of the Labor Bureau promised to collect all available information on this question so that the labor organization could be informed as to exact conditions.

As to Japan, Mr. Mayeda, the chief governmental delegate, delivered an address which sought to refute allegations previously made by a Japanese labor delegate that Japan was not faithfully carrying out the stipulations of labor conventions which had been duly ratified by the Japanese Government.

The labor delegate having complained that Japan ratified through her Privy Council instead of her Parliament, fearing that Parliament would be too liberal towards the interests of the workers, Mr. Mayeda rejoined by saying that ratification by the Privy Council constituted "a competent authority" within the meaning of the Treaty of Versailles. He remarked with some pride that Japan was in the vanguard of countries ratifying various labor conventions.

Bunji Susuki, who has played a prominent part in the Japanese labor movement, complained that few countries had ratified the convention adopted by the Third International Labor Conference recognizing the right of agricultural workers to form unions. He added that numerous countries even refused the right of syndicalism to industrial workers. For instance, in Japan, he pointed out, the great majority of enterprises are run by the state and on that account trade-unionism developed painfully. The right of association was recognized in principle, but the fact is that labor leaders are subjected to a close surveillance and forced to endure a regime of life less favorable than their colleagues. Under these conditions, averred Mr. Susuki, trade unions in Japanese state enterprises had little chance of developing and still less opportunity of affiliating with great international organizations.

Mr. Susuki quoted from a statement of Mr. Mayeda, the Government delegate, who had declared that freedom of association was a constitutional right in Japan. It was perhaps a constitutional right, declared the Tokio labor leader, but the truth is that existing legislation hinders the exercise of that right.

SHORE DINNERS A LAKE DELIGHT

Guides Exchange Cans for Frying Pans as Proof of Versatility.

SOME OF THE VISITORS

STONEY LAKE, July 25.—It is quite a common sight now at the lake to see a party of fishermen out with one of the justly famous guides on the lake enjoying a real day's sport with the interlude of a fish dinner cooked by the versatile guide and served in real shore dinner fashion. No need of an appetizer there, the smell of the bacon and fish frying supply that, and quantities of food disappear as if by magic. Freshly caught fish cooked and eaten on the shore is a veritable feast for the gods.

All Kinds of "Bobs."

Bobbed hair is even more popular than ever this season and in greater variety. The curled bob that often made the head look like the business end of an "O Cedar Mop," has nearly disappeared and the shingle, boyish bob is in vogue, but the fluffy bob and the smooth, flapper bob are also in evidence and at one of the bi-weekly dances one sees each and every variety repeatedly. Many girls look very pretty but some are not improved.

Paddling is Work.

Power boats of all descriptions are to be seen at the lake this year from the uesful and compact outboard motor to the fine, luxurious motor boats, which give the maximum amount of solid comfort. Sometimes one things that rowing and paddling are only in fashion at regattas as nearly everyone travels in a "put-put."

When Quiet Reigns.

A notice has been posted at Juniper Island in a conspicuous place, requesting the owners of power boats to regard the vicinity of Juniper Island as taboo during the hours of Sunday service. It is a very simple request and one easily granted, as no one would wilfully be a disturber of a religious gathering.

Cottage Improved.

Mr. W. R. Morson, of Toronto, who purchased Mrs. Dunn's cottage a couple of years ago, has made a great improvement. Not only has the cottage been completely overhalled and a large fireplace put in, but a new boathouse has been built with a flat roof, which suggests pleasant gatherings of congenial people. The edge of the dock and the path to the lake from the cottage are marked by a painted mark of white which will go far to prevent accidents and might well be copied by other cottage owners. Mr. Morson is the president of the Prosperity League of Canada.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"What a beautiful flower!" exclaimed Nancy.

"What a beautiful flower!" exclaimed Nancy the next night when they came to the magic garden.

"It certainly is," said Johnny Jump Up. "It is considered one of the finest and most beautiful flowers in the whole world. Men risk their lives in all sorts of places to get it. It is called an orchid."

"Would you like to see the place where orchids grow?" asked a new voice, and fairy popped up in the flower like a little Jack-in-the-Pulpit.

"Oh, yes, yes!" cried the Twins. "May we go on another adventure?"

"Of course!" answered the fairy. "Johnny Jump Up, please call Tommy Titmouse. Where is he?"

"I'm here," said Tommy sleepily. "Do we go far?"

"To South America," said the fairy. "For that is where orchids grow! I've brought the tickets."

"Jiminy Christmas!" said Tommy. "That must be a million miles away."

"Not quite," said the fairy, "but it's far enough, so you'd better be starting. The Fairy Queen sent me to tell you all to have a good time and not miss anything."

"We won't!" cried the Twins.

"We won't!" cried Johnny Jump Up, all three hopping onto Tommy Titmouse's back and flying away.

Pretty soon they came to South America.

"Now I'll show you where several kinds of orchids grow," said Johnny Jump Up.

Tommy settled down on a great tree covered with Spanish moss and hanging vines. And there, growing right out of the trunk of the tree, was an orchid exactly like the one they had seen in the magic garden.

"It looks as though the flower was a blossom of the tree," said Johnny Jump Up. "But it isn't. It has a root of its own, only the root, instead of growing in the ground, digs down in a soft place in the tree and grows there."

"That's funny!" laughed the Twins.

Suddenly something went chip, chip, chatter, chatter, and, looking around, they saw a monkey swinging by his tail.

"Hello!" laughed Nick. "Do monkeys grow on trees in South America too?"

"Pretty nearly," nodded Johnny Jump Up. "There are so many monkeys in the woods along this river you would almost think there wasn't another thing in the world but monkeys."

"Oh, look! Look! Look!" exclaimed Nancy.

But nobody needed to be told for they could see without even looking. Hundreds of monkeys had gathered around them staring and chattering and swinging by their tails and arms, upside down and dogside up and every which way. Screaming, climbing, jumping and carrying on so you couldn't hear your own ears.

"I guess I'll be going," said Tommy Titmouse nervously.

"Hello," came a hoarse voice from a tree next to theirs. "I didn't know company had come."

It was a very large poll parrot with a dozen colors and a marvelous tail.

LINCOLN TABLET.

To Mark Place Where Abraham Lincoln Spoke in Boston.

BOSTON, July 25.—On the site where stood Washingtonian Hall on Bromfield street, a bronze tablet will be placed to commemorate the first visit of Abraham Lincoln to Boston in the summer of 1848. Lincoln, clad in an alpaca coat because of the sultry New England heat, on the occasion addressed a "Young Men's Whig Club Rally," telling the members why General Zachary Taylor should be elected president.

The dedication ceremonies will be held during the G.A.R. national encampment which opens here August 10. The tablet, provided by the municipal commission on marking historical sites, will be from the design of Walter G. Page, an artist who is chairman of the commission. The bas-relief will be executed by John F. Paramino.

Washingtonian Hall as such ceased to exist more than 60 years ago, but the structure itself, until its recent demolition stood as the only building in this city that ever sheltered Abraham Lincoln. The structure rising on the site will carry the plaque.

On the opposite side of the street not more than 30 feet away, stood the Bromfield House at which in 1863 John Wilkes Booth stayed during his only professional engagement in this city.

Lincoln spoke on the night of September 15, the meeting being advertised in five lines in the local Whig papers which merely stated that "Hon. Mr. Lincoln of Illinois" was to address the club and suggested that the affair be made a "rouser." The Boston Atlas the next day reported "a speech of an hour and a half, which for sound reasoning, cogent argument, and satire, we have seldom heard equalled." It was added that the speaker's remarks "were frequently interrupted by rounds of applause" and "as soon as he had concluded, three rousing cheers were given for Taylor and Fillmore and three more for Mr. Lincoln, the Lone Star of Illinois."

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

Canadian National Employees Held a Picnic to Cobourg—Inquest Reopened.

COBOURG, July 25.—The C.N.R. Library Association and officials and employees comprising the territory from Belleville to Lindsay, held their annual outing to Cobourg on Tuesday and, as a result, a very large crowd of people was here. It required a special train of twenty-one coaches to bring the crowd from Belleville, and the train that came in from Lindsay had twenty coaches. The trains were taken down to the Division Street siding, which afforded easy access to the Victoria Park, which was the headquarters of the visitors. There arrangements had been made by the Parks Committee for serving of lunch for those who desired to take their meals in picnic style. Besides those who came in by train, a large number of people motored to Cobourg also. There was a big programme of sports, including ball, and the day was enjoyably spent.

Death of William Somers.

The funeral of James William Somers, who died suddenly at Port Hope on Sunday, took place on Tuesday to Welcome cemetery. He is survived by a widow and family. Mr Somers, before going to Port Hope, was employed with the C.P.R. at Coldwater and Balsam Lake.

You would listen

IF A MAN buttonholed your coat and told you to listen, you would listen—though he talked only of trivial things.

Advertisements use more courteous means to engage you. They know you are busy and await their turn—though what they have to say is important.

The full-page advertisement, the tiniest advertisement—each has its definite message. News of varieties, prices, economies; of wares you can select wisely and purchase with utmost confidence. News packed into as few words as possible so as not to rob you of time.

They offer only the best. Inferior goods couldn't stand up under such public inspection. They urge you to buy the best—to realize the savings made, the steps saved, the satisfaction gained through reading advertisements and buying advertised goods.

Give them audience—the large and the small. What they say profits you. That's why they say it.

GERMAN JUNKERS FEELING RESTLESS

They Are as Sore as Can Be Over the Political Role.

BRESLAU, Germany, July 25.—The junkers of Germany are sore as can be over the political role allotted to them by their own party, the German National People's party. Evec since the revolution they have been told by their partly leaders that the nobility, as such, must keep in the background, that the only way for the monarchists to get back into control is by keeping up a semblance of democracy, that the nobility must content itself with having influence in the inner party councils, but must not figure much outwardly.

The worm is turning iwth the junkers. They are not content with this passive role. It grates on their sensibilities that Count X— should figure eleventh on the list of nominees of the party, with his election quite doubtful, merely because he happens to be of noble birth, while Master Painter Y—— heads the list because of his popularity and because the party can demonstrate thereby that the socialists and communists do not hold a monopoly of working class votes.

The nobility keep in touch with each other through a paper published by the Association of Noblemen. In a recent issue, this organ devotes two columns to its misgiving along the lines indicated above. "The nobility must see to it that it secures more parliamentary seats," the organ concludes. "It is sick and tired of submitting to a political expediency resting upon false assumptions and to be forced to the wall as an inconvenient reminder."

The junkers also criticize their own party leaders for kowtowing too much to the farmers.

SCHOOL ENQUIRY

Committee To Obtain Information Montreal School Matters.

MONTREAL, July 25. — Within a few days, says the Montreal Gazette, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council will appoint the committee to enquire into school matters on the Island of Montreal.

The Gazette states that it is understood that Sir Arthur Currie, E. W. Beatty and Walter Mitchell, K. K.C., will represent the Protestants; Sir Lomer Gouin, Aime Geoffrion, K. C., and Auguste Richard, the Catholics; and Michael Hirsch, S. W. Cohen and Alderman Jos. Schubert will represent the Jewish community.

The commission is to formed following a decision taken last session by the Provincial Government during the discussion of the bill of the Montreal Protestant school board.

Premier Teachereau anounced in the House at the time that the bill was given a six months' hoist that it was essential that more information on the school question regarding Protestants and Jews be secured.

To obtain this information the government had in mind the naming of a commission the personnel of which would command respect and be representative.

KINGSTON DRYDOCK

Four Million Dollars Will Be Spent on Big Dock.

Kingston, July 25. — The "Standard" announced yesterday that plans are under way for the building here of a new and immense drydock with four times the capacity of the present dry dock and to cost aproximately $4,000,000, the dock to be completed and ready for operation at least by the time the enlarged Welland Canal is opened, if indeed not sooner.

The dock will be built by the Kingston Shipbuilding Company, the present branch of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, but hereafter to be known as the Kingston Shipbuilding Company, and it is understood that in ths connection the company is to be recapitalized. The work of construction of the new dry dock will take at least three years, and in its building probably 300 men will be employed.

The new dock will be 300 feet wide and 700 feet long, and will be able to accommodate two of the largest lake vessels at one time.

WOMEN ON BRIDGE

Train Pulled Up Close To Them on Emergency Brakes.

NORTH BAY July 25. — Three Meadowside women, who were walking the Canadian Pacific tracks Wednesday morning, had an exceptionally narrow escape from a horrible death under the wheel of the Imperial Limited. A strong headwind kept them from hearing the blasts of the Locomotive whistle and they were on the bridge over the Little Sturgeon when the train pulled up twenty feet behind them with the emergency brakes set. Passengers report Jim McIlvenna, one of the veterans engineers of the division, deserves credit for saving the three lives.

JAPANESE LOAN TO U. S.

RUSSIAN EXILES DESPAIR

Three Hundred in Paris Lose Hope of Coming Here.

CHERBOURG, France, July 25. —Hopeless despair seized a number of Russian exiles lodged since last October in the Atlantic Hotel here when they learned that only about twenty of them would be authorized to leave for the United States.

The exiles, of whom there are about three hundred, appointed a committee which, under the patronage of the local authorities and clergy, drew up a petition to the American Government asking that eleven girl orphans without relatives except in the United States, might be allowed to leave first.

The building will be completed before fall, and will be used for an aquarium and as a permanent housing place for specimens of the fish, birds and smaller animals of the State.

GOLF NEWS

After an inteval of ten years, Peterboro golfers resumed inter-club matches with Cobourg this year, the first game being played at Cobourg yesterday. Unfortunately a heavy storm broke on the players in the middle of the match, and ponds of water became so frequent that even niblicks were used on some of the greens, and finally the drenched players were drive to the club house without the match being completed. The scoring was calculated on nine holes, Peterborough winning 4 points and Cobourg 16. The following are the individual scores:

Ackerman C. H. 0 vs. Dick, Capt. 1; Weber 0 vs. Haskill 1; Bond 0 vs. Stone 1; Stratton A. H., 0 vs. Elstinge 1; Bradburn 0 vs. Cameron 1; Holloway 0 vs. Dick John 0; Ackerman W. C. 0 vs. Beatty 1; Wearing (Capt.) 1 vs. Roper (Capt.) 0; Hall 0 vs. Burn 1; Wallace 0 vs. Oliver 1; Wood Dr. 0 vs. Moore 1; Huycke W. F. 0 vs. McNaugton 0; Marshall 0 vs. Barnes R. E. 1; Brown 0 vs. Barnes A. S. 1; Green Fred 1 vs. Ross 0; Green Dr. 0 vs. McCurdy 1; Huycke Judge 0 vs. Higginbottom 1; Huycke Douglas 0 vs. Perie 1; Stratton Jack 1 vs. McCallum 0; Mann Dr. 0 vs. Drury 1.

BELLEVILLE SAY THEY'LL WIN HERE

Expect to Beat Petes on the Home Lot To-morrow.

SOME BASEBALL NOTES

The Belleville Ontario says: Belleville has won five games and lost one, and still have six games to play, three at home and three away. It is possible to lose all their games away from home and still figure in a play-off for second half honors, but the boys say they are going to beat Jakie right in his own back yard and thereby cinch the proceedings without undue ceremony. It will be a great clash on Saturday, and no doubt many fans will journey to the Lift Lock City to see Oulette and Heckman do their stuff.

That catch of Hall's of Compeau's drive in the fifth inning was one of the most sensational bits of outfielding seen on the local lot this season. It was a dandy catch and Kingston fans showed their appreciation of Hall's good work in no uncertain way.—Kingston Standard.

Last night's game had many side attractions. A dog ran off with Catcher Swanston's cap, Joe Daley and Umpire Allen staged a couple of battles and Jake Solomon had his usual tilt with the umpires. Then the Kingston manager had a short argument with some person in the crowd as well. It was sure a great night. The fans had lots of entertainment giving "Chuck" Allen the merry "razz," but that did not bother the Port Hoper so all was well. Nurse, on the bases, was not noticed in the excitement.—Kingston Whig.

DISCUSSION OVER PUNCH BY TUNNEY

Ringside Jury This Morning Gave Verdict of Foul Blow in 14th.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(Canadian Press).—Verdict of ringside jury this morning acquits Gene Tunney, United States light heavy weight, of charge of having fouled Georges Carpentier in the fourteenth round of bout in which he defeated the French fighter last night. It is not an unanimous verdict for many of the fans thought that the decision should have gone to the French man on a foul. Conscious of the opinion of the boxing experts, however, appears to be that the blow complained of, was fair Ed. Van Avery of the Evening World says: "We are positive it was not a foul blow in sense pretended by Carpentier and imagined by his admirers." Experts of most other papers echo this view.

Carpentier said after the fight: "Everybody knows I was sent down with a foul punch. I was very strong until then. Tunney was through and I was winning the fight after the tenth."

Tunney said: "It was an upper cut to the pit of the stomach that finished Carpentier. I had been laying for that blow all through the fight. I know it was a fair blow and anyone on te line to see the punch will testify that the blow was to the pit of the stomach."

THE DRAFT TREATY.

British Government's Reasons For Not Assenting To Treaty.

LONDON, July 25. — (Canadian Press).—The British Government's reasons for not assenting to the draft treaty providing for mutual assistance for the purpose of securing peace in Europe, with the respect to which the Council of the League of Nations recently sought the opinions of Governments concerned, was explained in the House of Lords yesterday afternoon by Lord Parmoor, Lord President of the Council. He declared that the disarmament was the only real basis of lasting security, and emphasized that it was quite impossible for any government in Great Britain to carry on a successful policy of disarmament without the united loyalty of all the Dominions. It was absolutely the first principle that the Empire must go together as a whole. Unity and loyalty in the Empire's foreign policy was a great source of the Empire's strength, and it was unthinkable that any government in Britain should pledge itself to any measure, to which the Dominions, after full consideration, were opposed as was the case with this treaty.

COUNTESS ELIZA WORKS IN SHOP

Daughter of King Sustav, Reigning Ruler of Sweden, Labors.

SEEKS EXPERIENCE.

CHICAGO, July 25. — (Canadian Press). — Countess Elisa, granddaughter of King Gustav V., reigning ruler of Sweden, and daughter of Prince Oscar Bernadotte, is working in Chicago for $18 a week at a power machine, cutting tanned hides for shoes and automobile cushions, it became known to-day.

Last week the Countess was the honor guest of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick. Later she registered at a hotel as Miss Elsa Bernadotte, told the Y.W.C.A. of her interest in the life of factory girls, and started out to find a job. She walked the Chicago streets for several days, answering advertisements, without success.

Then, when she had about decided to give up her quest, she found a job. It is in a leather loft, where tan hides are sent to be cut by power machines into desired shapes for sewing. In the evening she goes home to a little room not far from her factory. She has not called upon any of the Chicago society women who watch her experiment, and will not until July 30th.

She came to the United States to attend the Y.W.C.A. convention in Washington. Her father is president of the Swedish Y.M.C.A., and his daughter has devoted her life to philanthropic work. Her dive into industrial life was made when the Countess was told of an experiment the National Board of the Y.W.C.A. is making here this summer. Forty college girls from all over the country have been invited here to make a study of industrial conditions. They went out about a month ago and got factory jobs for themselves, many of them trudging the streets for days before landing positions. They expect to use the experience thus gained to fit them for social service work.

MARTIN CHENHALL WINS CONSOLATION

Rain Intervened and Toss of Coin Determines the Victors.

Oakwood Won Doubles.

Rain at last did dampen the spirits of the bowling enthusiasts, who though willing to brave the shower were prevented from deciding the finals in the Warne Trophy, by the usual method, because of a deluge of rain early yesterday afternoon, which left patches of water on the surface of the greens, making further play impossible.

The finals had been reached yesterday morning leaving M. Chenhall of Peterboro and T. S. Kerr of Oakwood in the running.

A victor had to be chosen, so by mutual agreement a new scheme was devolved. A toss of a coin determined Martin Chenhall the winner of the Consolation.

Scotch Doubles

The eights had been reached in the doubles when rain intervened and here again the players consented to decide the champions by the toss of a coin, a chivalrous relic of the knights of old. The results were as follows:

Belleville — Kerr and Wray won from Sunderland— St. John and Williams.

Peterboro—Oke and Gimblett, lost to Toronto—Kerr and Broadhurst.

Oakwood—Kerr and Dumble, won from Peterboro—Chenhall and Cullen.

Finals

Oakwood—Kerr and Dumble won from Belleville—Kerr and Wray.

The officers of the local club appreciated the graceful consideration of the visitors in submitting to the unusual method of deciding the winners. The uncertain flip of a coin was apparently the only solution of the harassing situation confronting the tournament committee. However good sportsmanship prevailed and the visiting and local bowlers alike, cheerfully abided by the result of the procarious system adopted.

Presentation of Prizes

The Warne Trophy was presented to Mr. Martin Chenhall by President D. H. Moore who also presented four silver flower baskets to Messrs. M. B. Chenhall, Alex. Dick, R. French, and J. Cullen, the members of the successful rink.

Messrs. T. S. Kerr, R. Kerr, O. Dumble and L. Broadhurst who composed the Oakwood rink, who were the runners-up, were each presented with cut glass cream and sugar bowls.

Native Sons Win

Mr. T. C. Elliott was deputed to present the prizes to the winners of the Scotch Doubles, Messrs. Thomas Kerr and Oscar Dumble, representing the Toronto Oakwood Club.

It was a pleasant duty in view of the fact that both Mr. Kerr and Mr. Dumble are old Peterboro boys, the latter a son of Mr. David Dumble, K.C. of this city.

Mr. Elliott in handling the two miniature silver cups to the Oakwood winners, remarked that probably after October 23rd next, the cups might serve a useful purpose.

Rev. Mr. Kerr and Robert Wray of Belleville, the runners-up in the Scotch Doubles were each presented with military brushes.

Because of the inclement weather the singles, were postponed until Monday evening, July 28, and the visitors who wished to withdraw, were refunded their entrance money.

Costs Only 3 Cents to Remove Your Wrinkles

Better than massage for removing wrinkles and age lines, far less expensive and bothersome, is a simple tarkroot mixture which any woman can prepare and apply in a jiffy. Almost immediately after spreading this over the face there is a pleasant soothing sensation and the mirror shows the horrid age lines and "sags" disappearing like magic. In less than fifteen minutes the face is as smooth and firm as a schoolgirl's. Seems almost too good to be true, but the actual experience quickly removes all doubt.

All one need do is to procure an original package of tarkroot from the druggist, mix a spoonful with a spoonful of lemon juice and apply with the fingers. This, of course, is perfectly harmless. It is easily washed off, leaving the face wonderfully refreshed and rejuvenated, with a healthy glow. And the cost of such treatment is 3 cents!

NEW TIRE PROCESS.

A new tire making process by an English firm is said to be an improvement on the present method. By the new process, every strand of cord woven into the wire is rubber coated before being made into sheet form. This results in greater adhesion between the cords and arrests friction set up in the ordinary cord.

REV. MOYES SPOKE IN BURNBRAE SUN.

Mr. Moyes Has Spent Seven Years as Missionary in Africa.

BURNBRAE, July 23.—The pulpits of Burnbrae and Rylstone were occupied on Sunday last by the Rev. Mr. Moyes. In the morning Mr. Moyes based his discourse on Ps. 46:7, "The God of Jacob is our refuge." At the evening service he gave a very fine sermon, taking as his text, Phil. 4:22, "The saints in Cæsar's house salute you."

Mr. Moyes has spent seven years as a missionary to Africa, and consequently has a wealth of experience from which to draw illustrations for his sermons.

Miss Agnes Thompson has been engaged as teacher of the Masson school for the coming year. Miss Thompson, who is a daughter of Mr. John Thompson, of Zion, is well and favourably known by a large circle of friends in Burnbrae and vicinity. She is a clever graduate of Campbellford High School and Peterborough Normal School, and will be welcomed as a valued member of the community.

Miss Edith Gibbons is visiting at her old home in Burnbrae.

Mr. Ray Archer was a Sunday visitor in the vicinity.

A number of Burnbrae young people were at the Sunday evening service. The whereabouts of the rest will remain a mystery.

POET OF EMPIRE MEETS COWBOY BARD AT RODEO

Kipling and Skeeter Bill Recite Verses to Each Other.

STADIUM CHAT

Self Addressed Envelope More Than Autograph, Says Robbins

Two poets met in the paddock behind the Stadium at Wembley.

One was Rudyard Kipling, the poet of Empire. The other was Skeeter Bill Robbins, the poet of the cowboys, and himself a cowboy.

At the foot of a concrete wall they sat and talked about bucking horses and about wild cattle—and about poetry.

There was nothing between them and the peat-covered space where cowboys and cowgirls were jostling and joking, and horses were whinnying and cattle bellowing.

Unperturbed by the noise and the dust, the poet of Empire listened intently while the poet of the ranches recited some of his verses.

KIPLING'S PRAISE.

When he had finished, Skeeter Bill paused and awaited his brother-craftsman's verdict.

And this is what the poet of Empire told the poet of the ranches:

"Your poetry is good because it is real. You are a real poet because you write of things just as you see them."

Skeeter Bill is an industrious, as well as a "realist" poet. In the intervals between riding vicious horses and wrestling with long-horned cattle in the Stadium, he adds an hourly verse to an ode—a sort of ode, that is—to the London Rodeo. This was one of the poems he recited to Mr. Kipling, and here are some of the verses:

The cowboys are in London,
They took the town by storm—
The lads with shirts so gaudy bright,
And hearts so big and warm.

Tex Austin, with his merry smile,
Has come and brought his bunch,
With leather shaps and jingling spurs;
The punchers with their punch.

The roper, Tommy Kirnan,
Is also with us here,
To hand us dope and spin the rope,
And wrestle with the steer.

There's Vera Guinnes and Ruth Roach,
The girls who ride 'em clean,
Dot Morrell, she is the one,
We reckon as the queen.

Do the easy rhmyes and the uneasy rhythm prompt a supercilious smile? Then read the verses again. . . . ride 'em clean"; "leather shaps and jingling spurs"; ". . . punchers with their punch." Do you not hear the authentic note? And do you not see what Mr. Kipling meant when he told Skeeter Bill his poetry is "real" because he writes of "things as he sees them"?

And Skeeter Bill is as appreciative of Mr. Kipling's qualities as Mr. Kipling is of his. Not only as a poet, though Skeeter Bill has read Kipling since he was "so high," as he told me, stooping from his lanky 6 ft. 2 in. with his hand on his knee.

"That man knows cattle and he knows horses"—that was Skeeter Bill's comment after Kipling had left the paddock. "You can always tell," said Skeeter. "Most people looking at horses look at the wrong end first. Mr. Kipling looked at my horse's mouth."

After the recital of the verses, Skeeter Bill took Mr. Kipling up to the wire netting that encloses the arena, and side by side they peered through and watched brave men leap from their horses on to the backs of racing steers, seize them by their horns and wrestle them to the ground.

"DON'T FORGET!"

Mr. Kipling watched the fierce contests to the end. Then, turning to Skeeter Bill, he shook hands and said: "Good-bye—and don't forget!

What is it that Skeeter Bill has to remember? I had to press him for the information, because Skeeter Bill is as modest as he is brave. "Oh," he said at last, with a shy smile, "I promised to send Mr. Kipling some of my poems."

He was holding an envelope in an apparently careless hand. He glanced at it unconsciously as he answered my question, and I saw that on the back was written:

Rudyard Kipling,
Bateman's,
Burwash,
Sussex.

Mr. Kipling had written it himself—but Mr. Kipling is no friend of the autograph hunter. You understand it was not an "autograph," but an address that Mr. Kipling had given to Skeeter Bill, because he really wants that "real" poetry.

A third bystander happened to catch sight of the pencilled lines, and said to Skeeter. "Keep that, Skeeter; it'll be worth 500 dollars one day."

Skeeter Bill turned on him an indifferent eye, folded the envelope, and put it carefully inside his shirt. No words could better have expressed his indifference to the monetary value of that scrap of paper than that gesture. You realized that for Skeeter Bill this was not an "autograph," "worth 500 dollars," but the sign manual of his admission to the Freemasonry of poets.

DICKENS TREASURE STAYS IN ENGLAND

The record price of $7,000 was paid, at Sotheby's yesterday, for a copy of "Pickwick," complete in the original parts, published in 1836-37, and described as "finest and purest copy found for many years."

C. J. Sawyer, of Grafton street, W., was the buyer, in a spirited contest with Mr. Sessler of New York, and Mr. Maggs.

An opening bid of $2,500 was offered, and this was immediately challenged by the American buyer, who was defeated by Mr. Maggs, with momentary success.

America, however, secured another Dickens treasure in the shape of a first edition of "The Village Coquettes," 1836, bought by Mr. Gabriel Wells, of New York.

Body Of Egyptian 10,000 Years Old Now An Exhibit

The body of a man at least 10,000 years old, found in a tomb in Bedary, was included in the exhibition of Egyptian antiquities which was opened at University College, Gower-street.

The skin and muscle are still on the skeleton, as also is the matted dark brown hair, and the teeth and finger-nails are perfect.

It was brought from Egypt, said J. L. Starkey, who has worked with Professor Flinder-Petrie, just as it was found, without any treatment. The body was lying on its left side, with knees drawn up and hands pillow-high, much as a child sleeps.

WOMAN'S LONELY VIGIL ON ISLAND

Miss Turner Watches Over Nesting of Beautiful Sea-swallows

OYSTER-CATCHERS

Wily Creatures Who Pretend to Sit on Camouflage Nest

A visit to Scolt Head, the island bird sanctuary of the National Trust, on the loneliest part of the North Norfolk seaboard, where Miss E. L. Turner is watching and safeguarding the nesting of beautiful wild birds, is not to be undertaken lightly by one who measures time.

At the staithe at Brancaster (an old-world place living on the fruits of the sea) there was a wait of two hours for the tide. Then there was a pull round the creek and across to the island; and, on landing, a walk of a mile over the flats to the great sand hill, said to be the highest in England, which is Scolt Head.

As we journeyed the signs of human life diminished, until there were only the boatman and afar, standing by the flag-staff on the Head, one small, lone figure, the watcher. But the signs of bird life increased, and soon there were many common and little terns flying and calling around us.

These birds (the little ones are called "sea swallows") are scarcely surpassed for charm of form and elegance on the wing.

Miss Sheila Disney, a friend of Miss Turner, was keeping the vigil during a brief absence of the latter on the mainland, and she said that in the "ternery" there are about 1,000 eggs and fledglings.

NESTS IN THE PEBBLES.

Among the pebbled and tufts of stonecroft and other marine plants we had to tread gingerly. We were soon finding nests of eggs or bunches of baby-birds cuddling together in the shade of the plants or against the pebbles at every yard, and there was a great flying and crying of terns overhead.

Close by was a rough hiding place made of osier hurdles and canvas, for watching the birds closely. In it were a small camp stool and a large bottle of lemon squash. The watch of hours is a thirsty task in the summer blaze.

There are a good many shelducks about. They make their nests deep in the burrows of the abounding rabbits. About six pairs of oyster-catchers are known, but they are wily when one comes near them, walking away and pretending to be sitting on a nest where there is none.

The redshanks have a trick when their nest is approached of moving off and lowering a wing in pretence that they are wounded, in order to create an interest in themselves rather than in their eggs or young.

A Montagu's harrier had been seen at the island, and on Whit Monday a black stork passed over. Among the commoner birds skylarks abound.

The bird life is watched until dark, and no boat points towards Scolt Head but it is soon descried, and the movements of any one who lands followed most closely.

Miss Turner's house is a comfortable place, containing many choice bird photographs taken by Miss Turner. Food, fresh water, and other necessaries are brought regularly from the mainland, and if any emergency should arise Miss Turner can signal at once to Brancaster by running a particular flag to the staff on the crest of the Head.

Sometimes Miss Turner has a friend staying with her, but she is frequently alone except for four or five dog companions. Miss Disney spent the night in solitude, but she revels in this Crusoe life, and she described the utter silence of the sleep-time of the birds as "wonderful."

SURREY CAPTAIN LEFT OFF TEAM

P. G. H. Fender, who many think should be captain of the England cricket team, is not so much as included in the 12 probables for the next Test.

The reason given by the Selection Committee for the omission of the Surrey captain is that all the change bowling must not be slow bowling. So Macaulap, of Yorkshire, is preferred.

GUNNER OFFICER STICKS ON BRONK

Lieutenant Elliott, of the Royal Artillery, who successfully kept his seat on a "bronk" in the Rodeo, and thus won a £10 prize, has been invited by the cowboys to a banquet in appreciation of his fine horsemanship.

"Lieutenant Elliott's performance was a wonderful achievement," said C. B. Cochran to a press representativeyesterday," far more so than appeared to the casual spectator. Those who have ridden bronks themselves realize this.

By injecting the patient's own spinal fluid, Dr. H. Wood Power, of the General Hospital, Cheltenham, England, has cured a severe case of sleeping sickness in a woman of 40.

CARGO OF MACHINE GUNS CAPTURED BY SCOTLAND YARD

Two Tons of Armament is Taken as Sequel to Revelations

MASTER HAND

Shipment Said to Be Arranged by Mysterious Englishman

An Englishman in the pay of international spies is said to be the masterhand in a gun-running expedition alleged to have been undertaken from the Thames recently.

Dismantled machine guns and their mountings, weighing more than two tons, consigned to Amsterdam as machinery were discovered in a shed on a wharf near Tower-bridge by Scotland-yard detectives. The detectives had been placed on special duty following recent revelations of alleged wholesale gun-running.

The consignment was in ten large, iron-bound cases, which were forced open.

This was a task of much difficulty, as the wood was more than an inch thick and iron clamped. Inside each case was a substantial zinc coffer. These were also forced with tools borrowed in the locality.

In view of the importance of the find a further staff of officers was despatched to the spot.

The customs authorities were communicated with and the cases and contents were handed over to them for safe keeping. The Customs officers locked them in a special shed and then mounted a guard over them which will be maintained until the police have determined their ultimate destination.

The news of the confiscation of the guns and mountings spread like wildfire round the docks and a large number of dockside workers watched the police at their work.

VARSITY TRAINING HINDERS INDUSTRY

Sending Boy to University Quickest Way to End Firm

That universities are hindering the development of the cotton and woollen industry was suggested at the conference of the Association of Technical Institutions at Brighton.

W. M. Rankin, principal of Burnham Municipal College, declared that in the industrial north of England grandsons of men who had built up big businesses, educated at universities, often lost the wealth which had been amassed by their predecessors and failed in the industry.

Indeed, he said, we are advised that the quickest way to end a firm is to send a boy to a university. There seems to be something in the atmosphere of higher education which results in an inhibition of the inherent industrial quality of families disposed of commercial activities.

What was wanted, he said, was a closer link between the technical university and requirements of industry.

Gretna Towns and Factories for Sale En Bloc by Auction

Two complete little townships, with all the amenities of self-contained communities, will be offered for sale by auction at Gretna shortly.

The auction will constitute probably the biggest deal that has been attempted by the Disposals Board.

It will also mark the close of an impressive phase in the romantic story of Britain's share in the Great War.

The property offered comprises:—

Three hundred brick dwelling-houses and 400 bungalows, making up the two townships of Gretna and Eastrigg.

A large number of huge stone, brick and steel-built factories.

Ether and glycerine distilleries, with valuable plant.

Three farms, several brick-built compounds.

Public institutes, picture houses, dance halls, post office, hostels, shops, a hospital, fire brigade stations, garages.

The whole property occupies about 3,000 acres, and includes more than 100 miles of railway.

Arnott Estate Has Grown to $2,500,000; Subject of Litigation

An action by Sir John Arnott to have Lady Fitzgerald, his stepmother, removed from the co-trusteeship of the will of his father, the late Sir John Arnott, who died in 1898, has started in the Chancery Division in Dublin.

Mr. Samuel Browne, K.C., for Sir John, said Lady Fitzgerald Arnott continuously made trouble, sending scurrilous postcards to Sir John and making the administration of the estate as difficult as possible.

There were 11 settled legacies, amounting to £480,000, and there were two religious and charitable funds of £20,000 each, and, if possible, none of those things was to be paid off for 20 years.

The entire management and responsibility for all this was placed by the testator on the shoulders of his son, the present Sir John Arnott.

The net residue of the estate at the death of the testator amounted to $200,000, and under the present Sir John's management it now amounted to more than $2,500,000.

KING'S SON IN NATIVE ENCLOSURE

"It is not to the credit of the British Government that they allow the son of a king to be shown, like a grinning baboon, in a wretched hut," declared the Rev. J. B. Purvis, a former missionary at Durham Diocesan Conference, referring to the fact that the son of an African chief is among the natives in the West African enclosure at Wembley.

Famous Blacksmith Shop at Gretna Green

The putting up to auction in London of the marriage register and the original certificates of marriages celebrated at Gretna Hall by John Linton, owner of the forge, recall many marriages in high life, as Linton was perhaps the most famous, and certainly the most worthy of the many Border "priests," who were ever ready to accommodate impetuous wooers.

FUNERAL WITHOUT RITES OR WORDS

Hastings Obsequies Conducted in Silence by Archdeacon

Unusual circumstances attended the funeral of the late Dr. G. E. Gray, one of Hasting's leading public men, who died at the age of 70.

It was his wish that his funeral should be of the simplest kind—no service, no flowers, no mourning, no rites.

Dr. Gray, however, was a Hastings councillor for a quarter of a century, and while they desired to respect his wishes a large number of people joined the family mourners at the graveside.

The coffin was taken straight from his home to the cemetery and immediately lowered into the grave. Not a word was spoken, and beyond the "tap, tap" of a handful of earth as it fell on the coffin there was complete silence for several minutes.

CANON'S VIEW.

The Archdeacon of Hastings, Canon Cook, was present at the graveside in morning dress, instead of cassock and surplice. The Mayor of Hastings and many public men were there, but not in any official capacity.

The Archdeacon turned away from the graveside, and this was taken as an indication that the funeral was over. Wreaths were sent, but none from the corporation.

Canon Cook said: "One is not bound to have a Christian burial if one does not desire it. We went simply as his friends, out of respect for one of Hasting's finest men."

JOHN PEEL'S SUCCESSOR.

Joe Cowman, veteran huntsman of the Ullswater foxhounds, has resigned. He is regarded as John Peel's successor, and during 40 years as a huntsman is said to have accounted for over 2,000 mountain foxes.

ENGLISH GUARANTEE IRISH LAND LOAN

Bond Issue of $150,000,000 to Be Made by Free State

A memorandum explaining the financial resolution in connection with the Irish Free State Land Purchase Loan Guarantee was issued.

It states that the resolution is to enable the introduction of a Bill authorizing the Treasury to guarantee the principal and interest of securities to be issued by the Government of the Irish Free State for completing land purchase in the Free State, within a total of $150,000,000. The securities will consist of 4½ per cent. bonds.

It is proposed to provide in the Bill that the Treasury guarantee shall not be given until the Free State Parliament have compiled with certain conditions, to which the Free State Government have consented.

It is not anticipated that any charge will, in fact, fall upon the Imperial Exchequer under the proposed guarantee.

PILFERER EXPOSED.

As the safe of a Birmingham firm had been repeatedly tampered with powdered dye was put into a packet of money. Soon afterward the fingers and clothes of Alfred Kendrick, a youth, were stained.

The money had not been taken, but Kendrick confessed to previous thefts and was put on probation for two years.

CATCHES SALMON WITH HIS HANDS

Netting salmon in the River Ouse, Harry Hemingbrough, of Wistow, and his son Arthur trapped a fish which proved to be the largest captured this season.

On dragging the salmon into about 18 inches of water the youth Arthur noticed that the net was breaking.

He jumped into the river, landing on top of the fish and throwing his arms round its body.

In spite of the fish's struggles the lad held it for 10 minutes while his father ran for a mallet.

It needed several blows to kill the salmon, which was nearly 35 lb. in weight.

Local fishermen say they never remember a fish being caught in such a fashion before.

NORWICH WOMAN HAS KIND HOBBY

Placid amid a stream of traffic on St. Andrew's Hill, Norwich, a little, pleasant-faced, grey-haired woman was strewing sand on the tracks left by passing motors.

To a pressman she said, "This is my little hobby—to make things easier for our toiling animal friends. Horses frequently slip and fall here and are in continual danger of breaking their legs.

"In winter I put sand on the ice, and in summer sand on the oil.

"Some people call me eccentric, but I really do not care a bit."

Lord Sempill has been appointed an additional aide-de-camp to the King.

TRADE REVIVAL DUE IN BRITAIN

Lloyd George Says Expansion Will Follow European Peace

Trade revival is coming, and Great Britain will then probably do better than ever. In the meantime Britain must be prepared to face stern competition from the Continent.

This was the burden of a speech made by Mr. Lloyd George at a luncheon of the Federation of British Industries at Manchester.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that there will be an expansion of trade. It is coming. There are excellent signs that the world will get richer and will buy more. I could compile statistics to show that there is a steady improvement.

"Trade will come. It is bound to come, and when it comes to the real fight I will back the British manufacturer and the British worker against the world.

"There is one more river to cross before you come to prosperity. This is the danger you have got on the Continent of nations that have been equipping in a way that they have never equipped before. They have spent more energy and more money on improving their equipment, on increasing their power, than they have ever done in the whole of their industrial history.

"Continental credit is about to be restored. That is what peace means."

Rate Defaulters to Number of 30,000 are Summoned in Sheffield

Sheffield's army of non-ratepaying citizens continues to be as large as ever, owing to the amount of unemployment in the city. There are about 32,000 people in the city who have not yet paid the rates levied in the second half of last year, and summonses have been issued against most of them.

Probably only a score will appear before the magistrates, as no proceedings are taken against those who promise to pay weekly instalments. Sums as small as 2s. 6d. a week are accepted. About 20,000 unemployed and part-time workers are paying their rates in this way.

The custom is for the defaulters to be summoned to the police court in batches of several thousands, and on their arrival all who are willing to pay instalments are allowed to go home.

STEAMER STUCK.

The launching of a pleasure steamer destined for Southend had to be postponed at Southampton because the vessel sat tight on the ways, and, in spite of strong inducements, refused to enter the water. All efforts failed to move her, and a tug had to give up the attempt after two thick hawsers had snapped.

Emigration Urged as Solution of Britain's Surplus Child Problem

Emigration or adoption as the solution of the "surplus" child problem aroused keen discussion at the Third English-speaking Conference on Infant Welfare at Caxton Hall, London.

Percy Roberts, of Dr. Barnado's Homes, said that in a well-planned scheme of emigration lay the best solution of the problem of the unwanted child. Mr. Allen, of Bradford, suggested that this method took away the healthy and strong and left the derelicts. "How many people in the room are prepared to send their children overseas?" he asked.

"My only surviving son is out in Australia," was Mr. Roberts' retort.

He declared that only two per cent. of Dr. Bernado's children failed when sent to Canada. They had 3,000 children there who had more than £40,000 in the bank.

Dr. Henry Dwight Chapin, of New York, who advocated adoption, said that civilization was hard on women. "The higher they are in the social scale the more difficult and uncertain becomes the question of maternity. If some of the surplus children were transferred from one end of the social scale to the other it would mean that the homeless child would be placed in the childless home."

PROTESTS AGAINST NEW HAT FASHION

A protest against the size of hats worn by women at Communion services is made by the Rev. T. W. Roberts, rector of Christ Church, St. Leonard's, in his parish magazine.

He says: "It is almost impossible for the priest to guide the chalice to the lips of a person wearing these large hats—the chalice simply disappears under the brim of the hat."

SPEARMINT DEAD.

Last year his stock won stakes to the value of nearly £12,000, horses by him winning races in England, Ireland, Belgium, India, South Africa and France.

In Ireland and England Spearmint's offspring won more than £137,000.

ANGLICAN PRAYER BOOK ATTACKED BY FAMOUS VICAR

Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard Writes Vigorously in Parish Magazine

MARRIED LIFE

Very Low Conception of Woman in Marriage Service, He Says

Is the marriage service of the Church of England unreal and antiquated?

It possesses both these defects according to the Rev. H. R. L. Sheppard, of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, London, who also vigorously criticises the baptismal and burial service.

"The baptismal service," Mr. Sheppard writes in his parish magazine, "opens with a most repelling exhortation, 'inasmuch as all men are conceived and born in sin.' No doubt there is a theological truth behind this unfortunate phrase, but it is not to be understood by plain people, who believe that so far as is possible their child was conceived and born in faith, hope, and selfless love.

"FUTILE SERVICE."

"The abiding impression of the service," the vicar adds, "is that a desperate effort is being made to rescue a baby from the righteous wrath of a displeased and capricious God. The service as it now stands is both futile and irritating."

Dealing with the wedding service, he writes:—

"The service suggests a much lower ideal of the relation of the sexes than is held by most right-thinking people today, and it is ludicrous to give as examples of married life the patriarchs who lived in a primitive state of society.

"There is further a very low conception of women and motherhood. The suggestion that the gift of continugency is not so much needed after marriage as before; the expression in the Psalm (addressed to the man) that his wife shall be as the fruitful vine on the walls of his house: the phrase that explains that God ordained that out of man woman should take her beginning areall peculiarly distasteful—and what on earth have Abraham and Sarah got to do with the affair?

THE NEW HOME.

"The service might be so beautiful. That what this setting up of a new home means to the girl and the youth, and then ask yourself if the Church, by any stretch of imagination, can be said to be alive to her opportunity."

Mr. Sheppard gives examples of "wholly unintelligible" phrases in the burial service, and relates how at the burial of a friend:

"We called her body a vile body. We reminded them that worms would destroy that body, and we thanked God heartily that it had pleased Him to deliver his wife and their mother from the miseries of this sinful world. All this was intolerable to the officiating minister, and God alone knows what it must have meant to the mourners."

IMPROMPTU MAKE-UP.

Anthony Asquith, son of the ex-Premier, and other members of the Balliol Players played Greek drama in Bath Public Gardens attired in tennis trousers and shirts, with blankets for robes. Their stage attire, with all their "properties," was left 19 miles from Bath in a motor-car which was "ditched" through a driving mishap.

COWGIRL CURED BY FAMOUS BONESETTER

Sir Herbert Barker Works His Wonderful Healing Power

The cowboys at the Rodeo have a very warm regard for Sir Herbert Barker, the bonesetter.

A few days ago Florence Fenton, one of the cowgirls, was heavily thrown, with the result that was a displacement of the atlas, the first vertebra of the cervical spine. The injury was a very serious one, and had it not been remedied the injured woman would probably have had a permanently twisted neck.

Sir Herbert Barker was called in, and having no anaesthetist with him, applied manipulative surgery at once with the result that the victim made a wonderful recovery.

Next night she was riding again!

HONOR OFFERED.

The competitors are all enthusiastic over what was done, and are all eager to show their appreciation that they offered to let Sir Herbert ride one of the steers. He half promised, but since then wiser counsel have prevailed.

"These cowboys and cowgirls are wonderful," said Sir Herbert.

"I think they are more generally fit than any athletes I have ever examined, not even excluding footballers.

"The muscles of both men and women are small, but all over the body they are like steel. Because of this it is rarely that they get a break and when there is an accident their recuperative powers are quite extraordinary."

HIGH FREIGHT RATES.

Unless a concession in freight rates were made by the railway companies, inland firms would gradually migrate to the coast towns, said James T. Daly, at the annual general meeting of the Moseley Bridge and Engineering Company, Ltd., at Birmingham.

WOMAN SMOKES PIPE AT 105

Mrs. Ann Haykin, Sheffield's oldest citizen, who would have celebrated her 105th birthday next month, died this week.

Born in 1819, she had lived in Sheffield all her life, and could tell many interesting stories of her early days. She made her first journey in a railway train at 80, and she enjoyed her first motor ride when she was 103 years of age.

Mrs. Haykin had been married twice. Her first husband died within a year of the wedding, and she was a wife, mother, and widow within ten months. She had been a pipe smoker for 70 years, consuming two ounces of tobacco a week. She had her last pipe of tobacco a few days before her death.

COMMUNIST SCHOOLS IN BRITAIN TEACH CHILDREN BLASPHEMY

Peers Pass Bill to Check Activities—Examples Given Show Method of Instruction Which Justifies Murder

Moving the second reading of his Bill to prevent seditious and blasphemous teaching to children under 16, Lord Danesfort quoted these two maxims from a Glasgow Communist Sunday-school.

Thou shalt not be a patriot, for a patriot is an international blackguard.

Thou shall teach revolution, for revolution means the abolition of the present political state and the end of capitalism.

In a London school reasons were given for the murder of the late Sir Henry Wilson, and the teacher, when asked, "Do you justify that murder?" said "Yes, and there will be many more like it."

After giving examples of "atrocious blasphemy," Lord Danesfort quoted the following extracts from the literature of the movement:—

A little child shall lead them. Lead whom? Why, lead the capitalists to slaughter. What child? Why, the child of the worker.

Did Jesus come to earth from Heaven? No. Was his mother a virgin? No. Is the story about Him true? No. Who was his father? Joseph, in the ordinary way.

"POOR GERMANS."

At a Communist school in London in 1922 the following definition was given of a patriot:

What is a patriot? A soldier, a sailor, a policeman, a boy scout, a girl guide. Never you become any of them. Soldiers are trained to murder men of their own class. We were made to murder poor peaceful Germans we had no grudge against.

A Communist poster with the words "Fight, Damn It, Fight!" was unfolded and displayed to the House by Lord Danesfort, and he added that last year, as Sir John Butcher, he introduced a similar Bill into the House of Commons, and on May Day children were taken to Hyde Park in vans labelled "To hell with Sir John Butcher." (Laughter.)

The Lord Chancellor (Viscount Haldane) said that so long as people advocated their opinions in decent terms nobody had a right to interfere. Anything intended to stir up revolution stood on a different footing, but in the history of our country we had always been most cautious in interfering with the promulgation of political opinions.

The real remedy against schools teaching the things which had been complained of was to be found in public opinion. The Government thought the House would be unwise to pass the Bill.

Lord Balfour derided the idea that to pass the Bill would aim a blow at liberty of discussion. We must preserve liberty of discussion among adults, but this was a case of teaching children who were unable to protect themselves doctrines which were admittedly illegal and corrupt.

SEX LAWS.

The Archbishop of Canterbury said two or three years ago he came to the conclusion, after investigation, that these Communist schools were comparatively rare, but since then the movement had increased to a very large extent. One of the worst features of these schools was teaching which tended to create little respect for what was called "man-made sex laws" and to promote "freelove." This was more perilous to the young than the anti-Christian teaching.

Parents could be visited and asked why they allowed their children to attend the schools. In one case it was found that the children of the chairman of the local Conservative Association were attending one of these schools. (Laughter.)

The Duke of Atholl said the canker of these schools had been growing for years and nothing had been done. Referring to some of the literature circulated by Communist schools among the children, he said:

"I have travelled a good deal about the world and I do not pretend to be a prude, but for sheer downright filth I have never read anything to compare with this."

SECRECY.

The feature of this movement was the extraordinary secrecy with which the schools were held.

Lord Russell protested against a Tory squire on a local bench being called on to deal with questions of blasphemy and sedition. The movement would grow if schools were to be given notoriety by being made the subject of prosecutions.

Lord Parmoor, the Lord President of the Council, emphasized that that proceedings could be taken under the law as it stood, and held that Benches of magistrates would not be the most suitable tribunals.

The second reading was carried by 102 votes to 20.

PEERAGE CLAIMS BEFORE THE LORDS

Committee of Privileges Sits in Robing Room to Hear Details

The Committee for Privileges of the House of Lords will meet shortly to hear claims to the Dukedom of Somerset, the Barony of Gordon, and the Barony of Beauchamp.

This Committee, which has not sat for a year or two, usually comprises several of the Law Lords, in addition to one or two lay Peers, and the Chairman of Committees of the House of Lords always presides.

Until two or three years ago the Committees sat in the Debating Chamber, but as this involved a disturbance of the hearing of legal appeals, which invariably takes place there, the Committee for Privileges migrated to the Peers' Robing Room (commonly known as the "Moses" room.)

Consul represents claimants and the Law Officers of the Crown submit their views. Evidence is heard and documents, sometimes including the Domesday Book itself, are scrutinized.

In the end their lordships humbly advise his Majesty as to their conclusions, upon which the King acts. Sometimes the procedure is brief, but occasionally many days are occupied in considering the petitions, especially in the event of opposition being offered.

Two Deaths from Smallpox in Epidemic Which is Spreading

Nine cases of smallpox, two of which proved fatal, have occurred in one house in Harlesden, a suburb of London.

Five out of the nine patients were unvaccinated.

There is a danger of the disease spreading, as all the contacts have not yet been found.

On June 12, Eric Wright, an unvaccinated child, aged three, contracted smallpox from an unknown source.

It was hoped that his father and mother, brother, and two sisters, who had come in contact with him, would be saved from infection, but they all became victims.

Two other children, Frank and Elsie Elliot, and their mother, who live in the same house, are "down" with the dread disease.

BREATHING STOPS BUT HEART BEATS

Evidence of heart beats continuing for four and a half hours after breathed had stopped was given at the inquest on Mrs. Emily Elizabeth Rodwell (45), of Sidcup, Kent, who was taken ill on the platform at Charing Cross (Southern Railway) station while on her way to Wembley.

Death was due to cerebral hemorrhage.

COWBOY THROWS HIGHLAND STEER

An "extra turn" enlivened the concluding performances of the international Rodeo in the Stadium at Wembley.

In the afternoon Mike Hastings, the champion cowboy bulldogger, wrestled with a wild Highland steer, owned by the Marquis of Graham, who had wagered £10 that the animal could not be thrown within a minute. The cowboy won by throwing the long-horned, hairy bull in 16 2-5 seconds.

Great Britain has won the Olympic competition for shooting at running deer for teams of four.

HOTELMAN'S WILL REVOKED BY COURT

Testator Under Delusion He Was King of England

A jury in the London Probate Court found that Lazarus Morris, landlord of Sir Garnet Wolseley public house, Rotherhithe, South London, and a former bookmaker, was not of sound testamentary capacity when his last will of Oct., 1922, was executed.

Mr. Justice Horridge pronounced accordingly against the 1922 will and in favor of the will of 1920.

Morris died aged 60 in Oct., 1922, leaving between £15,000 and £20,000. Three days before his death he made a will leaving all his estate to his sister, Mrs. Rosetta Fox, who died soon afterwards. She left the residue of her property to her nephew, Morris Raphael, a publican of Stepney E., the defendant in the present suit.

Testator suffered from general paralysis of the insane, and it was alleged, had the delusions that he was King of England, was a millionaire, and the most important man in the world.

Mrs. Smith, a niece, said that just before his death testator talked of sausages and salmon, and said his ships were continually coming into the docks. On her leaving he asked if she had her fare home, and gave her half a penny.

NEWSPAPER REIGN.

"Beyond newspapers I can hardly find anything on railway station bookstalls which I care to read," declared the Bishop of Carlisle, Dr. Williams, speaking at a Church meeting at Carlisle.

REMARKABLE NATURE STORIES FROM ERIN

Three remarkable incidents of interest to natural history students are reported from the neighborhood of the Antrim coast.

A badger caught in a hen-roost at Carlough by four young men so fiercely attacked its captors that one of the youths had his trousers torn off, another lost his coat sleeve, and the other two were badly bitten.

Mr. K. Kennedy, a gamekeeper at Glenarm, fleeing from a mad bull that attacked him, took refuge in the branches of a small tree.

The bull kept him imprisoned for three hours—in the meantime doing its best to uproot the tree.

A large, live eel that suddenly fell from the skies at the foot of Mr. McEvoy, at Glenarm recently, seemed like a miracle until it transpired that it had been dropped by a hawk.

CARPET SUCCESS OF THREE SCOTSMEN

Thirty years ago three carpet operatives decided to start carpet manufacture on their own, after three years at Bonnyrig, in Scotland.

They came to Kidderminster wi a few hands in the second year of this century, and founded the Victoria Carpet Works.

They have just added another chapter to their partnership romance.

Alexander Hamilton, now a town councillor, has been presented with a silver service by the employes of the firm to commemmorate 50 years of effort in the carpet world.

Both Edinburgh and Dundee have decided to confer the freedom of their cities on Mr. Ramsay MacDonald.

PAVING PLANS CURTAILED BY CITY COUNCIL

Council Met Last Night and Refused to Proceed With Paving on Water Street North.

A DUSTLESS SWEEPER.

Early Morning Demonstration Will Be Held on Monday.

Although very little headway was made at a Council meeting last night, the tables were turned in so far as the city's progressive paving policy is concerned. The conservative members who have urged for a restricted paving programme, evenly distributing the work over several years, won out, in view of the fact that a majority alone will not pass a by-law.

Unusual developments later in the meeting caused Ald. Morrison to call a committee meeting for 5 a.m. on Monday morning, at which all promised to attend.

The citizens who resented the policy of the City Council in paving Antrim Street, instead of Smith as a connecting link between Water and George Streets, may now forget the matter, as neither Antrim nor Smith will be paved. The Council also decided to abandon the proposal, formerly approved of by the Board of Works, regarding the construction of a concrete slab pavement on Water Street North, from the C. N. R. crossing to Langton Street, and the construction of an asphalt pavement on Murray Street.

Road Construction.

Alderman Morrison presented his report as chairman of the Board of Works, which, on resolution, was adopted,

By-laws were introduced by Alderman Morrison regarding paving construction, sidewalks and sewers, which were given their three readings. The by-law authorizing the acceptance of the tender of the Warren Bituminous Company, to construct a warrenite bithulithic ashphalt pavement on Antrim Street and on Murray from Aylmer Street, east to 116 feet east of Water Street was thrown out, on the second reading, on motion of Aldermen Phelan and Morrison, after a lengthy discussion.

The bp-law, authorizing the construction of Water Street, north of the C.N.R. crossing to the city limits, was defeated on the third reading.

The paving of Simcoe Street, from Water to Queen, and from Queen to the reserve, along the Otonabee, and the paving of Queen Street, from Simcoe to Hunter, was also abandoned, on the third reading of the by-law authorizing the same.

Last night a petition was presented to the Council by Mr. Leon Frazer, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The petition was signed by 140 irate citizens, who were incensed at the proposal of the City Council to pave Antrim Street instead of Smith Street. Mr. Frazer urged the Council to reconsider the proposal of the Board of Works, but the members refused to be stirred by the petition.

Had the by-laws required only a majority vote, instead of a two-thirds division, they all would have carried. At the Board of Works meeting a two-thirds vote is not required.

The members who were opposed to the extended paving policy were Aldermen M. Turner, Stocker, McIntyre and Crowe, and those in accord with the Board of Work's recommendations were Aldermen Phelan, Jones, Fife, Morrison, Maher and Mayor Turner.

When the by-law authorizing the construction of Water street north was turned down, Ald. Phelan and Maher would not support the paving of Murray and Antrim street.

They both were strongly in favor of carrying Water street to the city limits, pointing out that it is not only one of the worst roads in the city, but that it was also a neck road, leading into the city, carrying a heavy traffic. It was urged in support of the bylaw that Water street, being the leading road to the Kawartha Lakes, that the city was earning a bad reputation from the through traffic from other points.

Aldermen Maher and Phelan observing that Water street was carrying more traffic than either Murray or Antrim streets, and being in a bad state of repair, stated that they would not support the Murray and Antrim Street construction by-law, since the council had turned down the Water street proposition.

City Contracts.

In conection with the paving of Water street, Ald. Crowe placed some interesting statistics before the meeting.

The City Engineer had tendered for the concrete work at $2.34 per square yard, 4c higher than Mr. J. Carroll's tender, which was accepted.

Alderman Crowe pointed out that Mr. Carroll's contract with the city for the work now under construction on George street south and Water street, was only costing the city $2.04 per yard, instead of $2.30. The present work under construction involved an expenditure of $13,340, which at the rate of $2.04 a yard, would be a reduction of $1508. It was also shown by Alderman Crowe that the price of cement had dropped 25c per barrel since Mr. Carroll's former tender, which would mean that the work could be executed for 435 less, or $1943 cheaper, inclusive of the reduction at the rate of $2.04 per yard.

In view of these facts, Alderman Crowe was of opinion that Mr. Carroll sould be able to tender at the same price as last year, or even cheaper, instead of raising his tender 26c per yard. He also observed that the haul for gravel should be shorter, and the roadbed easier to prepare, which ought to further enable Mr. Carroll to make a reduction.

Ald. Crowe said the council has already exceeded its paving appropriation which amounted to $151,111, covered by debentures.

Mayor Turner interjected that Ald. Crowe was assuming that Mr. Carroll was making money under the present contract.

Alleged Suspicion.

"It makes no difference to the council whether he is making money or not," Ald. Crowe replied. "A peculiar thing to me is the fact that the City Engineer's price had gone down eight cents since his last tender, and the tender of Mr. Carroll has gone up."

Ald. Crowe moved an amendment striking out the clause in the report of Ald. Morrison proposing the construction of Water street north. The amendment was defeated and the report adopted.

Ald. McIntyre, who as repeatedly opposed further road construction this year again urged the disapproval of the praving programme recommended in the report of the Board of Works, pointing out that the scheme if carried out, would prove alarmingly burdensome to the taxpayer.

Unemployment Situation.

A new lien of thought was introduced by Mayor Turner who advocated the carrying out of the proposed paving proposals. He opined that the city would have to care for a certain number of families this winter in view of the industrial deression, and though not out for spending money, he was in favor of spending money on civic improvements, where beneficial returns would result. It is a matter of providing for these families now, instead of dispensing relief next winter, where nothing would be gained for the expenditure. In conclusion he remarked that he thought the recommendations embodied in Ald. Morrison's report were all for necessary work.

"That is the point," said Ald. McIntyre. "The money is not staying in the city with the Warren Bituminous Construction Company doing the work."

Alderman Maher expressed his opinion in favor of the Mayor's idea.

It was pointed out by Alderman Stocker that the people of the City were being deprived of work by persons outside the Corporation. "Teams and men are coming into the City taking the bread away from the working man, while our own people are standing around with their tongues hanging out", said Alderman Stocker. He advocated that non should be employed by the City unless on the municipal voters' list.

Alderman Fife stated that he was very glad to see the petition regarding the paving of Smith street, turned down, as the Council had a tendency to hearken too eagerly to deputations and petitions. He was strongly in favor of proceedings with the proposed road construction programme and in referring to Alderman Crowe's remarks stated that if the City had instituted a proper paving policy ten years ago, it would be to-day be blessed with good thoroughes and have the work half paid for.

It was urged by Mayor Turner to have Queen and Simcoe streets paved in view of the heavy trucking from the Peterboro Cereal, the Gas Works and in consideration of the resident's wishes. He explained that the Quaker Oats Company would pave from the Reserve to their factory if this was done.

Alderman McIntyre opined that concrete instead of asphalt should be used on Simcoe and Queen streets, should the by-law be passed, observing that the debenture debt was extremely burdensome without any further additions.

Sewer Construction

A by-law received its third reading authorizing the construction of sewers on Hazlett, Oxford, Ross and Sopia streets.

The meeting approved of an agreement between the City and the Canadian Nationtal Railways, permitting the construction of a sewer on the property of the latter along Bethune street, south of Perry street. The lease calls for a rental of $1.00 per annum.

Sidewalk Construction

The by-law authorizing the construction of a cement sidewalk on the west side of Park, from Albert to Chamberlen streets received its third reading at last night's meeting and the work will be proceeded with, in the near future.

Two communications were read, applying for the construction of sidewalks one from Mrs. Margaret Gorman requesting the City to provide a cement sidewalk for pedestrians in place of the present path on the east side of Reid street from Smith to Stewart. The other was from Mrs. Skates asking the City to build a sidewalk in front of her store on 656 Reid street. Both applications were referred to the Board of Works.

The G.W.V.A. were granted an eating house license.

A communication was read from Messrs W. J. Okeand F. E. Convery in which they advised the Council that in connection with the Riverside Park lease, they are no longer connected with the Peterboro Baseball Association.

Dog Tax

An opinion from the City Solicitor was read, in which he declared that no person had authority to collect from any citizen a dollar for each dog corralled and that therefore the Police Department should not receive anything more than the regular tax and the fine and court costs in connection with the convictions.

It was after eleven when this matter came up for discussion, and Alderman Crowe stated that he would defer any remarks to another occasion, because of the late hour, but announced that he would have a great deal to say when the opportunity arrived.

Stop Daredevil Performance.

Alderman Maher, in speaking of the daredevil human fly, who would attempt to scale the Empress Hotel, stated that if it was within the power of the Council, steps should be taken to prevent the death defying performance. His remarks met with favor, and it was decided to institute the proper machinery for discouraging the affair.

It was brought to the attention of the meeting by Alderman Phelan that Mr. Lorne Webster, by building cinder approaches to garages on the property at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune Street, had incurred the enmity of his neighbors and had refused to remove them, although street drainage was impeded. He stated that the approaches were unsightly, and were an inconvenience to neighboring residents. The City Engineer was instructed to notify Mr. Webster to remove the approaches by a unanimous resolution, moved by Alderman Phelan.

Dustless Sweeper.

Mr. H. M. Bishop, managing director of the Dominion Dustless Sweeper Corporation, was heard in reference to the proposed purchase by the city of a machine.

He stated that the dry dustless street cleaning system was the twentieth century method of street sanitation. The members were generally of opinion that in view of the decreased cost of maintenance, the vast improvement over the results as compared with the present broom and shovel method, that as a business proposition a dustless sweeper should be doing the street cleaning of this city.

It was shown that a machine could be purchased for $15,000, payment to be covered by a five-year debenture, providing for payment of five $3,000 annual instalments. The life of a machine is estimated to be 10 years, and Mr. Bishop stated that with proper care and the execution of necessary repairs, a machine ought to serve the city for a much longer period.

He further assured the members that one sweeper could easily take care of the streets of Peterboro.

Will Meet at 5 A.M.

A demonstration will be made for the Aldermen at 5 a.m. Monday, when the streets are clear of traffic. They all promised to be present, despite the unusual hour.

Alderman Morrison immediately called a committee meeting to follow the demonstration.

"I'll be there," remarked Mayor Turner, "for I expect to stay up for the day."

The Council will meet in special session on Monday night to consider the purchase of a Dominion dustless sweeper, after witnessing the demonstration on Monday morning.

Committee Report.

Presented by Alderman Morrison, chairman of the Board of Works:

Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows:—

We recommend that the petition for a Warrenite-Bitulithic pavement on Water Street from Dublin street to Antrim Street be received.

We recommend that no action be taken in regard to paving Smith Street between George and Water Streets.

We received an offer from John Carroll to pave with concrete Water Street from the Canadian National Railway to Langton Street for $2.30 per square yard and an estimate from the City Engineer for the same work $2.34 per square yard.

We recommend that that portion of Water Street be paved with concrete and that John Carroll's tender for the work be accepted.

We received from the Warren-Bituminous Company an offer to pave Murray Street at the same price as in their present contract and to resurface the pavement on George Street from Charlotte Street to the Canadian Pacific Railway with Warrenite-Bitulithic surface for $1.70 per square yard, using trap rock, or using limestone at $1.60 per square yard, or to do the work with asphaltic concrete surface for $1.55 per square yard.

We recommend that the offer of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company of $1.70 per square yard for resurfacing the pavement on George Street from Charlotte street to the Canadian Pacific Railway with Warrenite-Bitulithic pavement with trap rock mineral be accepted.

We recommend that the tender of the Warren Bituminous Paving Company for the construction of Warrenite-Bitulithic pavements on Murray Street from George Street to Aylmer Street; on Murray Street from George Street to a point 116 feet east of Water Street; and on Antrim Street from George Street at the same prices as in their present contract be accepted.

We recommend that notice be given of the intention of the Council to resurface the pavement on George Street from Charlotte Street to the Canadian Pacific Railway with Warrenite-Bitulithic pavement on the initiative, and that the City Engineer report on other pavements that need resurfacing.

We recommend that the radius of the curve at each corner at street inter-sections where paving may be done be left with the City Engineer.

The City Engineerr received the following offers for the iron from the old Hunter Street bridge:—

A. Low & Co., $8.00 per net ton.
D. Florence & Son, $7.75 per gross ton.

We recommend that these offers be accepted.

We recommend that the chairman, the City Engineer, Ald. McIntyre, and Jones look over the iron taken from the old Hunter Street bridge and recommend prices at which it should be sold, and that they consult with Charles Baker.

We recommend that the City Engineer be requested to submit a plan with estimate of cost for a Board of Works shed on the City's property along the water front between Simcoe and Charlotte Streets having in mind housing for a Dominion Dustless Sweeper should the City purchase one at any time. The approximate cost of moving the City's shed from the Canadian Pacific Railway property along Wolfe Street, and, 3, advertising for bids on the present shed, possession to be given about October 1st, and tenders to be received up to August 15th.

Your Board received the following report from the Special Committee appointed to confer with the Dominion Dustless Sweepers, Ltd., "Your Special Committee appointed to confer with the Dominion Dustless Sweepers with aview to obtaining terms form the company to clean the paved streets until the end of the year had a conference with Mr. Bishop, the Manager of the Company and the matter was fully discussed. the company were not open to consider a contract for cleaning for obvious reasons. Your committee are of the opinion that the Ctiy should consider the purchase of a Dominion Dustless Sweeper on favourable terms spread over a number of years and recommend that Mr. Bishop be heard with reference to the matter."

We recommend that this report be adopted.

Your Board received the following report from the special committee to which Mr. O'Dette's application was referred:—

"Your special committtee beg leave to report on the application to erect a building for boat livery purposes at the end of Crescent and Rink Streets, that after a conference with the McDonald Lumber Co. and Mr. O'Dette and the fact that the City could not give the permission except on the usual terms that the building be removed at the wish of the Council, Mr. O'Dette withdrew his request."

We recommend that Ald Jones be the City's representative on the Trent Waterway Development Association Directorate.

We recommend that the City Engineer be instructed to build a fence on the side of Crescent street from Lock Street north.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

MYSTERY STORY GOES ON SCREEN.

"The Leavenworth Case," Famous Novel, Made By Bennett.

One of the most absorbing mystery stories ever written will be seen on the screen at the Regent Theatre to-day and to-morrow. It is "The Leavenworth Case," by Anna Katharine Green, America's foremost writer of detective stories.

"The Leavenworth Case" was transferred to the screen by Whitman Bennett, who viewed this story as one of the best for screen purposes. Mr. Bennett and his director, Charles Giblyn, were faced by many problems and pitfalls attendant to such an attempt. They first had to guard against selecting any member of the cast who by temperament and manner of acting would give away the clue to the spectator as to which one of five persons was actually guilty of the crime.

This pitfall they overcame by selecting such prominent players as Seena Owen, Martha Mansfield, Wilfred Lytell, Bradley Barker, Paul Doucet, William Walcott, Frances Miller Grant and Fred Miller—all of whom have cut envious reputations in screendom. To Miss Owen was assigned the trying part of Eleanor Leavenworth, one of the two Leavenworth nieces to whom suspicion heavily falls. Miss Mansfield plays the part of the second niece, Mary.

Wilfred Lytell has a suspicious, yet romantic role as Anderson. Bradley Barker is not without the pale of investigation, as Raymond, attorney to the wealthy recluse, Leavenworth, who was slain. As Harwell, the murdered man's secretary, Paul Doucet is given unusual opportunity to exercise his screen talents. William Walcott plays the part of Leavenworth.

"The Leavenworth Case" opens dramatically with servants of the household reporting that Ira Leavenworth, the rich recluse, had failed to report to breakfast. Investigation reveals him slain in his sound-proof apartment, with doors and windows firmly fastened and nothing disturbed. Investigators begin their work and evidence is unearthed that places the nieces of Leavenworth under immediate suspicion. Then a strange caller in the night enters into the mystery. The solution is one of the most dramatic ever screened and comes through the clever work of Robertson, a private investigator.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"An honest melodrama" is the way William Fox labels "The Arizona Express," the latest word in thrilling moving picture stories, that wound a tense picturization before a wrought-up audience last evening, at the Capitol Theatre. Although no extra charge is made for the bonafide thrills that fill the big feature, there are enough to warrant an added admission fee. It is one of those prestissimo productions whose tempo is set at a galloping pace. The excitement-seeker can enjoy an hour and a half packed with interest in watching "The Arizona Express."

The story centres about the infatuation of David Keith, played in excellent fashion by Harold Goodwin, for Madeline Morgan, the role taken by Evelyn Brent. David is a clerk in the bank of his stern uncle, and Madeline is a dancer in the Los Toros cafe. The initial scenes are filmed in a town in New Mexico, where Madeline, a member of the famous Kip street gang of cracksmen, gets the necessary information that will enable the gang to rob the bank. David's uncle calls on the dancer, to force her to release David from his infatuation, and encounters in her room the leader of the gang, Victor Johnson, the 'bad man' of the piece, played in realistic style by Francis McDonald. The uncle discovers a plan of the interior of the bank, accuses the two, and is killed by Victor. In the downstairs lobby, young David is waiting, having followed his uncle, and he finally goes upstairs. A lurid scene ensues, when a storm puts the lights out of business and David fights in the dark with Victor, who finally escapes. Madeline tells the boy that he has killed his uncle and he is sentenced to hang.

This is but the preliminary for the real fireworks, which start immediately and progress through tiptoe episodes, spun in rapid-fire style. Katherine Keith, David's sister, (Pauline Stark) is recalled home by her brother's peril, becomes acquainted with the Kip street gang and intercepts a letter from Victor to Madeline which tells the whole story of the crime. It is on her way to the governor with the document that the punchy thrills of the picture come into action. In the meantime, David, in a realistic scene, makes his escape from prison with a group of convicts. This is an interesting portion of the story, showing the method of transferring messages among the inmates, with a getaway engineered by driving the rock train through the prison wall, the inmates fighting like animals to escape, while the guards shoot down the ringleaders.

In the episodes which follow, excitement piles itself up. Victor and the courageous mail clerk of the Arizona Express, to which Katherine has fled on her way to the governor's house, battle half way through an open door, while the train thunders over appalling mountain canyons. Victor jumps from an overhead tunnel entrance to the top of the coaches, and finally the train is parted in the centre by the pursuing band, and runs wild, to topple eventually over a rocky hillside. Katherine, caught by the gang, is freed by her postal swain, who tackles the entire lot, bare-handed, and lets the girl escape by horseback, with Victor in pursuit, close behind.

For swift movement and rapid-fire action and thrills of a real melodramatic type, "The Arizona Express" takes a premier place among those excitement-packed movie stories which provide a change from the ordinary run of feature. Screen productions of this type seem to be taking the place of former favorite sex complication pictures and 'vamp' stories.

Stan Laurel as the hero of the comedy, "Near Dublin," with some catchy Irish music as its orchestral accompaniment, got plenty of laughs last night. He plays dead after a sanguinary fight with his rival and then does the practical joker act during the trial for murder of the latter. In the barn where the trial takes place, while the learned judge smokes a short pipe and the cross-eyed Ben Turpin acts as court martial, the supposed victim hides in the hay loft and shies bricks at the accused. It is a merry mix-up, with a jolly Irish atmosphere, and evidently tickled its watchers immensely.

MANY THRILLS IN "FLOWING GOLD." AT ROYAL MONDAY.

Picturization of Rex Beach Novel Filled With Hair-Raising Adventure.

If there is one thing of which the great American public cannot get enough it is stories of adventure and romance with a pair of lovers fighting their way through many obstacles and dangers to the ultimate "and they lived happily ever after." From the obscure clerk to the university president all relish tales that stir our emotions and make jur blood run faster as we unconsciously take upon us the identity of the characters entertaining us.

Such stories have had the greatest success of all when transferred to the screen, for that is the greatest medium for visualizing the action conceived by the author. The figures of imagination take on life and become real persons to us.

That is one of the reasons why "Flowing Gold" a screen version of Rex Beach's latest novel, is meeting with such huge success in the motion picture theatres of the country. The First National picture, which was produced by Richard Walton Tully and directed by Joe De Grasse, is an example of how the spell of a great story can be intensified on the screen.

All of this great author's novels have been noted for their thrilling situations and episodes, but none more so than "Flowing Gold." Beach has chosen the oil fields as the locale of this tale of love and adventure, and into it he has injected a continuous series of thrills that will increase his following tremendously.

DELAY ELECTROCUTION.

Thomas H. Robbins Withdrew the Request For Delay.

BOSTON, July 25. — (Canadian Press).—The request for the delay in the electrocution of Cyrillo J. Vandenhocke, of Lawrence, made a few days ago, has been withdrawn by Thomas H. Robbins, Belgian Consul here. Robbins had suggested to the Governor the possibility that new evidence might develop in favor of the condemned man, who is a national of Belgium and a former resident of Renfrew, Ont., but he explained the withdrawal of his request as a result of the conclusion, after investigation, that another trial probably would result in the same verdict. Vandenhocke was convicted of the murder of Gislain Schueman at Lawrence in 1918. He was arrested after a five-year absence in Belgium and Montreal.

WIN FOR COLBORNE.

Defeated Roseneath By 16-15 In Opening of the Second Half.

COLBORNE, July 24. — In a weird game of baseball here on Wednesday, the home team won the first game of the second half from Roseneath, champions of the first half, by the score of 16-15.

Ives, who started on the mound for Colborne, only lasted one and a half innings, when e retired in favor of Myles, with the score 8-0 in favor of Roseneath. He pitched fairly good ball during the rest of the game.

Dunnett pitched the first six innings for Roseneath, and his work was good enough to win any game but owing to a few raw decisions of the home umpire he got himself on the losing side. Leach then replaced him and only six men faced him in te seventh and eighth, all going the strike out route. In the ninth he struck out the first two men who faced him, then temporarily losing control he walked one, and hit the next, and with two strikes on, Hawkins, Colborne's star fielder, he groved one over, which Hawkins was lucky enough to pop over Davey's up-stretched hand by inches. This put the winning run across the plate, and the game was over.

Roseneath was minus the services of three of their star players, Moore, Shearer and Bates, but should have won even under this handicap.

Dr. Armstrong was present as manager, but did not take part in the playing. He took this part in good style, pressing every run possible across the plate, and assisting the batters with his advice.

The decisions of the home umpire were very unsatisfactory, the visiting team leaving the diamond on two occasions when his unfairness was so plainly visible,

Umpire Macklin at the plate gave entire satisfaction with the exception of once when he called a balk on pitcher Myles, which that player strongly resented.

The star play of the game was a one hand catch by Colborn's left fielder, which robbed B. Thackeray of at least a three bagger.

PYROMANIAC'S WORK

Many Night Fires in Montreal Sheds Are Baffling.

MONTREAL, July 25. — Baffled in a search of investigations recently made, Fire Commissioner Latulippe declared here yesterday that the epidemic of night fires in sheds attached to residence almost leads to the belief that an incendiary or a maniac is at work in this city.

The commissioner's comment arose in connection with a fire that damaged a shed in the rear of the dwelling of Henri Lefranceis in the north end of the city last Tuesday, the origin of which could not be discovered.

A similar case was that of the fire in the shed at the rear of Henri Frenette's house at 407 Orleans street.

PETES MUST WIN HERE SATURDAY TO TIE UP RACE

Battle With Belleville Regarded as Feature of the Season.

RIGHT-HANDERS' DUEL

Oulette and Heckman to Do Gunning in Crucial Fixture.

Tomorrow's Belleville-Peterborough clash at Riverside Park is the "croocial" fixture in the Central Ontario League second half series.

A win for the Petes would leave the two teams tied.

A Belleville victory would give the Trunks a clear lead of two games, which, with only five games left to play, would be a comparatively safe margin.

Everything is at stake, therefore, and the game which marks the first appearance of the Petes on the home lot for two weeks should be the most bitterly fought diamond classic of the year.

The Belleville team has won nine out of its last ten starts, its only loss in ten fixtures being at the hands of the Petes in the game here two weeks ago.

The Petes have won their last three games in a row, beating each of the other teams in the league and grabbing off two of the victories away from home.

The Trunks are in the best of shape, and the majority of the Petes are also fit and ready, Legon with a sprained ankle and Collins who was hit on the leg with a pitched ball being the only exceptions. Both will be in the game tomorrow.

As for the pitchers it will be a clash between the league's two great right-handers, Oulette for Belleville and Heckman for Peterborough.

Oulette is at the top of his form, judging by Wednesday's game at Belleville when he shut out Oshawa and allowed them but one hit.

Heckman is also "right." His performance against Oshawa last Saturday was remarkably effective, and as Harrison took the burden off his shoulders for seven innings at Kingston the Petes' twirler should be in the best of shape for tomorrow's struggle.

The biggest crowd of the year will see the old rivals tie into each other in a game that will have a great deal to say about which team is to win the second half honors.

It has narrowed down to a race between Belleville and Peterborough, and tomorrow's game is all-important.

"Play ball!" will be called sharp at 3 o'clock.

DISSENTION AT OLYMPIC GAMES SPOILED SPORT

French Showed Hostility to British and Americans—Ill-Feeling Caused.

POOR SPORTSMANSHIP

British Consider Withdrawing From All Future Games.

LONDON, July 25.—The British Olympic Committee is considering the withdrawal of the British Empire teams from all future games. According to news from Paris, the committee is disgusted with the lack of sportsmanship shown by representatives of the Latin countries and the continental crowds.

It is declared that the greatest hostility was openly shown at Colombes against both the American and British teams and that instead of promoting international goodwill, the games are merely engendering ill-feeling.

The climax came when a verdict was given against Mallin, England's middleweight boxing champion. The British and Americans considered that Mallin had won easily. The Englishman complained that the Frenchman, Brousse, bit him on the chest during the encounter, and as he was able to show the teeth marks the judges had to disqualify the Frenchman.

Threaten To Quit.

It is said the judges were prompted in the decision by the announcement that American boxers as well as the British would withdraw in a body from the contests.

A free fight occurred when the American rugby football team beat the French, while the judging of the fencing contests between the French and Italians created bitterness and led to several challenges under the "code duello."

Sir Harry Perry Robinson, famous war correspondent, who covered the games for the London Times, in an article in this paper this morning makes the flat accusation that instead of building up a brotherhood of sport among nations the games tend rather to inflame animosities.

His criticism is based on a series of disagreeable incidents. First, there was the booing of the American rugby team and the injury caused by the crowd to two American students during the Franco-American rugby match. Second, there was the squabble between the Hungarian and Italian fencing teams. Third, the disagreement between the Hungarian and Italian sabre fighters, which may yet end in a duel between their champions, and, lastly, the disgraceful scenes on Sunday night at the final boxing contests.

These incidents could be multiplied in a minor degree. There was, for instance, on Sunday the curious failure of the crowd at the tennis finals between Miss Wills and Mlle. Vlasto and between Richards and Cochet to appreciate the fine points of the game. Again and again the losing stroke by the American was cheered, while the brilliant winning strokes by both were allowed to pass unnoticed except by a small number of those present who really appreciated the game. There is no doubt in the correspondent's mind that the great majority of those present was obsessed by the idea that the match was between two countries and not between two tennis players who happened to represent two countries. Patriotism took the place of an appreciation of the game and drowned the sporting sense.

Reaction is Feared.

It would be unfair to charge the French wholly with the responsibility for these incidents, although never once when the tricolor was raised on the victory mast over the stadium did those who appreciate what had been done under adverse circumstances by French athletes show disappointment. But those same people who most enthusiastically supported their home team first now realize that the games, far from serving the cause of French popularity, have left in the minds of not a few of the contending teams and with the public a feeling of irritation and distaste.

From the first to the last the national idea predominated. It was only rarely that the crowd in the stadium touched the real Olympic movement. There was one when Stenroos, the Finn, came running stout heartedly into the stadium at the end of his twenty-six-mile marathon race. The whole crowd cheered the runner without distinction to nationality, and when a few scored Finns started singing their national anthem everybody rose in tribute to the man and his nation. But those moments were few. Far more often was there under-current a feeling of resentment against the victors.

It was almost an unfortunate thing that in the track and field events the only flags ever to reach the middle mast were those of America, England or Finland, with one exception of Australia. For the other nations that constant rotation was, to say the least, discouraging. They all had spent money to send their best athletes to Paris, but even second and third places were rare and inevitably there was among their fans if not among the competitors a feeling of resentment against the omnipotent three.

Swedes Showed Sportsmanship.

It should be emphasized, however, that the three big competing countries where rivalry was the strongest, there was little or none of the enmity which characterized some of the other nations. Nurmi was the greatest hero of the games to both, and the Americans' admiration of the performances of Liddell and Abrahams was equalled by the Briton's praise of the wonderful race run by Taylor in the hurdles and of the world record-breaking performances of the relay runners. Here was rivalry without enmity, competition without animosity. To these three sporting peoples other names can easily be added. The Swedes, who had the worst luck of the games in that their best long distance runners ran always second to the Finns and their sprinters almost invariably third to the British and Americans, took their defeats cheerfully.

But in spite of these Olympic moments, it must be admitted that the atmosphere was often reverse to that which the revival of the games has sought to create. Especially was this so in such sports as football, fencing, boxing and even tennis, where there was something of a passionate nature in the individual struggle. It is the memory of the incidents which arose during these events which is causing a feeling of uneasiness here, and the hopes that the games would create a feeling of friendliness among participants seem to have been sadly deceived.

There already is begun a movement for the elimination for the future of those events which have this time caused trouble, and it would be well that this aspect of the games should be given careful consideration by America as elsewhere. If confined to field and track events, the games may yet be made to serve the purpose for which they were revived. But this time it must be sadly recorded that this purpose has lamentably failed of achievement.

EVANS LOSES TITLE

Western Golf Champion Defeated by St. Louis Player.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Chick Evans yesterday lost his title as western amateur golf champion when he was defeated in the third round by Jimmy Manion, of St. Louis, 8 and 7.

Manion played unbeatable golf on the first nine holes in both rounds yesterday, scoring 32 in the afternoon, including a hole in one, while Evans was not quite equal with par.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

If a ball player accepts 10 chances in the field without an error, his work is generally regarded as one of the features of the game.

Often, if he makes three or four sensational plays, only to fall down on an easy chance that plays no part in the result, he is acclaimed one of the fielding heroes of the day.

What about the umpire who in the course of the game must make anywhere from 50 to 150 rulings. Each ruling is a play from the viewpo.nt of the umpire.

Sitting on the New York bench the other day, prior to starting a game, Everett Scott, holder of the endurance record for continuous play, remarked to me:

"How many plate decision do you umpire figure you can miss and still call it a good day?"

The query caused me to smile. Scott smiled as he put it to me.

"Thats' rather personal," I answered, "but one of our umpires figures that it is 12 either way."

"What does he mean by that either way stuff?" asked Scott.

I then proceeded to explain that during the course of a game 12 pitches ruled balls were so close they might have been called strikes. Perhaps such a ruling would have been more accurate. Likewise, 12 pitches ruled strikes might be considered balls by the team at bat.

Scott, who has a keen sense of humor, listened intently to my explanation of the 12 either way stuff and then replied:

"That makes 24 it's possible to have kicked and still call it a good day. I am pretty sure I know the name of that umpire."

"How so?" I asked.

"Because he usually insists on taking his full quota," was the reply.

Further discussion of the subject was impossible, as the bell rang to start the game.

It is a peculiar fact, however, that very often an umpire by missing one ball can turn a good day's work into failure.

Often I have gone for eight innings without having a ball questioned. Then in the ninth an either way ball would cause a kick. A rally by the team at bat would decide the game, which would have been impossible had the decision been a strike instead of a ball.

Thus the umpire who has made 149 correct rulings out of 150 is charged with a bad day, because a debatable strike changed the result of the game. It's a great life, but you mustn't weaken.

To fill the position, Mr. Hart will have to sever his connection with the Canadiens.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. With bases filled and two out, batter hits a ground ball in the direction of right field, which hits runner going from first to second. Had ball not hit runner batter would have easily been thrown out at first. Umpire calls runner out for being hit by batted ball, retiring the side. How is the play scored relative to the batter?—F. G.

2. How many base hits can be made in one inning without a run being scored Please give the details of such an inning.—F. G. S.

3. When batsman is given first base because of interference on the part of the catcher, is it charged as a time at bat?—F. G.S.

ANSWERS

1. The batsman is charged with a time at bat and credited with a base hit when a batted ball comes into contact with a base runner before any play has been made on said ball.

2. Six hits can be made in one inning, without any runs being scored, in the following manner: First batter triples and is out at the plate tying to stretch it into a homer. Second batter has the same experience. Next three batters single, filling the bases. Sixth batter grounds to the infield and base runner is hit by batted ball, making a hit for the batter. Six hits, no runs.

3. The batsman is not charged with a time at bat when granted first base because of the catcher's interference.

QUESTIONS

1. There is a runner on first base With the batter in his box the pitcher stepped on the rubber with the ball in his possession. The pitcher made a motion as if to deliver the ball to the batsman, but instead swung around on his right foot until he faced first base stepped directly toward that bag and threw the ball there. There was not the slightest pause or hesitation in the entire motion. The first baseman threw the ball to the second baseman who retired the runner from first at that bag. The team at bat contended that the pitcher had committed a balk and the runner was entitled to advance to second. The umpire, however, ruled otherwise and allowed the out, making the claim that the pitcher had not started his motion but made a direct throw to first. What about this play?—B. H. O.

2. Is is possible for a ball and a balk to be declared on the same pitch to the batsman?—K.M.

ANSWERS

1. The calling a balk is entirely up to the judgment of the umpire. In the case cited he ruled no balk and the side at bat must abide by the decision. From the way the play is stated, I would say the umpire erred. A pitcher to properly throw to first to catch a runner must first step in the direction of the base, then throw. It seems the pitcher, after making a preliminary pitching motion, wheeled and threw to first, which is a balk.

2. There cannot be two decisions on the same pitch. The moment the umpire rules balk, play is suspended, and no further action on the pitch possible.

FORD MAY FLOAT LOAN.

If He Does It Will Be For the Sake of World Peace.

LONDON, July 24. — (United Press).— Perhaps Henry Ford will float a loan for the sake of world peace," this idea said the Morning Telegraph to-day, is being seriously suggested in some quarters here. "If Morgan, Rockfeller and the Bank of England interests remain adamant regarding a German loan," the newspaper said editorially, "It is suggested in some quarters that Ford might save the situation."

SOCCER NOTES.

The G.W.V.A. requested the Canadian Woollens to cancel their schedule game for Saturday afternoon ,which they willingly agreed upon. No game Saturday.

On Monday evening, July 28th, the Nomads and Thistles will play their postponed Gordon Cup tie at King Edward Park. Kick-off at 6.30.

In the goal-scorers' list Hugh Richmond still leads with thirteen goals, Mitchell 9, then Wyllie, late of Woollens, 6, and now of Quakers, 3, total 9. Harold Burrows is still the Vets' leading goal-getter with 5 goals.

Just imagine! George Blowers missing two penalty kicks this season already. He missed one against the Thistles when he shot over the bar, but against the Woollens he hit the upright with terrific force.

Another junior player will associate himself with a senior team within the next few days and will be an acquisition to his team.

The stork has been busy amongst the soccer players, and in this respect Monkman of Woollens, also Richmond of Thistles, have been visited during the last week.

During the season so far it is surprising to find how many players who have added their opponents to defeat themselves. Unfortunately, the versatile and sporting Bob Willshaw has the honor of two tallies—one for Thistles and one for Vets. Rae, Thistles, for Quakers; Curtis, Thistles, for Quakers, and Jack Cridland, for Vets.

An interested spectator at the Canadian Woollens vs. Vets game last Thursday evening was Mr. Arthur Brooks, Lawrence, Mass., who held the position of President of P. & D. F. A., also President of Canadian Woollens.

BRIGHTON WON CAMPBELLFORD

The Score Was Five to Two in Favour of Brighton Team.

SECOND SERIES.

BRIGHTON, July 25. — The Brighton Greys moved over to Presqu'Ile Point Wednesday to do battle with Charlie Davidson's athletes, and the change of scenery seemed to suit them, for they turned in a 5-2 victory. To Walter Shannon, sixteen-year-old pitcher, goes the major share of credit for the win. He pitched a great game, and kept Campbellford's ten hits (seven real ones and three scratches) well scattered in every inning but the eighth. He struck out seven, one less than Jack Scott, who also twirled nicely. He had one bad inning, the third, but outside of that he had the Brighton batters baffled, and not one of them reached first after the fifth.

The Brighton infield was switched around, and the change worked wonders. Solomon moved up to third, McKee going to short and Thorne to first. Two fast double plays were big factors in holding Campbellford in check, and in both of them Thorne's fast, accurate throws were very much in evidence. Holmes was on third in the fourth when Armour grounded to the box. Shannon threw him out, and Thorne made a perfect throw to the plate to get Holmes as he slid in. Solomon continued his good fielding, and McKee went well at short, his old position.

The best hit of the game was a triple by Archen, and it proved to be the hit that won the game. The bases were full when he got the ball far over Hume's head. He scored a minute later when Weston dropped a throw. Brighton's other run came in the second when Brown doubled to score McKee. Campbellford's two came in the eighth. Eagleson doubled, Holmes singled, and both scored when Thorne let Weston's drive go through him.

Fielding features were the double plays, Frise throwing to bases and catches by McKee, Weston and O'Connor. Woods and Dixon handled the game well.

A CRICKET SCORE FOR ORLAND TEAM

Easy Win From Hastings in League Fixture Yesterday—The Record.

ORLAND, July 25. — The first game of the second half of the county schedule was played here with Hastings, which resulted in an easy victory for the home team.

The visitors appeared to be in very poor shape as regards fielding but did fairly well at the bat, Collins being the only fielder making a star showing when he speared with one hand in the far outfield a hard one off A. Zufelt.

They secured 7 hits off Ingalls in 5 innings but were only able to secure one of Zufelt in 4 innings.

On the other hand Stephenson yielded 9 in 5 and Herrington who relieved him had 6 in 3 innings to his tally.

May and Mulhall each had a nice double play to their credit.

K. Zufelt, Houlihan and Downs each got a two bagger.

Stephenson struck out 5 and Herrington 3 while the home pitchers, Ingalls and Zufelt, had 2 and 3 respectively. K. Zufelt made a record of 5 hits in 5 times at bat. Box score was as follows:

CARPENTIER LOST ANOTHER CONTEST

Gene Tunney Declared the Victor in the Fifteenth Round—A Poor Exhibition.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(Canadian Press)—Gene Tunney, United States light heavyweight champion, won a technical knockout over Georges Carpentier, of France, in the fifteenth round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout in the Polo Grounds last night. Carpentier was unable to continue after coming up for the fifteenth round.

The blow, which Carpentier's seconds said was low, at the termination of the fourteenth round, sent Carpentier to the mat in writhing pain, but Referee Griffin refused to call the blow a foul, and ordered Carpentier to continue when the bell sounded for the fifteenth.

The Frenchman came out but sank to the floor, unable to continue. The referee awarded the bout to Tunney by a technical knockout, terminating the match after fourteen seconds of the fifteenth round, in which not a blow was struck.

The conclusion of the match, one of the most confusing and unsatisfactory endings in local ring history, came when Carpentier, doubled up from apparent pain, attempted to renew the battle from a semi-crouched position. He roped around the ring, attempting to find Tunney. Referee Griffin, uncertain whether to allow Carpentier to continue, waved Tunney to his corner with the idea of stopping the match. Carpentier rolled to the floor of the ring, unable to stand.

The ringside was a bedlam of confusion. The handlers of both boxers rushed into the ring. Francois Descamps, Carpentier's manager, with arms waving, rushed to the referee, yelling "Foul, foul." Griffin waved him away, while Josephs Humphries, official announcer, lifted Tunney's arm in token of victory. Many of the spectators thought the blow which terminated the bout was a foul and booed the decision.

They cheered Carpentier to the echo as the French idol was assisted through the ropes by his handlers and several patrolmen.

Junior Ball Team.

It is understood that a junior baseball club will be formed and that plans are under way at present. Thee baseball situation in town at present has inspired those who see a future in the local team to revive the village league, which flourished a few years ago, and from which was recruited a team which could hol dits own in any of the district leagues. The war broke up the league and the old team and the former has never been revived. A junior league could also be formed as from the ranks of the juniors many of the senior players are drawn. Looking at the devoted little fans who never miss any game, one is driven to say also, "And why not a bantam league?" Nothing may be done this season, but there is little doubt that next year the baseball programme will include a town league and a junior league, with hopes also of a bantam league.

DIRT TRACK RECORDS

Canadian dirt track records have been shattered repeatedly this year by Sig Haugdahl, the little Scandinavian pilot, whoh as been the star performer in the racing events in the west. In every race Haugdal's car has been equipped with Canadian-made Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord Tires.

Haugdahl first started his record breaking streak at Brandon when he lowered the Canadian dirt track record and two days later at Edmonton he clipped another second off the newly established mark. Haugdahl also holds the world's track record made at Waco, Texas.

Haughdal, like other veteran drivers, is particularly careful about his tire equipment. It takes a super tire to withstand the heat, strain and stresses caused by shooting through space at over a mile a minute.

Many peeds records have fallen on Firestone equipment. At the 500 miles Indianapolis race, the blue ribbon event of the year, the only 12 cars to finish the race were all Firestone equipped and Joe Boyer on his Firestone equipped Duesenberg Special set a new world's record when he covered the 500 miles at an average of 98.24 miles an hour.

The Firestone Cords used by Haugdahl are exactly the same as those sold by dealers all over Canada. They are made in the Firestone plant at Hamilton, Ontario.

Sales of Gum-Dipped Cords increased 60 per cent the first six months of this year over a corresponding period in 1923. In fact the demand for Gum-Dipped Cords has been so heavy that the Firestone Company are building a special addition to their plant in which the gum-dipping process will be housed. In this process each individual cord is impregnated and insulated with pure rubber. This prevents the cords rubbing against one another as the tire flexes through road action. Internal heat and friction are thereby largely eliminated.

MELTING GOLD COINS.

Mining Men Oppose This Melting Scheme.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 25.— One of the major problems to come before the 27th annual convention of the American Mining Congress, when its meets here Sept. 29 to Oct 4, is the huge loss the country is said to suffer every year through the destruction of gold coins.

At present no law prohibits the melting down of gold coins and use of such metal in the manufacture of jewelry and in the arts. Proponents of a ban on such melting contend that five, ten and 20 dollar gold pieces, minted at the expense of the taxpayers are thus removed from circulation and from the media of exchange, to be turned into luxuries. Their opposition is based principally on the fact that gold has a fixed price, set by the government, unaffected by supply and demand, unlike other commodities.

An anti-destruction law for gold coins will be agitated at the convention and the attitude of the entire mining industry will be sounded out. If the sentiment is favorable, steps will be taken to have such a bill presented at Congress.

MOUSETRAP.

Greatest American philosopher, Ralph Waldo Emerson, wrote that the world will beat a new path to your door if you have something better for it, even an improved mousetrap.

Path-beating is too slow for our generation. Take the Mayo brothers, famous surgeons. They didn't go to a big city to practice, but stayed in Rochester, Minn., a town of 15,000. So many people are beating a path to the Mayos that the railroad has just added an all-steel Pullman train to haul Mayo customers from Minneapolis into Rochester.

BETTER

Railroads continue reporting steady gain in amount of freight they're hauling. Traffic has been on the upgrade since the first of June. Nearly a tenth less than a year ago, but away ahead of 1922 and 1921 at this season.

The important thing is the steady recovery. It means that good times are ahead, for freight movement is one of the four most accurate barometers of future business conditions.

CROP SITUATION CAN'T BE SOLVED

No One Knows What the Outcome of Present Crops Will Be.

TORONTO, July 25. —(Canadian Press).—No one, no matter how expert he may be, or how far he may travel, can tell for a month at least even approximately what the crops will be in any one of the three prairie provinces," says E. Cora Hind, agricultural editor of the Manitoba Free Press, in a despatch summing up the conditions following extensive tour of inspection through out Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Unless some unforseen disaster overtakes it, there will be a large quantity of very excellent wheat come out of the Canadian west this year.

"Should general rains occur any time within the next ten days, not even the seventh son of a seventh son can predict what improvement would take place," asserts Miss Hind That situation throughout entire prairie provinces is grave, she admits adding that certain percentage of crops in Alberta and Saskatchewan had been killed by drought.

BELLEGHEM CASE IN COURT TO-DAY

Story of Chemong Road Accident Related by Several Witnesses.

Before a crowded court room, the trial of Walter Belleghem proceeded shortly after 11 o'clock at the court house this morning.

He was charged with criminal negligence by furious driving on the evening of July 5th last, when a coupe driven by him collided with a touring car, containing six occupants and driven by Clarence Bacon, on Findley's hill, on the Chemong Road.

The defence declined to elect, and Magistrate Langley proceeded with the preliminary hearing.

The defendant is also charged with having liquor in his possession other than in a private dwelling house.

At the request of the Crown the hearing of this charge was adjourned until Monday at 11 a.m.

Miss Cecilia Rogers appeared and gave her testimony, having partly recovered from the effects of the accident. Miss Rogers was scarred prominently on the right side of her chin. As a result of injuries received in the accident it became necessary to remove her right eye. The right eyelid was obscured by an eye shield. Miss Rogers stated that she remained in the hospital for about a week following the accident on Saturday July 5th.

Clarence Bacon, the driver of the touring car, was the first Crown witness called to the box.

In response to the Crown attorney's questions he related in detail the story of the events as witnessed by him on the night of the accident.

"I left Mr. Gordon Matthews' cottage in Chemong Park at about 10.25 p.m., and proceeded to Peterboro by way of the Chemong Road, accompanied by Mrs. Rogers and her two children, who were sitting in the back seat and Miss Cela Rogers and Miss Kearny in the front seat."

He stated that he met with an accident by colliding with Walter Belleghem's car on Findley's hill, about one third of the way up. It was shown that the touring car was travelling south and the coupe coming north, down the hill.

Mr. Bacon testified that at first he saw the lights of two cars coming over the top of the hill about 150 yards away.

"I watched them and I pulled my car as close to the edge of the ditch, as I dare, without capsizing. He stated that Belleghen came straight down his side of the road (west side) hitting the touring car in the middle of the radiator and knocking it into the ditch, which he judged was about 2½ feet deep.

"When the car came to a stop we were facing east and the rear wheels were down in the ditch. I remained in the car and was not stunned. I figure I was driving about 22 miles an hour when the colloision occurred," said Mr. Bacon.

He was of the opinion that Belleghem was driving at about 40 miles an hour.

"After Mr. Belleghem's car hit mine, the other car coming over the hill drove right past."

"What have you to say about the two cars," asked Mr. Hatton.

"It is my opinion that they were racing," replied Mr. Bacon.

It was explained by him that from injuries sustained, Miss C. Rogers lost an eye and Mrs. Rogers suffered a sprained ankle. They were removed to the hospital and he stated that yesterday was the first occasion on which Mrs. Rogers had been able to be up for any length of time.

"Were you talking to Belleghem after the accident," asked the Crown Attorney, "and if so what took place?"

"Belleghem stayed in his car and when I went over to him, he asked, 'if anyone was hurt.' The woman in the car with him got out and was taken away in another automobile, I then went down to see Mrs. Rogers who was being taken home by Mrs. Pappas. When I came back, Belleghem got out of his car and offered to snake hands with me, remarking, "We will soon all be dead," or something like that."

Mr. Bacon related that after his meeting he did not see Belleghem again, as he was taken to a doctor.

He stated that his car was a Chevrolet touring and Belleghem's a Reo coupe, which he judged would weight about 3,500 lbs.

In reply to Mr. Hatton's question he said that he noticed that the left front wheel of Belleghem's car was off, after the accident. In his opinion the accident occurred about 10.45 p.m..

He did not notice any liquor in Belleghem's car and told the Magistrate that there was room for three cars to pass handily at the point in the highway where the accident occurred.

Court adjourned at 1 p.m., to meet again this afternoon.

STATE'S CASE IN CHICAGO TRIAL MAY END MONDAY

Corps of Witnesses Pile Up Evidence Against Slayers Of Young Franks.

GLIMPSES OF COURT.

Classmates Tell of Loeb's Interest in Case—Disliked Franks Boy.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Prospects of completing by Monday the introduction of evidence by the State loomed yesterday as more witnesses added their stories to those already told in the judicial hearing which is to determine the penalty to be inflicted upon the two for the killing of Robert Franks.

Monday is expected to see the State's Attorney, Robert E. Crowe, close his case, and the defence begin its testimony, designed to mitigate the punishment. After that, the decision rests with Chief Justice John R. Caverly, upon whose mercy the defendants threw themselves when they pleaded guilty.

Found the Typewriter.

Frank Blair, tall, rangy, professional diver, described at the judicial hearing yesterday of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, slayers of Robert Franks, school boy, how he searched the depths of a lagoon in Jackson Park for the portable typewriter on which the boys wrote their $10,000 letter to their victim's father.

The battered machine was placed before the witness and he told of its being found on the bottom of the lagoon.

Blair made his successful search after several other divers had failed. After many hours Blair was about to give up when he saw the typewriter half buried in the mud 14 feet from the surface.

Howard Mayer, a University of Chicago newspaper correspondent, testified he had known Leopold for a year.

"I was told to pick up whatever I could on the Franks case," said Mayer. "I met Richard Loeb on the campus at noon May 23. We talked about the case, and Loeb suggested that if Mr. Franks had gone to the Sixty-Third Street drug store he would not have met the kidnappers.

"'These kidnappers would not meet a man on a busy street like that,' said Loeb. 'They would only leave word for him'."

He suggested that I make a round of several southside drug stores in the hope that I might find the one to which Jacob Franks was directed.

"With two other reporters I started a search of several drug stores. Loeb went with us in an automobile. It was raining.

Called Mr. Franks.

At last they found an east side drug store where a negro porter told us that on the afternoon previous two calls had come for a Mr. Franks. The party told us he had told the person who had called that there was no Mr. Franks there and that the conversation ended.

"We telephoned our newspapers to give them the story—we had found the drug store to which the murdered boy's father was to have gone according to instructions, in turning over the $10,000 ransom.

"As we left the drug store Loeb said to me:

"'You see that's what comes from reading detective stories. I told you you'd find the drug store. I've given you fellows a scoop for your papers.'

"Then we drove around to the Franks home and told Mr. Franks we had found the drug store. Loeb was with us while we talked to Mr. Franks.

"Then we went out to buy a paper to see our stories in print. When we got one Loeb asked to keep it and

HOGS ALSO HIGHER.

New Top Level For Year $9.50 in Chicago on Friday.

CHICAGO, July 26.—(Canadian Press).—Both wheat and hogs soared to new high price levels for the season Friday. Wheat advanced in the face of heavy selling for profits, and closed 1 1-4c to 2 1-2c higher for the day.

Hogs established a new years' top of $9.50 for both light and heavy weights, this being an advance of 15c to 20c.

CHINESE BRAID IS LATEST MODE

Hairdressers and Cosmeticians Issue Decree For Distracted Dames.

ROMAN "BOB" NEWEST.

CHICAGO, July 26—In other days when sister said, "I'll be there with my hair in a braid,' 'it was just an expression. This autumn if sister wants to be "there", slangily speaking, she will have to have her hair in a braid. It's the newest thing in hairdressing, according to hairdressers and beauty-shop operators.

Sometimes it's the Russian coronet braid that winds entirely around the head in regal fashion. Sometimes it's the "Chinese braid," worn when the hair is done in rolls over each ear. When the hair is dressed in this fashion the braid is worn across the part in the back, stretched from roll to roll. The "Chinese" braid is wired with a fine wire, so that it stands out a bit from the head, and the braid is worn with one of the edges against the head, instead of being worn flat.

Here's Another Way

Another method is to attach each side of a braid worn across the back to a ribbon bandeau, the bandeau coming across the forehead and the front of the head in the usual style. And they all are just different ways of metamorphosing the bob, according to Mme. Louise, who is chairman of the hairdressing department of the convention of the National Hairdressers' association, to be held in Atlantic City Sept. 8-12.

"Short hair will remain, but additional hair pieces are being used to change the effect, or to dress the hair for special occasions," said Mme. Louise." Sometimes, too, the hair is left long over the ears and cut short in back and sometimes it is cut short over the ears and left long in back. In the latter case, it is frequently rolled from ear to ear.

Chinese Braid Latest.

"The Chinese braid is the latest thing. The wired braid worn across the back of the head is for brunettes. For the blond, two braids in the back worn in loop effect, much like we used to wear our braids when we were children, is recommended.

"The wig is, of course, the really up-to-date thing, and it is becoming almost a necessity, like a top coat. Some day women will have wigs of different colors. I now have five glass wigs—all different shades—white, orchids, green, a lovely shade of blue and pink."

A new way of bobbing the hair is in the Roman style, according to Mme. Louise. This is when the hair is cut very short all over the head and worn unparted—much as babies' hair grows naturally.

MEN WORTH WHILE.

"Do you know what becomes of boys who smoke cigarettes?" asked the kind old lady.

"Sure," replied the boy. "Ain't you never seen any of them big cigarette advertisements?"—Judge.

SIX WITNESSES COMPLETE CASE IN MOTOR TRIAL

Liquor Administered to W. T. Belleghem By Doctor After Accident—Was Injured.

BOTTLE IN CAR.

Clarence Bacon Testified the Car Was Speeding at 40-Mile Rate.

The preliminary hearing of the charge against Walter T. Belleghem of criminal negligence in driving an automobile on the Chemong Road, July 5th ,was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday at 11 a. m., with the conclusion of the Crown's case. Six witnesses were examined.

Defense Counsel J. A. O'Brien vigorously cross-examined Clarence Bacon, driver of the touring car.

Mr. Bacon in his evidence stated that he was twenty years of age and that the car driven by him on the eve of July 5th, was his own. It was purchased in September, 1922, and he said he had been in the habit of taking 3 or 4 drives a week during the open season.

Mr. O'Brien, "Were these young ladies riding in the front seat with you."

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. O'Brien— "What were you talking about at the time of the accident."

Witness—"Well, we were talking."

Mr. O'Brien—" How do you place the speed of Mr. Belleghem's car at 40 per hour?"

Witness—"It was no time from the time I first saw him until he hit me."

Mr. O'Brien—"You say no time; then he must have been going about 40,000 miles per hour?"

Mr. O'Brien...."It's just a guess.'

Witness—"Yes.'

Mr. O'Brien—"he speed at which yo were approaching each other would be the total of the two speeds would it not?"

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. O'Brien—"Are you in a position to say accurately what speed he was travelling at."

Witness—"Yes, he was going about 40 miles an hour."

Mr. O'Brien—"Come now, accurately."

Witness—"Well, it didn't seem a minute until he hit me."

Mr. O'Brien—"That's your reason, not your observations."

Witness—"Yes."

The witness stated that when talking to Mr. Belleghem about 20 or 25 minutes after the collision he saw a cut and a bruise on his head, noticing blood trickling down his face.

Mr. O'Bren— 'Well, as a matter of fact, you didn't pay much attention to him."

Witness—"I guess the both of us didnt."

Mr. O'Brien—"Can you swear accurately about what was said between you."

Witness—"Yes, he said something about "Come on, we will soon be all dead anyway."

Mr. O'Brien—"What else.' '

Witness...."Nothing else."

Mr. O'Brien—"You swear to that."

Witness—"Yes."

The Injured Girl.

Miss Celia Rogers, the young lady who lost an eye as a result of her injuries, was the next witness.

She stated when asked as her opinion of the speed of the Belleghem car, that it was going quite fast but could not estimate the rate. She knew that the car in which she was riding was on the right side of the road, but could not say how far the right wheel was from the ditch.

Mr. Hatton asked if she noticed the condition of the cars after the collision.

"I couldn't speak as to their condition," she replied.

Magistrate Langley—"You would not remember?"

Witness—"I can remember alright, but I did not have time to notice."

Mr. O'Brien—"Where were you sitting—in the front seat?"

Witness—"On the right hand side."

Mr. O'Brien—"Did you notice what Mr. Bacon was doing with the car?"

Witness—"No."

Mr. O'Brien—"You were not paying any attention as to how the car was driven?"

Witness—"No."

Dr. J. B. Mann.

Dr. J. B. Mann, who was called to the police station on the morning of July 6, about 2 a.m., to examine Mr. Belleghem, was the third witness called by the Crown.

He testified that he had received

INDIAN DENIED OWNING A STILL

But Pleaded Guilty, With Two Brothers, To Attacking Provincial Police.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

(Special to the Examiner)

LINDSAY, July 25.—At a session of the county police court which lasted all day Edward Lindsay, a Haliburton Indian, well known to the authorities in Victoria and Peterboro Counties and who figured in the sensational arrest and shooting in Haliburton a few weeks ago, appeared to answer to an infraction of the Inland Revenue Act. The Excise Department attempted to prove that Lindsay had a still is his possession, which was purchased by William Statta, of Haliburton county. Police Magistrate Jordan reserved judgment.

At the conclusion of this case Lindsay was accused of unlawfully assaulting Provincial Police Officers Boyd and Storey while in the act of apprehending him. He pleaded guilty and elected to be tried by Police Magistrate Jordan. His brothers, George and Amos, charged with the same offence, also pleaded guilty.

Edward Lindsay was let off for six months on suspended sentence and George and Amos for three months.

The officers, it will be remembered, went in civilian clothes to arrest Edward Lindsay in a shack in Haliburton County. He showed fight and said he would not be taken alive. When he reached for a gun Officer Storey grappled with him. Lindsay's dog took a hand in the mix-up and Officer Storey took a shot at the canine. The bullet hit the dog, struck Constable Batchelor and also wounded Amos Lindsay. A second shot was fired at the dog, which bit the dust, but the bullet also struck Amos Lindsay. Both Indians were in the Ross Hospital for a number of days.

SALVAGE FLEET IN SCAPA FLOW FOR SCRAP HEAP

British Marine Engineers Undertake Greatest Sea-Diving Feat in History.

GAMBLE A FORTUNE.

Divers Encounter Great Seaweed—Slash Way Through Submarine Jungle.

By Milton Bronner

LONDON, July 26.—To spend $200,000 on the off-chance of getting great piles of scrap iron and scrap steel from the bottom of the sea looks like risking a lot of money. But Cox and Danks marine engineers of London, are taking the gamble on what promises to be the greatest sea-diving and ship-salvaging feat in the world's history.

For the job the London firm has set for itself is nothing less than raising from the murky waters of Scapa Flow the once proud and mighty German battle fleet. When fished up, all it will be good for will be too tow it to shore, break it up and sell it as a scrap. And if the market is good, there is lots of money in scrap.

Five years ago, in compliance with the terms of the armistice, the German battle fleet steamed into the great harbor in the Orkney Islands to the north of Scotland. British and American battle fleets wereon hand to receive them. The allied vessels had guns ready in case the Germans tried a last-minute act of desperation but everything passed off peacefully.

Then on June 21, 1919 ,the world was startled by the news that the Germans the night before had scuttled almost their entire fleet. Seven or eight battleships, five battle cruisers, eight light cruisers and 50 destroyers were sunk. They have been lying there rusting ever since.

Cox and Danks have a preliminary contract to raise 24 torpedo boat destroyers and two of the biggest battle cruisers, the Hindenburg and the Seydlitz, each of 27,000 tons. For this purpose they bought from the British government the great German floating dock which was used for submarine repairs by the Teutons

First Job For Deep-Sea Divers

The dock was cut in two, thus forming two pontoons, each over 200 feet in length and each fitted with workshops, electric power generating plants, an air compressor and gear used in ship-salvaging work. Powerful cranes have also been installed. When all is ready the twin pontoons will be placed on either side of the vessel to be raised.

The first job is that of the deep-sea divers. They will go down into the hull of the vessel to be raised and systematically stop up every hole in her from hatchways to the seasocks which the Germans opened in order to sink the ship. Metal patches, concrete and wooden blocks will be used in this work of patching holes.

Cuts will then be made in the various decks of the vessel and powerful electric pumps will be lowered. These are capable of ejecting 5000 tons of water an hour. The object is, of course, to empty the vessel of water so that she will start rising by her own buoyancy. Once this starts, the wreck will be taken at each tide to shallower water until it is found possible to keep her on an even keel and float her normally.

This is the operation that will be performed on the Hindenburg which settled upright, her funnels and topmasts even now extending well above the level of the sea.

The Seydlitz, which is lying on her side, presents a different problem. She will not be pumped out until by combined action of tides and pontoons she is dragged to shallower water.

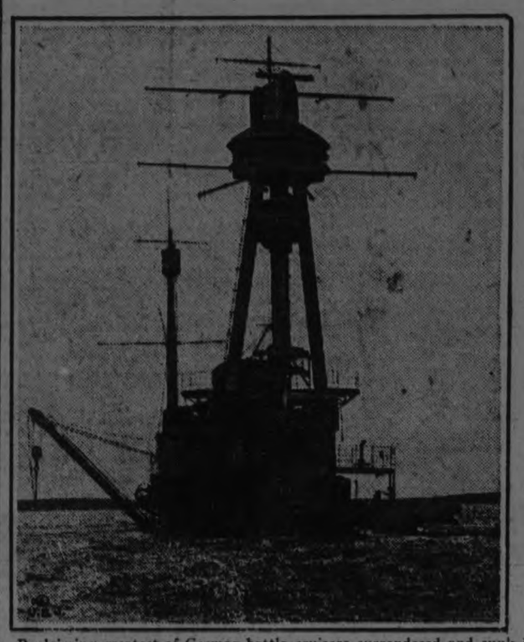
Giant Seawood Hinders Work

The first effort at raising a vessel proved failure. The detroyer V-70 had been partially raised and her masts and funnels remved. Heaving operations were then begun and the vessel lifted bodily seven feet when a chain snapped. Others followed. Only two wire straps held tight. The destroyer was allowed to sink back. In future, chaiss will be abandoned and wire straps used.

In working on the various ships the 12 divers now employed have encountered a monstrous sea-weed hitherto unknown in these waters. Its stalks are as thick as a man's wrists ,have leaves 18 inches wide and trail 15 feet in length. To get at the port holes it was necessary for the divers to slash their way through this veritable submarine jungle.

If the firm is successful with its first job, it may tackle the rest of the German fleet. It is estimated that it will take a leas eight years to clear the harbor of all sunken ships.

FLOATING THE "HINDENBURG"



Reclaiming greatest of German battle cruisers surrendered and sunk in Scapa Flow. British engineering firm of Cox and Dauks gamble on salvaging fleet for scrap metal.

1,800 CASES OF WHISKEY IN RUM RUNNERS' CACHE CARRIED OFF BY BEACH DWELLERS

Wild Scramble For Abandoned Cargo Piled High on Rockaway Beach.

LANDED IN NIGHT.

Bootleggers Mussed Up Signals and Trucks Came Too Late.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Police Sergeant Masterson of the Rockaway Beach Precinct set out Thursday morning to look things over on the sands at the water's edge. What Sergeant Masterson saw caused him to run to a telephone and summon the reserves. His eyes had fed upon a melee on the beach, in which hundreds of summer residents were milling and fighting for possession of cases of whisky piled high on the sands.

Men were being assisted by women in dragging out cases and hustling them to automobiles. Young folk, too, were in the tussle for whisky, and whenever two or more persons seized upon one case of whisky an altercation developed, in which fists flew and epithets resounded.

Even when the reserves arrived scores of the mob persisted in struggling for the cases, and of the two thousand cases originally fought for not more than two hundred fell into the hands of the police. Of the hundreds who had stormed the beach only four were arrested.

When the clamor had died away the police learned that a misunderstanding of signals by bootleggers had lost the rum runners' whisky intended for transfer to New York. It developed that during the night the cases had been brought ashore and left on the sands to be taken away at dawn by trucks. For half a mile the beach was strewn with piles of cases. They had been brought ashore in rowboats and scattered at intervals of fifty to one hundred yards.

Colonists Swarm to the Scene.

Trucks failed to arrive as scheduled But shortly after dawn the bungalow colonists, going in for a prework swim, saw the contraband and the rush was one. Shouts of glee from the discoverers awakened the entire waterfront, and by 6 o'clock the beach was black with colonists dragging cases to their bungalows on the beach and with other summer residents who had brought automobiles in which to transport the liquor to their houses further back. Some carried half a dozen cases. Others took one case and called it a day. Many feared to take a chance in carrying away a box and contented themselves with ripping open cases and taking a few bottles.

The four caught by the police said they were Louis Juna of 3,242 Decatur Avenue, the Bronx; John Green of 435 East Seventieth Street, Manhattan; Louis Brodsky of Rockaway Beach, and Samuel Cohen of Rockaway Beach. The police said Juna and Green were among the truck drivers who were to have taken away the liquor, but arrived too late. Brodsky and Cohen were colonists. Federal Commissioner Barmore in Brooklyn held the four men in $1,000 bail each for examination August 20.

BARGAIN CRUSH.

Twenty Injured in Fight For One Cent Brooms.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., July 26.—Twenty persons, most of them women, were slightly injured in a bargain counter crush when a new store advertised the sale 1-cent brooms. Twelve of the women were taken to a hospital suffering from cuts and bruises. The crowd began to gather before the store opened, and those nearest to the entrance were pushed against the show windows. In the scramble to escape the falling glass many women were knocked down. Others were injured by being crushed against the entrance. Many pocketbooks were lost.

CHURCH DESECRATED.

Altar Vessels and Sacrament Taken From Dorval Church.

MONTREAL, July 25.—Vessels containing the Blessed Sacrament in the Catholic parish church at Dorval, about twenty miles west of this city, were stolen last night or early Friday morning by thieves, who smashed their way through the front doors of the church. Over $1,500 worth of gold and silver vessels were taken, Father Desjardins, parish priest, stated.

"Although the theft itself is a grave enough offence," said one church dignitary, "the most serious part of the affair is the disturbance of the Host. This is one of the most terrible offences that could be committed against the church."

Re-consecration of the church because of the sacrilege will not be necessary, Rev. Father O'Rourke, chancellor of the diocese of Montreal, declared when questioned on the matter.

RUMORS OF RUST IN WEST FIELDS ARE UNFOUNDED

Absolutely No Black Rust in Manitoba—Red Rust is Slight.

WEATHER IS COOL.

Fine Crops Reported in Saskatchewan Below Moose Jaw.

WINNIPEG, July 26. — That there is absolutely no black rust in Manitoba and no rust of any kind at Portage a Prairie, as has been reported, is the statement of the Canadian National Railways officials, at western regional headquarters on the strength of reports received form agents representative of all the province. So far the only points reporting rust are Giroux, Woodnorth, Cromer and Emerson.

At Giroux a small amount of rust has apepared but the situation is not considered serious. Woodnorth reports a small percentage of barley infected, but no damage done yet. Red rust has appeared at Cromer and warm weather will change it to black but if the weather remains cool the grain will not be affected. The majority of farmers in these three localities state their crops are not yet touched; Emerson reports slight red rust but not extensive, and absolutely no black rust yet.

Reports from Portage La Prairie emphatically deny any rust and the reports are confirmed bp the Dominion Inspector who went through the district on July 24th.

No Signs of Rust.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., July 26. — After having made a thorough inspection of the Brier Crest and Tilley district southeast of Moose Jaw, from which rumours had come of black rust, Hugh McKellar of this city made the statement yesterday that he had not seen any signs of rust. He reports some fine crops in the district around Brier Crest and west.

Wheat Replaces Oil.

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 26. — Wheat has temporarily replaced oil as the source of wealth in Kansas.

Poor tenant farmers, who have struggled for years, many of them in the southwestern part of the state who were compelled to appeal to the public for seed wheat loans last fall to seed this year's crops, to-day find themselves wealth. Many others who had purchased farms with small payments and who expected to have mortgages pending fo. years are in a position to pay off these mortgages, buy more land, build new houses and barns or purchase motor cars and other things they have denied themselves for years.

The present unprecedented wheat crop in Kansas has done this; with rising prices greater wealth is expected.

Hundreds of farmers anticipating price rises due to poor crops in Canada and Russia are not marketing it at once.

This condition is similar throughout the entire wheat belt, comprising the western two thirds of the state. But the contrast with last year's conditions is especially pronounced in the Southwestern section, where "busted" farmers of 14 states last year appealed to grain dealers, to Chambers of Commerce and other organizations throughout the country for assistance in buying the seed necessary to make another crop.

These fourteen counties would have raised millions of bushels of

REBEL SITUATION IS GROWING WORSE

The Rebels Claim to Have Extended Their Lines Northward.

(By Bryant Powers, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BUENOS AIRES, July 26. — President Benardes of Brazil is keeping a launch ready day and night, prepared to flee should the occasion warrant, acording to reports brought by steamers from Rio De Janiero.

The official Brazilian government reports however show nothing to indicate such extreme gravity as this. They declare that the fighting around Sao Paulo is continuing virtually without change. Censorship still prevents accurate information from the battle zones.

Border reports from rebel sources say that disaffection is spreading to the government troops, who are restive and do not desire to be drafted to put down the revolutionaries.

Additional buildings at Sao Paulo city have been crumbled by the federal artillery.

The rebels claim to have extended their lines northward. They have captured some unimportant villeges.

RUMORS OF RUST

wheat this year even though there had been no help for there were many farmers who were able to with stand the poor crops of several bad seasons. Thousands of acres more were planted however through the money contributed by members of the Chicago, Kansas City and Wichita Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and other organizations.

Paying Cash for New Machinery.

Those farmers benefitted by this contribution especially are outstanding examples of the power of wheat to create sudden prosperity. Last year, unable to buy a few bushels of wheat to seed their crops; this year they are shipping in thousands of dollars worth of new implements, biulding material and automobiles—one county alone reports a shipment of 125 "combines"—the machine that cuts and threshes the wheat at one operation—and nearly everp one of the combines was paid for in cash.

"The seed pool fellows," who joined the farmers in gambling on the weather, will get a good return on their investment as they had agreed to finance the crop for a small share of it. If these 14 counties had had a poor yield these men would have received little or nothing in return for their donation to the seed funds. But the predictions now are that the yield in this section of the state, which frequently averages five bushels or less to the acre, will average more than 15 this year, with a few fields yielding about 40 bushels to the acre.

Such is the 1924 wheat situation in Kansas as outlined by J. C. Mohler, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture and President of the Central Seed Wheat Association.

MOVIE BULL DOG DEAD.

ASHEVILLE, N.C., July 25. — Ambrose, famous English bulldog, known to thousands as a "movie" dog, at one time mascot for the Brooklyn Nationals, is dead. He was ten years old. De Odera Ambrosius was the full name of the dog. He was a son of Champion De Odera Druid and grandson of Champion De Odera Dreadnaught. He served during the world war as an entertainer for the soldiers at camps and hospitals.

STATE'S CASE IN CHICAGO

we let him out of the automobile to go home."

Alvin Goldstein, another reporter, former fellow student, testified that he met Loeb in front of the Franks home on the evening of May 22.

"Loeb asked me what it was all about, referring to the excitement, and I told him of the murder.

"Anybody Would Kill."

"Then I saw him again the next day with a group of friends. They had several newspapers dealing with the murder. One of the boys asked Loeb whether he had known Robert Franks and what sort of a fellow he was. Loeb replied that he knew him and 'he was the kind of cocky little pup that anybody would kidnap and kill'."

Goldstein said that Loeb has used certain "expletives" and at the command of the prosecution the witness enunciated them.

He was asked what kind of a lad the Franks boy was.

His Choice For Victim.

"Loeb replied: 'Well, if I was going to murder anyone, I would murder a little cocky—like Bobby Franks'."

Jacob Franks was out of the court room when the boys were questioned and did not hear the epithets describing Bobby. Loeb and Leopold listened to the testimony with intense interest.

Goldstein was recalled to the stand and asked whether he had any other conversation with young Loeb.

He said on one occasion when he was at the Franks home he met Loeb in the front yard. Several other people were near.

"We were talking in a general way about the Franks case, describing several theories," the newspaper reporter testified. "Young Loeb shook his head vigorously and said: "'Fellows, this is certainly a horrible crime. If they ever catch the fellows that did the killing, they certainly ought to be strung up'."

James Mulroy, the third member of the reporters' party, corroborated the testimony of the previous witness, but added in detail:

"As soon as we found we had the right place," Mulroy said, "I went into a telephone booth and attempted to trace the call. When I did this Loeb came running up and said: 'Don't use my name, will you?'

"I told him I would not, but anyway I had no luck in getting the call traced. I was the one who asked Loeb what sort of a boy Robert Franks was. And then I asked whether Loeb did not think that the case was originally a kidnapping affair, but that the kidnappers got frightened, and murdered Bobby."

Professor's Story.

Professor E. W. Puttkamer, of the law department of the University of Chicago, an instructor of Leopold, said he had a conversation with Leopold on Wednesday following the murder, at the University.

"What did Leopold say to you?" Crowe asked.

"He asked me, relative to the Franks case, what the law would be. He asked me what the situation would be if it was supposed that the little boy was taken into the car with the intention of killing him. I said the intention appeared obvious that the purpose was to take human life."

Defined As Murder.

"Suppose the victim was killed during the act of kidnapping, would that be manslaughter or murder?" the witness said Leopold asked.

"I said that would be murder."

Professor Puttkamer said he and Leopold discussed the case at length and Leopold wanted to know if the professor thought the criminals ever would be found out. Leopold told Puttkamer that an instructor at a private school attended by the Franks boy had induced certain pupils of the school to commit acts of perversion.

Leopold deplored these acts and said he hoped the instructor would be punished. The witness gave the name of the instructor as Mott Kirk Mitchell, who was taken into custody by the police during the early investigation of the Franks murder. Professor Puttkamer told of having tutored Leopold in criminal law for a considerable period.

Leopold, the centre of attention of the crowd, laughed openly at the professor's statement that he had tutored him in criminal law.

Report Exaggerated.

Crowe was much amused at the exaggerated reports of an incident in his outer office when Loeb and Leopold were being led to the courtroom yesterday morning. Loeb bumped sharply into Crowe. Loeb drew back, raised a hand, with a smile on his face, and then dropped his hand and walked on. This incident was highly magnified in the court-room, some reports stating Loeb had attempted to attack the prosecutor.

Planned to Suicide.

Nathan Leopold planned to take his own life in the event of his being caught in the police dragnet which was spread for the murderers of young Robert Franks, Detective Sergeant William Crott testified the defendant told him on May 31 a few hours after his confession to the crime.

Father's Despair.

"My son, Nathan, is dead. Nathan Leopold, Jr., the prisoner, is entitled to such a trial as the law provides."

It was Nathan Leopold, Sr., who was quoted as saying this some time after his son and Richard Loeb had confessed to the Franks slaying. Nathan, the boy, is now having that trial and perhaps that inexorable statement is true, judging from the attitude of the father during the trial of his younger son, the "babe" of the family, whose mother died when he was nine years old.

He attends court faithfully, he and his other son, Foreman, being among the first to arrive, and he is perhaps the figure that excites the most sympathy of any of the principals of the famous murder case—excepting, perhaps, the Franks family. He is feeling old and is grief-stricken—that is obvious from his down-bent head, his sad eyes, his deeply creased brow, where wrinkles recently traced their parenthesis of sorrow. But his grief seems to be over a loss—as of a dead child.

Son Greets Father.

It is 10 o'clock, the second day of the trial. The door from the county jail swings open to admit the prisoners. They are debonair in their manner—even more so than the opening day—as they greet the hundreds of pairs of curious eyes. They look toward the semi-circle where are seated the four members of their families, and there they find the only eyes that are not clinical in their gaze.

Leopold looks at his father and his lins frame the words, "Hello, pop." The millionaire paper box manufacturer inclines his head and he smiles. But his smile is sadder than his gravity. His son is dead—one remembers. This is Nathan Leopold, Jr., who deserves such a trial as the law provides.

"Dickie" smiles at his uncle, Jacob Loeb, and his brother, Allen, two more figures who have won the sympathy of the thousands who know about the Franks case. Jacob Loeb had stuck by like a soldier. Allen, unfaltering in his devotion to his younger brother, smiles back in brotherly fashion. In his smile there is only affection — warm comradeship. Let others look at "Dickie" with cold curiosity because of his terrible deed. He is Allen's little brother. One remembers that the nice looking young man in the gray suit has given up a fine position in the West to come back ad look after "Dickie's" affairs. Allen virtually has been head of the family since his father's illness, and was sent West to manage a Western branch of a great mail order house.

Proverb Exemplified.

Never was the old proverb that blood is thicker than water more aptly illustrated than in this instance. Like Old Testament figures of family devotion are these relative of youths who killed a neighbor for a new thrill—and who have brought disgrace to names written high on the city's roster of good citizens.

There is Mrs. Loeb, mother of "Dickie," who has been in a state of collapse since she learned it was her son who aided in committing the murder the nation was speculating about. Every day Allen telephones her as to occurrences.

All Thoughts of Her Boy.

"'It's Dickie,' is all she thinks about at day and all she dreams about at night," Allen Loeb admitted.

And it was Mrs. Loeb who said: "The person who committed that crime ought to be stoned to death, and I would cast the first stone." That was before she knew it was her son. Blood is thicker than water.

Court has recessed. Allen Loeb comes over to talk to his brother. He puts his arm about the shoulder of the boy the whole world looks at with sorrow and curiosity, and "Dickie" returns the embrace. They whisper together a moment. Allen wants to know what he can do for "Dickie."

"I brought the new shirts to-day," he tells him.

There is an old story about Cain and Abel. There should be a new kind about two modern brothers—Allen and Richard Loeb.

Spectacle Clue

Upon pair of horn rimmed glasses dropped by Nathan Leopold Jr., when he and Richard Loeb stuffed the body of Robert Franks into railroad culvert May 21st, centred interest of to-day's session of Judicial hearing which is to determine their punishment.

It was these spectacles that gave investigators their first tangible clue to identify of layers. Hundreds of optimetrists searched their records to determine patient for whom they had been prescribed.

State had arranged for detectives and eye specialists who traced spectacles to their owner to testify today and expected to complete final testimony against youths before adjournment, planning to read confessions Monday and finish prosecutions case then on Tuesday. Sixty-five witnesses have taken stand so far for state.

How youthful slayers, millionaire's sons and university graduate students reacted to consequences of conspiracy was brought out in yesterday's testimony.

Police officers who guarded them after their confessions told of Leopold admitting he had planned to kill himself when evidence against him was mounting and of his belief that crime consisted in detection and not in murder. They told of Loeb declaring hanging fit punishment for crime while he assisted newspapers to obtain some of his activities before his arrest. Remorse never was expressed by either of boys, detectives said. Reporters who questioned them last night found their sentiments unchanged.

"I do not feel sorry for myself for what I did," Leopold was quoted as saying. "I did it and that's all. I got myself in this jam and its't up to my self to get out."

"I have great feeling for my father and brothers. But myself No. Life is what we make it and I appear to have made mine what it is to-day That's my lookout and nobody's else. Loeb was questioned regarding his disinterested attitude in court room. He said he was merely acting natural. I sit in court room and watch the play as it progresses. When crowds laughs, I laugh. When it is time to be serious I am that way. I am a spectator, you know, and I feel my self as one. "You can tell people of outside there is no faking or pretending. I have watched you reporters across the table and you laugh, smile yawn, look bored and all other things. Why should I be different. It is from demeanors of youths that alienists for state party expect to prove that they are sane and mentally responsible, Doctors William O. Krohn and Harold Douglas Singer said. Studied courtesy of two, Leopold especially, during first days in custody, alienists take as basis for their theory.

THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Almost Always Due to Weak and Impoverished Blood.

Apart from accident or illness due to infection, almost all ill-health arises from one or two reasons. The mistake that people make is in not realizing that both of these have the same cause at the root, namely, poor blood. Either bloodlessness or some other trouble of the nerves will be found to be the reason for almost every ailment. If you are pale, suffering from headaches, or breathlessness, with palpitation of the heart, poor appetite and weak digestion, the cause is almost always poor blood. If you have nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica and other nerve pains, the cause is exhausted nerves. But run down nerves are also a result of poor blood, so that the two chief causes of illness are one and the same.

If your health is poor; if you are pale, nervous or dyspeptic, you should give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These pills act directly on the blood, and by enriching it give new strength to worn out nerves. Men and women alike greatly benefit through the use of this medicine. If you are weak or ailing, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and you will be pleased with the beneficial results that will speedily follow.

If your dealer does not keep these pills you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

(United Press)—Payment by Japanese fire insurance companies of large sums on claims from the recent disastrous earthquake in Japan, is having a favorable effect on small business undertakings is the affected area, says Commercial Attache Babbitt in a cable to the Department of Commerce. Many small business men, who had been severely crippled financially by the earthquake and the fire which resulted from it have been able to resume their business.

The Japanese Department of Agriculture and Commerce is now advocating government earthquake insurance, to protect the people in the dangerous zones.

Investments of capital during May amounted to 180,800,000 yen, an increase of 57,900,000 yen over April according to the report of the Japan Hypothea Bank. A yen is equal to approximately fifty cents in American money.

THE HUMAN FLY.

Ald. Maher was on the right track when at Thursday's Council meeting he protested against the performance announced for today in which a self-termed "human fly" means to climb the wall of the Empress Hotel.

Feats of this kind serve no useful purpose.

They appeal only to a morbid streak in humanity.

If there was not the ever-present danger that a slip would cause the performer to fall to his death, a corporal's guard would not be attracted to the scene.

The "human fly" is willing to risk his life for a few dollars, and there are enough morbid people, fascinated by the thought that they are to have an opportunity of seeing a fellow being in danger of losing his life to make the attempt profitable.

The particular "fly" who is visiting Peterborough just now should be told by the authorities—if he has not already been told—that this city regards such performances as his as being much in the same category as attempted suicide, and that he had better seek some other locality for his death-defying experiment.

Peterborough can get along nicely without this kind of a thrill.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

The prediction that the Olympic Games would cause international discord and ill-feeling has been verified by the announcement that British sporting authorities are very seriously considering a withdrawal from the games in future, and that at all events British boxers will not compete again.

There have been so many scenes during the contests, so many evidences of bad feeling among the spectators and in some cases among the competitors, that the British people are coming to the conclusion that the Olympic tournament should be abandoned.

The fault lies among some of the continental people.

The United States athletes, to their credit be it said, have shown good sportsmanship and borne their triumphs modestly.

Between the British competitors and themselves there has been the best of feeling.

But the representatives of some of the other countries have failed to show a similar feeling.

Angry passions have been aroused and there has been an absence of that matter-of-fact acceptance of defeat that distinguishes the Anglo-Saxon sportsman.

Broken records on the track are scarcely an adequate recompense for a harvest of international ill-will, and there is reason to question the value of the Olympic contests.

ONTARIO GRAINS.

While there are varying reports as to crop conditions in the Western Provinces, all indications as to Ontario crop prospects are to the effect that the banner Province should have a splendid general yield.

The farmers of Ontario will benefit materially by the sudden rise in the price of wheat.

In fact, it is estimated that the unexpected increase will mean several millions of dollars to the farmers of the Province by the jump in wheat prices from $1 and $1.05 a month ago to $1.25.

The wheat crop of Ontario plays a very small role in the agricultural production of the Province, it is true, but nevertheless the unexpected profits are not to be sneezed at.

Figures show that some 674,100 acres sown to wheat last autumn will be harvested, and with the prospects for a better crop than the average, which has been a little over 22 bushels to the acre, Ontario's fall wheat crop should reach nearly 16,000,000 bushels, which at the present prices would mean close to twenty million dollars.

A month ago the value of this year's crop would have been set at seventeen millions, so that the farmers of Ontario have gained three million dollars since the middle of June.

Last year they received but 92c a bushel for their wheat, which means that from this year's crop at present prices—and the prospects are they will go higher—they are over four million dollars more in pocket than in 1923.

The unexpected wind-fall will be very welcome to many of Ontario's agriculturalists.

GREATER THAN FATE OF PARTIES.

Two Canadian Ministers, we are told, are to go to London this fall to help "clear up some questions of constitutional relations between the Mother Country and the Overseas Dominions." But if the matter is as simple as such an announcement suggests, why hasn't it been cleared up before? asks the Ottawa Journal. What were the Imperial Conferences doing in 1918, 1921 and 1923? The true answer is that the constitutional relations between the Mother Country and the Dominions are so much affected by change, by divergent local conditions, by the fluctuations of domestic politics, by the temperament of statesmen, and by the mercurial alterations of world conditions, that their "clearing up" cannot be permanently effected either this fall, or next fall, or the fall after.

There will always remain differences of point of view, ambignity and vagueness in our position and status, and, hence, occasional tangles. And the remedy, so far as a remedy may be applied, will rest not in hard and fast constitutional arrangements, not in parchment, not in insistence upon rights and indifference to obligations, not in carping criticisms. It must rest in a basis of British brotherhood, in a desire for true co-operation, in recognition that the British Commonwealth is, in the last analysis, an act of faith—something that challenges the best in all of us, irrespective of parties, as a mighty human agency for the betterment of the race. Finally, but not least, help must come from determination on the part of all that the British Empire and all that it betokens are too vast things, too solemn things, to be used for party benefit.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

Several newspapers have sounded a timely note of warning in regard to the campaign in connection with the plebiscite on the O. T. A., and the point raised is well taken.

There is no reason why the opposite camps in this fight should go to extremes in their methods.

If each will appreciate the fact that there are thousands of men on the other side with honest convictions as to their stand there will be less personal abuse and less bitterness.

On one side there is a tendency to denounce everybody who favours the retention of the present Temperance Act as a hypocrite and a busybody.

On the other there is just as prevalent a tendency to condemn every man who believes that Government control would be a more satisfactory and effective way of dealing with the liquor problem as a boozer or a friend of bootleggers and rum-runners.

Such terms should be dropped in the fight that is developing.

Every citizen of Ontario has a right to his own opinion on this question, and to express it without being called a hypocrite or a bootlegger.

Let us have temperance in language during the campaign and endeavour to arrive at a verdict as to which policy is the best for the Province of Ontario without the bitterness and rancor that have distinguished other contests of the same kind.

THE CRAZE FOR STATISTICS.

The Windsor Star complains that in a list issued by the Dominion Government showing the comparative standing of Canadian cities in automobile ownership, Windsor is placed ninth, whereas if the other towns in the "Border Cities" chain had been included it might have been fifth or sixth. The Star draws the moral that

"The Border Cities are suffering in many ways because of the municipal divisions that exist here. Some day the community must rid itself of the great handicap under which it now labors."

In other words, it wants them to amalgamate and lose their separate and distinct individualities in that of a large city.

Looks to us, says the Ottawa Journal, like another absurd competition between municipalities for which the craze for census statistics is responsible. Who shall say that the city with the largest number of automobiles is either the best to do business in or even to live it? In many cities of the United States the increasing number of automobiles in use has become a serious problem in several ways. It is going to be a difficult thing to handle in Ottawa before long if the number of motor cars continues to grow at the same rate.

Not in the size of its population or the number of its automobiles should a city take pride, but in the happiness and contentment and health of its citizens. A man's standing in the community, financially or otherwise, cannot accurately be gauged by his automobiles; neither can that of cities.

The collecting and publication of statistics can be carried to excess—some of the questions asked by Government officers clothed with authority almost amount to impertinence—and consideration to the matter might be given. For instance, what is the public value of these comparative figures about automobiles which led the Windsor paper to complain and what did they cost in salaries of officials to prepare?

GRIM EMPHASIS.

On Saturday, the Spectator editorially declared against the menace of the promiscuous sale of revolvers. And grim emphasis followed hard on the heels of what we had to say, when, before another day had passed, a Detroit foreigner "shot up a christening party" on Princess street, killed the man he held responsible for the wrecking of his home and, it is believed, mortally wounded his own wife, says the Hamilton Spectator. The local police are blameless, in this instance, the murderer, Joskey, unquestionably having brought from Detroit the revolver which he used. Lax as are the laws governing the sale of firearms in Canada, they are much more restrictive in this country than in the United States, where mail-order houses are permitted to sell deadly weapons to anybody having the price to pay for them. It is because of the ease with which revolvers can be purchased in the United States that Canada has found it difficult to legislate against the evil. Until personal search is instituted at the border—and this is too offensive to ever be agitated for or seriously considered by the two Governments—it will be a comparatively easy matter to smuggle firearms into this country. A few years ago, stabbing affrays in the foreign section were frequent and shooting escapades unusual. But the Latin temperament has rapidly adjusted itself to the use of the "gat" and the revolver is now the medium of destruction in most of the ward tragedies. The number of revolvers which have been confiscated by the police in the homes of foreigners is almost incredible—but the authorities frankly admit that they have secured but a small percentage of the armament of the alien population. The Chief Constables' Association of Canada is aroused to the seriousness of the menace. The agitation which it has launched will undoubtedly result in a tightening of Canada's laws, but until such time as our neighbor to the south gives serious thought to similar restrictive legislation tragedies such as that of yesterday must be expected.

A THOUGHT

LOYALTY.

Loyalty is its own reward. The man who will not do his best under all circumstances, who will not render the highest service of which he is capable, is not only disloyal to his employer, but he disregards the dictates of his own highest self. Remember that it is a much greater thing to build a life than to make a living. Whatever you do for the interests of the man who employs you, reacts upon your own life and character. Every new idea or method you originate, and every bit of exceptional service you render, is of infinitely greater value in the way of developing your own possibilities than it can possibly be worth in the way of immediate financial reward. The man who is disloyal to his employer defrauds him, but what is much worse, he robs himself. "We make a living by what we get, but a life by what we give." Most people are so busy thinking about what they can get, that they have little time left to think about what they are going to give. If they stopped to analyze the situation they would know that if they placed the emphasis on the giving and the service they ought to render, their getting, or income would take care of itself.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 25.—For the four days this week the recepits were nearly 6,300 and upwards of 500 carried on hand from the week before. With the beef trade at its slackest period, it was entirley in keeping with conditions that prices declined again. Heavy steers and heifers suffered most and in some instances they sold lower by over a dollar a cwt than two weeks ago. Good heavy steers a little off color for export sold at $6.40 a cwt. Coarse steers weighty, but only half fat, were taken reluctantly at $5.50 a cwt.

The exporters took around 500 head, but these were all steers. They have not been buyers of heifers or cows the last two weeks and have taken only a small number of bulls. Top export steers sold on Monday at $8 a cwt., but there were only five loads at that price. For others the prices were from $6.50 to $7.50. The export buyers will want about 500 again next week and will probably take some heifers.

The only really wanted butchers were baby beeves and handyweights. Prices for these were, if anything, firm for the babies, but the handyweights were down about 25 cents a cwt. Choice babies realized up to $9.25 a cwt., but very few handyweights sold over $7, with the bulk at about $6.75. Good handyweights brought $6.25 to $6.50, and mediums $5.50 to $6. Light mixed killers sold from $4 to $5 a cwt. For local purposes nobody wanted cattle much over 900 lbs., and the heavy ones not fitted for export, were almost impossible to market. Commission men are repeatedly advising against consignments of this kind, but shippers fail to pay any attention.

Butchers 'cows and bulls depreciated with others and were lower by 25 to 50 cents a cwt. Few cows made $5 and good ones mostly went between $4.25 and $4.75, with medium cows from $3.50 to $3.75. Bulls were harder to place than cows and only an extra choice butcher sold above $4.50, while many good bulls sold below $4 a cwt. A fair number of milch cows and springers were handled during the week, but the demand ran mainly to the average good cow from $50 to $65 each. The specialists have been able to gather up more stockers this week and full loads of mixed 800 lb. stockers have sold at $4.25 to $4.50. Breedy steers around 900 lbs. have been shipped out at $5 and $5.25 a cwt.

Following a decline in prices for two weeks fewer cattle are expected here next week and one of the oldest commission men on the market says he expects some increase in prices on Monday. Export prices will, to some extent, be governed by the number of heavy cattle on offer.

Calves are up about 50 cents a cwt. for the week and occasional sales were made up to 10 cents a pound. The ruling prices for best calves at the close of the week were 9 to 9½ cent and medium 7½ to 8½ cents. Several loads were sent to Buffalo this week, but that market has not been quite as strong as it was.

The market on lambs has improved a full half-dollar a cwt. for the week. Choice lambs, ewes, are selling at 16 cents and bucks 14 cents. Cull lambs bring 10 to 12 cents a pound. Handyweight sheep are selling at 6 to 6½ cents, with heavies at 5 cents. Yearling lambs have sold from 8 to 9 cents a pound.

Prices for hogs are reflecting the light receipts and firmer American prices. Receipts at this market for the week were only around 6,000. The prices has jumped 25 cents a cwt. to $8.25 f.o.b. and a further advance is predicted by some of the selling firms.

MR. BRETHEN ON REDISTRIBUTION

Ottawa, Ont., July 16, 1924.
The Editor, Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I am enclosing copy of that part of the Ontario schedule of Bill 2 of the Redistribution Act which refers to the constituencies of East and West Peterboro and East and West Hastings, and my remarks in the House of Commons in the final debate thereon.

In defence of my position I may say that for the two sessions during which this question has been before the committee appointed to deal with redistribution, I have been able to fight successfully against every attempt to a partition of the riding of East Peterboro. On Friday last, however, after a deadlock in the Ontario sub-committee on the disposition of East Peterboro, the question was referred to the main committee, and certain negotiations took place between the Government and the Conservative Opposition, whereby I understand the latter agreed to accede to the Government's wishes re the Peterboros upon the Government granting them in return certain concessions in other parts of the Province, this proposal placing Douro, Otonabee and Lakefield in the West riding of Peterboro, and the balance of East Peterboro in the newly proposed constituency of Hastings-Peterboro was carried by the combined vote of the Government and the Conservative Opposition against the united protests of every Progressive member on the committee. The Progressive resolution to unite the two Peterboros was also voted down on the same division, and the report on the main committee on redistribution dealing with Ontario constituencies came before Parliament, showing the Government and Conservative Opposition members on the committee in general agreement on the whole report, the Progressive members registering their disapproval of the Peterboro-Hastings arrangement.

Despite the assurance of many members in every part of the House of their belief in the justice of my position, in seeking to retain the county boundaries in the two Peterboro ridings, I regret to say that my amendment was defeated by the united vote of the Government and Conservative Opposition, with the lone exception of the Conservative member for East Hastings, who voted with the Progressive members in support of my amendment.

As the representative of the constituency of East Peterboro, I feel very keenly the action taken by this House in sacrificing this old and honored constituency upon the altar of mere political experiency. I have no apologies to make for the part I have taken in the fight to retain my riding intact, but, with many other individual members in the House, am heartily disgusted with the pernicious system that makes such injustice, as the electors of this constituency have experienced, possible.—Faithfully yours,

G. A. BRETHEN.

Hastings South, consisting of that part of the county of Hastings, included in the Townships of Hungerford, Tyendinaga, Thurlow and Sydney, and including the city of Belleville.

Copy.

Part of Ontario Schedule Bill 2.
(An Act to readjust the representation in the House of Commons).

Peterboro West, consisting of that part of the county of Peterboro included in the Townships of Galway, Cavendish, Harvey, Ennismore, Smith, Douro, Otonabee and North Monaghan, and that part of the county of Northumberland included in the Township of South Monaghan together with the city of Peterboro.

Mr. Chairman: It will be remembered that when the report of the committee came before the House on Friday last, there was unaminity with respect to practically all the Ontario constituencies, but there were some exceptions. The exceptions in which I am interested are the two Peterboroughs and the two Hastings. I therefore beg to move:

"That the Ontario schedule of Bill No. 1 be amended by striking out all words beginning with the words "Hastings-Peterborough", and ending with the words "Belleville" on page 6, and beginning with the word "Peterborough" and ending with the word "Peterborough" on page 10 and the following substituted therefor: "The county of Hastings into two ridings to be called the east and west ridings of the county of Hastings—

"(a) The east riding shall consist of the townships of Thurlow, Tyendinago, Hungerford, Madoc, Elzevin, and Grimthorpe, Tudor, Cashel, Limerick, Dungaman, Mayo, Monteagle, and Carlow; The town of Deseronto and the villages of Madoc and Tweed

"(b) The west riding shall consist of the townships of Sydney, Rawdon Huntingdon, Marmora, and Lake, Wollaston, Faraday, Herschel, McClure, Wicklow, and Bangor, the City of Belleville, the Town of Trenton and the villages of Marmora and Sterling. The county of Peterborough with the township of Monaghan South into one riding to be called Peterborough.

"(a) The riding of Peterborough shall consist of the townships of Anastruther, Asphodel, Belmont, Burleigh, Chandos, Douro, Drummer Methune, Otonabee, Cavendish, Ennismore, Golway, Harvey, Monaghan North, Monaghan South and Smith, and the City of Peterborough and the villages of Havelock, Lakefield and Norwood,

In short, Mr. Chairman this amendment proposes to unite the two Peterboroughs into one and leave the two Hastings as they were. I might say that there is little objection on the part of the electors of East Peterborough to the dropping of the member. We believe it is only just and equitable because East Peterborough is one of the smallest, if not the smallest, riding in Ontario, but it is the unanimous wish of the people of Peterborough that the two ridings should be merged not rent asunder, and I propose to give the Committee the reasons for this. I have here a comparative map of the county of Peterborough. The west riding has a population of 29,318, and the east 13,716, making a total for the two of 43,034. The only argument I have heard against putting these two constituencies together and maintaining the county as one, is that it would give a constituency in excess of the unit of population, 36,300. However, we must take into consideration that this riding with the large City of Peterborough has a population 60% urban, or with well over 24,000 people, in the city and villages, of the county. Compare this with the unit of population in the cities of 50,000 to 60,000, or even in the constituency of Russell adjoining this City of Ottawa. This constituency although it has a population of 43,413, with an urban population of but 13,000 has not been disturbed no objection has been taken on the ground that it is too large. I was pleased to hear the Hon. member for Shefford (Mr. Bolvin) lay such great stress upon the retention of county boundaries in the Province of Quebec, even when seeming injustice might be done to the City of Montreal bearing in mind the unit of population. I would draw the attention of that hon member and of other hon. members as well to the fact that in the province of Ontario no finer opportunity is offered for putting in practice the principle of the retention of county boundaries than in the county of Peterborough. I point out that among the adjoining constituencies of Victoria and Haliburton, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings there is not one that required adjustment. Each one has been considered large enough by the committee to pass without any alteration due to lack of population. Lack of population in each of the two Peterboroughs created a problem that was a problem for the county of Peterborough alone. But why was the county of Peterborough rent asunder and a constituency created that can only be regarded as one of the worst gerrymanders that ever took place in a redistribution committee. I should like to say that not only is the retention of county boundaries in line with certain basic principles that have been accepted generally for generations, but it is in harmony I believe, with the wishes of 90% of the people of the county of Peterborough. I have here a resolution passed at a special meeting All present called by the warden of the county of Peterborough, Mr. Clark in the chair , The resolution reads as follows:

and Breckenbridge this Council desires to place on record the desirability of keeping the county and city as one electorial constituency.

JOHN CLAKE,
Warden.

I hereby certify that the above is a true copy of the resolution passed in open council, April 6th, 1923.

ED. M. ELLIOTT,
County Clerk.

I have also a resolution from the Conservative Association of East Peterborough asking for similar action, likewise one from the East Peterborough U.F.O., and resolutions from many of the Township Councils. The Liberal Association of East Peterborough forwarded a communication addressed to the Chairman of the Redistribution Committee which I do not intend to read in its entirety, but it certainly is very interesting. It says:

"Now we wish to express to you the unanimous feeling of the entire electorate of East Peterborough."

Remember this is from the Liberal Association of East Peterborough:

"At a meeting representative of the three political parties of the riding, it was unanimously agreed to endeavour to retain our riding, and in event of our failure to retain the riding that the county boundary lines to be boundaries of the new electorate, that is, that Peterborough County be made one riding. Also at a special meeting called of the county council of the municipality of the county of Peterborough a resolution was moved and unanimously carried that if any change has to be made in the ridings of the county of Peterborough and that it was necessary to do away with one of the ridings that the two be merged into one, making it one county constituency, keeping county boundaries intact. May I also further say that, if East Peterborough is parceled up, it will dissatisfy every elector in the riding and in the county as well. Any parcelling of the riding is a distinct violation of an old Liberal principal advocated many a time by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other prominent Liberal statesmen of Canada.

As a delegation to meet the Redistribution committe is now cented us, we wish this statement of the wishes of East Peterboroguh electors and of the county electors as a whole to be taken into serious consideration by the Redistribution committee."

Respectfully yours,
W. A. RICHARDSON
Secretary, East Peterborough Liberal Association.

Not only are the people of Peterborough County practically unanimous on the question of the merging of the two ridings, but I find that their wishes are in harmony with the principles laid down by the Right Hon. the Prime Minister (Mr. Mackenzie King) when the second reading of this Bill was taken on March 25, of this year. I should like to read what the Prime Minister said regarding the retention of county boundaries, as reported at page 689 of Hansard:

"I think it is well that we should make clear the lines on which we would expect the committee to proceed. There are guiding principles which have been observed in the past and which, experience would seem to indicate, it is advisable strictly to adhere to. The first of these is the principle of following county municipal organizations as a basis in whatever may be done in arranging the constituencies. There are obvious reasons why this should be a guiding principle. The municipal organization is the basis of our entire judicial system, of our municipal system, and by holding to the county unit, municipal organization, we are following the basis that is familiar to citizens of the country generally."

At this time the Prime Minister referred to the statements of Sir John A. Macdonald in his respect, also to declarations of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He might also have referred to the utterances of such great and revered statesmen as Hon. Edward Blake and Sir James Whitney in the Province of Ontario to justify his position. The only argument, as I said a moment ago, against this proposition of merging the Peterboroughs is the argument that it might create too large a constituency which I think I have very well disposed of. The honorable member for South Oxford (Mr. Sutherland) shed some light as to what took place in the committee when he said that there had been negotiations and that the parleying in secret had resulted in a barter of constituencies for mere political power. It seems to me that the explanation is the only one that could be offered to explain the action of the committee in overriding the wishes of the people of the county of Peterborough, and violating the basic principles that have been laid down for generations for the retention of county boundaries, and for bringing about a gerrymander such as this bill proposes. I assume that the members of the redistribution committee are too deeply committed to this programme to give me any support in this proposition. Nevertheless I draw the attention of every honorable member to the fact that he individually is at liberty to support, amend or reject any feature of this bill. I should like here to read the words of the Prime Minister where he makes very clear the position of honorable gentlemen in this respect. He says:

"It will not, of course, be possible for the committee to work out a redistribution, following county municipal organizations along the lines which I have indicated, with mathematical exactness."

Then he proceeds to outline his proposal for appointing a committe which is this:

"We want to get a few honorable members together around the table, actuated as I say, by principles of fair play and justice to all, and have them work out a schedule of constituencies, and then to present it to the house for endorsation, amendment or rejection."

Now if that means anything to honorable members, it intimates that their hands are not tied, when it comes to supporting an amendment of this kind, and that they are at perfect liberty to amend this bill as it has been presented to us, if in their judgment it is unfair and does not follow the lines that were laid down when the committee was presented with the plan that they were to followin in this redistribution. I read from the speech of the Prime Minister the following statement:

"The government has but one object in view—that tne committee, following broadly the principles which I have indicated, shall work out on the basis of the new unit of representation the electoral districts for the representation of this House on lines which will commend themselves to the sense of fair play and justice to honorable members and of the people generally; so that this House of Commons may be, as far as possible, a true mirror of the public opinion of our country."

I have shown I believe that my proposal is practically the wish of the people, not only of the east riding of Peterborough, but that of the people of the whole of the county of Peterborough, as well, and when I find that the wishes of the people are in harmony with the principles laid down by no less an authority than the Prime Minister himself, I cannot, in fairness to myself and to the people that I represent accept such a proposition as is placed before us now. I appeal to the sense of justice and the spirit of British fair play of honorable members to make this change in this bill as it refers to the constituency of Peterborough. The arrangement proposed by this bill is not wanted by the people of Hastings, by the people of Peterborough, or to my knowledge by any person, unless it be some one who is directly interested in making for himself a safe seat. I say that this proposal, the only explanation of which evidently is that the riding has been bartered and sold for nothing but political expediency, is something that I will never accept—never! never! never! I appeal to individual members, and to their sense of justice, equity and common decency, to refuse to sanction this indefensible proposition and to vote for my amendment that will make the two Peterboroughs one.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 25. — Export business by way of the Gulf of Mexico, together with an unexpected advance in Liverpool quotations led today to new high price records for the season in the wheat market here. Closing prices of wheat were unsettled at 1 1-4 to 2 1-2 net gain. Corn finished 3-4c to 2 3-8c up; oats 1-2c to 1 1-8c to 1 1-4c higher, and provisions at a rise varying from 10c to 30c. Surprise over the action of the Liverpool wheat market was augmented by notable strength shown at Winnipeg, but resulting price bulges were temporarily checked by increased hedging sales and by sales to realize profits. For a while, too, apparent absence of export buying was a hinderance to the upward move of values. Later, however, indications that exports business in United States wheat market was in progress as well as at Winnipeg, helped to send the market here upward not withstanding that about 1,000,000 bushels of wheat were bought today to arrive in Chicago.

Crop news from Canada continued to exert a decided bullish influence on wheat traders. In this connection it was asserted that Canadian authoritites were reducing their estimates of yield in districts where drought has been prevalent. The outlook as to black rust in Manitoba was also sharply watched. Despite late realizing sales which broght about a setback from the day's top. The market ended at the highest closing level on the crop.

Corn and oats followed wheat upgrade. There was heavy buying of corn on the part of leading speculators ond considerable attention was given to Government reports about unusal lateness of the cor crop.

Provisions rose with hog values, which reached 9.50 a new high record for the year.

CHINESE ARE WELL VERSED IN SLANG

Spectators at Races, Etc., Use Many American Terms.

WUCHANG, China, July 26 — A nationwide athletic meet has just been held here which had all the characteristics of a similar meet in any college town in America. The manner in which the athletes went at their jobs, and the comments on their performances, were essentially American.

Cries of "Come on, boy; you can beat him!" "Shoot, shoot," "Stick to it, kid; wipe the butter off your fingers," and others of a similar nature were frequently heard from the spectators' benches and from the rooters on the side lines. Real sportsmanship was in evidence for the most part, and there was little or no playing that was unnecsarily rough.

There were baseball, soccer, volley ball, tennis and basketball in addition to the field sports, and a detachment of Boy Scouts, who had their own encampment and lived in tents during the three days of the meet. The Scouts equipped a first aid tent and a field telephone which was employed in reporting results from various parts of the grounds.

The girls' basketball and volleyball games, being a decided innovation in North China, attracted many spectators and elicted much favorable comment.

It was estimated that more than 15,000 persons were present.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Town Wants a New Bridge and Will Oppose Repairs to Old One.

CAMPBELLFORD, July 26.—When Mayor Meyers, Reeve Davidson and Deputy Reeves Dorie were in Cobourg recently on official business they were informed that the County Road Commission consisting of Reeve Hartt of Murray Township Reeve Elliott of Bowmanville and Warden Fowlds of Hastings, had decided to advertise for tenders for the repairing of the Campbellford bridge, these tenders to be opened by August 1st. The Campbellford representatives were opposed to any such action, which had been decided upon without consultation with them, as all along they have been in favor of a new bridge. At the June session of the Counties Council Reeve David son and Deputy Reeve Dorie would listen to no other proposal and when they returned home they thought it was clearly understood that this town was to have a new bridge.

A Change of Opinion

A year ago it was understood that the government would pay 40 per cent of the cost of a new bridge but would give nothing for repairs. At the last session of the Legislature, however, Major Belford, M.L.A., secured the assurance from the Department that the same percentage would be paid for repair as for a new structure. Since that time a number of the members of the Counties Council have apparently become convinced that all the Campbellford bridge requires is an overhauling.

Three Estimates

Three estimates of the cost of repairs have been received by as many engineers, A. W. Connor of Toronto has submitted an estimate of $9,250; Arthur Sedgwick, engineer for the Department of Highways, figured that the cost would be $9,000 while a representative of the Ontario Bridge Company held that $3,500 would cover the outlay.

At the June session of the Counties Council the matter was left in the hands of the Road Commissioner who were instructed to ascertain if the proposed repairs would meet with the approval of the Highway Department so that the 40 per cent grant would be secured. It seems that the approval of the Department has been secured but so far as it can be learned here no advertisement for tenders has yet appeared.

Cost of New Bridge

It is estimated that a new bridge would cost $20,000, the superstructure only being required as engineers pronounce the bulwarks safe. Of this amount this government would pay 40 per cent or $8,000, the Counties 75 per cent of the balance, $9,000 and the town the remainder, $3,000. When Campbellford was incorporated as a town there was a special arrangement made with the counties' authorities by which the new municipality was to assume only a 25 per cent liability in the bridge until it had a population of 5,000.

Meeting of Veterans

The returned men held another meeting here Thursday evening, when organization was perfected. There were about 40 veterans in attendance and all these became members. Further organization details were arranged and it was decided to hold another meeting on Thursday evening of next week.

All men who have seen actual service in any theatre of war are eligible for membership in the new organization, whether that service was rendered in the Northwest Rebellion, in the South African or in the World War. Membership in the militia alone does not qualify a man to join.

To Teach at Mt. Olivet.

Miss Lillian Meiklejohn, who recently graduated from the Toronto Normal School, taking an interim first-class certificate, has been engaged to teach in the Mt. Olivet Section. This is the school in which Major Belford, M.L.A., and many others who have attained prominence in Canadian affairs, received their first academic training.

Captain Fisher of the Salvation Army led the service, assisted by Rev. Mr. McRoberts and Rev. G. C. Clarke, B.A. The Captain's address was on the "Uncertainty of Life." Mrs. Dicks sang during the service, the beautiful hymn, "Face to Face," and her Sunday school teacher spoke a few loving words of her.

Each comrade in the Salvation Army present wore a white ribbon band on his or her arm in loving memory of the little one who was drowned.

The pall-bearers were the four uncles: Messrs. Wm. Collard, Ernest Collard, Chas. Battman and Herbert Prykeall of Campbellford. There were many beautiful sprays and bouquets of flowers sent in by friends and neighbors, and also the following: Wreath, Father and Mother; Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Burgar, large spray of carnations; uncles and aunts, white lilies; gates ajar, Mr. and Mrs. George Haig; cross from Captain, Lieutenants and Sunday School, Salvation Army; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. SIX WITNESSES

a phone call to come to the station to examine a man in reference to his sobriety. He told Crown Attorney Hatton that while he smelled liquor off Mr. Belleghem on that occasion he found no evidence of intoxication

"He was under the stress of excitement, which would have an effect on his condition," stated Dr. Mann.

In response to a question from Mr. O'Brien, he replied that he had been informed that the defendant had received treatment from another doctor before he had examined him, and had been advised that the other physician had given him an ounce of brandy or liquor.

"What would you say as to that being the liquor that produced the odour on his breath?" asked Mr. O'Brien.

"That was likely what produced the odour."

Mr. Mann explained that Mr. Belleghem was suffering from a cut on the forehead and one in his scalp besides a badly bruised right hand. He further stated that such injuries had produced a dazed condition accompanied by shock.

This concluded Dr. Mann's evidence and William Hepburn was called to the stand. Mr. Hepburn arrived on the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred.

While he was there Mr. Belleghem got out of the car and spoke to a group of bystanders collectively. He told Mr. Hatton that he heard Belleghem asking Bacon to shake hands with him, and that Bacon replied "Not yet." He replied, "We will soon all be dead," or something to that effect," said Mr. Hepburn.

When asked by Mr. Hatton as to the defendant's sobriety on that occasion, he replied that he had smelled liquor off his breath or clothes

The witness told Mr. O'Brien that the Belleghem car was on the wrong side of the road and that he smelled liquor in the car.

"Was that the odor you noticed?" asked Mr O'Brien.

"I couldn't say," said the witness.

County Constable Pearson.

County Constable S. R. Pearson was the next witness for the prosecution.

He related his story of the events from the time he arrived on the scene shortly before 11 o'clock.

"When I got there the cars were locked together, Mr. Belleghem's car facing north and the touring car facing east, with the rear wheels in the ditch. A wheel from Belleghem's car was lying on the road."

"When I arrived Belleghem had gone but I examined his car and in a box at the end of the seat there was a broken bottle of Seagram's whiskey."

The bottle was produced in court. A very small quantity of liquid could be seen in the bottom of the bottle, when he first found it. He believed it had evavorated as the neck of the bottle had been broken off making sealng impossible.

He told Crown Attorney Hatton he was sure it was liquor because he had tasted it.

Arrested Defendant.

He further said that Belleghem later returned in a car with Dr. Loudon, when he placed him under arrest and tok him to the police station in Mr. John Drummond's car, accompanied by Sergt. Thomas and Provincial Officer Maker, who arrived at the place of the accident a few minutes after him.

The witness had told the Crown Attorney that the grass just grew on the brink of the ditch.

"I want to tell you that there is a wide stretch of grass on the side of the roadway," said Mr. O'Brien.

He further asked him to quote Mr. Belleghem's conversation with him.

"I didn't pay much attention to it; he was very sorry and all that," concluded Constable Pearson.

Provincial Officer Maker.

Provincial Constable Norman Maker was the last witness for the Crown.

His testimony in connection with what happened on Chemong Road was much the same as Constable Pearson's, but was of importance in reference to his conversation with Belleghem at the Police Station.

"At the station, I took him up to the detective room and warned him that anything he might say would be used again him. He told me when asked where the bottle came from, that he had found it in the ambulance, where some doctor had evidently left it. He said he put it in his car."

"I told him he had been drinking and he replied that the doctor had given him a drink since the accident occurred."

Mr. O'Brien—"Did this conversation take place before Dr. Mann arrived."

Witness—"Yes."

Mr. O'Brien—"What was his condition like?"

Witness—"He seemed excited."

Mr. O'Brien—"Did he not appear dazed?"

Witness—"I didn't notice it."

Mr. O'Brien—"Well, you heard what the doctor has said here?"

Witness—"Yes, he said that he had two wounds."

Mr. O'Brien—"You know, with your experience overseas and as a constable, that a man suffering from such wounds is, without doubt, in a dazed condition?"

Witness—"He might be."

Refused to Elect.

Constable Maker's testimony concluded the Crown's case.

At the beginning of the trial the defence declined to plead. At the close of the evidence for the prosecution the defendant was given another opportunity to elect to be tried summarily by Magistrate Langley or to be tried by a judge with a jury, at the next sittings of a court of criminal jurisdiction.

The defendant or his counsel made no statement nor offered to give any evidence.

The preliminary hearing was adjourned until Monday, July 28, at 11 a.m., when he will either be committed to trial or be dismissed, should the Magistrate determine the Crown's case is not sufficiently strong to warrant a committal.

Mr. O'Brien reminded Magistrate Langley that the Court had only been appraised of one side of the story.

Bail bond was renewed, allowing the defendant his liberty and directing him to appear on Monday next, at the hour of eleven.

NEWS FROM MADOC.

Fisherman Had Tooth Extracted By a Monster 'Lunge.

MADOC, July 26.—Messrs. Munro and Longwell have commenced operations with a stone crusher. The rock they are quarrying is granite, and after being crushed, will be shipped to Toronto, where it is to be used for the St. Clair Avenue bridge. Some of this material is also to be used for repairing Madoc roads.

Road Commission.

Mr. T. Burnside has been appointed on the Suburban Area Commission. The work that is at present occupying the attention of the commission is the highway from Corbyville to Belleville.

A very heavy rain fell yesterday with some thunder and lightning. Rain was badly needed and gardens are looking fine after the downfall.

Mr. Cleveland Moon and Mr. Jack Crawford, who have been spending a few days at Little Missasauga Lake, returned to town yesterday with a fine catch of salmon trout.

Mrs. C. G. Wilson and Miss Bray, of Belleville, are the guests of Mrs. C. Pringle.

Mrs. T. H. H. Hall, Miss Marguerite and Master Jack, of Merrickville, are guests of Miss Sutton for the week-end, before proceeding to Weslymkoon Lake, where they will camp for the next two or three weeks.

Mrs. Wm. Cross and her son, Harold, are motoring to Kingston on Saturday.

Mr. Robert Parker, of Deloro, is the guest of Mrs. Fraser.

Had Tooth Removed.

Mr. Charles Conley, of town, had the honor of capturing the largest maskinonge ever known to have been caught in Moira Lake, though at a decided sacrifice to himself. The maskinonge weighed 33 pounds. When Mr. Conley felt the monster on his line he hastily put the latter in his mouth while turning his boat. The line caught between his two front teeth, and the fish, in his efforts to escape, acted as dentist and forcibly removed one of Mr. Conley's front teeth. This is guaranteed not to be a fish story.

On Thursday night petty thieves once more tried their luck. They broke into Blue's hotel, where they succeeded in getting about twelve dollars, which was all that had been left in the till. They also broke open the shed where some travellers' cars had been placed for the night, and took a caddie of tobacco and several other articles. Last night an attempt was made to get into Heaslip's hotel, but was unsuccessful.

LIGHTNING BOLT SHOCKS FARMER

Edward Keegan, of Cavan, Momentarily Stunned During Tuesday's Storm.

HAIL LEVELLED CROPS.

CAVAN, July 26.—On Tuesday, 22, the heaviest thunder storm of the season flattened the heaviest crops of barley and wheat around Cavan. The storm varied in different sections. In this vicinity, Cavan Centre, it began with hail, some pellets of which were half an inch in diameter.

In sections the width of a hundred acres made a difference in the size and amount of hail. It seemed to go in streaks. Several loud cracks of thunder were heard and several bright flashes of lightning seen.

Mr. Edward Keegan was unhitching his team from his plow when a bolt of lightning struck the fence a few feet in front of him. The shock brought the team to their knees. He, himself, received such a shock that he could scarcely hold the team when he got up, and being terrified by the hail, which was falling in that territory quite heavily, the horses tried to escape.

Mr. J. Paul and some others who had been working at hay across the line fence, a few rods away, ran to his assistance. They had also felt the shock, but not quite so much. The horse, which was next the fence, is still blinded in one eye. The hail apparently did no damage and the grain which was flattened by the wind and rain is up again.

Miss Myrtle Brock, Peterborough, was the guest of Miss Ruth Keegan for a couple of days.

Ninth Line Open.

The eighth line west of the west quarter line is again open for traffic; the C.P.R. workmen have the covering on the overhead bridge.

Great improvement is being made in the county road, east of Cavan Station. It is being widened out.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Wilson and children, of Buffalo, and Mr. Archie Wilson Lifford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Matchett on Sunday.

Mr. J. Howe and Mr. W. Arthurs, Janetville, visited at the home of Mr. F. M. Staples, on Sunday.

Mrs. Herb. Finlay, Collingwood, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Hunter.

Mrs. R. S. Staples had the misfortune to sprain her ankle a few days ago, which will make it necessary for her to rest for a couple of weeks.

The July meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute is withdrawn.

Girls Are Camping.

Miss Norma Staples, with the Misses Alice Armstrong, Phyllis Brown, Elizabeth Russell, Kathleen Fowler and Jean Gervine, of the C.G.I.T. group of the Presbyterian Church, Millbrook, went to Deyell's Landing on Tuesday to camp. Rev. G. S. Gervine's family are already camping there. Probably other members of the group will join them there for the two weeks' outing.

Miss Phyllis Franks, Kitchener, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Muriel Matchett.

Bessie and Kenneth Howe, Janetville, are visiting Ruth Staples.

NEWS TRENT RIVER.

Up to the Minute Camping Equipment With American Tourists.

TRENT RIVER, July 25.— There have been tourists from Cleveland, Ohio, camping at Spar Point, near the Garrett cottage, on Mr. T. J. Brown's property. Among the party were Mr. and Mrs. Barber and their private secretary. They carried a most complete outfit for outdoor life—two long brown canvas tents within each were separate sleeping apartments with hall-way between. The mattresses were of rubber and when not in use could be rolled up in a small package but when in use were pumped full of air. The tents were lit with electricity. While here Mr. Barber purchased a motor boat from Mr. Sam Ellis, and although he left for home yesterday, owing to urgent business, expects to return in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rose and Miss Ethel left by motor to spend the day at the Park.

Work begun yesterday of repairing the big bridge, new stringers and new floors are to be laid, the traffic will be delayed for a short time and cars are parked at intervals waiting to cross at intervals while the work is being rushed to completion.

Mr. Tom Whibbs and mother, of Indian River are at "Athole." The Misses Whibbs expect to be here on Sunday for their holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Brigans and Betty of Toronto, are at Rest-a-While.

Mrs. Dinenny and daughter, of Toronto, are at the Hallowell cottage.

Mrs. Don Christie of Toronto, is holidaying at the Christie cottage.

Garden raspberries (red and black), have been on sale the last two days at the local stores, selling at 20 cents a box. The berries are not ripening fast owing to the dry weather.

Owing to a change in the rural mail route, the carrier will not arrive here till 4.30 now, instead of two and half hours earlier, which proves a great inconvenience for tourists and those eager to receive the daily papers, we hope for a change in the near future.

Mr. S. J. Dolman landed a 23 lb. lunge, Thursday, while out trolling from his motor launch.

SCRANTON SCHOOL BOARD IS QUIZZED

Grand Jury Wants to Know How Thefts of $259,000 Were Possible.

REPORT NEXT WEEK.

SCRANTON, July 26.— Seven members of the Scranton School Board were examined to-day before the Grand Jury that is investigating how it was possible for former Treasurer W. C. Williams to spread alleged embezzlements amounting to $259,000 over a period of almost ten years without the knowledge of any of the board members.

School Board members questioned were George B. Carson, who has been a member since the inception of the nine-member board; William C. Bruning, of West Scranton; Frank Magovern, who is serving his first term; Dr. John W. Jones, another member; Seth W. Shoemaker, an official of the I.C.S.; Dudley R. Atherton, vice president and one of the city's big banks and chairman of the Finance Committee, and John H. Williams, wholesale produce merchant.

All of the member were questioned at length regarding the exonoration lists of Collector Schuyler C. Gernon. In some instances members are reported as having said that they confined their examination of the lists to their own wards. Others said they glanced over them casually. The members were questioned regarding monthly reports by the collector and other detailed work.

District Attorney Harold A. Scragg expressed himself tonight as satisfied with the progress being made. He declared that unless something unforseen develops the jury will be ready to report next week.

WIVES COST MONEY.

Wives Must Be Paid For or Sent Back Home.

OLYMPIA, Wash., July 26.—The evil day of reckoning for many natives of Pondoland, South Africa, is at hand, writes George Tweedie, who is stationed at an isolated British trading post in the interior of that region, in a recent letter to his brother, Archibald C. Tweedie, of the State Department of Labor and Industries.

For the last three years during a period of mourning for the death of a paramount chief, Marelana, there has existed a moratorium and the usual payment of a dowry in exchange for a wife has been suspended. Now, however, Mr. Tweedie writes, the mourning is over and Pondos who obtained their wives on credit must pay up their debts or return their bought-but-not-paid-for wives to the parental kraals.

"The usual fee for a wife is from three to ten head of cattle or horses, in the case of commoners, and in the case of a chief's daughter, as much as 25 head," Mr. Tweedie explained. "A good many I know of have not a hoof to their names and I am afraid they will have to return to bachelorhood.

"This will accelerate recruiting boys for the gold mines, as they have to get money somewhere."

Mr. Tweedie has been in the interior of Pondoland for the last fifteen years.

YOU CAN'T BE YOUNGER THAN YOUR NERVES

That "Old-age Feeling" Comes From Tired, Starved, Frazzeled Nerves. Not Age.

You die when your nerves die. Time doesn't tell the story. You feel as old as your nerves. That tired, exhausted, fagged-out feeling means a slowing up of your organs, stagnation of your circulation, gradual loss of nerve strength. If overwork, worry, grief or the strain of life sap your nerves, they lie down and make life miserable for you, because they are starved and frazzeled. They cry out in your sensitive stomach — pain, indigestion, sick nausea, loss of appetite, gas, bloating. They drag on your willing heart for more strength—palpitation, faintness, shortness of breath, smothering sensations. They wrack your poor head to warn you —headaches, dizziness, depressed, restless, can't hold yourself, can't sleep. Aches, pains and queer feelings with fancy names like neurosis, neurasthenia, neuralgia and neuritis, prowl around. But it is your nerves. Pain is the cry of starved or injured nerves.

Nerves Built Back— Energy—Health—Success Through Phospho-Cod.

Your energy depends on your nerves; your health depends on your energy; your success depends on your health. No matter what your job is, rocking the baby or building a house, you can't "get there," be successful, without your health. Nature alone both gives you your health and provides a way to get back. Build back those nerves with the splendid, new, natural treatment, Phospho-Cod Nerve, Blood and Body Building Tonic.

Drop Years From Your Age By Recreating Your Vital Forces

with this splendid tonic — watch your appetite return — your stomach get busy — sweet sleep comes back — your nerves grow strong and peaceful. Phospho-Cod is famed for its vitalizing effect as a builder. Your flesh becomes firm, well rounded, you do your work easily, you feel so much more alive every inch of you, and you bet life's worth while.

HOW TO LOOK AFTER THOSE GREAT TREES

If Your Woodlet Does Not Pay Its Own Taxes, It Is Not Helping to Make the Farm Pay.

CUTTING TREES.

Hardwood Trees Demand One-Half as Much Nourishment as Grain.

If your woodlot does not pay its own taxes and interest on its value it isn't doing what it should toward making the farm pay. Making the woodlot pay is the object of woodlot management. The essentials of proper management are usually ignored by the owner, more because nobody on that farm ever bothered with it than because he would not like to make it a source of income. In most sections the trees have taken care of themselves, and farm owners have not gotten used to thinking of wood as a crop.

Growing wood resembles the growth of all other plant life. When the forest-crop idea is once accepted by the farmer, the need of scientific handling is easily appreciated. The average annual production per acre of farm woodlands is less than 100 board feet, and the timber production of these lands can be increased at least 200 per cent; hence the loss through neglect of the woodlot is tremendously important to the farmer.

9anagement of the woodlot is an4 art as well as a science. It requires observation, experience, and individual handling, but after the basic principles are understood, the instinct of what to do with the wood crop is the natural gift of every true grower of soil products. Few woodlots present exactly the same problems. Conditions differ greatly in communities not far apart. The natural tendency for pine reproduction in New Hampshire is more pronounced than in the Adirondacks, and forest land in Pennsylvania again differs in its productive characteristics from both New Hampshire and the Adirondacks; the South from the North, and the West from the East. But there are some general principles which are useful wherever farm woodlots are found.

Food, Water and Sunlight.

Hardwood trees, as a rule, demand from one-half to one-quarter of the soil fertility that field crops demand. No tree will grow without food. Conifers, usually called "evergreens," require still less fertility, and only one-sixth to one-tenth of the moisture needed by hardwood trees. The soil must be deep enough to support trees, although certain species like the spruce will grow on shallow soils. If the depth of soil is less than two feet, trees will suffer from drought and windfall.

Ninety per cent of the rapidly growing parts of a tree are composed of water, and all the plant-food must be taken in solutions through the delicate root hairs. Many foresters believe moisture to be more important in its influence on the growth than light.

On sandy and gravelly soils we need trees which will thrive on little moisture, such as Scotch, Norway or pitch pine. Hickories and black oaks can stand drought comparatively well, but on account of their deeply penetrating root systems the soil must be deep. White cedar, white pine, larch, spruce, ash, basswood, maple and tulip require considerable moisture in the soil in order to do well.

9ost trees can stand more shade1 during the earlier than during the later years of their life. The light that a given species demands has a great deal to do with the type of cutting which should be made. Beech, sugar-maple, spruce, hemlock, and balsam require less light. Hickory, poplar, tulip, walnut, Scotch pine, Norway pine, and tamarack require more light. Red oak, white oak, ash, basswood, and white pine come in between these two extremes. The grower must consider what chance a young tree of any species has to grow up through the cover of old trees. White pine, for instance, would stand a poor chance in a moderately shaded forest floor, while spruce would do very well.

When is Harvest Time-

The majority of woodlots may be classified as (1) mature timber with young trees of various ages; (2) second-growth forests that have followed lumbering or fire; (3) young spruce or pine plantations and brush lots.

Land having mature timber is sometimes cut clear, except for the leaving of about twenty seed trees to the acre. Or it may be cut clear and replanted artificially. But the best management of the mature farm forest calls for successive thinnings over a period of several winters, taking the dead and diseased trees first and the oldest sound timber during the first cuttings. When the merchantable timber has been removed, the next thinning should not take place until the younger trees have developed to market size. The interval between cuttings, therefore, depends on the rate of growth. This method of repeated cuttings has advantages. It opens up the woodlot, and allows the younger trees which are left to grow more rapidly. It permits the work to be distributed over a number of seasons. It allows the sale of small amounts of timber in local markets. It supplies a more steady income, and steady demand for labor, horses and equimpent, when other farm work is slack.

Land that comes under the "second growth" type should generally become large enough to pay the cost of removal. The trees that are to form the final harvest should be selected and preserved. Thinning in this case is for the purpose of removing trees that crowd the selected stems as well as valueless species and stunted trees. Coniferous plantations should be thinned in about ten to fifteen years, if they have been artificially planted, or have come up thick through natural reseeding. Another thinning can be made in about ten to twenty years after the first thinning. The principle is the same as that applied by the truck gardener or orchardist who thins out his crop to get the best development of a portion, rather than a poor development of the whole.

Worthless Wood and Sprouts.

Brush lots of worthless species, like pin cherry, striped maple, etc., should be planted with coniferous trees where such trees can be secured at reasonable prices, $4 to $8 a thousand. Where such growth is thick is should all be removed or heavily thinned. A brush scythe or machete is used in cutting young stuff. Where hardwood trees are cut clean and reporduction through sprouting is desired, the cutting should be done during the season the trees are not growing, or from late fall to early spring, and the stumps should be cut low and on a slant to prevent the lodgment of moisture. It is well to remember that except for chestnut and basswood, only young trees can be relied upon to sprout freely.

In the case of clumps of sprouts from one stump, it is advisable to let the sprouts grow until the smaller ones are large enough to make fence posts or small cordwood. Then a thinning can be made in which all but two or three of the tallest and straightest stems growing from a single stump are cut away. This gives those that remain all the growing energy of their root system. The process can be repeated every five or eight years, so that instead of taking forty-five to fifty-five years to grow railroad ties, such thinnings, by reducing competition and forcing growth into a fewer number of selected trees, will produce the same size material ten years earlier.

Softwood is Preferred.

There is a tendency to-day to turn hardwood forest into the softwood type, as softwood timber is in greatest demand and will continue to be for at least the next century, and probably as long as wood is used. This is done either by leaving softwood trees on the area in order to secure natural reseeding or by planting softwood trees following partial or clear cutting of the hardwoods. The surest way of getting a softwood forest is to plant seedlings or tans-r plants.

Which Wood to Burn.

The average farmer is much to apt to cut many of the best trees for fuel, often leaving the weed trees, and thus turns into fuel wood some of his best timber. More wood is burned for fuel in the United States than is used in all other wood consumption. The value of our annual fuel-wood product at $5 a cord would be about $500,000s 000, so that if only a fifth of the tree, that go up in smoke in the stove, fireplace or boiler grate, are good lumber trees, it would still represent a stupendous loss to the farmer.

NEW BRAINS ARE NEEDED IN SHOWS

The Movie Shiek is Dead, Never to Rise Again.

By Harold E. Swisher
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 26.—(United Press).—Speak a few kind words in memory of the dear departed—the movie shiek is dead!

At least such is the declaration of those close in touch with the evolutionary activities in studio-land — who have an ear on the ground or the rado, or whatever other sources of film players' gossip there are available.

Without the aid of stacomb, tanned skin or burning brown eyes, the plain type of American manhood will prevail in the fall styles of movie heroes.

The slick-haired, foreign-looking heroes are in the descendant, many critics believe. The demand among Hollywood producers picturizing fall and winter movie plots is for the plain type of American. The Conway Tearles, the Thomas Meighans, the Pat O'Malleys and the Milton Sills' are the boys now signing contracts for the big parts.

Even the dark-skinned (and eyed) leading men with the "Latin look" are stepping out of their character and trying to appear as if they were born somewhere between Times Square and the Golden Gate.

In short, the vaseline-haired exponents of virtue are doing a 'fade out'. Patent leather hair will be conspicuous by its absence on the screen next fall. The hair will, indeed, be worn slightly ruffled. Long cigarette holders and freshly waxed mustaches will be taboo.

The Freak Types

Producers are getting away from freak types in leading men and as seeking, not the collar models, but plainlooking fellows who might pass for your next-door neighbor —and who you'd be glad to have for one.

The movie heroines who have to snuggle up to leading men through several hundred feet of film seem to like the change, too, if expressions of opinion gained from some of cinema's fairest can be taken as typical.

"I'm glad the American type of hero is coming back to his own," says Coleen Moore." The men who played opposite me have never been the "sheik" type. Give me John Barrymore, Lloyd Hughes, Frank Mayo or others of their ilk every time."

Helen Chadwick chimes in with "The boys with the olive skin are fine in their place, but their place is not characterization of the average American youth. See America first is my slogan, and that applies to leading men as well as the Grand Canyon.' '

So, flappers, take note! If you wor ship at the shrine of the movie sheik, rush to the theater now and get your last few looks. For soon, according to the opinion in many Hollywood quarters, he will be buried alongside the movie vamp, who once command ed the spotlight but has long since been toned down in character or pushed out of the picture altogether.

Hollywood Wants Brains

The screen needs new brains, not new faces. This is the contention of Harry Rapf, associate executive of Metro Goldwyn-Mayer studios, and the accredited discoverer of some of Filmland's most promising directors and scenarists.

"The clamor for 'new faces' on the screen is just a habit," Rapf declares "The real need of the screen is for new brains. Pictures are made over and over again ,with the same plots. The same scenario writers do the scripts on them. With many of them, their chief recommendation is not 'so many good pictures' but 'eight years' experience as a director' or 'so many pictures made.'

"I was searching for new brains when I engaged Monta Bell to direct 'Broadway After Dark'. It was his first attempt. The completed picture is an excellent example of my point.

"Charlie Chaplin has never directed a feature picture before he made 'A Woman of Paris'. As a result, the picture was voted the most intelligent and original picture in many years. The reason is simply that he combined originality, new ideas and new methods of treatment, with his ability and intelligence."

Jackie to the Bowery

For the first time in his brilliant career, Jackie Coogan is to work in New York. The little star will go east for certain scenes in his next picture. "The Rag Man," which requires a Bowery atmosphere.

Late in August, Jackie will quit his picture work for a time and prepare to sail the first week in September "in command' 'of a relief ship filled with food and clothing for orphans of the Near East.

Leading Man Tame

Eleanor Boardman, playing the leading feminine role in "The Silent Accuser", was asked by an admirer how she liked her leading man in the picture.

"Just fine," Miss Bordman replied. "So far he hasn't bitten me once."

Then explained to the astonished fan that she had reference to "Peter the Giant", a giant police dog that has one of the leading parts in the picture.

NEWS TRENT RIVER.

Rainfall Helped the Farm and Garden Stuff—A Big Fish.

JANETVILLE, July 26.—The garden party held on the lawn of Mr. James Armstrong on Tuesday evening last, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church, was an unqualified success. The programme, was of a high character and consisted of vocal music by Mr. Sayles, of Millbrook; the Male Quartette; Miss Stinson, and others; while addresses were delivered by Mr. Paterson, M.P., and Rev. G. E. Ross, pastor of Methodist Church.

The supper reflected great credit on the ladies of the congregation. The sudden shower of rain, coming just when the supper was well under way, caused a momentary commotion, but the pastor of the Methodist Church promptly invited the Presbyterians to move their tables over into the basement and take possession of the whole edifice. However, the rain soon ceased, and a most successful evening followed.

Personal.

Rev. G. E. Ross left for Winnipeg and the West on Thursday evening, and will be gone until the first Sabbath in September. His pulpit will be supplied by the following:—Rev. R. J. Fallis, of Toronto; The Tuxis Boys; Mr. Welsley Staples, of Lindsay; Chancellor Bowles, of Victoria University; Rev. G. I. Campbell, of Ottawa; and Mr. Emerson, of Nestleton.

Presbyterians Held a Lawn Social—Pastor on a Holiday.

TRENT RIVER, July 26.—Rain fell continuously Thursday and last night, proving a great benefit to garden stuff and the grain.

Eddie Armstrong has a fine crop of potatoes this year and some days he is busy from daylight to dark digging and picking them for his many customers.

Mr. S. J. Dolman, of Campbellford, who is at his summer home, supplied the measurement of the 23-pound lunge caught while trolling up near Green Point on Wednesday—47½ inches from tip to tip. The hook caught it near the mouth in a thin part of the gill. Mr. Dolman handled the monster with one hand. Several of the cottagers took a picture of the fish.

Mrs. Jas. Dickson and Miss Georgie arrived from Campbellford last night to "Bonnie Bank."

EXPORT

Here is the farm export situation in a nutshell: Final figures show that exports of leading foodstuffs from our country in 1923 were valued at only 667 million dollars, compared with 821 millions the year before and 1117 millions in 1922.

Things are going better now. But the farmer can look back and scowl at 1923 with good reason. You will hear more of this, as the presidential campaign develops.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

TOMMY'S LAST TRIP

"You'll never guess what these are," said the Fairy.

"We'll never get home before sunup," declared Tommy Titmouse peevishly.

"Oh, well, what's the difference," said Johnny Jump Up. "Nobody will miss us and this is our last adventure."

"Is there more to see in South America?" asked Nick.

"I should say there is,' 'said Johnny Jump Up. "Why we have hardly begun. South America is a very big place. Tommy, go on, please.

The little bird flapped his wings and the three tiny travelers started off again. By and by they came to a hillside where high bushes were growing, coveerd with red berries. The moon gave so much light that the Twins could see almost as well as in the day time.

"You'll never guess what these are," said the fairy.

The Twins guessed holly berries and dogwood berries and rose berries, and everything they could think of.

"No, sir, it isnt' any of them," said Johnny Jump Up. "It is very common, too. You see it every day. It's coffee!"

"Coffee!" said Nancy. "But coffee isn't round—it's flat on one side. I've helped mother grind it often and I'm sure its' flat. Besides it's brown instead of red."

Johnny Jump Up jumped off Tommy Titmouse's back and picked one of the berries. Then he broke it open and showed Nancy and Nick two little grains snuggled up close, their flat sides touching. They were green in color.

"It's the inside—not the outside that people use," he said. "These little grains are the ones your mother grinds up when she makes her coffee. The reason they are brown instead of green when they buy them in the store, is that they are roasted in big ovens to make them taste better."

"Coffee doesnt' taste good," said Nick, making a face.

"Of course not," said Johnny Jump Up. "Besides children should never touch it. They will not be healthy men and women if they drink coffee when they are growing."

"Sounds just like a lecture," sniffed Tommy Titmouse.

"Well, it is, sort of," said Johnny Jump Up. "But it is true that nearly everybody would be better without it. But you have no idea how many million pounds are used each year in the world! And nearly all of it grows in South America. Go on, Tommy."

So the little bird flew on.

Next they came to some odd looking plants with another queer name too hard to remember and Johnny Jump Up said they had beans on them out of which chocolate was made. "Vanilla and chocolate both come from South America," he sair. "Also oranges and bananas. So I really don't see what the boys and girls would do without South America."

"I could do without it," said Tommy Titmouse sleepily. "I'd like to go home. The sun is coming up and we've been out all night."

"All right, Tommy. Home, please!" said Johnny Jump Up.

Tommy didn't have to be told twice.

NORTH BAY DAMAGED.

Blasting Rock on the Main Streets Almost Results in Disaster.

NORTH BAY, July 26.—(Canadian Press.)—In blasting rock cut in front of the town hall, Ferguson street, late yesterday afternoon, workmen nearly succeeded in blowing up a large part of the town, rocks weighing hundreds of pounds were hurled through the air in all directions, adjacent plate glass windows were smashed and pedestrians had narrow escapes from the gigantic missiles. Men in charge of the dynamite blasts explained that it was not their fault. A "faulty" seam in the cut was responsible for the "spread" of the shot, they said. The blast had been covered with heavy timbers, but the timbers themselves were blown away. The loss will run in thousands of dollars.

Five young men had gathered at the entrance to the G.W.V.A. club rooms watching operations, but these also escaped serious injuries, although two of them were hit by small stones and received minor bruises. One large stone, weighing about 200 pounds, went sailing through space and crashed through the cab of a hydro truck which was parked on First avenue, a block away. The driver had just left his post and was standing a couple of yards distant. Had he been in the cab he would surely have met instant death.

FARM NEWS

LUNG WORM IS SERIOUS WHEN IT DEVELOPS

Will Infect Whole Pen Full of Hogs in a Permanent Way.

KEEPS SPREADING.

How to Prevent and Check the Spread of This Disease.

It is commonly known as lung-worm disease, due to the presence of small thread-like worms in the air tubes of the lungs setting up pneumonia. The worm causing this disease is named the "Metastrongylus apri," and is also known as the "Strongylus paradoxus." These worms locate in the air tubes of the lungs, where they deposit their ova or eggs in great numbers. The ova as well as the embryos or young worms are then expelled from the air passages with the secretions and discharge from the nostrils, while some are coughed up and expelled from the mouth during spells of coughing, or else swallowed and expelled with the feces. This accounts for a widespread contamination of the floors of the pens and the ground in the lots and yards containing affected pigs. Small pools of water are also liable to become contaminated. In these different places the larvæ develop, and from time to time become more or less a menace. Infection usually takes place with feed and water in hog pastures, lots and pens which have become contaminated by affected pigs. In turn the parasites invade the air passages of the infected pigs, and there reach sexual maturity setting up the disease in the lungs. Once a place becomes contaminated with these parasites, the infection remains dangerous for a long time, because the affected animals keep on furnishing fresh infectious material. As a result of the disease gradually becomes more or less permanently established on certain premises. Stagnant pools of water, moist poorly drained yards, and dirty pens, favor the development of the infection. Young sucking pigs may also become infected from the udder of the sow through contamination of its surface. Young pigs, a few months old, are the most easily infected, and suffer the worst until after they are four months old.

Treatment.

Badly infected and well developed cases do not respond to treatment, owing to the fact that the worms are located in the small air tubes of the lungs and difficult to get at. Slightly infected cases, if removed to clean quarters and kept from becoming more heavily infested, seem to gradually recover. Treatment of the affected animals with drugs is not satisfactory unless the drugs are injected into the trachea or windpipe by means of a hypodermic syringe. The intra-tracheal injections as a rule require to be done carefully by a veterinary surgeon. The drugs recommended as being most useful are Lugol's solution, combined with turpentine and olive oil. As a rule preventive measures are successful in overcoming the disease and preventing its recurrence.

Preventive Measures.

The first thing is to remove all of the healthy looking pigs from among the affected ones, and place them in new clean quarters, some distance from those previously occupied. The hog yards and pens should be placed on clean high ground, with good drainage. They should be cleaned out regularly, and bedded with good clean straw. The hog wallows should be constructed of concrete and kept clean. The hog pens previously occupied by infected pigs should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected by washing with hot water and lye and then whitewashed. The hog lots and pastures previously occupied by infected pigs should be ploughed up and seeded down. Low lying places collecting stagnant water should be drained. As soon as the young pigs are weaned they should be removed from the sows and kept separate from all mature pigs in order to prevent them from becoming infected from these adult pigs which harbor the parasites. These suggestions, while comparatively simple, are nevertheless effective in overcoming this troublesome parasitic condition of pigs.

PROTECT YOUR LAWN ON FARM

Do Not Tred on It In the Winter Time When Snow Is on the Ground.

A well-beaten path made across the lawn in winter will probably work permanent damage . The grass may be killed and the soil so compacted that grass seed sown thereon the next season will not thrive. Such a path will generally be obvious for a number of years. A "cow path" is distinctly an unattractive feature on a lawn. The lawn sign of summer, "Keep off the Paths that are 9aking," may well be heeded throughout the year.

Another sin against a lawn is to flood it for the purpose of making a skating rink. A body of ice over the lawn in winter is almost certain to completely kill the grass. The grass will not tolerate for a long time a covering which precludes movement of air.

Young lawns should have a covering of snow. A wind-swept lawn, blown free of snow in winter, is likely to lose much of its young clover. Brush spread about tends to deflect the wind and holds the snow.

Before you can have real good hogs of any breed you must have a good hog mother and a good hog sire. The idea is to raise big litters that will grow rapidly and large and make the most pork for the least feed.

Harness and Belting

It is important to note that any leather improperly used, or neglected, will deteriorate rapidly. For example, belts for driving machinery often become impaired, if not useless, in a very few years whether on straight drives or not, but when they are kept clean and oiled they will last ten to thirty years.

Apply the grease lightly to driving harness and more liberally to work harness. The grease or oil should be rubbed thoroughly into the leather while it is still damp from washing.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR IN 1765

Windsor, Nova Scotia, Gets the Honor of Holding the First in Canada.

MEDALS OFFERED.

The honor of holding the first Agricultural Fair in Canada falls to Windsor, N.S., in 1765, about 159 years ago, and soon other Agricultural Societies fell into line in Nova Scotia, including one at Halifax in 1789 and another in King's County. This latter is the only one of the old societies in the Maritime Provinces that has survived the present day. The prizes offered at Windsor were in goods and medals. To the persons bringing the greatest number of cattle were awarded three yards of English blue superfine broadcloth and a silver medal. For horses, a saddle, bridle, whip, spurs and a medal were the rewards, and a churn for the best cow, while for the best twelve pounds of butter or cheese the prize was six yards of ribbon and a medal.

The progress of organizing Agricultural Societies in a newly settled country was naturally slow at first; but it is worthy of mention that the first Province to introduce imported stock was New Brunswick, which brought over, in 1826, four Shorthorn bulls, which were recorded in the first volume of the English Herd Book. A provincial exhibition was held in Fredericton, N.B., in October, 1852. An Agricultural Society was organized in Montreal in 1788 and another in Quebec in 1789.

The First Society In Upper Canada.

Settlement in Ontario commenced in 1783, and in 1791 had progressed sufficiently along the Niagara river and peninsula to justify the formation of an Agricultural Society on October 28 of that year. This pioneer Ontario society had its headquarters at Niagara-on-the-Lake, then known as Newark. Governor Simcoe took a great interest in it and was its first president. The first efforts of its members were directed to the holding of monthly meetings to discuss agricultural questions, and an agricultural library was also established. The holding of an exhibition naturally followed.

Agricultural Societies gradually became organized all over Ontario, as settlement in the province progressed. In 1830, the Legislature passed regulations governing same and set apart grants. Eight hundred dollars was apportioned to each District Society to enable it to hold an exhibition in addition to the work it had previously undertaken.

An Agricultural Society for the County of York was organized in 1830. Seeds and implements were procured from the Old Country for members. A progressive member was sent to New York State who purchased four bulls for the use of the Society. Soon after an exhibition was held, and prizes were awarded for essays on agricultural subjects.

Birth of the Provincial Fair.

In 1845 a Provincial Association was formed, and in 1846 the first Provincial Fair was held in Toronto, out of which have grown the world-wide-known Canadian National Exhibition, the Western Fair and the Central Canada Exhibition.

The Provincial Association gradually became better organized and developed into the Agriculture Arts Association, which did so much for the improvement of agriculture in the province in the earlier days. Among the many useful lines of work inaugurated were the establishment of the Veterinary College, the registering of pure bred stock, the awarding of prizes for the best kept farms and building and well cultivated fields, and, indirectly, the Agricultural College at Guelph.

Creation of Department of Agriculture.

Agriculture soon became such an important feature in Ontario that a Commissioner of Agriculture was appointed; and eventually the Provincial Government created a Department of Agriculture, thus recognizing this basic industry as of equal importance with those which came under the supervision of the other departments of the Government. Thus out of that little society organized in 1791 in old Niagara-on-the-Lake, with a score or less of competitors and a modest prize list of a few pounds, have developed not only the three great exhibitions in the province, but also the important Department of Agriculture with its numerous branches and with local representatives in every county and district, bringing information and assistance to farmers desirous of making use of it.

Later Extension of Work.

The three hundred and sixty Agricultural Societies in the Province of Ontario have made rapid progress of late years. In 1907 a new departure was inaugurated, and a grant was made by the Ontario Government for the holding of Standing Field Crop Competitions, each society selecting the desired kind of grain or other crop grown for seed.

With the exception of ten societies, which devote their energies wholly to the keeping and maintenance of pure-bred male animals for which they receive certain grants, all the societies hold fall fairs and exhibitions. Spring stock and seed shows are also conducted with great success.

RISING MARKETS IN WHEAT SETS PRICE OF FOOD

Prices of Oats, Barley and Other Cereals Go Up With Wheat.

AFFECTS CONSUMER.

The Wheat Situation Is In the Limelight at the Present Time.

The present wheat situation, with a rising market, has a direct influence on many things, not least among them the dinner table of the working man. When the price of wheat goes up, prices in oats and barley and other cereals, as well as hogs and hog products, rise automatically. Those who study such things make the assertion that a good price for farm products makes for better conditions generally, as the purchasing power of the farmer is increased, and his expenditure for essentials not procurable on the farm has an oiling effect on the wheels of industry and commerce. The condition of the agriculturist is an index to the general prosperity of a country, according to experts.

The wheat situation just at present is occupying the attention of financiers and business men generally. Canada's record wheat crop of last year, estimated at approximately four hundred million bushels has been decreased this year to an estimated aggregate, by the most optimistic forecasters, of about two hundred and seventy-five million bushels. J. Lloyd Hamilton, flour and feed sales manager for the Quaker Oats Company, makes a conservative estimate of two hundred and fifty million bushels as Canada's 1924 crop. The smaller total of this year has two basic causes: the discouragement of the farmers over the price received for wheat last year, resulting in the sowing of a lesser acreage, and weather conditions which will result in a lighter growth of grain per acre.

Last year, the agriculturists realized an average price of 75 cents per bushel for their wheat. Out of that, they had to pay 15 cents a bushel for threshing. Government experts have made calculations by which they claim that, to secure the required profit from his labors, the farmer should receive one dollar per bushel for his wheat.

Just at present, although farmers claim that the majority of their wheat has passed out of their hands, the farmer should make about $1.15 a bushel on his grain, with the prevailing price at Fort William closing last night at $1.48, a five cent advance during yesterday. The rapid increase may be gauged by the June price of the same date of $1.18 3-4 and the May quotation of $1.08 on the same brand of wheat, the No. 1 Northern.

The extra tariff charge of 12 cents on the bushel, imposed by the United States against Canadian wheat during April of this year, has not served the purpose for which it was intended, according to Mr. Hamilton, who points out that, before this extra charge was made, American wheat averaged ten cents a bushel higher in price than Canadian wheat. The idea behind the tariff hoist was to help the American farmer to get a better price for his grain, but figures prove that the contrary condition has been realized. Before the extra hoist, May wheat in the month of March commanded a price of $1.02 3-4 in Winnipeg markets, while the Chicago price for American wheat was $1.11 1-8. In June, the contrary condition had commenced, with Winnipeg registering $1.05 1-8 per bushel and Chicago $1.03 3-4. Against Winnipeg's last night quotation of $1.48, Chicago showed a price of $1.32, just 16 cents lower.

It has been asserted that, to bring up his wheat to the standard required, the American farmer needs a certain proportion of Number One Canadian hard to mix with his own grain To-day, American purchasers would be compelled to pay $1.48 per bushel for this Canadian wheat, plus duty charges of 42 cents, plus freight. However, for wheat milled in bond, to be used for export purposes only, the American dealer is allowed a rebate on his customs duty charges only, the American dealer is allowed a rebate on his customs duty charges of ninety nine per cent.

Compared with last year's crops, there is a world shortage of wheat. Canada is the only country in the world which has been gradually increasing its wheat acreage, and it has markets of the world open for its wheat, "the very best hard wheat in the world.' The life of an average wheat area is estimated at half a century. After that ,the grain sown deteriorates in quality. As an expert points out, Ontario wheat at one time commanded a premium, whereas to-day it is not considered of the best grade for flour.

The markets of the United Kingdam offer an increasingly large field for Canadian grain. Ten or twelve years ago, it was the custom of British bakers to use several sorts of flour. They considered this was necessary for a proper bread, and used flour from five or six different nations. To-day, the British market has been captured almost entirely by the Canadian wheat grower. Australia, with a good quality of grain and an immense acreage, has to compete with heavier freighting charges. Four trips from Canada to Liverpool may be made during the time it takes to haul a cargo from the Antipodes to the British Isles.

Canada's own needs are estimated at about a hunderd million bushels for domestic consumption, seed purposes and a slight carry over. Over and above that is available for export purposes to an increasing market. It has been computed that the Dominion has moved out since October 23rd last ,about two hundred and seventy five million bushels of the seed that makes the staff of life. The farmer gambling today on wheat at Fort William quotations could get $1.39 on October grain and $1.34 on Decembers.

Whether the advancing prices of wheat will have an effect on bread prices is still a question. So far, no increases have been registered. With the advance in the price of wheat, oats and barley and other cereals keep astride. Oats has increased in price by thirteen cents in the past sixty days, and barley by 25 cents on the bushel during the same period Flour prices have been on the upgrend for some time. Wholesales indicate an increase in the quotations on rolled oats and farina, up ten cents on ninety and ninety-eight pound bags, respectively. Corn meal also has taken an upward flight recently.

The sugar market which has been extremely unsettled, is described today as firmer, with slight advances in refined and raws on the American side. Three fifteen cent declines were noted in the past few weeks, bringing the present price of refined sugar at Montreal refineries, to $7.95 per hundred weight.

A factor in the sugar situation that is often overlooked by the housewife who sees quotations printed in the daily news and immediately jumps to the conclusion that she would be able to buy the sweet product at the same price as that recorded in black and white, is the fact that these quotations refer only to the wholesale price of sugar, as quoted by refineries at Montreal. "And it can't come from Montreal on the back of the purchaser," is the graphic way in which one man describes it.

The sugar has first to be distributed to the wholesalers in different centres, who then dispose of it to the retail dealers, and it eventually finds its way to the table of the buyer.

The different overhead charges of these several handlers have to be computed before the final cost is reached.

A rather elaborate system of equalized rates on sugar has been worked out throughout a widespread district. Taking the price of refined sugar at Montreal as a basis, a different amount is added for different centres, to cover cost of differing freight rates, etc. For instance, Peterboro's rate has been worked out at 42c on the hundredweight, this amount covering the wholesalers' profit, the cost of bringing the sugar from Montreal. also the costs of distribution to the retailer, so that the price of sugar to the retailer in Peterboro on the present quotation of $7.95 on Montreal refined, would be $8.37 per hundredweight. The retailer must add his margin of profit to this before the housewife buys the packaged product. Lakefield's rate is 60c; Lindsay's 44c, Campbellford and Havelock 65c, and Toronto 34c on the hundredweight. Fort William's is 87c. These additions apply on what is called the L.C.L. (less than carload lot) oder. For carload orders the rate would be less.

Sugar declines in price this year have been laid at the door of varying causes. One is the extra large Cuban crop, with good crops coming is on top of it from Louisiana, the Hawaiian Islands and the British West Indies.

Some interesting figures were contained in Rotarian J. E. Adams' paper on sugar, given to the Rotary Club at this week's luncheon. He said that about one half of the world's crop of sugar is produced on the American continent and the surrounding islands. Louisiana in 1923 produced one quarter of a million tons of cane sugar, and the Hawaiian Islands one half million tons. From the United States came one million tons of beet sugar. Canada produced 23,000 tons, or about 1600 of the beet product, and Cuba three and a half to four million tons.

AUTUMN CUTTING OF ALFALFA.

In the Field Husbandry department of the Ontario Agricultural College alfalfa has been under test for twenty-six consecutive years. In each of twenty-four years the alfalfa gave three cuttings per annum. In 1907 two cuttings, and in 1896 four cuttings were produced in the one season. The spring of 1896 opened up very early and that of 1907 very late. The third cuttings were made on September-17th in the average of the twenty four years. It is important to cut alfalfa before the 20th of September so aa to enable the crop to make a good groswth before the approach of winter. So says Dr. C. A. Zavitz of the Ontario Agricultural College.

CROP REPORTS OF PETERBORO AND DISTRICT

Rains of the Last Few Days Helped the Situation Materially.

HAY CROP FAIR.

Fall Wheat and Barley Promises to Make the Best Showing Here.

BAILIEBORO, July 26.—The majority of the farmers of this district have been agreably surprised to find that their hay crop is much better than they had expected it would be.

The farmers are getting their hay finished up, or will be finished this week if the weather continues fine.

The wheat is ripening very fast, and it is expected that next week harvesting will be in full swing. This will give the farmers very little time to do any other work at their root crops, or summer follows between haying and harvest.

Owing to the late spring, and the long continued dry summer there has been very little opportunity of getting the summer fallow ploughed over and worked. So on this account there are very few good summer fallows in these parts. When the farmers do not have land in good condition during the summer on which to sow their fall wheat, it leaves them very busy in the fall when the rains do come, as they have all of their land that they intend sowing to wheat to prepare at one time.

The strawberry crop is about over again for this season, and there seemed to be a bountiful crop all over the country. The gardeners from this district who had berries to sell managed to keep the price up to ten cents per box, while others receive eleven cents per box for their entire crops.

Cherries, currants and gooseberries are now coming on. There is an exceedingly good crop of all three of these small fruits.

The price of eggs have again dropped to 23 cents per dozen at the local stores, while butter remains the same, from 28 to 30 cents. Hay is selling from ten to eleven dollars a load.

FROM WARSAW.

WARSAW, July 26.—The rains this week while general were decidely local showers. Some places got much more than others but they did good. One man had a field sown with Hungarian which had not shown and the rains brought it up, but there it has stayed. Another farmer had buckwheat sown in the low place and it had started but not on the knolls. The rain started it, but it is wilted again.

Much hay is thin. One half load to the acre is no uncommon thing and to look over the field after it is stripped one would think there had been heavy heavy, the clover is so thick on the ground. Others have good hay. Joe Wheeler had a splendid field and some old meadows have as good hay as any one could wish.

In some gardens the garden stuff is doing nicely and the needs that were kept down are not showing. Some have had much trouble with cut-worm, others have hardly seen one. Gardens that had well rotted manure put on and plowed in the fall are in better condition than those that had fresh straw manure put on and plowed in the spring.

Ale Watts had to value some sheep killed by dogs for John Drain at the head of the lake on Monday. Mr. Watts has had to go to that district before on the same mission.

ASPHODEL TOWNSHIP

HASTINGS, July 26.—An electric storm passed over this locality this week, although it lasted only a short time a considerable fall of rain came with it which was greatly needed and which will be of great benefit to the gardens.

The first ripe tame raspberries are noticed in some of the local store windowss and are selling at 22 cents per box. A few stray boxes of strawberries are available but the season for these is practically over.

Fresh vegetables of almost every variety are being sold locally by the gardeners and merchants and in each case an excellent choice may be obtained.

The haymakers are now marking hay with a vengeance, and a good crop is reported by nearly all of the farmers in this locality. In the course of a few days the haying season will soon be over. Sweet clover of which there was so much grown last year is not so plentiful this season. Timothy and Alsace and Red Clover are those most being garnered.

Various fields of rye and fall wheat are rapidly ripening and will soon be ready for the work of the binder.

Up until recently plenty of moisture has been found in the ground but the extreme heat of the past few days is beginning to make things look rather dry.

The wild raspberries are only commencing to ripen and with plenty of rain will be a fair crop.

Butter and eggs are remaining at much the same prices, eggs at 24 to 27 cents per dozen and dairy butter at 35 cents per pound. The latter is not as plentiful as a short time ago and creamery butter is being imported.

A Ryhme About Lime

When in your garden soil of clay you walk with patience day by day, through twilight dusk or bright sunshine, to try to make the soil more fine; when though you scratch and hoe and thump, the soil will still proceed to "lump," and bake as hard as any brick, and make your peas and cabbage sick; my friend, you then may know it's time to give that soil a dose of lime.

GOOD STOCK FOOD.

Screenings Are Now Being Used to Feed the Stock On.

The economic grain farmer separates his own screenings and feeds them to his stock.

This practice is being encouraged throughout the wheat belt by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It means a considerable saving to farmers.

Screenings consist of weed seeds, chaff, broken stems, straws, dirt and other foreign material, but they also include from 10 to 20 per cent of the grain as it comes from the thresher.

When sold with the grain it amounts actually to giving the screenings away. Last year, for instance, in North Dakota, South Dakota, 9innesotaa 9ontana alone, nearly 12,000,000 bushels of screenings were produced and marketed as dockage. The farmers paid $695,000 for threshing their screenings and $800,000 for transportation.

More than 3,500,000 lambs could have been fed with the wheat screenings that were wasted in the four spring-wheat states in 1923 forming the entire grain ration.

FROM COBOURG.

COBOURG, July 26.—Some Haldiman township farmers report potatoes to be a rather "patchy" crop. some rows have come along good and others have not. Others report the outlook for a good potato crop fair. As yet very few homegrown potatoes have been offered on the local market.

The local agent who is in charge of placing the farm immigrants who came to this locality states that he could place some fifty men with farmers desiring help if they were available. Very few immigrants are coming in now. Any man, who is experienced in farming who comes along can be readily placed, but the difficulty is that the majority of men who are without work do not care to go on the farms.

LAKEFIELD, July 26.—The hot sun of the last two weeks have made a decided impression on the green fields which the early rains kept beautifully green till the sun's rays turned them to gold. Grain is ripening, and the barley and rye appear to be ready for cutting. The crop, while not a record one, will probably be average. In spite of adverse reports regarding sweet clover as food for cattle, there is a good supply being grown. The hay is all cut and a great deal of it stored in the barns.

The abundant crop of strawberries is nearly over now, and the prospects for raspberries and currants is splendid. The gooseberries are being sold now, but not in large quantities.

EAST EMILY.

EAST EMILY, July 26.—Most of the farmers in this district are pretty well on with the haying, some being all through.

The pasture for cattle is getting very burnt with the dry, hot weather, and the cows are failing a great deal in their milk.

Mr. Isaac Guthrie held his barn-raising last Wednesday afternoon despite the heavy rain which came at noon. A large crowd of men turned out to help.

After the rain cleared off in the afternoon they started to raise about 3 o'clock, and everything turned out very successful and the barn was up before dark.

SHOWERS WELCOME.

OMEMEE, July 26.—Thursday's showers were warmly welcomed in this vicinity. The continued high winds for the past week were drying up the land, and much garden stuff was beginning to wilt for lack of moisture. All vegetables have grown rapidly, and with the aid of the weather man the outlook for a bountiful supply is assured. Potato fields are putting forth a wonderful bloom, which is being commented on.

The fall wheat and barley are both exceptionally good, and fancy peas are reported from one farmer in this section as the best crop in ten years One gratifying thing to the farmer who grows fancy peas is that they are sure of the price, whereas in other grains, when the crop is good the market price is low.

The hay crop is much better than was anticipated and an average yield is reported.

Red and white currants and gooseberries are plentiful and are being offered for sale at 15 cents a box.

The raspberry bushes are well loaded, and until a week or so ago, the prospects looked bright for a bumper crop. Now, however, the berries are reported as being at a standstill and are hardened on the bushes. The cause of this is laid either on a blight or the recent frost, and the hidden berries underneath. The bushes may still ripen, but the gardeners fear the crop will be light.

Green peas and beans have been offered for sale by local growers, the former selling at three quarts (in the pod) for 25 cents, while the latter brought 10 cents a quart.

The price of bread was raised to the old price of 18 cents this week, caused by the increase in the price of flour. Dairy butter is plentiful and retails at 27 cents a pound, while eggs are 25 cents a dozen.

In selecting new harness see that no portion shows cracks on the grain side when the leather is sharply bent or twisted.

THE FREEZING POINT OF THE NATURAL MILK

Milk Can Be Used To Advantage in the Making of Bread.

SCIENTIFIC TESTS.

Special Study Has Been Made of the Freezing Point of Milk.

The Chemistry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College during the past year made a study of the freezing point of milk by means of the Hortvet Cryoscope, proving the apparatus to be absolutely reliable in detecting adulation of milk by adding water. The Hortvet Cryoscope having a scientifically accurate construction, now fills that much needed requirement of an official test for detecting added water in milk regardless of the breed of cows from which the milk may be obtained.

Powdered Skimmilk.

The comparative values of powdered skimmilk and powdered buttermilk were found to be about equal in experiments carried on at the College. The average total gains per pig were 121.6 pounds for those fed on the skimmilk powder and 122.8 pounds for those fed on buttermilk powder. Although the feeding value of these products is good, the market price for hogs and the high cost of the skimmilk and buttermilk powder makes its use prohibitive as live stock feed.

Milk In Breadmaking.

The Chemistry Department has also studied experimentally the effect of whole milk, skimmed milk, condensed milk and milk powder in making bread. The whole milk naturally had some of the effects of fat, and thq sweetened, condensed milk naturally sweetened, condensed milk some of the effects of sugar, but, otherwise, milk will not replace sugar, malt or shortening in making bread. It has an influence all its own which none of these other constituents will produce. In conjunction with these other ingredients it does however, influence the flavor of the bread, and improve the color of the crust. In fact, it makes a richer loaf of bread, with greater moisture-retaining and higher food value properties.

FEEDING SILAGE BEFORE MILKING.

There is always a tendency that when green feed is given to cows shortly before milking that it will impart to the milk some odour, and possible taste. This does not always follow, but it is not considered advisable to feed green fodder, silage, or other strong smelling feeds just before milking. When cows are turned into pasture in the spring there will be developed in their milk a particular odour that to some people is quite disagreeable. Also cows turned on sweet clover, and particularly those pastured on rape or green rye, will impart to their milk a very strong odour, and possibly a flavor, unless they are taken from such pasture several hours before milking. Not only does the cow seem to pass on this undesirable odour through her blood to her milk, but where strong smelling silage is fed in the barn the odour is likely to be absorbed by the milk at the time of milking. For these reasons silage and other similar feeds are best fed after milking.

WHO IS KEPT?

We frequently hear dairymen say, "I keep ten cows," or "I keep six cows." All too often they are much nearer the exact truth than they imagine. The statement should be reversed. Dairymen should ask themselves two questions: "How many cows are keepigu me at a profit?" and "How many cows am I keeping at a loss?" There is not enough fun, amusement or excitement in caring for dairy cattle to pay too high for the privilege. The reason so many "boarder" cows are in the tie-ups of the barn is because few farmers know which cows are profitable and which are not. Milk scales, white paper, Babcock test reports and the gumption necessary to keep tabs on production over a year's period are just as essential to profitable dairying as pitchforks and milk pails.

MILK MATTERS.

Nine and one-half pounds of milk are required to make one pound of limburger cheese.

Milk will take up impurities with more rapidity and hold on to them with greater tenacity than almost any other food product.

It is easier to keep milk clean by keeping the dirt out of it than it is to clean it after the dirt has contaminated it. A clean udder will go far toward clean milk, and a few seconds spent in wiping the udder with a clean, damp cloth will prevent much future trouble.

THE CURING OF CHEDDAR

Results of Nine Tests at the Agricultural College in 1923.

The Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College made nine tests during the summer of 1923 in cheddar cheese curing. Four uniform cheese were used each week: One was placed in the curing-room directly from the press and allowed to remain there for one week, when it was removed to cold storage; one was put in cold storage at once from the press and allowed to remain there; one was put in the curing-room for three to six days, then paraffined and moved to cold storage; and one was allowed to remain in the curing-room during the whole of the ripening period. The chief objects of the experiment were to note differences in the losses of weight, and the effect upon quality of the cheese treated by these four methods. All the cheese were weighed when taken from the hoops and again at the end of one month. The cheese were scored when about six weeks old, and again about two months later.

Percentage of Shrinkage.

The average percentage of shrinkage was least for the cheese placed in the curing-room for one week, then moved to cold storage. Those paraffined and then moved to cold storage stand next; and the cold storage lots third. The greatest loss was in the lots allowed to remain in the curing-room for the full ripening period of one month. The average percentages of shrinkage were 1.98, 2.41, 2.86 and 4.42 respectively for the four lots. There was little difference in the average score of the cheese for the three lots in cold storage. Those placed in the curing-room for one week and then moved to a temperature of 40° F. scored highest; then the lots placed in storage at once; and next the lots paraffined and put in storage. The lots ripened for the full period in the curing-room were much poorer cheese at the end of the test. Unfortunately, much of the cheese of Ontario is ripened in an ordinary curing-room for too long a period.

PROPER CARE OF HENS AND CHICKS

A Few Pointers That Will Help Any Present Day Farmer.

More Poultry Pointers.

Crows are likely to steal the eggs from the late turkey nests if the nests are made at some distance from the buildings.

Be sure that the young growing chicks are well fed to promote growth and that they are given liberal range where there is abundance of green feed and also animal feed in the form of insects, worms, etc.

It is poor economy to keep more cockerels that will be needed for next year's breeding operations. If they are sold as soon as they are of broiler or fryer size a loss will be stopped and the pullets will do better without them.

Cold, damp, poorly lighted and ventilated poultry quarters favor the spread of such diseases as roup. Such contagious disease as these are difficult and sometimes impossible to control unless given attention in the early stages. Wherever preventive measures fail, separate sick birds from the flock as soon as there is evidence of disease and then obtain expert advice to effect a cure.

If the chickens must be confined on account of bad weather, provide a good straw litter to which their grain feed may be scattered. This will give them exercise and keep them interested and healthy. When chickens that have been accustomed to free range are closely confined this frequently checks their development for the time being unless they are made contented in their new quarters. Provide green feed for them also.

Indian Runner ducks seem to have gone out of fashion, which is a pity, as they are excellent layers, and stand at the head as table fowls. They are easily raised, do not make the disagreeable noises that other ducks do, and eat less than any other breed bred ducks. They thrive on coarse feed, and can be raised cheaply and safely, as a duck hatched usually means one raised to maturity.

Encouraging a cow to give milk with a milking stool is expensive to her owner. Exactly why a cow puts four or five per cent. of fat in her milk is still an unsolved problem, but the ease with which she will take the fat our out of her milk with but slight provocation has been solved many times.

PICTURES SHOW BLOW NOT FOUL

Carpentier's Pain Was Caused By Rushing Against Tunney's Knee.

BEARS FIGHT MARKS.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(Canadian Press).—Motion pictures of the Carpentier-Tunney bout reveal that the blow which felled the Frenchman in the 14th round was NOT foul, despite assertions of many ringside spectators that it was below the belt.

Gene Tunney

Carpentier and Tunney, together with their managers, Francois Descamps, and Billy Gibon, and Jack Curley, Carpentier's friend and adviser, attended a public showing of the films at a Broadway theatre Friday afternoon after which Descamps gave out the following statement:

"A mistaken impression prevails over the blow which knocked Carpentier to the resined floor of the ring in writhing pain. It was not Tunney's gloved fist that committed the alleged foul blow; it was Tunney's knee.

"We are making this assertion merely to give our side of the battle, with no intention of registering any complaint against any of the officials or the public. We are both satisfied that the referee was fair and honest,, meant us no harm and we are satisfied to abide by his decision. In conclusion we hope for a return match with Tunney and feel confident if allowed another chance we can't reverse the decision.'

Carp to Continue.

Despite pre-fight promises that if he lost to Tunney he would hang up his gloves for good and all, there is every indication that Carpentier will continue to engage in ring activities.

Carpentier yesterday was a sorry looking spectacle. His head swathed in bandages, his face swollen and his eyes rimmed with blue and black bruises, he sat in a chair in a Park Avenue apartment, where he spent last night recovering from his gruelling contest, and talked about the fight. He had but little to say, maintaining his usual reserve and leaving the talking to Descamps.

Tunney emphatically denied that the crucial blow in the 14th round, the final blow of the contest, was foul.

"It was an uppercut to the pit of the stomach," said Tunney. "I had been laying for the blow all through the fight. It's a dangerous one to use against a man with a straight right such as Carpentier depends on. I tried the blow first in the second round and was promptly nailed with a terrific overhand right to the chin. But in the fourteenth, Georges was very tired and finally left the opening I was looking for and I took advantage of it."

TENNIS TALKS.

Winner of Toss Has Big Edge in Match.

BY MERCER BEASLEY

Tennis ranks with the scientific sports, with billiards, golf and finer forms of baseball. Very frequently the most important matches are decided by eye-lash margins. Making the most of the "call of the toss" a seemingly unimportant detail, sometimes starts a player out on the road to victory.

Not enough attention is given to the possibilities of winning the toss. Yet it has its advantages no less than those in football when a captain calls the toss of the coin correctly and electes to defend the goal with the wind in his favor.

In tennis I thing the advantages are even greater. Unquestionably the player who wins the toss also wins the first 'break." He has the choice of service or court. In the cup matches some pretty keen thinking is done on this point.

If a player has it figured that he can break through his opponent's serve on the first game and win his own service os the second game he will let the other fellow serve first. In most cases, however, the toss winner serves first. The server is usually the attacker and it is up to him to show what he can do.

This may give you an idea of the value of calling the toss correctly. Say it is a close match, and each player has won his service up to four-all in games. The service then would be in the hands of the player who won the toss, and if he won that game he would be in the lead and within one game of winning the set.

This is an important advantage as any tennis player knows. It means that the leading player can afford to take all the chances, whereas his opponent must adopt the most cautious and careful sort of program.

Give a little thought to the toss the next time you call "rough" or "smooth." It means something more than just starting the match off.

BOUT FOR RENAULT.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(Canadian Press). — Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion, and Bartley Madden, New York heavyweight, yesterday were signed for a 15-round match at the Queensboro A. C. in Long Island City for the night of August 11.

FACTOR FOR PEACE.

PARIS, July 26.—Barxon Pierre de Coubertin, president of the International Olympic Committee, who played so large a part in the modern revival of the Olympic Games, took occasion in speaking at a banquet proffered to the organizers of the games by the Swedish Olympic Committee to reply to certain criticisms that the games are a failure from every standpoint and should be abandoned.

"Never since the renewal of the Olympic Games," he said, "has such success been achieved as this year, not only from the sporting side, but also from the viewpoint of improvement in the state of mind of chauvinistic spectators.

Ruffians Everywhere.

"Every one will acknowledge that athletics and other branches of sports have never risen to such heights in the history of the world. The athletes, imbued with a spirit of safe and sane rivalry, acted like gentlemen throughout. As for the public there was an improvement; it was not quite so bad as at previous Olympic games.

"Our friends and our enemies must realize that in a crowd of 30,000 spectators fifty hoodlums are sufficient to create incidents. Give me a crowd of 30,000 spectators anywhere, whether in the United States, England, France, Scandinavia or Germany, and I will find you a hundred ruffians in it."

Answers Critics.

The baron took occasion to criticize hasty and ill-timed comment in the press upon various incidents which he characterized as "insignaficant" happenings.

"The Olympic Games," he added, "have been a power for good since their renewal in 1896. If I were convinced that they bred discord and animosity between nations I would recommend that they be abandoned, although I have spent thirty years of the best of my life in organizing their renewal.

"When the present ridiculous campaign shall have died a natural death the Olympic Games will continue on, soaring higher toward perfection than ever yet attained, as a factor in bringing about general peace in the world and a friendly feeling between the nations."

CHAMP.

The champion egg layer of the world is a hen at Purdue University. For seven years she has laid an average of 177 eggs a year. Farm magazines are very excited.

It may not be impossible, eventually to produce a race of hens that would match this record or even better it. Scientific farming has such things in mind. No dollar can be better spent that in scientific investigation to increase food production.

CALL MARBERRY ANOTHER JOHNSON

Youngster Has Great Fast Ball and Nationals Class Him With Fireball King.

BY BILLY EVANS.

Is Pitcher Fred Marberry to supplant Walter Johnson as the idol of Washington fans?

Walter Johnson, wonder that he is, cannot go on forever. There must come a time when Sir Walter will say goodby to the majors.

In Fred Marberry, Clarke Griffith, head of the Nationals, believes he has a second Johnson. Manager Harris and Catcher Ruel concur in the opinion.

Marberry, big, husky right hander, is built along the lines of Johnson and has the same free, easy delivery of the veteran star. He gets everything into his swing. That should make for a long career.

Like Walter Johnson in the early period of his career, Marberry's best asset is his terrific speed. He get everything into his swing. That should make for a long career.

Fast Ball Best Asset.

At present his curve ball is just fair. He is making good progress developisg a change of pace. However, his fast ball is his best bet at present. It is his fast ball that make for a comparison with Johnson.

As a matter of fact, the hop that Marberry gets on his fast ball has made opposing teams suspicious. He ha already been accused of doctoring the ball. American League umpires, however, have been unable to find anything wrong with his style.

Muddy Ruel, rated the best catcher in the American League last season by no less as authority than Connie Mack, and who is having another big year, says this of Marberry:

Kind Words From Ruel.

"I never caught a more deceptive fast ball than the one thrown by Marberry. He can make a new ball do tricks just as easily as an old one.

"The hopes is his fast ball is made possible by his manner of delivering it. The lessons that Marbery is learning this year should make him a much improved pitcher next season.

"In addition to plenty of stuff, Marberry has a world of courage. There is no greater asset than courage. No situation is too tough for him."

Marberry has the physical assets to step into Walter Johnson's shoes. It remained to be seen if he has the even temperament and fine disposition that has featured Johnson's memorable career."

No formal appointment had been made, but when the big Argentine fighter reached the White House on a flying tour of Washington, Mr. Coolidge received him almost immediately.

TY COBB LIKES TO VISIT HERE

Team Spent the Day in Toronto—Will Visit Ontario Again.

TORONTO, July 26.—(Canadian Press). — "If I had my time over again I would probably be a surgeon instead of a baseball player," said Ty Cobb, baseball's most famous player and manager of the Detroit Tigers, who are visiting Toronto. "I am quite satisfied to stay as I am, however, and have only one sentimental regret, that is, the fact that I shall not have done any real good to humanity when I retire. I suppose everybody will have forgotten me in a few years' time. Now if I had been a surgeon—" Ty Cobb did not finish this sentence, but it may be supposed that if he had been a surgeon he might at least have had ample opportunity to cut up the umpire once in a while. "Is it true you are thinking of retiring?" "Yes," said Tyrus, "I shall not play regularly after this year. I shall play a few odd games, of course, but I shall follow no fixed schedule," Mr. Cobb said that he was never so pleased as when he had a chance to visit Ontario. "My favorite sport is hunting," he said. "I shall come to Ontario again in the fall to do a little hunting; it is a recreation in which I am most interested."

The mighty Tyrus, discussing the crowds, said that it was a pity that there was so much heckling of players. "My remedy would be to put a lot of detectives in the crowd, and when a man became obstreperous I would have a plain clothes detective go up to him and tell him to clear off. This would put a healthy fear into the minds of those who want to create a disturbance." "To what do you attribute your success?" "To perseverance and close watching of other players," Mr. Cobb answered. "I read the scores very carefully in the papers every day, for I do not naturally have time to watch other games. By studying scores, however, I am able to direct my team how to hit against opposing pitchers more effectively. The 'Georgia Peach' advocates the spread of baseball all over the world, and said that he looked forward to the day when England would take up the game. The English are specially suited to it, he said. I hope to see it played nationallv in all parts of the Empire one of these days."

GAS FOR CUBAN SOLDIERS.

HAVANA, July 26. — (Associated Press).—Orders have been approved for the Cuban army to receive instruction in gas attacks, especially in the use of tear gas, according to an announcement made by the Secretary of War. The use of this gas would be valuable not only in case of revolutionary disorders, but also in breaking up possible riots during strikes.

SIKI'S FRENCH WIFE EVICTED

White Dutch Woman Dispossessed Near Paris as Black Fighter Weds in N.Y.

NO RENT PAID MONTHS

PARIS, July 26.—(Associated Press).—Gertrude Amphler, the Dutch girl, who came to Paris from Holland in 1921 with Battling Siki, the Senegalese pugilist, was told Thursday of the battler's marriage in New York yesterday. She said:

"That is a thing I cannot believe about him."

The news was imparted to her at almost the moment when she was being dispossessed out of the little home at No. 70 Rue Murillo in Vanves, a Paris suburb, where she had lived with Siki up until the time when he left for the United States.

Battling Siki, Jr., her two-year-old child, with a tremendous chest development reminiscent of that of his father, blandly interrupted his mother with the question:

"Where is my father?"

A few chairs in the garden, a pine table and a few blankets were all that remained today of the pomp with which Louis Fall, alias Battling Siki, furnished the little villa when he brought back with him from Holland the woman who the neighbors say has suffered much from the pugilist's eccentricities.

The proprietor after a six-months' delay in the payment in rent finally told "Mme. Siki" that she must move. She was unable to object because the few struggling dollars she had received from the battler in America had ceased.

Louis, Jr., kept up his remarks. He said:

"When is my papa, the champion, coming home? You know him. I want, some chocolate."

Arthur Popillon, the Deputor Mayor of the little municipality of Vanes, never failed to address the mother "Mrs. Siki." She pointed to the little boy playing about the sidewalk with other children returning from school and asked:

"Can I have a better marriage certificate?"

Here's a Sad Story

The woman then told a despjairing story of love that had failed, of unfulfilled promises, and of the flight from Holland, against the advice of her staid midde class Dutch parents with the Mayor's office of one of the twenty arrandissements as the ultimate goal.

She admitted that she had no marriage certificate.

M. Popillon, who was present throughout the conversation with Mme. Siki, afterwards told the correspondent that Siki and Gertrude Amphler were officially received at the Vanves City Hall in 1922 after Siki's victory over Carpentier. The deputy mayor said that the woman was introduced by Siki as his wife, when they were welcomed by the officials and tendered the freedom of the municipality.

Wife Finds a Friend

Dispossessed from the home the battler made for her, Mme. Siki has sought refuge in the home of another Senegalese fighter, Paul Hams, a heavyweight, and once the champion of France.

Hams has the reputation of being a sober and industrious man. Mrs. Hams will take care of little Louis while the wife of the former light-heavyweight champion goes out to work for herself and child.

Under the French law Siki's marriage to the American woman is not valid. He may return here without being molested, although the Dutch woman is recognized as his common law wife.

GERMANS HIKE IN BATHING SUITS.

GOSLAR, Germany, July 26. — (Associated Press).—Inhabitants of the beautiful Harz region are accustomed to seeing tourists in all sorts of exotic garb, but they think it's going a bit too far when hikers now come through clad in nothing but bathing trunks and the inevitable knapsack. Numerous complaints have reached the Harz police, demanding that this nuisance be stopped.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

BY BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. Kindly give your opinion of this play, as there is a 16-inning scoreless game depending on it. Left-hander at the bat, runner on second, when batsman hits line drive to the side of the pitcher on which he could make no play. The umpire standing close to second was hit on the head. The contact did not change the direction of the ball, as the contact was slight, and it continued on its way to the outfield, getting past the fielder. The batsman made the circuit, scoring the runner ahead of him. The ball was not an infield hit, but a terrific drive, and, after striking the umpire, landed far past second base, still in the air.—T. D. B.

2. Pitcher throws ball to batsman standing in his box with his bat on his shoulder. Ball was so wide of the plate that batter, in trying to avoid it, so leaned that his bat came into contact with the ball. The result was a foul ball. There were no strikes on the batsman at the time. Was this a strike or is it treated as an accident, the ball becoming dead?—R. C. H.

ANSWERS

1. The happening was a tough break for the team at bat, but, when the umpire is hit by a batted ball, on which no play has been made, the ball becomes dead, batsman is entitled to first and no runners can advance unless forced. The runner on second simply remains there and batsman goes to first.

2. It is a strike. When bat comes into contact with a wildly pitched ball, whatever happens is legal. If ball had bounded into fair territory it would have been a fair ball.

"That depends entirely on them,' he answered. "If they send for me, yes."

Questioned farther he would not say that the reports of extreme crop damage reaching Chicago were overdrawn but he declared there were very important political reasons why the market should be closely watched for the possibility of a price collapse. INDIANS PLAY HERE MONDAY

Curve Lake Crew Will Battle With Mackey's Outfit.

The East Peterboro League game that the fans have all been looking for will be staged at the Exhibition Grounds, Monady night, when the Curve Lake crew will battle with Mackey's outfit. The Chemong indians have been the sensation of the East Peterborough loop this season by reason of their lusty clouting. The Curve Lake athletes are liable to burst into any ball that comes near the plate and when they hit one it stays hit. Some of the opposition managers are seriously thinking of supplying their infielders with masks and shinguards for use in action against the Indians. Bob Mackey team also possesses hitting ability and as the staff-of-lifers need this game to keep in the running, the strongest line up possible will be trotted out against the Curve Lake braves. Alex Kay will be master-in-chief of the ceremonies and the game will get under way at 6 o'clock sharp.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

BUSHEL OF LAUGHS IN MIX'S LATEST.

Supported by an excellent cast, Tom Mix comes to the Capitol next Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "Ladies to Board." The picture is said to be another laugh provoker on a par with "Soft Boiled" with plenty of action and Mixian thrills.

With Pee Wee Holmes as a partner, Mix inherits an old ladies' home and, starting with this situation, the story is one big laugh after another interspersed with blood warming action. Mix does some death defying stunts ten stories in the air on the structural work of a sky scraper and rides Tony with his characteristic recklessness and trick horsemanship.

In the cast are Gertrude Olmsted, playing opposite the star; Phil McCullough, the heavy; Gertrude Claire, Fay Holderness and Delores Rousse.

SIR HALL CAINE'S "THE ETERNAL CITY," AT CAPITOL MONDAY.

In the garden of an Italian villa sat three persons—an elderly man, his daughter and his adopted son. The father was an idealistic Pacifist, hating war with the depths of venom and he had devoted his life to planning ways and means of ending warfare.

His daughter was an ardent convert to his peaceful tendencies, and the youth also evinced enthusiasm on the subject of ending war.

Suddenly the garden gate burst open and a servant dashed in with a newspaper, flaring with large head-lines. Stunned, the trio read that war had been declared—that Italy was calling to its sons to volunteer.

The youth's face twitched with emotion; the others watched him closely, furtively, apprehensively. They knew the struggle that was going on in his mind.

"I shall go," suddenly announced the youth, springing to his feet.

And their pleadings fell on deaf ears. He left. A month later came word that he had died on the field of battle, but—

"The Eternal City" was adapted from the famous story by Sir Hall Caine.

AT THE ROYAL.

STIRRING REX BEACH STORY AT ROYAL MONDAY.

Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson Starred.

Seldom does a modern story offer such excellent picture material as did "Flowing Gold," the First National production of Rex Beach's "Flowing Gold," as produced by Richard Walton Tully, and which will make its bow to Royal Theatre audiences on Monday next.

It is a stirring drama of the oil fields, written in typically Rex Beach vein, and produced with the most elaborate detail. "Flowing Gold" is really the epic of oil. Tully, with his reputation for authenticity and realism, has spared no effort in the making of this masterpiece.

The story concerns the adventures of Calvin Gray, played by Milton Sills, soldier of fortune, who drifts to the Texas oil country and locates there an enemy for whom he has long searched. A battle of wits and fiance ensues, although at the start Gray is penniless, while his enemy, played by Craufurd Kent, is a banker. Both love the same girls, Barbara Parker, played by Alice Calhoun. Gray, through his friendship for the Briskows, a family of poverty-stricken nesters who strike oil in fabulous quantities, is financed for his struggle with the banker, and after a series of spectacular and exciting episodes, including some of the greatest storm, fire and fight scenes ever screened, Gray is vindicated and finds happiness.

The feminine lead, the role of Allegheny Briskow, is played by Anna Q. Nilsson, and offers her one of the greatest opportunities of her career for characterization. Other members of the all-star cast are Alice Calhoun, Craufurd Kent, John Roche, Josephine Crowell, Bert Woodruff, Charles Sellon, Frank Farrington, Cissy Fitzgerald, Francis Powers and Col. Tom Bates.

"Flowing Gold" was directed by Joseph De Grasse, with the assistance of George Reehm. The photography, which is considered remarkable, may be credited to Gilbert Warrenton and Roy Carpenter. William Henshelwood designed the settings, and Conrad Tritschler is listed as a master painter. The picture was edited by Leroy Stone.

BEAUTY TIPS TO GIRLS.

You Will Have To Either Give Up Motoring or Your Complexion.

CHICAGO, July 26.— (Sanadian Press.) — "American girls will have to give up their eternal motoring and athletics or their complexions."

This was the declaration of Dr. Nellies Cooper, president of the American Cosmeticians Society, in opening the annual convention of the organization here yesterday. Here are a few more of her "tips":

"Girls who want lovely lips must never let alcohol in any form— in drinks, perfume or toilet water—touch them.

"Girls who want bright eyes must not wear too tight, high-heeled shoes. And girls who don't want lines in their faces must stop using vanishing creams and soaps and apply cleansing and cold creams instead."

TRAINMEN TO REFUSE RATES

Increase Given on United States' Roads Is About 5 Per Cent.

TORONTO, July 26. —(Canadian Press).—After negotiations lasting about a year, Canadian National Railways and Canadin Pacific Railways yesterday notified the Brotherhood of conductors and Trainmen that they had decided to refuse rates of pay which have gone into force on lines of similar standing in United States. Increase given on the United States roads is about 5 per cent. Brotherhood originally asked to be reimbursed for reduction made some time ago, amounting to more than 12 per cent but railways conceded only 5 per cent. When this became known here, Canadian Conductors and Trainmen revised their request to companies and there have been extensive negotiations. Only recently companies expressed opinion that if certain rules were altered they might be able to grant advance, but yesterday railways informed men that even if ruls were altered they could not see their way clear to grant increase in pay.

Negotiation committee of Brotherhood will now officially bring decision of companies to full committee of Brotherhood.

HUMAN FLY WILL PERFORM

Obtained Permission From Authorities Before Advertising Performance.

"Babe" White, world renowned human fly, will perform this afternoon and evening on the Empress Hotel building, despite the resentment of some members of the City Council.

"Some people have the idea that 'Babe' is a lunatic, who has chosen the Empress Hotel as a means to effect his suicide," declared his advance agent. "He has scaled the tallest sky scrapers and the most perilous structures in the world. Then, the ridiculous idea of trying to stop him from climbing a mere three-story affair."

Mr. White's advance agent told The Examiner that she obtained the permission of the Chief of Police, who consulted the Mayor about the matter before appraising the public of the performance.

BOY WAS GAME UNTIL THE END

Called His Mother to Side of Bed to Bid Her Good-bye.

CORNWALL, Ont., July 26.—(Canadian Press.)— Game to the last although suffering agonies, nine year old Herbert H. French, of Massena, died here yesterday. Herbert had measles in May. A month later he and his playmates were playing "Indian." Herbert volunteered to be the "torture victim." One of the "Indians" grasped Herbert's arm and twisted it. The youngster made no outcry, but the pain finally became so severe that he fell backward, the side of his head striking on the railway track near where they were playing, inflicting a wound more than an inch in length.

The boy's condition, weakened by the attack of measles, was such that he proved an easy prey for meningitis, which developed as a result of the cut.

Patiently and with set teeth, he enacted the pain of the disease just as he had endured the tortures at the hands of the "Indians." He had no ill will towards his playmates, of the game. Just before his death he called his mother to his side. "Mama," he said, with a smile, "I've always had lots of grit, but it is gone now. I'm dying, mama."

WILL FIND NO DUST ON SUNDAY

The Citizens Are Requested To Examine Paved Streets of City.

Mr. H. M. Bishop has consented to have a Dominion dustless sweeper go over the main thoroughfares of the city in the small hours of Sunday morning.

Saturday's collection of dust and litter about the streets is the worst of the week and the business section of the city presents an unsightly condition on Sundays.

Mayor Turner requested Mr. Bishop to do this, so that the citizens might have an opportunity of witnessing the results of an efficient method of street sanitation.

The members of the city council, who have been negotiating with the Dominion Dustless Sweeper Cororation for the purchase of a machine, before making a hasty purchase wish to have the public appraised of the real value of the dry dustless street cleaning system.

The sweeper will pass over George street from Dalhousie to McDonnel, Hunter from Aylmer to Burnham; Charlotte from George to Aylmer; Water from Brock to Charlotte; and on Simcoe from Water to Aylmer.

It was explained by Mr. Bishop that the first cleaning is not as effective as it might be. After the area is traversed for a third time, a sweeper can operate much quicker as the hardened portions of dust smeared to the surface in the gutters and curbs do not collect, if regularly gone over by a machine.

The aldermen, who were high in their praise of the efficiency of the dry dustless system, were not worried by this suggestion and feel that the citizens will notice the improvement so marked over the broom and shovel method that when the streets are viewed by the public on Sunday the results will be fully better than expected.

THOUSANDS GATHER AT STE ANNE SHRINE

Cripples of All Descriptions With Hope in Their Eyes Await Their Turn.

STE. ANNE DE BEAEPRE, Que. July 26.—(Canadian Press).— More than twenty thousand people are here to-day attending the feast of Ste. Anne and only for the fact that old bassilica has not yet been replaced, spectacle presented would have all splendor for former years. In the course of a week hundreds of people have been coming in from all parts of the country to attend the preparatory mission but since yesterday the flow has increased greatly.

Cripples of all descriptions with hope in their eyes have been seeking intervention of Thaumaturgus, some of them spending part of the night in one or other of the numerous chapels while others have been waiting for hours their turn to go to confession. Redemptorist Fathers spent a busy evening and were engaged from early hours this morning in answering calls from pilgrims. At five o'clock this morning, Archbishops, Bishops, Pelates and Priests from all parts of Canada and United States started to say mass at numerous alter, installed in Ste. Anne temporary church. The home of priests are accompanying pilgrimages and large parties from Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

In conversation some of the Redemptorists Fathers stated thatt here were more cripples than usual at the shrine and the scene presented a touching one. As usual in course of service cries, of "miracle, miracle," have been heard but up to noon none of alleged cries had been given approbation of redemptorists fathers.

NEW POTATOES ON THE OPEN MARKET

Also a Man With a Lot of Cheap Foreign Money —To-day's Prices.

"Gentlemen, I'm a regular he-man. I'm lily white from head to feet," was the modest pronouncement of the gentleman who was purveying foreign paper money on the farmer's market this morning. Speaking of his prowess at a recent public meeting in Hamilton, when he and his son cleaned up six interrupters in the audience, the speaker drifted to reminiscenses of war days, when he "left a wife and nine children to go and fight amidst all sorts of vermin. And we thought we were fighting for freedom. Here's an example of your freedom and your liberty! Compelled to pay a tax of fourteen dollars on an automobile in Ontario. Made to pay a head tax and licenses to stand up and talk to the people." Tacked to a green baize board were samples of much-ornamented foreign paper currency, with divers outlandish languages and many read and blue curlicues inscribed thereon.

A load of hay on the open market was $16 and a load of soft wood in short lengths $8. The auctioneer had a trying time of it, attempting to dispase of several horses, finally refusing to accept the bids offered on three; a brown mare for which the highest bid was $15, a driver whom no one would offer more than $35 for, and a sleepy old white horse with blong white eyelashes that went up to $5.

New potatoes on the open market were 50 cents a peck, in good quality new carrots could be bought, six bunches for a quarter, with new beets, seven bunches for the same price; sweet cherries were 30 cents a quart, the ordinary fruit selling for two quarts for twenty-five cents; three quarts of peas could be bought for the same amount, and string beans were ten cents a quart. Two boxes for a quarter, was the price asked for gooseberries, and red raspberries were 20 cents a box. Red currants were ten cents a box, and black currants 25 and 35 cents a quart.

Butter and eggs were not as plentiful as usual this morning. Butter sold for 35 and 37 cents a pound, eggs were 30 to 32 cents a dozen. Spring chickens were 45 and 50 cents a pound. A few English broad beans were 15 cents a quart. Two ladies in hiking outfits occasioned much comment and surprise amongst the feminine deans of the market this morning.

SHE WED COMEDIAN TO REFORM HIM BUT ASKS COURT'S RELEASE

Former Ziegfield Follies Girl Seeks Separation, Alleging Many Beatings—Forgave Him Often, But Patience Reaches End.

"Heaven help a girl who marries a nut comedian."

Janet Lawson Rose, formerly of the Ziegfeld Follies, made this fervent observation following the filing of her suit for a separation from Jack Rose, straw hat-smashing comedian in vaudeville.

She asked Justice McGoldrick for $200 weekly alimony and $2,500 counsel fees, the latter to be paid her trial counsel, Rudolph Stand, and her attorneys, November and Jaffe, No. 160 Broadway.

The filing of the suit brings to light charges of brutality outdoing the alleged pugilistic propensities of Frank Tinney.

Mrs. Rose charges her husband with a series of beatings, assaults and inhuman attacks.

Has Lasting Scar.

She carries a permanent scar on her forehead, caused, she says, by a blow with his clinced fist a week after they had been married. The blow landed on her right eyebrow, and broke a blood vessel. The sight was saved only by the efforts of a Chicago specialist.

In the office of her attorneys on Friday she freely discussed her turbulent married life with Rose.

She is so small it seemed impossible she could have withstood the beatings alleged in her affidavit.

She prefaced her remarks with the cynical observation:

"Jack wore out his knees wooing me, but, once won, he wore out his fists proving his ownership.

"I foolishly tried to make a man of him. I'll admit that I knew he had a reputation for wildness, but he promised that if I would marry him he would straighten up. That's a joke. I have a letter here."

Would Sweeten Down.

From her handbag Mrs. Rose extracted a bundle of letters, opened one and read this paragraph:

"Honey, I know I am a little wild, but I will sweeten down gradually and when we are together I will start saving money and I now trust you enough to listen to whatever suggestions you make."

There were other letters, all fervent appeals that she marry him. But disillusionment followed. Of this she said:

"We were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Pryor in Memphis when Jack took offense at some remark I made. He slapped me and knocked me to the floor. Mr. Pryor threw him into the street.

"During the time I lived with him I did not know him to draw one single sober breath. Always the day after a beating he would be contrite and beg my forgiveness. Each time I foolishly believed the beating would be the last.

When She Got Cured.

"We were at the Brown Jug Hotel in Birkenhead, England, in 1923, when Jack came home after the theatre beastly drunk. He called me vile names and made terrible accusations against me. He started to choke me. If it had not been for the hotel proprietor I truly believe he would have killed me.

"That cured me of trying to cure him. I telegraphed my mother who lives at Central Park, L.I., and returned to this country. When he came back he made overtures to me, but I was not foolish enough to listen to him."

Through his attorneys, Goldie and Gumm; No. 1540 Broadway, Rose made a general denial of his wife's charges. He submitted an affidavit concerning the actions of his wife last Thursday night, the eve of the filing of her suit. He said he found her in "New York's most exclusive club restaurant at 4 o'clock in the morning." She was with two men and another girl. On seeing him she departed.

Rose said he followed her to her apartment, No. 236 West Seventeenth Street, where she is living under the name of Janet Emerson.

Rose summoned a policeman after he had been refused admittance and when a man left the apartment he admitted that he had been with Rose's wife, the husband asserts.

Justice McGoldrick reserved decision until next Wednesday.

SHOT BY DETECTIVE

Montreal Man Tried to Escape After Killing Another.

MONTREAL, July 28—After hearing the evidence the coroner's jury on Saturday in the case of Michael Delicati, 63, who died Friday night after being struck by Lorenzo Latore 33, returned a verdict of manslaughter against the latter. Latore is in the General Hospital here with a bullet in his hip fired by a detective, when Latore tried to escape arrest after the tragedy.

Evidence showed that the attack on Delicati was unprovoked. According to one of the witnesses, he was a man much given to knocking people about.

DOMINION TRADE BALDWIN PLANK

British Conservative Leader Censures Labor Party for Rejecting Preference.

INVITES CHURCHILL

MANCHESTER, July 28.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—An invitation to Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill and other waverers to join the Conservative party was made Saturday by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin at a huge open-air demonstration here. He said that the Conservative party today more than ever felt its responsibility to the nation and the empire and would rejoice to have the co-operation of all animated with the desire to secure a broad policy of constitutionalism against communism.

The issue at the next election, the Conservative leader said, would not be tariffs but a social programme of development of inter-imperial trade and the safeguarding of home industries against unfair foreign competition. He asserted that the Labor government's behaviour over imperial preference was one of the greatest acts of folly that any government has committed in years past. Therefore, he said, one of the most important make every possible arrangement planks of the Conservatives was to with the dominions to keep and extend trade advantages.

SLAYERS' MINDS DISEASED WILL BE THE DEFENSE

Seven Alienists Will Testify as to Mental Irresponsibility of Youths.

PLAY GAME TO END

CHICAGO, July 28.—Hope of saving Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb from the gallows centres in the plans of their counsel to prove a degree of mental irresponsibility on their part due to "diseased minds."

"The defense will contend," said Clarence S. Darrow Saturday night, "that the boys have diseased minds and that they were not responsible for their acts. The question of legal insanity will not be brought forth by the defense."

An index of this line of effort was afforded by the appearance in court of Dr. William J. Healy of Boston and Dr. Benjamin Glueck of New York, two prominent alienists, specialists in juvenile delinquency. They were added to a staff of five Chicago alienists selected to present the story of the youths' alleged mental debility before Justice Caverly.

Dr. Healy is Director of the Baker Foundation of Boston. Dr. Glueck was formerly examining alienist at Sing Sing Prison and more recently attached to the Municipal Courts in New York.

One of the grounds on which the defense will base a plea for mercy will be the youth of Leopold and Loeb. Neither is 20 years old.

Almost simultaneously, after the week-end adjournment of the hearing, Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, declared regarding his plea for the death penalty:

"I think we have made out an iron-clad case."

Mr. Crowe had touched bottom in the pit which for four days had supplied seemingly endless material for "the mountain of evidence," which he said would place the college students in the shadow of the hangman's noose. He expects to scrape the bottom clean today.

The bearing of the defendants was in marked contrast with that of previous days. Earlier in the week they sat for noticeable intervals apparently paying only casual attention to the proceedings. They talked light-heartedly and whispered frequently in jovial mood to their attorneys and guards.

Saturday, however, the youths sat through the two-hour session under apparent self-restraint. They appeared to pay strict attention to the trial, and spoke to each other only on two or three occasions, and then in sharp contrast to the jaunty demeanor of other days. Outside the courtroom the restraint seemed thrown aside and easy nonchalance was again in evidence.

Prisoners Nonchalant in Cells.

"With our looks and Darrow's brains, I think we'll get along pretty well," was Leopold's comment after he and his fellow-prisoner were taken back to the jail.

Leopold's spectacles, the slender clue on which the State's Attorney began the examination of the two youths, were again before the court. They were identified positively by Jacob Weinstein, head of the optical house which produced them, as those constructed according to the specifications on a job ticket bearing Leopold's name.

Today the State planned to offer testimony calculated to identify the handwriting of the prisoners. Then will come the testimony of John Levinson, son of another wealthy family, who was once considered as a possible victim instead of Franks, and Irving Hartman, a schoolmate, who was the last person to see Franks alive. The finale of the State's case probably will come in the afternoon, when stenographers will be called to read the confessions of the defendants. Then, perhaps Tuesday morning, the defense will begin.

It is from the demeanors of the youths that the alienists for the State partly expect to prove that they are sane and mentally responsible, Doctors William O. Krohn and Haroid Douglas Singer said.

The studied courtesy of the two, Leopold especially, during the first days in custody, the alienists take as a basis for their theory.

"Any one who recognizes social rights as Leopold did must also recognize individual rights—the individual right to life," the experts said. "He must sense the worth of actions, the worth of values. If he kills, robs another of an individual right, he does so with understanding and malice. If he can weigh ounces he can weigh pounds."

Not since Da Vinci painted his Mona Lisa has a smile been the subject of more comment than that with which these two boys face the world at their trial for the murder of little "Bobbie" Franks. They smile as they enter the courtroom; they laugh together during the testimony from the witness stand—

WRETCHED PALS IN CHICAGO MURDER

These are the latest and best pictures of Nathan F. Leopold Jr. (left) and Richard Loeb, confessed slayers of Robert Franks, Chicago schoolboy. They were taken by an NEA Service photographer in Cook County Jail, Chicago, through the courtesy of Clarence F. Darrow, chief defense counsel, just before the youthful "intellectuals" went into court to plead guilty to the crime.

Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, writes: When will parents wake up to the fact that so many of them do not know their children, that so many of them know as little of their children as these parents must have known when these boys were revelling in the Nietzscheisms of "I love the great destroyers because they are the great adorers," instead of a more wholesome interest in those things that concern the football field? When they were revelling in the obscenities of Pietro Aretino and his lascivious "Scourge of Princes" and acts of perversion that should have never been permitted to taint their fine young minds? In a lesser degree, or from different angles, how many parents know of these things that are surging in the minds of their own children?

Dupont was on the roof of a two storey house working when he slipped and fell to the ground. He was taken to Notre Dame Hospital where it is thought he cannot recover. Other fatalities over the week-end include the following: Arthur Jedoin, 58, of Cartiersville, died at the Royal Victoria Hospital from abdominal injuries suffered when he was run over by an automobile in that village, 24 hours previously. He had not noticed the motor car approaching.

MONTREAL GANG OF CONFIDENCE MEN ARRESTED

Sum of $100,000 in Cash Seized in Raid by Police —Thirteen Bagged.

NOTORIOUS LEADER.

Ringleader Faces Charges Up and Down United States.

MONTREAL, July 28. — A gang of men, said by the police to be internationally notorious confidence men, that has had its headquarters in Montreal, and is alleged in the past six weeks to have swindled the tourists out of amounts totalling over a million dollars, was rounded up by the city detectives on Saturday as a result of a secret police campaign launched some months ago to rid the city of these people.

Over one hundred thousand dollars in cash, alleged to be the fruit of the gang's activities for the past two weeks, was seized by detectives. At present the money lies in a downtown safety deposit waiting for some of the gang's victims to claim it.

Thirteen men are being held at detective headquarters till replies to enquiries made by the police are received from points in the United States.

Obtaining $25,000.

"English Chappie" Lewis, alias Edward Long of the United States, alleged ringleader of the gang, and George Wallace, of Montreal, were arraigned in the police court on Saturday charged with obtaining $25,000 under false pretences from H. L. Christen of Chicago.

Sergeant Detectives Savard O'Donnell, Walsh and Gorman arrested the two men as they attempted to board a train for New York City Thursday night. Post office Inspectors H. N. Graham and Bert Donaldson, attached to the United States Secret Service Bureau at Washington were at the station at the time the arrest was being made and believed that they recognized Lewis as an internationally famous confidence man wanted in London, Paris and many cities of the United States.

In the police court both men pleaded not guilty and were remanded for a week. Lewis was held without bail, while George Wallace was required to furnish $10,000 cash.

The other eleven arrested have not yet been arraigned but it is said will face similar charges next week.

Local detectives who raided the gang's headquarters in a large downtown bulding, seized large bundles of what appeared to be genuine $100 and $1000 bills. The bundles however were merely camouflaged with real bills on the top and magazines cut up to the size of the ordinary bank bill, but on first glance they gave the appearance of the actual cash. Piles of stationery bearing the letterhead of the J. P. Morgan Co., internationally known bankers, were also confiscated by the police.

Charges from St. Augustine and Jacksonville, Florida, are now pending against Lewis. United States Federal officers allege that he obtained $50,000 from Simon Touch of St. Augustine, in 1921. The same year he is said to have secured $20,000 from J. E. Blumenthal, Jacksonville. Both men were identified on Friday night by Chester as the men who had taken his money.

Others arrested in the round-up by the police but who have not yet been arraigned, include the following: Abe Green, Boston, Mass.; William Newburn and "Frenchy" Russell, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Harry Fore, Boston, Mass.; James Morgan, of New York; James Hilliard, Chicago; Melbin Grew, St. Louis, Mo.; Gus Johanssen, Winnipeg, and Frank Hazleton, Detroit.

COUPLE CONFESSES DOING 51 MURDERS

Pole and His Wife Admit Having Made Assassination and Robbery Their Trade.

BERLIN, July 28.—The deeds of all wholesale murderers who have shocked the world pale before the gruesome record of a young married pair arrested at Grodno, Poland They have confessed that they killed and robbed no less than fifty-one persons.

The slayers are Stanislav and Germanida Zbonski. He is twenty-eight and she twenty-two years old.

The first husband of the woman whose name was Szykowicz, was their initial victim. At her instigation and with her help Zbonski killed Szykowicz as he slept in a field.

After that the pair adopted murder and robbery as a trade. Armed with knives and revolvers they ambushed victims along lonely roads or murdered them in their homes.

Zbonski and his wife were arrested in connection with only one of these murders, but under the grilling of the police they confessed to others until the list of victims now numbers fifty-one.

FOUR MIRACLES.

Crutches Discarded and a Deaf Mute Speaks at Famous Shrine.

QUEBEC, July 28.(—Special). — With the annual celebration of the feast of St. Anne de Beaupre, an exceptionally heavy rush of business has been experienced by local hotels, especially the Chateau Frontenac, at which famous hostelry hundreds of guests have been arriving during the past week with the intention of being present for this great religious celebration.

It was learned yesterday at the presbytery of St. Anne Debeaupre that at least 5,000 people received holy communion.

Four miracles were reported after the conclusion of high mass by Rev. Father Girroux, parish priest. One woman who entered the church on crutches immediately stood erect after the principal mass and announced that she had been cured by her infirmity, while another, a deaf mute, thus afflicted since birth, commenced speaking after the close of the service. Details as to names and corning the other reported miracles were not available today.

HONEYMOON CAR

Cape May Court House, N. J., July 28.—A father, mother, son and his intended bride were killed here by a locomotive of the Pensylvania Railroad on Saturday when the son, on the way to the court to obtain a driver's license, drove his car on the tracks of the Hand Avenue grade crossing.

The victims of the accident were Julius and Bertha Myers, their son, John, 21, and 16 year old Jenie Elliott, an orphan, who had lived with the Myers family at South Millville, and was betrothed to John.

The son had undergone an examination as to his qulifications to drive a car last week and had arranged to call at the court house here for the license when he was taking his parents and fiancee for a week-end outing at Wildood. John took a short cut to the crossing on Hand Avenue which is near the Court House, and which it was said was unguarded.

As he neared the track none of the occupants of the car heard the rumbling of a locomotive which was travelling at high speed without cars in the direction of Millville from this place.

The front of the automobile had crossed one of the rails when Myers saw the locomotive. He tried to put on more speed but the cowcatcher struck and wrecked the automobile, and sent the four occupants twenty feet through the air in different directions. The locomotive ran several hundred feet before it was stopped.

The crash was heard by several persons who were standing on the platform of the railroad station near by, and when they reached the scene of the accident the four victims were dead. Coroner Hand ordered that the bodies be sent to the morgue at Millville, 25 miles from here.

The father was foreman in the Silver Run Sand Company at Millville where the sun also was employed. Four daughters survive the dead couple. The son had bought the automobile for his honeymoon

TOKIO, July 28—Canadian Press—One hundred and fifty nine persons were drowned in the wreck of the steamship Tairei Maru, off Cape Natroro, north east of Hokkaido, late last night, says a despatch to a Tokio newspaper. The vessel is a freighter and was carrying 138 passengers besides a crew of 54, and was bound for Otaru at the time of the wreck. Eighteen passengers and five of the crew reached Toyohara in life boats.

The cause of the wreck is obscure The press despatch says it resulted from a collision with the Kamakura Maru but other advices state that it was due to striking rocks. All aboard the ship were Japanese.

TWO WOMEN HELD

In Cranbrook, B. C., Jail for Seven Weeks Without Charges.

CRANBROOK, B. C., July 28.—(Canadian Press).—Two women, one seventy years old, the other her daughter, 30, whose names are withheld, have been held in the city jail here for the last seven weeks, but with no charges against them. They came here from California, failing to report to immigration authorities. They were found near the city, and stated they were en route east to relatives and friends, although apparently they were destitute. Not knowing they had to report at the line, they came into Canada about fifty miles south of Cranbrook.

Although the matter has been taken up by the Dominion police, and immigration officials, nothing so far has been done. The question has been carried to Washington, and it now lies between the United States and the immigration officials to straighten it out. In the meantime, British Columbia has to support them, and for lack of a better place they are being kept in the city jail.

AUTO CRASHES INTO ELM TREE

Francis Walsh To-day in Toronto Hospital in a Critical Condition.

SIX OCCUPANTS.

HASTINGS, July 28. — Frank Walsh, while driving a touring car, with five occupants, along the bend over the Peterboro road, about one mile west of Hastings yesterday, ran into an elm tree, badly fracturing his chest, breaking his jaw bone in three places and having several front teeth knocked out.

Medical help was summoned and it was found necessary to have Mr. Walsh sent to a Toronto hospital, where all is being done to effect his recovery, which appears somewhat hopeless.

The car is owned by R. J. Walsh, father of the injured driver.

As the car was taking the bend in the left hand side of the road, bordering a 4 foot ditch, it would not answer to the brakes, although the driver attempted to slacked the speed. As a result, the car skidded, running into an elm tree and uprooting the tree. The windshield and steering wheel were both broken, the latter ramming Mr. Walsh's chest, causing the many fractures he received.

The other five occupants of the car are not suffering from any after effects, except from the shock of the accident.

The car contained Mr. Richard Walsh and family of Asphodel, who were motoring to church when the mishap occurred.

Frank, the driver, was the youngest member of the family.

KING REVIEWED MIGHTY FLEET

Most of 194 Warships Were Completed Since War—Latest Types.

GREAT CONCOURSE

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 28.—Stretching away in ten lines of four miles each, Great Britain's naval strength in home waters, comprising 194 warships with 30,000 officers and men, was reviewed Saturday in Spithead Waters by Britain's sailor King George, the Duke of Connaught and the Prince of Wales from the deck of the royal yatch Victoria and Albert.

The pageant under the command of Admiral Sir John M. de Robeck, Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic Fleet, was the first since the great naval review of 1914 which was held also in Spithead Waters just before the outbreak of the Great War.

Every vessel in the 1914 review was obsolete, while the present units were completed since the war and most of them were of the latest types. There were battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines, mine sweepers and aircraft carriers from the decks of which new types of airplanes took off and hovered over the royal yacht.

In connection with the magnificent array of fighting forces Saturday, the Admiralty issued a pamphlet describing Queen Victoria's review of the fleet in 1856, when 240 vessels, including a paddle-wheeler and several floating batteries, passed before the royal yacht.

Saturday, the King's yacht steamed along the lines accompanied by the Admiralty yacht on which members of the Labor Government were passengers. These two boats were accompanied by the huge mine layer Princess Margaret carrying representatives of the Dominions, while many thousands of holiday-makers witnessed the pageant from the seashore.

THE WEATHER.

Rainfall on Saturday afternoon during the thunder and hail storm was .33 (or one-third of an inch) but in the business section and in the south end it was very much heavier, while in some places near by not a drop fell. Saturday well illustrated the erratic course and local nature of the ordinary thunderstorm. —W.P.

"LOG" WAS AN ALLIGATOR.

And it Bites the Louisiana Man Who Steps On It.

MARKSVILLE, La., July 28. — Thomas Briggs of Little River, near here, is recovering from the attack of a sixteen-foot alligator which he encountered yesterday while picking moss in the swamps.

In crossing a ditch containing about four feet of water, Briggs stepped on something he thought was a log. The "log" proved to be an alligator, which caught Briggs just above the knee cracking the bone of his leg.

After a struggle the alligator let go and made a vicious attempt to catch Briggs's body, but the man leaped in time to prevent the animal getting a firm hold.

Briggs's cries for help attracted the attention of a brother near by, who shot and killed the alligator.

GAS ROUTES AUDIENCES.

Bottles of It Spilled in Three Theatres Owned by One Man.

OSSINING, July 28. — Police of Ossining, Port Chester and Stamford co-operated in trying to find the miscreants who let loose tear gas in the three movie theatres in those places owned by John Ungerfeld. According to Chief of Police Frank Minnerly of Ossining, the gas was made of oil of mustard, chloroform and formaldehyde. Bottles of it were placed in each of the theatres under Ungerfeld's management on Friday night when the houses were crowded.

The gas was of a very disagreeable odor and caused the eyes to smart and shed tears. All the patrons had to leave the theatres. According to the police, Ungerfeld has had some differences with union musicians, and no longer has a contract with the union.

EXONERATE WIFE WHO DROVE AUTO

Inquest at Port Hope Into the Death of E. D. Kelen —The Verdict.

COBOURG, July 28.—The inquest which was re-opened at Port Hope on Thursday night to inquire into the cause of the death of Mr. E. D. Kelen, of Belleville, who was killed in a motor accident on the Provincial highway a short time ago, exonerated Mrs. Kelen. A number of people who resided in the locality where the accident occurred gave their evidence, including Mrs. S. Cook, who was driving along the highway, and stopped to render assistance; Mrs. Raby, who tried to revive Mr. Kelen; Mr. Marvin, who resided near the place of accident; the physician called, Dr. W. H. Benson; the undertaker, Mr. A. W. George; Mr. Robert Sculthrope, who took the car to the garage, and others. Mr. W. F. Kerr, county Crown attorney, Cobourg, addressed the jury. Mr. R. D. Popton, of Belleville, represented the Kelen family. The jury was composed of Messrs. S. R. Caldwell, A. Fulford, W. J. Crowhurst, W. Greenaway, A. Tickell, A. J. Chester, W. W. Williams, C. Roberts and W. Barleigh.

Elgon D. Kelen came to his death on July 5th, 1924, as the result of injuries received in the overturning of his automobile on the Provincial Highway. We are of the opinion that the overturning of the automobile was caused by the rough and dangerous condition of the said highway, and which caused Mrs. Margaret M. Kelen to lose control of the said automobile, and further exonerated Mrs Kelen from any blame in connection with her husband's death.

The grounds were prettily decorated and there were booths of all kinds, which, with their pretty decorations, added to the beauty of the scene, as well as doing a flourishing business and helping materially in the financial success of the occasion. Tea was served from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., and enjoyed by many. In the evening there was a large crowd. Cobourg Concert Band gave a fine program. There were many pleased winners among the fortunate ones who won the prizes.

HOPPE DIVORCED.

Children To Divide Time Between Parents.

NEW YORK, July 28.—An interlocutory decree of divorce for William Hoppe, billiard champion, from Mrs. Alice Beatrice Hoppe, was filed in the Supreme court based on the verdict of a jury finding Mrs. Hippe guilty of misconduct with a traveling salesman at the Hotel Imperial in November last. The evidence was obtained in a raid in which Mr. Hoppe's mother took part.

The decree, signed by Justice Wagner, divides the custody of the children Alice Beatrice, aged 12, and Williiam Thomas, 5 years old. The father is to put the daughter in a Catholic boarding school but she is to spend her vacations equally with her parents. The mother is also to have the son for certain months of the year, and will receive $60 a month for the support of the boy when he is with her.

Mrs. Hoppe is the daughter of Thomas W. Walsh of 141 West Ninety-fifth street and sister of George Walsh, film star and Raoul Walsh, movie director. She married the billiard champion in Baltimore in 1910.

SOFT BALL GAME PLAYED IN TWEED

Houston Company Come From Behind and Trim Steel Trough Lads.

On Saturday afternoon at Tweed a softball fixture was played between the Houston Company and the Steel Trough, the former winning by the score of 22 to 16 after an exciting game that lasted for nine innings. The Steel Trough boys broke away like wild horses in the early stages of the game and had the score 14 to 6 in their favor at the end of the fifth inning. The Houston nine were not to be kept down, and turned around and played a whirlwind of a game in the last four innings, gathering in sixteen counters and holding the Steel Trough boys to two lone tallies, making the score 22 to 16. It was a great come-back that the Houston nine made and the pace they set in the last three innings was very fast.

The teams lined up as follows:

Houston Co.—G. Sager p, N. Benn c, F. Houston 1b, B. Houston 2b, A. Logan 3m, E. Godfrey and R. Denike ss, D. Benn rf, C. Cherry lf, H. S. Conner cf.

Steel Trough—T. Leal p, Gordon Thompson c, M. Palmateer 1b, N. Basley 2b, F. Duggan 3b, D. Basley and F. Rogers ss, R. Parks rf, G. Thompson lf, H. Countryman cf.

TWEED ORGANIZED SOFT BALL LEAGUE

The Membership at Present Reaches Over the 100 Mark.

TWEED, July 28. — The Softball League is organized and in full swing. It has a membership of over one hundred men, who have been arranged in eight teams—10 men on a team. The Victorias, the Pick-ups, the Houston Co. and the Steel Trough are the first four teams and have a schedule drawn up for July and August. The Stars, the Skeeters, the Leafs, and the Orioles also have a schedule. At the end of August the winning team in each group will play off the tie.

There are also two teams of girls, the High School Girls and the Town Girls.

On Saturday afternoon the Houston Co. played the Steel Trough. The rain delayed the game for awhile, but about four o'clock they started to play, in spite of the wet grass. It was a laughter inspiring game. The fat men were placed where they would not have to stoop too much or climb fences. The ball would get itself lost, but that gave everyone a breathing spell. The Steel Trough promised to win at the beginning, but the Houston Co. wakened up after the fifth inning and won the game.

Trent River Memorial

A. H. McKeel, who was the moving spirit in erecting the monument at Trent River in memory of Alfred Oliver Cowain, the only resident from that district who was killed in the Great War, is now engaged in a campaign to raise money for beautifying the grounds on which the memorial stands. A brother of the late Veteran, Charles Cowain, died recently at his home in Campbellford from the effects of being gassed while on duty overseas, and it is proposed to put, his name on the memorial. This to be inscribed, like that of his brother, one a Scotch granite tablet inserted in the cement base. A fence will be erected and flowers planted around the monument.

For the purpose of raising funds an entertainment was held Friday night in the pavilion at Trent River under the auspices of the Memorial committee of which Mr. McKeel is chairman. The prize of the evening a fancy cake was won by Alfred Pike of Toronto, who held the winning ticket 220.

Wrinkles Removed in 15 minutes—Cost 3 Cents!

Quite a sensation has been created in certain social circles over the wonderful rejuvenating effects of a simple tarkroot mixture which any woman can easily apply at home. The results are so remarkable that one has told others, who in turn have told many more, and now the new method bids far to supersede all the patent "wrinkle removers," massage and other things used for the purpose.

This is the procedure: A spoonful of powdered tarkroot is mixed with a spoonful of lemon juice, and this is spread over the face. An amazing transformation takes place, as the mirror shows. In less than 15 minutes wrinkles, crowsfeet and creases have completely vanished! Facial contour is noticeably improved and the face looks years younger. The most skillful massaging could not produce such a wholesome effect as remains after the mixture has been washed off. Tarkroot is of course perfectly harmless. Is expensive, too. An original package from the druggist contains sufficient to bring the cost per treatment under 3 cents.

Six Men Declare This Six Foot Sturgeon Was Landed By Captor In His Bare Hands

SEVERN FALLS, July 28. — (Canadian Press).—One of the most remarkable fish stories of the season is being told here concerning a government official, who captured a sturgeon weighing 87 1-2 pounds, with his hands. The yarn is vouched for by the following members of the Toronto Canoe Club, who arrived on the scene as the monster was being brought ashore: Billy Watts, Fred Johnston, Bob Wilson, Jim Gilpin Len Benson and George McKay Blasting operations so the story goes, caused the sturgeon to land in shallow water among rocks, from which it sought in vain to escape. The government official, seeing its plight dashed into the water and struggled with the fish until he got it on dry land. It was over six feet long.

PRICE OF RURAL POWER RAISED

Burnbrae Farmers Have Been Hydro Customers for 12 Years.

COST NEARLY DOUBLE

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28. — Farmers in the Burnbrae district who have been patrons of the Hydro Electric for the past twelve years, have been notified of an increase in the cost of their power, which increase will take effect from the first of August. This means that the cost will be at least doubled, and the farmers are considering whether they will stand this new expense or revert to the old system of lighting their premises.

The situation was thoroughly threshed out at a meeting held here of the Seymour Council and the interested consumers who heard the matter explained by Engineer Iler of the Hydro Commission. No definite arrangement, however, was made as the farmers wanted more time for consideration.

Contract With Seymour Co.

A number of farmers on the Sixth Concession made a contract for power with the Seymour Company in 1912. There was no agreement as to the length of the contracts, but when the system was taken over by the Hydro, power was supplied at the same flat rate, $36 for one, $60 for two and $75 for three horse power. There was no service charge. Two years ago the Hydro put in meters, but these were not used, the flat rate continuing up to the present.

Farmers on the Fifth Concession, on which the village of Menie is situated, petitioned the Hydro for an extension of the line through their territory, these farmers being under the impression that the flat rate charged their neighbors would be allowed themselves. The survey was made, the required number of patrons per mile was secured, when the announcement of the new rates to old and new consumers alike caused a halt in the proceedings.

The Hydro asked for a 20-year guarantee from the township that the terms of the contract would be carried out, but no action was taken by the Council at the request of the farmers interested. The meeting referred to was then called.

The New Rates.

To begin with, in the new schedule there is a service charge of $4.19 a month, or $50 a year, to every consumer who owns a 100-acre farm, this charge being based on the cost of building and maintaining the line. The owner of 50 acres or of a village lot is to be charged in proportion.

The flat rate is to be abolished and the meter system substituted, the charge to be six cents per kw. hour for the first 48 hours and two cents for the time of consumption afterwards. Each consumer is to be required to sign a 20-year contract, this to remain in effect a first mortgage on the farm for the life of the contract. Farmers who have been paying approximately $3 a month for their power under the old agreement now figure that their new rates would increase their monthly bills to at least $7.

Engineer Iler told the farmers that they had been getting power at less than cost for the past 12 years and that the new schedule was the same as that in effect throughout the Central Ontario district.

GERMAN.

Lately Germany has been exporting about 33 million dollars worth of goods a month more than what she has imported from other countries. This may not seem a lot, but its' surplus of almost 400 million dollars a year. That would cut quite a figure, applied on war reparations. The importance of this is that it demonstrates Germany is not completely gone economically—that it still is possible to get her back on her feet.

OLD ENGLISH INHERITANCES LOSE IDENTITY

War Profiteers Assume Tax Burdened Estates.

HEIRLOOMS SOLD.

Sale of Family Portraits Discloses the Subterfuge of the Spendthrift of a Previous Generation.

(Written from London.)

"More estates change hands in England in a month now than in two years before the war," a big London real estate dealer told a correspondent of Barron's. One concern which does about a fourth of the real estate business in England has disposed of 1,416,271 acres since 1918. This is an area as big as the counties of Norfolk and Lincolnshire combined. In all England 5,500,000 acres representing land values of $445,000,000 and 600 out of a total of 170,000 big estates have changed hands.

The Labor Government, on the insistence of the people in the factory districts, is planning some sort of a break-up of big hunting estates in North England and Scotland. Owners near cities may be obliged to remove their game to the barren crests of hills ill adapted for parks or cultivation.

The squire still carries most of the responsibilities of his small community in taxes and welfare works, but has few of the prerogatives and emoluments he formerly enjoyed. Like the wheat farmers of North Dakota in order to live today he is being obliged to diversify his activities. Usually either he or members of his family must go into business in town.

Country houses have often changed hands three and four times in the last decade. The Grahame-Whites, with property in South Hampshire, which incidentally they, too, have sold recently, say that in their neighborhood there have normally been one, and sometimes several changes of ownership of estates. The original owners lost their heirs in the war or were so burdened with taxes that they decided to sell. Often a war profiteer was the buyer, who lost his money, or had it taxed away from him, and in turn decided to sell.

Hard Hit by Taxes.

In real property and art sales appear names of the oldest nobility in England. Several of the largest private collections have been put up at Christy's in the last couple of years. One duke excused himself for closing his gallery and selling the pictures by frankly stating that he needed money to pay his taxes. "Pay my taxes and I will keep my pictures," he said.

Giddy & Giddy, Hanover Square, say that incomes of the landed gentry are no larger than before the war, while their expenses have doubled. No big estate in England ever paid its way, they say. The old houses have fifty to one hundred bedrooms; formerly guests came to stay a month or at least a week. Today nobody wants a house this size. Now they motor out, and as often as not motor back to town the same night.

The problem of servants for these big houses is a difficult one. Old faithful servitors remain. But the younger generation refuse to stay far away from the towns with their moving pictures and sports. In the old days a servant was content with $50 to $75 a year "all found." Today a girl can get at least $8 a week in a factory and has free time. Wages of domestic servants while lagging behind have fluctuated with those in the factory. A gardener was happy on $2.50 a week in the old days. He now expects at least $8. When this increase is multiplied by 20 or 30, the minimum retinue necessary to run a big place, the increase in expense is evident. It is still possible to get man servants, but the girls refuse to go or stay in the country.

An outsider who buys a large estate in England to enjoy himself must have a large outside income, and the tastes of a public notary and a farm superintendent. Title in England with multiple taxes is more complicated than ever. For example, the notice of Burton Manor estates sale just received contains sixty-one large, fine-type pages of nothing but description of hundreds of peculiarities in leases, an advowson, easements and the like.

There are many properties paying taxes which eat up the entire rental returns, another auctioneer stated. Small farmers can make their way. Dairying is the most profitable farm livelihood at present.

The break-up of the big estates is most conspicuous in the big auction rooms of a firm like Christy's. Taxation and death duties have driven one large collection after another into the market. Antiquities can be registered and passed on to the next of kin without death duties. But if later the works of art should be sold, the death duty must be paid even if sale occurs many years later.

Pictures Favored Over Houses.

More unknown masterpieces of Italian art are to be found in English country houses than in Italy, an art critic said. Young married couples a century ago were accustomed to make a grand tour around France and Italy. They bought souvenirs and works of art. In the pile of junk, unknown to them, were here and there works of art of great artistic value. In the dusty galleries of country gentlemen important finds are constantly being made. A Leonardo, several Titians, and recently a Franz Hals were unearthed in this way.

Occasionally the sale of family portraits discloses the subterfuge of the spendthrift of a previous generation. The picture of an ancestor by Van Dyke, under the lens of the expert, turns out to be a copy used to replace the original sold at private sales perhaps a century ago.

Christy's told of one instance where they were invited to the country to inspect a Romney. The expert saw it, and declared that it was not genuine, and that it did not interest him. The family was indignant because they had a clear record of the picture back to the great portraitist. The expert went over the old records of Christy's and found that they had sold the picture by private sale for a former owner, at his request, having a copy made to replace it. The owner was one of the great gamblers of his time and probably did not want his family to know how deeply he was involved in debt.

Americans are getting the pick of big private collections, but refuse to touch the country houses on more than short leases. Syndicates are the principal buyers of the big estates, cutting them up into small holdings and building cheap houses. Big houses are gradually being converted into schools and sanitariums.

England of yesterday was the isle of the nobleman and country gentleman. Today it is changing to the land of the manufacturer, of the small suburbanite and of the working man. The Labor Government proposes now to subsidize building of workmen's houses. While this scheme will put another class on the real estate map it is bound to provoke another tumble in rents and real estate values and further the flight from the big estates.

LIKE COLUMBUS AND THE EGG.

Despite the disapproval of the city fathers, the "human fly" gave his performance on Saturday evening.

Several thousand people stood patiently for an hour or more waiting until the financial side of the enterprise had been attended to by the "fly" and his assistants.

And then the wall was scaled and the performer quickly reached the roof.

Whereupon every third man in the crowd turned to his neighbor and murmured something that sounded like "Pretty soft" or "Easy money."

The whole thing recalls the story of Christopher Columbus and the egg.

Remember that when the courtiers declared that there was nothing hard about the discovery of America, Christopher asked if there was any one of them who could make an egg stand up.

Nobody could, so the mariner cracked one end of the egg and, of course, easily made it stand, gently insinuating that nothing was difficult once you knew how.

The "human fly" seems to be in the Columbus class.

No doubt the ascent was an easy matter for him, but the Empress wall has been there for a good many years, and Saturday's visitor was the first to discover that good money could be obtained by climbing it.

He will at least have to be given credit for that fact.

THE FOUR QUESTIONS.

If the questions to be voted on when the plebiscite on the Ontario Temperance Act is taken are such as are outlined by the Toronto Telegram, there will be little objection to them from anybody.

The first, it is said, will determine whether or not the majority are in favour of the present Temperance Act—the chief point to be decided.

Those who are not of the opinion that the method now in force is the best liquor policy the Province can have will be given an opportunity of indicating which alternative policy they favour.

They are, according to the Telegram, to be given the chance to vote for Government control, such as is in existence in the Western Provinces, or for the sale of wines and beers in licensed premises, or for the sale of liquors in licensed premises.

The four questions as published are simple, not easily misunderstood, and after the vote has been taken the answers should furnish a clean-cut demonstration of just what the people of Ontario wants.

Of course, no official statement has been made as to the nature of the plebiscite questions.

It may be that the Telegram's article is merely a little kite flying by the Government with a view to testing public opinion.

However, that may be the form of the questions as published and leaves little room for criticism and offers a good chance for getting at the views of the people in regard to dealing with the liquor problem.

THE PULPWOOD COMMISSION.

"Finally, as the facts have been very plainly and fully laid before the Government, the commission takes the view that the actual determination of a policy must rest with the Government."

Such are the final words of a 144,000-word report from the Pulpwood Commission.

The commission cost the people of this country some $75,000.

True, it heard a lot of evidence and collected a vast store of useful information which will be of value perhaps—but surely something less vague than this final summing up might be expected from a commission whose activities have been so costly.

Every school boy knows, of course, that "the actual determination of a policy must rest with the Government."

But the commission might reasonably be counted upon to outline the policy that its members think should be determined by the Government.

It is complained that the report itself is not well written.

One correspondent points out that there is a marked disinclination to make positive statements, and that the length is in no small measure due to the fact that instead of proceeding direct to the core of the matter in making a statement the long way round is inevitably taken.

A report that cost $75,000 to be of real value should be definite and decisive.

The problem of pulpwood export is a serious one, and the commission that has spent months in hearing various opinions on the question could have been of very real service had it completed its task properly.

COMPULSORY VOTING.

A bill for compulsory voting has been passed by the Australian Lower House.

Apparently Australia is suffering from the same conditions as exist in this country in regard to the use—or rather the failure to use—of the franchise.

No details of the measure are as yet at hand, so that the method chosen to deal with this problem cannot be commented upon for the present.

There are many Canadians who would favour a compulsory voting act in this country.

They believe that an individual who refuses to exercise his franchise should be compelled to use his ballot or have his right to vote taken away from him.

When fewer than fifty per cent. of the voters on the list—and sometimes in the case of municipal elections fewer than forty per cent.—fail to discharge their responsibility as electors, and when these conditions continue year after year, it is no wonder that there should be a steadily increasing demand for some action that will compel apathetic citizens to take some interest in the election of the Federal, Provincial and municipal Governments.

Appeals to the patriotism, even to the self-interest of the delinquent voters, have produced no results.

Newspapers have tried to cajole, to shame, to coax, or to frighten them without the slightest visible effects.

Warnings that their indifference resulted in extravagance and inefficiency, in the election of incapable legislators and the frightening off of good men, have fallen on deaf ears.

Despite every argument a large percentage of the electorate have been slackers.

Why bother with them longer?

Why not compel them to vote with the penalty of losing their franchise in the cause of default?

That seems to be the opinion in Australia, and there are numerous Canadians whose views are along the same lines.

THE ADVERTISING DENTIST.

Does advertising consitute a violation of the ethics and properties of the dental profession?

Another chapter in the lengthy controversy which has revolved round this point, was written this afternoon, when Dr. E. C. Boyle of 254 Yonge street, was summoned before the disciplinary committee of the Dental College to answer charges of "improper conduct in professional respect."

The conduct in question—advertising his business in the daily newspapers—Dr. Boyle admits. The alleged impropriety he does not, and it was upon this point that, through his solicitor, Gordon Waldron, K.C., he delivered a spirited defense to the committee.

Dr. Boyle made his first appearance before the disciplinary body of the dental college last year, when he admonished to discontinue his practice of advertising His answer, then, as now, was that there is no law of the dental profession in Canada forbidding him to advertise.

If disposed to press the case against Dr. Boyle to the limit, the dental college has the power to deprive him of his license to practice in Ontario.

"And if they go to that length, I will continue to practice, anyway," Dr. Boyle declares. "Then let them sue me for practicing without a license, and we can test the affair out in the civil courts."—Toronto Star.

* * * *

What the Port Hope Guide cannot understand is that the newspapers of Ontario appear not to resent the implied imputation of those "professional gentlemen."

Dr. Boyle is prosecuted practically as a criminal for using the newspapers to promote his profession, therefore the newspapers are all a bad lot to be shunned by the high and mighty profession. Practically the newspapers of Ontario are placed in the criminal class by these men who having made a competency through their work, try to bar the younger and more progressive men from the game, or allow them to let the world know the benefits from denistry.

There was a time when the clergy considered the press as an instrument of the devil, but now it is recognized that there are newspapers which reach more people in one issue than most preachers talk in a lifetime—and now the pulpit is a paying user of the press in an endeavor to bring the people within the influence of the pulpit.

The dentists welcome the help of the press when the profession is after an order to make every school child "open wide" their mouths for inspection and incidentally to bring grist to the dental mill, the help of the press is very welcome under such circumstances.

Surely the dentists and doctors are not ashamed of their work and if their profession is for the benefit of humanity, why shouldn't the world be aware of the fact through the best known means, that of newspaper advertising.

It is useless for these men to profess to abhor advertising, for they all practice it—to a limited extent, secure offices in the most conspicuous place on the most frequented streets, brass signs, and etc. and everything to make the place inviting to the suffering public. Even free items in the press are not despised.

It is a poor rule that work only one way. The press of Ontario should unite and refuse to remain longer under the implied stigma which has been placed upon it by the Dental and Medical fraternity. The Legislature of Ontario should be influenced to pass a law making it an offence on the part of any body of men to hinder legitimate advertising. The Law has as much right to suspend the charter of the Dental College as that body has to suspend Dr. Boyle's "license to practice in Ontario."

More power to Dr. Boyle, and the Canadian Press Association and every paper in Canada should back him to the limit.—Port Hope Guide.

A THOUGHT

THE MEASURE OF A MAN.

Not—
"How did he die?"
But—
"How did he live?"
Not—
"What did he gain?"
But—
"What did he give?"
These are the units
To measure the worth
Of a man, as a man,
Regardless of birth.

Not—
"What was his station?"
But—
"Had he a heart?"
And—
"How did he play
His God-given part?"
Was he ever ready
With word o' good cheer,
To bring back a smile,
To banish a tear?"

Not—
"What was his church?"
Nor—
"What was his creed?"
But—
"Had he befriended
Those really in need?"
Not—
"What did the sketch
In the newspaper say?"
But—
"How many were sorry
When he passed away?"
—Wallace Gallagher.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, July 27—There was no change in conditions in the local grain market Saturday. Business in flour is very light. Tht tendency in millfed is upward but there are no further price changes. A good undertone marks the rolled oats market. Only a moderate business prevails in baled hay. There is a fair demand for eggs. Business in butter and cheese was light. Demand for beans in strong at $3 a bushel for one pound pickers.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Sensational upturns in the price of wheat at Liverpool and Winnipeg to day brought about an extraordinary rush of buying here, Chicago values of wheat soaring as much as 6 1-8c, and then reacted as a result of wholesale efforts to realize profits. The market closed extremely nervous and unsettled at 3 3-8c to 4 5-8c net gain, September $1.35 to $1.35 1-4 and December $1.37 7-8 to $1.38. Corn finished 1-2c to 2 3-8c up oats showing 7-8c to 2 1-8c advance, and provisions at a rise varying from 10c to 17c and 20c.

With wheat at Liverpool quoted 7c to 10 1-2c a bushel higher than yesterday for immediate delivery and with July delivery commanding more than $1.50 at Winnipag, overtopping any other market in North America, the Chicago wheat market went rapidly upward from the outset. Only as the day approached a finish, however did the trade here display a runaway character. This stampede, when it did come, was partly due to confirmation of export business here, and also to the fact that offerings of future deliveries from whatever course, were being swiftly absorbed by new sets of buyers.

Strain from the extreme upturn today following many jumps of late in wheat prices became more and more evident nevertheless in the final half hour. Before the reaction took place though, all deliveries of wheat here and all deliveries of rye, together with new crop deliveries of corn and oats were carried to the highest prices yet this season.

A striking feature of the late trade was a tremendous upswing in rye prices, which advanced much faster than wheat. There were indications of unusual foreign demand for rye.

Reports of severe damage to the Canadian rye crop, were current.

Corn owed much of its strength to wheat. On the other hand, oats were bullishly affected by advices about injury to Canadian oats.

Provisions rose in line with record breaking quotations for hogs as well as grain.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: Do some of the people who attend these dances class themselves among respectable people, who race down the Chemong Road between 12 and 1 o'clock in the morning, with their "cut-off" open, making all the noise that they can, keeping people awake who have to rise at 5 o'clock, and work hard all day? Of scourse some of those grassers may have an excuse in being late. If country folks did the same thing on George street at that time of night they would be arrested inside of five minutes. We ant a branch of the Klu Klux Klan on the Chemong Doad, then perhaps we would have order.

testimony that deals with the dragging of a dead boy's body from a water-filled ditch and the removal of sinister stains from motor robes and garments; court spectators are shocked by their levity, the newspapers print photographs of the smiling murderers; their grimaces brand them anew as fiends.

There's a Difference.

But there is a difference in their smiles, to the close observer. That difference was particularly apparent Friday when the two prisoners were brought into court. Leopold's smile, was, as usual, 50 per cent. sneer. It was his normal smile—and not a mask behind which he hid a troubled heart.

Loeb's lips part in a morning greeting to his family seated inside the courtroom railing, but his lower lip sags. It is the smile of a boy who finds that after all the joke is on him. There is bravado in it and an attempt to be consistent—to finish the game as he started it.

Smile More Natural.

That is his entering smile. As the trial wears on his smile becomes more natural and less self-conscious. Being a criminal does not automatically kill a sense of humor and there are incidents at the trial that are amusing. "Babe" Leopold and "Dick" Loeb smile at them and at some that are not so amusing to the rest of the spectators. Even this latter is consistent, logical, however horrible, a psychologist points out.

"These boys killed a little boy deliberately after six months of careful plotting. Wouldn't they be snivelling hypocrites if they wore a mask of sorrow during their trial?" he said.

Had they killed a child accidentally each new reminder of that accident might be freighted with sorrow. They killed a child deliberately. It is consistent to smile about it. It is playing the game through to the end, be it gallows or penitentiary.

SOVIETS GIVE SENTENCE.

Drivers of Wrecked Trains Received Death Penalty.

TIFLIS, July 28.—Drastic punishment is being meted out by the Soviet authorities to engineers and drivers who are hold responsible for train accidents. In the Transcaucasia district an engineer named Gavrilov and two drivers, Voyevodin and Sharpshev, were sentenced to death by a special commission appointed by the Georgian council of commissars to inquire into the numerous railway fatalities which have recently occurred in that district.

Assistant station master Savitsky who was held jointly responsible with the engineer and drivers, has been condemned to eight years imprisonment. Voyevodin and Sharyshev were charged with running their trains at a dangerously high speed in spite of their knowledge that the roadbed and rails were in a bad condition.

It is alleged that through their negligence six derailments occurred, involving considerable loss of life.

APARTMENT DWELLRS.

New York Builder Sees U. S. Living in Apartments.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 28. (Unted Press).— "Curtain for the workman's humble cottage," and the last act is on, Andrew J. Thomas prominent New York builder predicted before the National Association of Building Owners and Managers association here.

In the next act we shall see the modern apartment house—modern to the last detail — occupied by the erstwhile cottage group, Thomas said.

Great strides in this direction have already been undertaken and with such success that Thomas visualized a nation of apartments within next few years. "Manufacturers and employers having large forces of men and under them will furnish the apartments at near cost" Thomas predicted. "Wormen and their families will enjoy every convenience available to the millianaire, although perhaps on a miniature scale.

This is the only solution, the builder asserted, in a specially prepared letter read to the convention home. The manufacturer may, by to the high cost of keeping up and providing his own quarters reduce in mony cases bp half the cost of his employees' homes. locate them at a convenient distance form their work, and provide them with comfort hitherto undreamed of below the class of moderately wealthy Americans.

A greater degree of happiness due to modern conveniences, a day lengthened in many instances by two hours by more covenient location, and less bother with home problems for the man who must provide and keep up his own domicle were held out as the advantages of the new system of housing employees in large centers of industrial life.

"Rentals have forced the workingman and his family from their cottages," Thomas asserted. "Since the war prices for all dwellings have gone to such a price that the wage earner can on longer remain in his former home.

"This condition has forced the employer who must keep his work. me contented, and must pay them enough to live one, to look around for a remedy. This remedy will be found almost entirely in apartment houses, owned by the employers themselves, and rented at perhaps a small profit."

LITTLE GOOD BEER SOLD IN TORONTO

Out of Five Hotels Inspected None Sold Good Beer.

TORONTO, July 26. — Canadian Pess. — Credited by beer drinkers with shutting off the supply of a much better liquid than the temperance beverage allowed under the Ontario Temperance Act, in the hotels of his division, Inspector John Pogue is willing to submit to the criticisms of the thirsty ones.

At the same time he has a word of advice for them based upon his investigations and analysis of beer taken from hotels.

Acting upon complaints. Inspector Pogue visited several hotels in his division, and with his own tap took beer from the barrels in cellars of five hotels, phose proprietors were said to be violating the law.

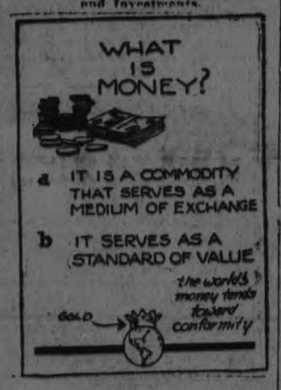
"The analysis of each barrel was a surprise to me," he said. "In two cases I secured beer which was about 4 per cent. At the other three hotels the beer was no stronger than allowed by the law. In one of these hotels the bar was crowded with men who were buying what analysis proved to be temperance beer at 10c a glass."

Inspector Pogue believes some of the hotel proprietors have on occasion placed on sale a barrel of something better than 2 per cent, and after securing a reputation among the beer drinkers of selling the real article have turned on temperance beer and the patrons still bought and paid a high price per glass.

This, in is opinion, seems to be the explanation of the patronage accorded to some of the hotels.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



What Is Money?

Money is a commodity, the invention and use of which has existed since prehistoric times for convenience in exchange. The two main functions of money are (1) to serve as a medium of exchange; (2) to serve as the standard or common denominator of value.

Anything which will fulfill those two requirements may be used for money. Due to modern conditions the field has narrowed so that money must be relatively scarce the world over and something which has a high specific value.

A further limitation to money has crept into the modern world due to international trade. This limitation is—the money of all civilized countries must, in some degree, correspond, in order that there may be an exchange of money so value may correctly determined.

CALL OF THE OPEN

MUNICH, Germany, July 26.—Every thirteenth inhabitant of the world lives in a city of more than 100,000 population, according to calculations made by a local statistician. There are 409 cities on this globe whose population exceeds 100,000. Of these, 202 are in Europe and their average population is 300,000.

In Europe alone the proportion of persons living in large cities is even greater than for the whole world, for every seventh person on European soil lives in a city of 100,000 inhabitants or more.

PREPARING FOR NEW WATERWAY

It Is Expected That St. Lawrence Scheme Will Go Through.

OTTAWA, July 28. — (Canadian Press).—Preparatory steps looking toward carrying out of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes navigation scheme, will be taken up in the next few weeks, but they will not be hurried on. Just before proroguing, Parliament made appropriation of $100,000 to proceed with the Canadian end of the enterprise, and at the present time a section of the joint engineering board are engaged in preparing what they think is the proper series of questions to be submitted to the board. It will be necessary to submit these to the National Advisory Committee of the two countries, which in turn will recommend them—amended or intact — to the respective governments. Then the two governments will commit questions to the inquiry of the joint engineering board. The scope of the inquiry, it is believed, will be pretty well confined to engineering rather than the economic phases of the situation. It will be necessary, for example, to determine the question over which there has been much controversy and engineering differences, namely, whether there will be single or double stage development at Long Sault.

ARBITRATION COURT IS LATEST ARRIVAL

Plan Is Believed to Pave Way For New Legal Methods in United States.

Philadelphia's newly established "arbitration court" held its first session last night.

The tribunal is wholly new in the history of Pennsylvania, and it is believed to set a precedent for the rest of the United States.

This court operates without lawyers. There is not a penny of cost to pay. No stenographic records are kept.

Once the Court has rendered a decision, there is no appeal. Before a case comes before the court both parties sign an agreement to leave the decision of the case to the Judge and that his decision shall be final.

Two Hours for Seventeen Cases

Seventeen cases were considered in less thas two hours at last night's pioneer session of the court. It would have taken at least two days to dispose of these cases under the clumsier and more costly methods of the usual courts, declared Judge Raymond MacNeille, the presiding judge.

The new arbitration court was started as a result of conferences between Raymond MacNeille, President Judge of the Municipal Court; Charles H. Grakelow, Director of Public Welfare, and Romain C. Hasrick, chief of the Legal-Aid Bureau of the Department of Public Welfare, on methods to obtain justice for peovle of modest means without the delays, vexations, consumption of valuable time and legal and court costs involved in traditional forms of court procedure.

Last night Judge MacNeille invited Director Grakelow to sit with him. Mr. Hassrick appeared in behalf of the individuals who had come asking help of the Legal-Aid Bureau.

Air of Amiability Noted.

An atmosphere of amiability pre vailed. Contentions were smoothed out, difference of opinion reconciled, smiles restored to frowning faces and settlements arrived at which seemed in most cases fair to both sides.

The episode of the unpaid board bill:

Harry M. Fischer told the court that Helen Spalding, of 707 West Clearfied street, had come to his establishment, the Adelphia Pleating & Embroidery Co., at 18 North Ninth street, demanding damages because the firm had not done exactly what she asked in regard to a certain scarf.

He said she had stayed three hours making remarks of a sort likely to drive away other customers who plainly heard them.

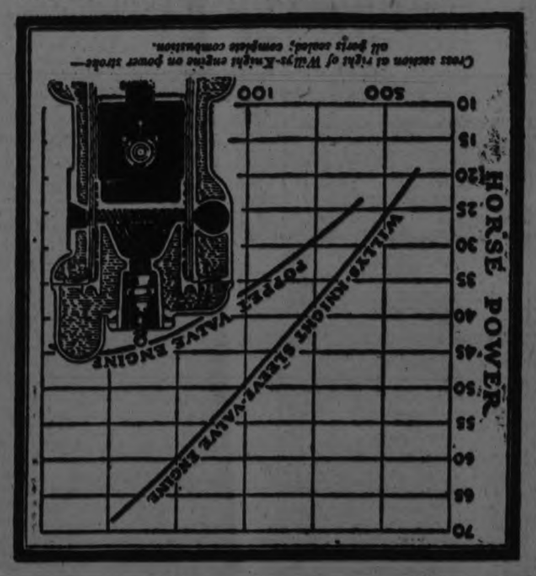
MACKEYS AND INDIANS MEET

Important Game in East Peterboro League To-night at Fair Grounds.

Bob Mackey's Bread Makers and the Curve Lake Indians meet tonight in an East Peterboro League game at the Exhibition Grounds. The Mackey outfit won from the Indians in their last clash but the Curve Lakers are sure of a win tonight and will bring with them from the Indian village a large flock of rooters whose war whoops will be heard for miles. The game is sure to be a thriller as both teams need a win. If the Mackey outfit do not come through with a victory they will be counted out of the running, but a win will help them nicely. This is expected to be one of the best games in the East Peterboro League this year and a large crowd of fans will turn out to see the Redskins in action.

TERRORIZED BY RUM RUNNERS

EVERETT, WASH., July 26.—Boats smuggling liquor from Canada into the United States have put Camano Island in terror. This island, 15 miles long, is in the direct route from Vancouver, B.C., to Seattle. Some people living on the island reported the movements of rum runners, said the sheriff of Island county Washington, but the flying of so many bullets led these folks to adopt silence.



WILLYS-KNIGHT MOTOR GAINS POWER IN USE

In general, valves in automobile motors are of two kinds—poppet-valves and sleeve-valves.

The superiority of the Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine is due to its difference from the poppet-valve or ordinary type of motor.

Instead of clashing poppet-valves, raised by hammer-like blows from steel cams (smasing blows that gradually wear away the original adjustment) and seated by strong springs, the Willys-Knight engine has sliding sleeve-valves that glide silently up and down, one working within the other on a film of oil, both actuated positively and silently by connecting rods of thei own. Once perfectly adjusted during assembly at the factory these sliding sleeve-valves cannot vary, no matter what the speed.

Thus, you have a valve always open widest at the exact right moment, a valve that is always positively and rightly closed during the compression and explosion.

The spherical cylinder head construction, made possible by the sleeve-valve design, allows of another important factor in the development of maximum power—namely the placing of the spark plug directly in the centre of the combustion chamber. This is the construction sought by all engineers. It is attained in the Willys-Knight but only approached in a poppet-valve engine.

In the construction that places a spark plug at the side or away from the centre of the cylinder, it is quite evident that when ignition takes place part of the gas ignited must act as a fuse to ignite the balance of the gas.

It is only the gas exploding over the piston and not to one side of it that can give maxiumum power. This explains another reason why the four-cylinder Willys-Knight sleeve valve motor is as flexible and as powerful as most six-cylinder poppet-valve motors of equal size.

The Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor actually improves with use. It increases in power, in flexibility, in economy. At 5000 miles it is actually superior in motor performance than it was during the final, careful factory inspection. Carbon, the deadly foe of other motors, actually increases compression in the Willys-Knight.

The ordinary motor is at its perfect best when the owner begins to drive it. Thereafter it can only begin to wear out.

While periodically carbon must be removed and the pitted valves reground in the poppet-valve engine, the sleeves in the Willys-Knight motor are actually designed to encourage a deposit of carbon. The Willys-Knight motor thus employs to advantage a factor that in other motors is a disadvantage.

Quietness of operation in the Willys-Knight motor is an advantage and an important one. Its quietness of operation is the quietness of a properly designed mechanism and is not secured by muffling noise-producing parts or altering design at the expense of efficiency.

There is not even a humming of gears in the Willys-Knight motor for silent chains are used instead. The phrase "Tremendous Power Tuned to a Whisper" has very aptly been aplied to the Willys-Knight engine. No speedometer has yet measured its life.

Rink 8 — D. J. Allan, skip; Chas. Gillespie, Mrs. J. A. Stewart, Miss Gertrude Maynard.

Spares — Mrs. C. A. Weson, Mrs. A. J. Meyers, Miss Maynard, Mrs. F. J. Smith.

First Draw.

L. B. Glover 6; J. R. Wilkinson 14.
D. W. Douglas 9; J. A. Stewart 17.
R. J. Allan 8; J. P. Archer 21.
W. S. Wiggins 14; Dr. Haig 10.

Second Draw.

Stewart 5; Wiggins 11.
Douglas 6; Dr. Haig 13.
Archer 14; Wilkinson 13.
Glover 7; Allan 11.

Third Draw.

Wiggins 15; Archer 8.
Dr. Haig 12; Allan 5.
Stewart 17; Wilkinson 7.
Glover 9; Douglas 12.

The tournament was held under the plus and minus system, the total score for the three games played by each rink determining the winner.

The prize to the winning rink, four very fine tea cups and saucers, was donated by W. S Wiggins, whose rink won it. The total score of each rink was as follows:

Glover minus 14; Wilkinson, minus 1; Douglas, minus 11; Stewart plus 8; Allan minus 10; Archer plus 1; Wiggins plus 17; Dr Haig plus 10.

Save Fuel in Cooking

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. Save fuel in cooking. Use

HOARDS.

Four hundred million dollars is hidden behind the clock, under the mattress and in other nooks by Americans who are afraid of banks. So estimates a treasury official.

Bankers call this an economic menace, because hoarded money is idle instead of working to keep business active.

But there is a greater American hoard—the collective result of the habit of carrying too much money in pockets. This money, too, is idle and unproductive. How much "loose change" do you keep out of circulation, on the average
